Certainly—The makers of the Constitution foresaw this as well as anyone living today. For this purpose they provided carefully that it may be changed to suit the country's needs.

If we face a crisis and any of the three great departments of our government are in need of change, TO THE PEOPLE AND TO THE PEOPLE ALONE belongs the right to make such a change. This is what gives us a government "OF THE PEOPLE, FOR THE PEOPLE, BY THE PEOPLE".

VOLUME 45.—TEN PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, JUNE 24, 1937 NUMBER 10

Judge Smith & Court Answer Mr. Arledge

Repeat Offer To Meet In Public Hearing To Air Road Matters; Suits Filed To Recover Money

Following is a letter written to the Road Supervisor, T. J. Arledge, in which the Probate Judge and County Commissioners repeat their offer to meet in a mass meeting to discuss the road squabble and get at the root of the road problem.

It is understood that the Court has already filed suit in Justice Court for recovery of money paid out on various claims which the court contends were not exactly "according to Hoyle". Further information is that a hearing on these suits will be allowed in the Justice Court of J. L. Wilson next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the courthouse.

The letter is as follows:

"Clanton, Ala., June 19, 1937.

"Mr. T. J. Arledge,
"Road Supervisor,
"Clanton, Ala.

"Dear Sir:

"We acknowledge receipt of your letter of June 14, 1937, addressed to the Commissioners Court in reply to Resolution of June 12, and note you claim 'this to be just another childish attempt to destroy the morale of the road organization and thereby continue to cause strife and bitterness among the people of Chilton County'.

"If your interpretation of our being childish is looking after our official duties and taking care of the taxpayers' money, we will have to admit you are correct.

"We wish to call your attention to the fact that we have never been childish enough to dispose of any of the county's property contrary to law. And we have never filed a claim or signed our name to a claim or anyone else's name to draw money out of the treasury of Chilton County for services or labor which had never been performed on the roads of Chilton County. We have a suit now pending to recover a tractor, or its value, which has been a loss to the county, also a suit pending to recover money paid out of the treasury of Chilton County on claims filed by you and your office.

"We regret that it has been necessary for us to file suit against any official in order to protect the county's interest. We will never charge an officer of duty without being willing to meet him in a public meeting before the people whom he is responsible to for his official duties. Whenever our official acts are such that we are not willing to meet the people who pay us for our services, we will resign from office and stop drawing their money. Yours very truly, — J. Lee Smith, Chairman of Commissioners Court; John P. Bean, Commissioner 1st District; H. R. Oden, Commissioner 2nd District; R. L. Ousley, Commissioner 3rd District; J. Monroe Parrish, Commissioner 4th District."

SHERIFF'S REPORT

DEVAUGHN TO TEACH SINGING SCHOOLS AT CONCORD—COLLINS CHAPEL

Beginning Monday, July 5th, Prof. W. M. Devaughn will teach a singing school at Concord in the mornings and at Collins Chapel in the afternoons. The hours at Concord will be from 8 to 12; at Collins Chapel from 1 to 5. The schools will run for 18 days and probably longer.

Prof. Devaughn needs no introduction or comment. Everybody in these communities know him and know of his ability as a singing teacher. He is among the most experienced in the county, having taught all over the county and in other parts of the State.

He says that those wishing to attend from around Clanton can be furnished conveyance to and from either of the schools. You are asked to see Prof. Devaughn for full particulars.

Marion Easterling At Concord

Prof. Marion W. Easterling will assist Prof. Devaughn at the Concord school. Besides being general assistant at the school, Prof. Easterling will offer instruction in composition, poetry (hymn) writing, and piano. Prof. Easterling is an accomplished musician and singer, as well as a very proficient composer and poet. He has won for himself, in the past few years, a place among the foremost composers of sacred music in the State. All the students who can should avail themselves of the change of taking instruction under Prof. Easterling.

LEVINE BROS. NOW PREPARED TO HANDLE VOLUME OF TRADE

After approximately eight months in business in Clanton, the two Levine brothers, Sol and I. S., have built up one of the most attractive places of business in the city with a most complete stock of merchandise.

Coming to Clanton as manager of another well known store, I. S. Levine made many friends. He was later joined by his brother and they soon went into business for themselves, independently of any other concern, under the firm name of Levine Brothers, located next door to the Big Four Hardware Co., of Clanton.

"We are proud of the business we have done since opening our own store in Clanton," they stated this week, when commenting on a sale event they are announcing. "Although our store is operated strictly on a cash basis, we have enjoyed a most pleasing patronage," the continued.

Levine Brothers carry a line of five and ten cent items in one department of their store, while their dry goods and shoe departments are found to be most complete.

Last week, their attractive store underwent a complete remodeling in order that their stock could be enlarged and displayed better for their customers. Their display windows attract much attention through the attractive and tasteful manner of their arrangements. Their business has grown by leaps and bounds since opening here in November. They also use a large storage room in the two-storied building they occupy.

YALE'S HEAD RALLIES YOUTH TO SAVE U S. FROM NEW DEAL

New Haven, Conn., June 20.—President James Rowland Angell of Yale accused the national government today of appearing "partisan" in the present labor tension and charged that President Roosevelt's proposed Supreme Court bill is a means to abet a "rape of the constitution."

The retiring head of the University in his final baccalaureate address delivered at the 236th annual commencement exercises, said the nation's peace and prosperity is in peril and called upon youth to salvage the moral, political and spiritual values "if democracy is to measure up to the compelling needs of the time."

"Legislation designed to relieve tension in industrial relations has either been completely disregarded, or if belatedly used, has often been made a ground for fresh disorder. Most extraordinary perhaps of all, and distinguishing this upheaval from any we have known before is the fact that the national government has appeared as a partisan in the conflict.

The secretary of labor is quoted as not knowing whether a sit-down strike is legal or not, although there is hardly any older doctrine in our common law than that affecting the right of possession of property.

The executive is charged with having encouraged much of the existing disorder, first by silence in the face of gross violation of law, and destruction of property by labor, and then by criticism of employers for failing to sign contracts with labor groups whose good faith they regard as open to question.

Certain it is that he has promoted legislation which if finally enacted, appears to imply the further and complete abdication of the Congress, already more than once put into the stultifying position of mere puppets of the executive. This end is to be achieved through the confiding to innumerable anonymous commissions of powers which we had supposed the constitution protected for us in perpetunity.

PATROLMEN'S REPORT

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Our Sunday school and church services are fine. Let everyone be present next Sunday and have another good. Come Sunday, June 27th.

Next Sunday Mr. J. C. Pattillo, the circuit clerk of the county, will teach the Wesley Fellowship Class, this class being known as the Buck Hart class. We want to urge all members to be present as Mr. Pattillo is an astute Bible student and will have a treat for hte class.

We have a large group from Clanton Methodist church attending Christian Adventure camp, at Camp Whitewater, Autaugaville, Ala. beginning on June 21, through the 25th.

Fish Pushes Probe Of New Deal Taxes

Will Ask Committee To Investigate Tax Returns of Roosevelts and Several Cabinet Members

Goshen, N. Y., June 19.—Rep. Fish (R), New York, told the Orange County Republican Committee today he would ask the congressional committee studying tax dodging to look into President Roosevelt's income tax returns.

"I believe this investigation should not be restricted to just a few individuals selected by the administration," Fish said, "but in all fairness should likewise include the president and certain members of the cabinet."

He said these "suggestions" would be given the investigating committee: "Examine income tax returns of President Roosevelt for deductions for 'farm losses' and depreciation on Hyde Park and his Georgia cotton plantation.

"Alleged payment of rental on Hyde Park property to Mrs. James Roosevelt by the federal government for maintenance during occupation by the president as a summer White House.

"Alleged avoidance of income tax payments by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt for charity. The law provides that payment of taxes cannot be evaded by payment to third persons, and permits deductions from income for charity up to 15 per cent of income, but does not allow entire sums paid for services (broadcasts, syndicated articles, etc.) to be contributed to charity without payment of taxes."

Fish, who represents the president's home congressional district, also advocated examination of the income tax returns of James Roosevelt, Mrs. Anna R. Boettiger, and Elliott Roosevelt, the president's sons and daughter; Postmaster General Farley, Secretary Morgenthau, Harry L. Hopkins, John L. Lewis, and Henry L. Doherty.

Fish said he could not believe that the federal government paid any rental for Hyde Park as a summer White House, but that he had received so many communications carrying that report that he believed it should be studied by the committee.

BAPTIST REVIVAL CLOSED WITH WEDNESDAY NIGHT SERVICE

For the past ten days Dr. Frank J. Flemming, of Luverne, has been preaching twice daily at Clanton Baptist church, and the attendance was fair during the entire series of meetings. Up to the time of this writing Wednesday morning there had been a total of 15 additions to the church. Dr. Flemming did some real gospel preaching at these services, in which the true doctrines of the Bible and the precepts of Christian living were everlastingly propounded to the hearing congregations.

Fred Bond, Singer

The singing has been conducted by Mr. Fred Bond, of Birmingham. Mr. Bond has been singing for revivals in Clanton for the past decade, and he has become to seem like an original Clanton fellow. He is a genuine Christian man, a good revival helper and an excellent singer. Clantan people have become to love him as if he were their own, and it is always with profound regret that we lose him at the close or our revivals. His good work here this year has been especially appreciable on account of the fact that he was forced to be away from his wife, his home and his new born son, Fred Jr. Mr. Bond is a fine fellow, and we all appreciate him and the work he has done in Clanton.

MAYOR'S COURT

Elliot Frazier, public drunkenness; continued to June 29th.

Union Lawrence, violating prohibition law; $5 fine and $6 costs.

James Davis, col., disorderly conduct; found not guilty.

J. M. Landers, violating prohibition law; continued to July 5th.

Ed Goodgame, public drunkenness; 60 days in jail (constitutes several cases).

Kate Marlow, public drunkenness; fined $1 and costs.

O. U. Gore, driving while intoxicated; fine and costs, $57.25.

O. O. McKee, violating prohibition law; did not appear for trial.

BIG FOUR HARDWARE COMPANY IS BOOSTING FRIGIDAIRES

"This hot weather is Frigidaire weather," say Britches and Amon Jones at Big Four Hardware Company.

And in view of this evident fact this store is centering on the effort of making the people of Clanton and Chilton County (where there is electricity) Frigidaire conscious. And they wish to inform their friends and customers that one of these genuine Frigidaires (product of General Motors) may be had for as low as $114.50. Of course, larger and more expensive models may be had, and nothing can step ahead of the old reliable—one of the first if not the first electric refrigerator to be put on the American market.

And too, Big Four handles L. & H. electric water heaters, Universal electric ranges, and Blue Grass and Westinghouse fans.

Turn to the large advertisement appearing on another page of The Union-Banner, and read all about Frigidaire and these other electrical appliances offered. It will pay you to become interested.

MASONS ELECT OFFICERS

Following is a list of the officers elected by Clanton Chapter No. 116, R. A. M., June 16, 1937:

Lewis E. Diefenderfer, Scribe.
J. Renfroe Mullins, Treasurer.
Grover C. Harris, Secretary.
Henry T. Pipes, Captain of the Host.
Grady F. Harris, Principal Sojourner.
Benjamin J. Sessions, Royal Arch Captain.
Eddie E. Edwards, Master of the Third Veil.
Horsley White, Master of the Second Veil.
Reuben W. Lowe, Master of the First Veil.
J. Mell Martin, Sentinel.

AMERICAN LEGION MEETING

American Legion meeting will be held at the courthouse Sunday afternoon, June 27, at 2:30 o'clock. This is the final meeting before the state convention at Gadsden. Election of officers and delegates, and some very important resolutions must be passed on, including separation of posts, and others. Every veteran in Chilton County is requested to be present at this meeting as we will have an out-of-town delegation with us.—V. C. McKee, Post Com., Joe N. Calloway, Post Ajt.

APPRECIATION FROM MONTGOMERY CONCERNS

The Union-Banner is this week carrying two pages of small advs., from business firms in Montgomery, expressing their appreciation for patronage coming to them from Clanton and Chilton County. These progressive Montgomery people do not want to take any trade away from Clanton merchants and business men, but they simply extend greetings and the invitation that: "If you cannot find what you want in your home town, we invite you to come to Montgomery".

The Union-Banner invites its readers to look over these Montgomery advs., most of which are greetings and thanks for past patronage, and read what these people have to say to Chilton County folks. Their messages are all simple and to the point. Then, if you want to buy something that you cannot find in Clanton or the other towns of the county, then give these places a chance to supply your needs. They will appreciate it, or else they would not say so through your local newspaper.

MRS. LEONARD P. EASTERLING DIED ON WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16

Mrs. Myrtle Ethel Easterling, age 32, died Wednesday morning, June 16, at Central Alabama Hospital, after a short illness.

Mrs. Easterling was born August 23, 1905, the daughter of George P. and Emily Thompson. Always of a quiet and unassuming nature, she made friends of everyone who came to know her.

She was married to Leonard P. Easterling in June, 1921. To this union were born seven children. She has been a devoted member of Temple church since 1928.

Funeral services were held Thursday at 10 o'clock, with Rev. E. J. Orange officiating, assisted by Rev. A. T. Hickman. Martin and Sons were in charge. Her favorite song, "Some Golden Daybreak", at her request, was rendered at the funeral by Mrs. J. J. Mims and Miss Martha Jane Mims.

She is survived by: her husband—Leonard P. Easterling; three sons—Charles 13, James Paul 3, and Kenneth 2; four daughters—Mary Ethel 15, Ruth Kate 10, Eloise 8, Alma Grace 5; four sisters—Mrs. L. D. Easterling, Mrs. A. W. Mims, Misses Lurla and Glennie Thompson; one brother—Marion Thompson; and her parents—Mr. and Mrs. George P. Thompson.

Pallbearers were: Dewey Driver, A. W. Mims, Marion Mims, John Payton, Edwin Vines, Z. A. Tippett.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to those who so faithfully shared our sorrow during our recent bereavement, lending their sympathy and aid to make our load of sorrow lighter. Especially do we thank Martin and Sons. These kindnesses will never be forgotten. — Mr. and Mrs. George P. Thompson and family.

JEMISON F. F. A. TO GIVE PLAY

Members of the Jemison Chapter of the F. F. A. will give a play in the Jemison High School auditorium, Saturday night, at 8 o'clock p. m., entitled "The Marlenburg Necklace." This is a mystery in three acts and contains plenty of mystery, comedy and romance. Admission will be 15c and 20 cents. If you enjoy a play that has a good plot, you cannot afford to miss this one. They will also have several readings and good musical numbers.

FIRST COTTON BLOOM

The Union-Banner received last Friday, June 18th, its first cotton bloom. It came from Julius C. Adams, Verbena Route 2, and was picked from the farm of C. H. Adams.

The second bloom came on Saturday from Isaac A. Dennis of Maplesville. Another bloom came in from Walter Bean, of Collins Chapel, also on Saturday.

The first bloom last year came from the farm of John H. Gore, in Friendship community, and was brought in by Elijah H. Gore on June 19th.

Delayed Parachute Jumps Will Furnish Thrills For Air Festival

Miss Fay Lucille Cox Will Jump From Plane 10,000 Feet High Both Saturday and Sunday. Several Other 'Chute Jumps

Definite arrangement by the program committee has been made for Miss Faye Elizabeth Cox, of St. Louis, to be in Clanton for the air carnival at Clanton's airport dedication on July 3rd and 4th. One delayed parachute jump will be performed by Miss Cox each day.

Miss Cox will jump from a plane piloted by Mr. H. F. Wood at an altitude of 10,000 feet, and she will not open her parachute until she has fallen 8,000 feet, or within 2,000 feet of the ground. Miss Cox holds the world's record for lady parachute jumpers, having performed her one thousand and twenty-third jump at the Birmingham carnival two weeks ago. This is said to be among the most thrilling feats ever accomplished from the air, as all spectators are held in complete suspense while the little woman is falling toward the earth at breath-taking speed and into what looks like certain death, until she pulls the cord and opens the parachute just in time to check the fall before she hits the ground. People are always wondering if the contraption will work or fail.

Miss Cox cannot be seen with the natural eye when she first leaves the plane, and it requires about one minute for her to reach the ground after jumping from the plane. A smoke trail will mark her descent.

There will be a number of other parachute jumps, but not delayed jumps. Miss Cox's husband will make two jumps, one each day, and so will Mr. Walton Peteet, of Birmingham.

MISS FAYE LUCILLE COX

This slender red-haired girl used to be a stenographer in a little Nebraska town. An air show staged a performance and it was there that she met her husband, Mercer Cox. He is a veteran stunt man and has been jumping and performing daredevil acts since 1909. In 1928 at Phoenix, Ariz., his career was almost ended when he was taken aloft for a parachute jump and had to jump without his chute. The chute became entangled in the skid of the plane and Cox was forced to turn loose and fall 90 feet and landed in 27 inches of water.

Odell Garrison will take Mercer Cox aloft for a jump each day of the show.

Faye holds four world records and is rated by the National Aeronautic Association as America's No. 1 woman parachute jumper. Her altitude record is 18,256 feet, low opening at 200 feet above the ground. She is also winner of the Irwin Airchute

When Faye starts her tumble earthward from Mr. Wood's plane at 10,000 feet she will be falling 175 feet a second which is the maximum speed or terminal velocity of a free falling body. This is reached in 11 seconds and after she has hurdled through space for 1,200 feet her speed will be at the rate of 120 miles an hour. At this speed the earth seems to fairly leap up to meet this daring red-haired girl that will bring forth gasp of relief when her silk parachute blossoms open to let her gently down to a safe landing.

Street Dance Saturday Night

Arrangements have been made for a street dance Saturday night. The street in some business section of the city will be roped off for a block, and this will be used for the dance. Music will be furnished by the 'Bama Skippers. This part of the program is being arranged and will be cared for by the Pilot Club of Clanton, and promises to be a most attractive and entertaining feature.

S. E. TRAVIS WAS HERE MONDAY

Mr. S. E. Travis, of New Orleans, district adviser, was in Clanton Monday of this week, making inspection of the Clanton airport. Mr. Travis will be here on the dedication days. Also announcement is made that Mr. Roy Keeley, air line inspector, plans to be here with his completely equipped aircraft.

Messrs. Steadham Acker and Asa Roundtree were in Clanton Wednesday morning helping the local committee finish up some arrangements for the dedication program. These gentlemen, both of Birmingham, have been very kind in assisting the local authorities in every way that they could.

Invitations Mailed and Handed Out

Some three thousand invitations have been mailed and handed out, as follows:

"To You, Your Family and Friends—

"The Clanton Aero Club — The Kiwanis Club — The Board of County Commissioners — The City of Clanton —the Merchants and Business Men of Clanton extend to you a cordial invitation to attend the dedication of Gragg Field, Clanton, Alabama, July 3rd and 4th, 1937.

"We hope to be favored with your presence.—The Clanton Aero Club, J. Mell Martin, Secretary.

MORE ABOUT THE ROAD SCRAP

The following letter was handed in to the office of The Union-Banner, with no comment — no request was made that it be published, and neither were we told to omit it. It reads as follows:

"June 17, 1937.

"The Honorable Commissioners Court,
"City.

"Gentlemen:

"The writer notes, with interest, the article appearing in this week's Chilton County News, with the full page heading, 'Court Denies Road Charges'. But the writer would like to know what charges?

"In this article appears a letter from Judge Smith to the Supervisor, which also states: 'You have attempted to place the blame on the Commissioners Court for the bad road conditions—'. From this and the heading referred to above, there must be some guilt or a guilty conscience somewhere to cause so much furore and the mistaken belief that I had charged the blame on anyone.

"I had nothing to do with the publication of my letter of June 5, 1937, addressed to the Commissioners Court which appeared in The Union-Banner last week, and if you will kindly refer to this letter, the original of which is now in your hands, and a copy of which, word for word, is included in the article appearing in this week's News, it can be easily determined that no reference was made to 'roads', and that the whole subject of the letter was 'bridges and water boxes', or materials for use in their repair. You will also note that my letter is a simple statement of facts in connection with materials requisitioned by this office, the same as several other letters I have addressd the Court relative to slow and non-delivery of materials which were requisitioned by this office in accordance with the law. But, I did send copies of this letter to those persons who are complaining about damaged and impassable bridges and water boxes—to show them that this material had been requested and that repairs could not be made until such was bought and delivered by the Commissioners Court, who is the authorized purchasing agency for the county.

"There was no charge made against anyone. The letter in itself is self-explanatory, and indicates the date and requisition number with the kind and quantity of materials requested by the Court. The Supervisor is of the opinion that the people are not fooled—that they will all eventually inform themselves as to what is right and what is wrong at the proper time. At the present time the Supervisor is too busy on the defensive to stop and attempt to enlighten an already enlightened people. Respectfully, Thomas J. Arledge, Supervisor. Copy to Commissioners, Chilton County News, Union-Banner."

RAILROAD MAN BADLY BURNED NEAR ALABASTER TUESDAY

Mr. D. D. (Hickory) Matthews, veteran L. & N. telephone maintainer, was badly burned a short distance above Alabaster Tuesday morning about 9:40 o'clock. Mr. Matthews' home is at Calera.

Mr. Matthews was either working at that point or traveling on a railroad motor car, when he caught on fire in some unknown manner. His body was said to be burned about two-thirds over, and little hope was held out for his recovery. He was rushed to St. Vincent's hospital, Birmingham.

CENTER HILL SINGING

The annual singing will be held at Center Hill on the fourth Sunday in June. We are expecting plenty of good singers. Bring your 1937 song books and spend the day with us.

Mrs. Wallace Cox is reported to be in a serious condition at Baptist Gorgas Hospital, in Birmingham.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

4-H LIVESTOCK MEMBERS OFFERED MEDALS AND TRIPS

County 4-H livestock members will again compete for medals in the Thomas E. Wilson National Meat Animal Contest, in which 3,500 4-H clubsters in the United States have won the coveted emblem.

The medal and other awards in the contest nowin its eight year, have encouraged thousands of boys to master the problems of successful livestock production, marketing and exhibition, and elevated the business to the high rank it should hold. Hundreds of young men have been able to acquire a valuable knowledge of animal husbandry and own superior stock through their participatoin in the contest.

Over 200 boys have won gold watches as state prizes, 28 have received trips to the National Club Congress, and $4,200 in college scholarships have been presented national winners.

Records of county champions in this state will be judged for state honors in the State Club Leader's office previous to November 1. The winner will compete with other state champions in his extension division for a Chicago trip. Three of the highest rating trip winners will be awarded cash college scholarships of $300, $200 and $100. No fee or obligation of any kind is required of contestants except that they be bona fide 4-H Club members carrying on livestock projects.

WANTED — 5 girls to learn Beauty Culture. See Mrs. W. C. Robinson for details. Modern School of Beauty Culture. Phone 168, Clanton.

NEW LIVESTOCK LABORATORY WILL BE CONSTRUCTED SOON

Auburn. — Within the next few weeks the federal government will construct a huge regional livestock research laboratory at Auburn to serve all states east of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio rivers, announces Dr. L. N. Duncan, president of Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

The board of trustees of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute has provided the land on which to build the laboratory and the United States Bureau of Engineering has asked for bids for constructing the buildings.

Livestock and poultry diseases and pests and methods of controlling them will be studied at the laboratory, Dr. Duncan said in explaining that "the laboratory is a great thing for Alabama and other states in the southeast. It will enable farmers and livestock producers to solve one of their greatest problems—that of controlling diseases and pests among their livestock and poultry—and will help the farmers in carrying out a better balanced farm program by utilizing more livestock in their farming operations," he said.

The new livestock research work will be financed by the federal government under the Bankhead Bill passed last year providing for the establishment of regional laboratories in various parts of the country. Immediately following the passage of the bill, Dr. Duncan and other officials of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute worked with the federal officials in locating the livestock laboratory here.

1,400 FARM BOYS WILL VISIT AUBURN IN JULY

Auburn. — Plans have been completed for about 1,400 Alabama farm boys to visit the Alabama Polytechnic Institute during the first two weeks in July.

Over 600 4-H club boys of the state will attend the 4-H club encampment July 5-14, announces T. A. Sims, the state 4-H club leader. Immediately following the 4-H gathering, over 800 FFA boys will be in Auburn July 15-17, attending the 8th annual convention of the Alabama Association of Future Farmers of America, states W. C. Wells, state FFA president.

Alabama has spent $300,000 for free text books for children in the first and second grades during the past two years. Free text books will be provided for pupils in the third grade next year.

SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE

Thunder showers that often bring heavy downpours of rain at this season afford farmers an excellent opportunity to observe the effectiveness of erosion control methods on the farm, according to James H. Wood, superintendent of the Soil Conservation Service area near Clanton.

Contour furrows should porvide the first line of defense in cultivated fields, forming small reservoirs which hold a portion of the water and increase absorpton. Strip crops will further impede the rush of run-off water, and terraces break the long slopes, diverting the surplus water through meadow strips and other waterways to stabilized areas.

The color and volume of run-off water should tell an interesting story, Mr. Wood pointed out. Water from unprotected fields with its heavy load of soil, will have a tell-tale dark color as it rushes unimpeded out of the fields. But if contour furrows, strip crops, and terraces are functioning properly the volume of run-off and the load of soil it is carrying from these fields should be greatly reduced.

The ground cover of leaves and other litter in well managed woodland should absorb virtually all the water that falls during sudden heavy thundershowers, but burned over woodland will show up poorly in comparison. Close growng cover crops and a good pasture sod should also provide almost complete protection against erosion.

The color and volume of the water that runs from fields, woods, and pasture thus give a good indication of the farm's need for erosion control, Mr. Wood said.

Brick and Hollow Tile Are The Only Materials That Are Really Fireproof

Because the elements that make them cannot destroy them.

Proof of this fact, are lower fire insurance rates than apply on houses built of combustible materials.

Besides this, you can get beautiful effects, low upkeep and greater comfort in both winter and summer.

Lesson for June 27

LESSON TEXT—Hebrews 11:3-10, 17-22.
GOLDEN TEXT—These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth.—Hebrews 11:13.
PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Honor Roll.
JUNIOR TOPIC—God's Honor Roll.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Heroes of Faith.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Faith Tested and Triumphant.

The great "heroes of the faith" chapter, Hebrews 11, provides an excellent review summary of the messages in Genesis, which we have studied during the last three months. Fittingly, the entire account, from the Creation to the hope for the future expressed by Joseph, revolves around the word "Faith." The patriarchs had many noble qualities but these were all rooted in the fundamental of all virtues, namely, that faith in God without which "it is impossible to please him" (v. 6).

Our study may well attempt no closer analysis of the text than to note the results of faith as they appear in the verses of our lesson.

I. Understanding (v. 3).

Philosophy and human research frequently bog down in the confused bypaths of unbelief and partial knowledge, but faith cuts right through the clouds and the confusion and "understands" that God is the creator of all things. If you want to know, believe God.

II. Worship (v. 4).

The world abounds with cults and religions of almost unbelievable diversity, and of appalling insufficiency for the needs of man. Only when man does as did Abel, and worships God in accordance with God's holy law will he obtain "witness that he" is "righteous."

III. Fellowship (v. 5).

Here again faith triumphs. The societies and associations of man fumble around trying to establish "good will," "fellowship of faiths," and what not, only to fail. But when a man knows God as Enoch did, then he is ready for true fellowship with his brother.

IV. Assurance (v. 6).

When a man trusts God implicitly the uncertainties of life vanish. It is an easier thing to talk about than to do, but, thank God, it can be done. We must believe not only that God is, but by faith we must recognize him "as the rewarder of them that diligently seek him."

V. Salvation (v. 7).

Saved by faith—that is the story of the Christian, even as it was the story of Noah. The ark is typical of Christ. Only in him is there salvation.

VI. Obedience (vv. 8, 9).

The world has a ribald saying, "I don't know where I'm going but I'm on my way," which represents a dangerous philosophy of life. But faith in God enables one to go with Abraham who "when he was called went out, not knowing whither he went." He knew God and that was enough to call forth unquestioning obedience.

VII. Vision (v. 10).

Men of vision—that's what we need, we are told. Well, then we need men of faith who can see the unseen, who can see "a city which hath foundations" even in the midst of the wilderness.

In the fields both of secular and spiritual achievement vision has marched before victory. Carey, Judson, Livingstone, every great missionary, dreamed dreams and saw visions before they achieved lasting victories in distant lands.

VIII. Resurrection (vv. 17-19).

God gave a promise and the only means of fulfilling that promise was about to be taken away, but Abraham did not hesitate for he believed that God was able and ready to raise the dead if necessary to fulfill his promise. Have all our prospects been dashed to the ground? Is everything hopeless, humanly speaking? God is both willing and able to make all things work together for good and for his glory.

IX. Hope (vv. 20-22).

The forward look—that is the look of faith. Isaac's blessing concerned "things to come." Jacob, too weak to stand alone, leaned on his staff and worshiped, and passed on the covenant blessing. Joseph gave commandment concerning his body, looking forward to God's fulfillment of the promise.

Christian hope is not a wishful desire that an unbelievable thing may somehow occur. That is an unbelieving misuse of the word "hope." To a child of God hope means a well-grounded assurance that God will keep his word.

Right and Wrong

Conscience is that faculty which perceives right and wrong in actions, approves or disapproves them, anticipates their consequences under the moral administration of God, and is thus either the cause of peace or of disquietude of mind.

Opportunities

There are people who would do great acts, but because they wait for great opportunities, life passes, and the acts of love are not done at all.—F. W. Robertson.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wyatt of Montevallo, were in Clanton Tuesday on business.

AAA ASKING FARMERS FOR IDEAS ON 1938 PROGRAM

Auburn. — The AAA in Washington is asking farmers throughout the United States for suggestions on developing the 1938 AAA program.

"These suggestions, together with recommendations already made by the county planning committees in most counties in the South, will provide valuable material in suggesting the kind of program best adapted to local conditions and in line with the needs from a regional and national point of view," says H. R. Tolley, administrator, and C. A. Cobb, director, Southern Division, in a letter to Walter L. Randolph, administrative officer in charge in Alabama.

"Thus from experience gained during the past several years, in which period farm income almost doubled, largely from the efforts of cooperating farmers, your suggestions for improving the program in 1938 will be very helpful," they further state in a letter to cotton farmers. "A summary of all suggestions and information together with county planning committee suggestions and other information will be available at state and regional meetings to be held during the summer when specific plans for next year will be formulated."

LEAVE OF ABSENCE GRANTED HOME AGENT

Miss Meta E. Grace has been given a leave of absence to study during the summer months. The leaders have been given special training to carry on their demonstrations which were given them at the leadership meeting. The month of August will be spent as a rest month. No meetings will be held during August.

TWENTY BOYS AND GIRLS GET AWARDS ON ESSAYS

Auburn. — Prizes have been awarded 20 Alabama 4-H club boys and girls for writing the best essays on the "Importance of Keeping Accounts on the Farm."

As announced by T. A. Sims, state 4-H club leader, the prize winning boys are: James Phillips and Forman Boisclair of Jefferson, Donald Crook of Coffee, James Willoughby of Dale, E. W. Robinson, Jr., of Lee, Lamar C. Meigs and Jim Strong of Tallapoosa, Jack Green of Cherokee, Sowell Jordan of Calhoun, and Leon Graham of Cullman.

The girls are: Anna Dale Payne of Cherokee, Annie Dora Collier of Elmore, Maurine Simmons of Etowah, Edith Coady of DeKalb, Margaret Bowden of Monroe, Nelda Boutwell of Coffee, Imogene Hosey of Talladega, Elizabeth Comette of Baldwin, Abbie Lee Anthony of Lee, Mary Reeves of Randolph.

THOMAS JR. 4-H CLUB

The Thomas Jr. 4-H Club met at Thomas Jr. school, May 15. There were fourteen members present.

The club enjoyed a baseball game before the meeting was held. The meeting was called to order by the uresident. Mr. Ivey told the club some very important facts about the boll weevil and their control. The members were very attentive during the talk and seemed to enjoy it.

The club then made plans for going to camp at Blue Creek on the backwaters of the Coosa River, July 21, 22 and 23.

After a very successfull meeting the club adjourned until next month.

OAK GROVE 4-H CLUB

Our 4-H Club sure enjoyed a ball game last Wednesday. Mr. Ivey was in charge. We had a good attendance. There were 17 old members and four new members, Ruth Cobb, Louise Cobb, Shirley Rogers and Bud Rogers. We surely are glad to have them with us.

How many of us are going on our vacation? I, for one hope to go to Blue Creek Camp for the first time. Don't you know I am anxious for the time to come for us to go?

We are sorry to learn one of our members, Verlie Killingsworth, is ill in a Birmingham Hospital. We are wishing him a speedy recovery.

CLANTON, ALABAMA

ACROSS rugged mountains, through rich valleys, along highways and by-ways—to you the electrical transmission line may appear to be just a commonplace bit of landscape . . . . unless you are one of the initiated!

Then it seems to be a great harp, singing noble songs of doing and daring; songs of risk of life and fortune so that ELECTRIC SERVICE MIGHT BE YOURS AT SMALL COST. Or your ears might hear a ballad telling of the contentment in homes where mothers are no longer slaves to household tasks—thanks to the time-saving and youth-extending benefits of electricity.

Or the wires may seem to be singing mighty songs of the workmen in factories who no longer must do tasks that only a machine should do, and who can now produce in a few hours what once required many. Perhaps the great harp's strands will seem to be singing of new industries which Alabama Power Company has brought to Alabama so there may be greater opportunity for Alabama boys and girls.

Or, if you have the ear for the music of the wind as it touches the great strands suspended between mighty metal towers, you may hear them singing of brave deeds during catastrophes when linemen come forth from the shelter of their homes to make repairs, so your electric service may go on.

The next time you are riding or walking through the country, when you see the gleaming metal strands suspended from great towers as on a loosely strung harp, see if you, too, can hear the martial MUSIC OF PROGRESS they're singing during this Liberty Hill singing society meets next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All singers and lovers of music are cordially invited.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

It was the writer's privilege to hear William Jennings Bryan speak one time to a great andience on the subject "The Gods". Every man has a god. A person's god is the thing that is first in his life. There is one God and one Mediator between God and man," the Bible says. In other words, there is just one God and just one way to reach this God. "Thou shalt have no other god before Me." This means that God must have the pre-eminence. He must have first place. Sometime ago a minister speaking at a chapel service at the Bob Jones College said, "A young man comes to this institution and has dates with different girls. These girls are all prominent in his life. Time passes and after a while the young man settles down to just one girl. That one girl has the pre-eminence." Jesus Christ maybe prominent in the minds of men as a teacher, as a character in history, and as a great world leader. A person does not have to become a Christian to make Jesus prominent, but Jesus has to be pre-eminent if a man is to be a Christian. He is not just one of many saviors. He is the only Savior. There is one God and only one way to Him.

Suppose I should call on a prominent business man and refuse to contact his secretary, but should slip around the back way and climb through a window to the business man's ofice. I would become a trespasser. Jesus said that He is the door. He is the entrance. He is the way. If any man climbs up any other way he is a thief and a robber. He is a trespasser. He is presumptuous. He insults God. He is discourteous to the Infinite. As a mater of fact, God is walled in by bars of justice that make it impossible for any man to break through. No man can get to God except through Jesus Christ. He may bombard doors and beat on windows and cry out to God for admission, but the only answer God gives is, "Come around to the main door and fix it up with my Son and you can come in." There is an entrance but there is only one entrance. There is no name given under heaven among men whereby we can be saved except the name of Jesus. There is but one of two alternatives. It is Jesus Christ or hell. The only robe of righteousness that will admit men to heaven is the robe of righteousness purchased by the blood of Jesus Christ, God's Son. "He that hath the Son hath life and he that hath not the Son hath not life." "That is narrow," you say. Well, don't blame the writer. He is quoting the Bible. If you have not accepted Jesus Christ as a personal Savior God help you to accept Him. God doesn't will the death of any man. He is eager to save. It breaks His heart when men and women turn away from his Son.

EDUCATION TO RECEIVE SMALL AMOUNT OF LIQUOR MONEY

Montgomery, June 18. — Public education will receive about 1.5 per cent of its appropriation of $12,070,660 for the fiscal year beginning October 1, next, from liquor receipts, according to a statement released today by the office of the Alabama Education Association in Montgomery.

"This 1.5 per cent approximates $180,000," said W. H. McGregor, assistant secretary of that organization. "As is well known," Mr. McGregor said, "the receipts from alcoholic beverages are paid into the state's general fund. From this fund education is allotted two appropriations: One fixed appropriation of $500,000, and a maximum deficiency appropriation of $1,500,000. According to estimates made by state officials, the total amount anticipated from the sale of alcoholic beverages for the next fiscal year will approximate $1,000,000. Under this estimate, and considering the other revenue expected to be paid into the general fund during the coming year in addition to liquor receipts, schools will receive from the general fund the fixed appropriation of $500,000, and about $900,000 of the deficiency allotment. This latter amount represents the balance of the appropriation unpaid by the public school fund and by revenue earmarked for education."

WIFE OF S. L. GRAY DIED

Mrs. Lula Catherine Gray, age 61 years, died at her home in East View community last Friday, June 18th, at 9 a. m. Funeral services were held at the home at 11 o'clock Saturday, Rev. J. M. Dobson officiating. Martin and Sons wede in charge of the burial at Evergreen cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Tom and Bill Courtney, Dewey and Thomas Johnson, Morris Pyron and Clifford Driver.

Surviving are the husband, Samuel L. Gray, and several married children.

Mr. Leonard (Dick) Chandler left Jemison Saturday morning for N. Y. City, to visit with his sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gunn. Mr. Chandler expects to take a job with the Robins Navy Yard.

Alabama leads the nation with 72,697 boys and girls enrolled in 4-H club work, reports T. A. Sims, state 4-H club leader.

Hughes Warns Of Clouds on Horizon

Chief Justice Points Out Threats To Governmental System In Speech To Amherst College Grads

Amherst, Mass., June 19.—Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes Saturday denounced both the "ruthlessness of a temporary majority" and the "activities of organized minorities," charging the former, "if unchecked," would "eventually lead to the entire overthrow of democratic institutions".

"We cannot hope to escape activities of organized minorities which may triumph from time to time," he told 1,300 Amherst College alumni at the annual commencement dinner. "Sometimes they have more fervor than wisdom."

Asserting that fundamental needs of democracy were "moral", he declared: "The ruthlessness of a temporary majority, if unchecked, will eventually lead to the entire overthrow of democratic institutions."

The 75-year-old chief justice did not elaborate on his references to the "temporary majority" or the "organized minorities," declaring it would not become him to speak of current interests.

He said he would "leave to the experts" the task of "answering questions on current problems." Nor would he amplify his remarks as he left the campus for Providence, R. I., where he was to attend the Brown Unnversity commencement exercises.

Speaking briefly and extemporaneously, Chief Justice Hughes recalled his own college days, and declared:

"Perhaps we neglected current affairs. Students had an opportunity to gain a historical background that could serve them in later years."

"In college," he continued, "the main difficulty is to secure a dietary regimen to assure sound mental digestion."

The chief justice said that democracy carried the banner of freedom, and that there was no conflict between progress and liberty, adding that a thorough knowledge of democracy was one of the most important things educators could inculcate into youth.

"In possession of thorough knowledge of democracy," he said, lies the essential resistance of propaganda and specious appeals of demagogues.

"I see the future of the country in hands of the youth who are coming out of our educational institutions this month."

He declared the highest mission of educational institutions was to send men out into the world equipped with thorough knowledge of their subjects and "emotional drive".

"Such qualities," he said, "would supply the essential resistance to specious appeals of demagogues and the irrational demands of zealots."

CONSERVATION NEWS

Out on his plantation one day, John Hampton, of Meridianville, in Madison County, saw a strange looking animal dragging a half grown rabbit across the field. A dog started to chase the animal and it grabbed him by the nose and held on tightly until Mr. Hampton and several tenants freed the howling canine. The animal was caught and brought to the game warden, who identified it as a weasel. It was carried back to the woods and released. Weasels are scarce in Alabama, and few people have ever seen one. Little is known about their habits, except that they live in the drier parts of timbered swamps and in crevices in cliffs or rock piles. They climb trees almost as readily as squirrels.

Absence of fish ladders on the numerous dams and locks in Alabama streams is deplored by the Jefferson County Sportsmen's Association. Each spring fish migrate upstream to spawn, and they are prevented from getting very far on account of the obstructions which eventually will confine propagation to certain restricted areas. The association sent requests to all congressmen, the state legislature, and others demanding that something be done right away to help the fish follow their natural courses. The dams lower than 10 feet are not included.

Coal mines, sewage and industrial wastes, the chief sources of stream pollution in Alabama, are responsible for the annual loss of millions of fish. Conservation authorities regard passage of laws to control this situation as of great importance. Diversion of sawdust into streams also is detrimental to fish life, but many sawmill owners have cooperated with sportsmen's clubs by keeping waste out of the streams. On one Alabama river not long ago dead fish so hampered operation of navigation locks that employes were forced to suspend operations and remove the fish before vessels could proceed. The fish were killed by waste from an industrial plant. Human health often is endangered by stream pollution, because many communities draw their water supply from these streams.

Experiments show that farmers can improve the quality of their beef and at the same time produce it cheaper by using purebred bulls.

Sales of fertilizers are probably past 8,000,000 tons this year, thus achieving the largest volume since 1930, reports Charles J. Brand, secretary of the National Fertilizer Association.

Cotton bags are used for two-fifths of the cement shipped in the United States but the trend in the use of cotton for this purpose is downward.

THORSBY SECTION

(Mrs. S. E. Norton, Manager)

Remember the church rally at the Thorsby Baptist church Junte 24, at 7:30 p.m. Dr. S. J. Szell of Clanton will speak. There will be quartets, congregational singing, and other attractions. Everyone is invited to join in this inspirational gathering, and it is hoped that each one who comes will bring a donation toward the church debt.

Under the auspices of the fire department of Thorsby, the Stamps-Baxter quartet of Birmingham will give a concert at the Thorsby Public School building on Friday evening, June 25.

There will be Sunday school at the Congregational church Sunday morning at 9:45; church service at 11 o'clock, when two laymen of the church will speak. There will be no prayer meeting and no choir practice this week.

The Boy Scouts will not have an official meeting this week.

The Ladies Guild of Thorsby will be held on Friday afternoon, June 25, with Mrs. H. L. Walker. The change from Thursday, the regular social day, to Friday is on account of the mercants' holiday Thursday afternoon. All the ladies who wish transportation please be at the hardware store by 2 o'clock.

The Eastern Star ladies gave a surprise on Saturday afternoon for their retiring Matron, Mrs. J. W. McCain. They presented her with a gift of silver as a token of their love for her.

Mrs. Tom Lessley had as her guests on Tuesday, Mrs. Robert Owens (nee Persia Lessley) of Ft. Worth, Tex., and Mrs. J. C. Seay and daughter, Nola Maye, of Jemison.

Mrs. G. B. Flournoy and Mrs. John Childress made a trip to Clanton on Tuesday.

Mrs. Burt Higgins had as her guests this week, Mrs. W. B. Higgins and children of Clanton, and Mrs. W. Z. Higgins of East Lake.

Mr. Leander Jackson made a trip to Birmingham last week.

Mrs. Webb Parrish spent Saturday with Mrs. John Childress.

Miss Jessie Mims, who is attending school at the University of Alabama, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Mims.

Miss Jewel Carroll spent Thursday with Miss Mabel Gibbons.

Mrs. T. P. Franklin of Pleasant Grove spent Friday with Mrs. Emmett Miskelley.

Miss Edith Johnson and her friend, Miss Alsey Burge, returned to Gary, Ind., Saturday, after a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Johnson.

Monday, June 21, was the birthday of Mrs. N. Laurell. The ladies of the Eastern Star and their husbands gave Mrs. Laurell a surprise party at her home at 7:30 p.m. Games of various kinds were played, and delightful refreshments were served. A very pleasant time was enjoyed, and all departed at a late hour, wishing Sister Laurell many happy returns of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Messer of Verbena spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Sutlive.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Cobb of Washington, D. C., have been spending two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Howard in Thorsby. Mrs. Leo Cobb returned Monday morning, taking with her for a two weeks visit her mother, Mrs. C. S. Howard.

Mr. H. W. Reinhardt, Mary Louise Reinhardt, Mrs. Charles Cleckler, Mrs. Hubert Reinhardt, and Jon Mac left Saturday for Florida for a vacation.

Mrs. Howard Garrick and son, Gene, spent a few days this week with Mrs. Tom Burdette in Clanton, and Mrs. Lewis Culver of Marbury.

Mr. Joe Eastburn left last week for Atlanta, where he will spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mixson and children spent the week end with her parents in Union Springs. Grace Swanson and Dwight Mixson will spend two weeks with their grandparents.

Miss Bertha Littleton of Birmingham spent the week end in Thorsby.

Mrs. R. D. Gibbons, Dorothy Jean and Jimmie spent last Thursday in Prattville Junction with Mrs. George Garnett.

Miss Esther Johnson of Birmingham was at home for a few days last week. Mrs. J. O. Johnson left with Esther on Saturday to spend a few days in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Strucher and Mr. Ralph Struch of Cleveland, O., returned to their home the latter part of the week, after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Sutlive.

Miss Melba Carroll spent Sunday with Miss Gladys Hicks.

Mrs. L. C. Lowery and Mrs. Howard Garrick spent last Wednesday with Mrs. Webb Parrish.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Smith had as their Sunday dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Mims.

Mrs. Love of Red Springs, N. C., is visiting her mother, Mrs. N. Laurell. Christine Love is also with Mrs. Laurell, and Jeanne Moore of Birmingham is also visiting her grandmother this week.

Mr. Robert Weems of Cedar Springs spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Rascoe Maddox.

Miss Mary Margaret Mims spent Sunday with Miss Jewell Carroll.

Mr. L. M. Jackson made a business trip to Birmingham Monday, and also visited his daughters, who are in training in a Baptist hospital in Birmingham.

Mrs. Coy Gibbons spent Sunday with her parents at Maple Springs.

We think some of the readers of The Banner have not heard of the books that have been put into the Thorsby Institute library within the year. Seven of them are "rent fiction", and for them a fee of 5 cents a week is charged. The books in this list are: The Dim Lantern, T. Tembarom, Old Judge Priest, Cimarron, The Cat's Paw, Seventeen, and The Gray Room. Besides these there are a number of free books that are just as interesting. Among them are: Men and Machines, Champions of Democracy, The World I Live In, Chinyo's Return, Young Walter Scott, A Lily of Samaria, Romantic Rebel, North to the Orient, Mutiny on the Bounty, Life Begins at Forty. The library is open Tuesdays and Saturdays.

F. D. R. AND VACATIONS

(AN EDITORIAL)

A big headline in a prominent daily newspaper says: "President Assails High Court Vacation." Further down in the article President Roosevelt is quoted as saying that the Court could, if it desired, sit in the summer for a special term, and hand down decisions in the important cases involving TVA, PWA and SEC. The high tribunal is being severely criticized by the President because it has adjourned for the summer, which is altogether a regular procedure for the Court to pursue. The Supreme Court does not stay in session half of the time, as Mr. Roosevelt has his Congress to do; but it attends to its business and adjourns. And just when did it become proper for one branch of the government to continually "assail" another branch of the government? It seems that Mr. Roosevelt is the author of this procedure as well as a number of other very objectionable and questionable procedures.

And too, for the President to assail anybody for taking a vacation is, in our opinion, kindly like the skillet calling the pot black. Every few days Mr. Roosevelt is reported off in some secluded place on his yacht, away from the rustle and bustle of official duties and letting his mind relax by spending several days angling and resting. This is probably not objectionable; but others need vacations besides the President; and they should not be assailed for it, and especially by someone who is always vacationing himself.

And speaking of vacations, we are reminded of our own Governor Bibb Graves—only Mr. Graves takes most of his in Washington, not fishing but shaking plum trees. And again, we are reminded of the similarity of our Governor and our President in many respects. These two men are just "two pigs in a poke". If you approve of one you approve of the other, and you can't dislike one without disliking the other. If one likes the New Deal he likes Mr. Roosevelt, and if one likes Mr. Roosevelt he likes Bibb Graves. There is not much difference in the two except probably a slight variation in the size and calibre; one bores a big hole and the other a little hole, with identical markings.

CONFUSION CONFOUNDED

The general state of confusion which reigns in congressional circles in Washington at the present time is a natural and obvious outgrowth of the free-and-easy spending spree through which congress has been wading. Political jobs and money have been flowing so freely, and still are, that congressmen have been hard put to it to disentangle the claims of thousands of job-seekers and pass out the countless positions where they would do the most good.

The president, without consulting party leaders, draws up broad programs and pushes them on congress for action. Often, he refuses to amplify the terms of these claims, leaving the working out of details to the legislators. But as each matter is brought up it is immediately smothered in a swirl of argument and debate, with additional proposals and counter proposals threatening to swamp the entire program, and leave the legislative machinery hopelessly bogged down.

The daily news brings repeated reports of senatorial or representative revolts, with the recalcitrant members openly defying White House instructions, and vehemently asserting that certain parts of the president's programs cannot and will not be passed. The president's son turns over to a dear old college chum a $7,500 position which had been promised to a senator's man, and this leaves a bad taste in the mouths of certain people who have had to take it and like it.—Bridgeport Post.

A girl at the University of Washington, who has never driven an automobile, won first prize in a "safe drivers" contest in which there were hundreds of contestants. Here is some support for the childless experts who tell us all about how to raise children.

In the horse and buggy days an ambitious youth had to start at the bottom and work and save for years to achieve success. Now all he has to do is go down to the corner book store and buy a book for $2 that will tell him tow to do it in 90 days.

EFFECTS OF THE DECISION

Aside from the legal and economic effects the recent decisions of the Supreme Court validating the legislation of the New Deal on sosial security seem bound to have some sweeping political reactions. In the first place they will greatly simplify the problem of the administration, on the question of relief as well as on social security. The New Dealers under the law have pretty broad powers relative to the disposition of the revenues coming in to the treasury to provide for "social security". The bond market was strengthened by the Court's decision immediately. The reason could be found in the market's belief that in the future the government in handling the social security funds will have a powerful weapon to use for supporting the market for government bonds. The treasury with the additional funds will apparently be able to go into the market and buy federal bonds whenever this seems advisable, and so make its fiscal program much easier to carry out. So another problem seems solved for the New Deal administration, even though the solution may be ultimately injurious.

Most political observers in Washington think that the decisions dealt another blow to the chances of the president's own Supreme Court bill. With the score in this session of the Court 10 to 0 in favor of the New Deal, there seems little reason, if there ever was any, why Mr. Roosevelt should need six new judges to create a majority in the Supreme Court to sustain his economic and social ideals. So the Court plan would seem to have an even rockier road to travel, if its consummation is insisted on to the bitter end.

Another point worth noting is the reception of the Supseme Court decisions on the social security legislation. Although three decisions were by a vote of 5 to 4 and one by a vote of 7 to 2, there was as much rejoicing among New Dealers as if the decisions had been unanimous. But had the legislation been held unconstitutional by the Court, there would have been wails of anguish and volleys of criticism reaching to high heaven.

Some may answer this by declaring it is the duty of the Court generally to OK congressional legislation and that a vote of 5 to 4 for the administration while a 5 to 4 vote against the administration would not be.

This is not sound logic. The founders of our government meant that our judiciary should be equal to and not subservient to the legislative and executive branches. Otherwise there could be no balanced government and a helpless minority could not feel secure against the discriminatory repression of a victorious majority. It is as much the duty of the Supreme Court to invalidate unconstitutional legislation, when the occasion warrants, as to validate sound legislation. To assume otherwise is to take a long step toward fascism or some other form of autocracy.

The best definition of these perplexing terms, Communism, Socialism, and Fascism, yet devised comes from the Chicago Daily News. If you have six cows, says the News, putting it into universally comprehensible language, the Communists take all of them, the Socialists take only three, and the Fascists let you keep all six, but you have to feed them, and they take the milk.—Hutchinson News.

The Italian national deficit is blamed on to Rome's military costs. We wonder if there still isn't some way to blame it on to Uncle Sam and the war debts?

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

One of the most remarkable developments in the New Deal as presented to the American public has been the change in sentiment toward the NRA. The legislation was passed with a fanfare of trumpets. It was to usher in a new era. It was to put America's economic structure back on a firm foundation. At first the public was led to believe that failing to observe its provisions was unpatriotic, just as was failure to purchase Liberty Bonds during the World War. Of course, there was a great deal of difference, but a clever attempt was made to create a similar atmosphere, and for a time it worked.

Then gradually there was a change. The NRA failed to work the wonders that were promised for it. Gradually men began to see that rather than freeing the small business men from economic shackles it had created a bureaucracy to tighten them on his limbs, at the same time giving big business freer action by loosening the anti-trust laws. Then came suits against the Blue Eagle with a final action of the Supreme Court, by unanimous decision, in throwing it into the ash can. For a time there was considerable outcery to the effect that business was ruined and we were headed back toward economic strangulation again. But business — unexpectedly to the New Dealers — took a turn for the better and soon the NRA was forgotten by the public in general.

Now we have proposed legislation in congress purported by its enemies to re-establish the NRA by creation of a federal board to regulate hours and wages in interstate industry. The remarkable point is that this charge of similarity to the NRA is advanced only by the enemies of the hour and wage law. The friends of the proposed statute deny that it is like the NRA. Most of these supporters of the new legislation were former keepers of the Blue Eagle, but now, a few months later, they deny that their new offspring resembles the old one in any degree. This in itself seems to measure the depth to which the Blue Eagle has dropped from its nest at the top of the cliffs.

Robert H. Jackson, Assistant Attorney General of the United States, testifying before the Senate Committee considering the new wage and hour bills, and himself an administration leader of ability and standing, said that the new plan is "distinctly not an NRA nor anything like an NRA". This, in itself, sounds more like a defensive explanation than anything else. It is doubtless true that the new proposed legislation is not an exact copy of the NRA as we knew it in the old Blue Eagle days. The new bill applies only to wages and hours in interstate commerce, because the Supreme Court has held that this is as far as congress can go. It does not seek to fix the prices on pants pressing or to regulate the wages and hours of the merchant in the store. This necessarily has been left to the enlightened state legislatures which may follow congress.

But there are some points in common between the old Blue Eagle and the proposed new regulatory fowl — whatever name you may choose to give it. The new act would provide for the setting up in Washington of a bureau to control the application of the minimum wage and maximum hour law in various trades and industries. Once more business is to be regulated in Washington, this time by five or six young men in palm beach suits. It is a step in the direction of the autocratic control we have seen work out so disastrously to the common man in Europe. There is small wonder then that some labor leaders, as well as business leaders are opposed to many of the provisions suggested. Every sensible man in the country wants the worker to have a good wage and a reasonable amount of leisure. But the really sensible man will not want to risk his right of private bargaining for an advantage which is of doubtful value, depending as it will on the varying political winds of the nation. The old NRA and the new wage and hour bill may not be twins but they have some family resemblance. General Johnson, who ought to know, says in a newspaper article that they are very similar but that the sponsors of the new legislation are trying to conceal the fact.

ANOTHER BIG SHIPMENT OF SHOES ARRIVES FOR THE LEADER

Shown above is a large shipment of Star Brand Shoes which arrived recently in Clanton and delivered to The Leader, one of Clanton's largest dry goods stores. A representative is shown congratulating M. Lande, proprietor of The Leader on this large shipment and on the tremendous number of sales The Leader has made on Star Brand Shoes.

"We have sold over 20,000 pairs of these all leather shoes in the last four years," Mr. Lande stated. "We have learned that Star Brand shoes cost no more than other shoes of inferior quality. When we sell these shoes, we know our customers are assured of absolutely the best for their money," Mr. Lande continued.

The Leader carries all sizes and widths in these well known shoes, which are recommended by The Leader for real foot comfort. The "Poll Parrot" shoe is for the youngsters, the "Heel Latch" shoe is recommended for the laides and the "Uptown" shoe is for the men.

Mr. Maurice Lande in commenting about this shipment and Star Brand Shoes in general said: "We sold during the year 1936 over 7,000 pairs of Star Brand Shoes, besides what we sold of other brands. The shipment of Star Brand shoes pictured here is for immediate use. And you may inform the buying public that they cannot err in buying their shoes now; they will be 35c to $1.00 higher this fall."

Mr. Lande loves to talk about shoes, and he takes peculiar delight in saying "Star Brand." The buying public of Chilton county knows something about what the famous trade mark means too. If you do not know, see Mr. Lande and give him a chance to tell you something about Star Brand shoes and the other wearing apparel that always abounds in that progressive merchandising institution.

LAY DAM 7—STOCKHAM 6

The Kilowatts went to Birmingham last Tuesday, and made it two straight over the Stockham team, taking the last game, 7 to 6.

The Kilowatts stormed Stevens with 11 safeties, while Whitaker was turning in a 6-hit performance.

Baker and Greene led the Kilowatt attack with three each, closely paced by Tatum and Whitaker with a pair each.

For Stockham, Sharpe led with a pair.

ENTERPRISE 4-H CLUB

The Enterprise 4-H Club met Thursday, June 4th. Our attendance was very low due to the fact that so many of our members were helping in the crops. We hope to have a better attendance next time.

Mr. Ivey talked about boll weevils, their origin and control, which was very helpful to us. He also told us about the Club Camp to be held in July. There being no other business we adjourned.

CHARLIE BRYANT BURIED JUNE 13th

Charlie Bryant, age about 70 years, died at the home of his son, Dosh Bryant, near Verbena, Sunday morning, June 13th. Burial was that afternoon at 3 o'clock, at Samaria.

Surviving are one daughter—Mrs. Ann Jane Beezier, one son, Dosh Bryant. There is one sister, Mrs. Salzora Bates of Beat 16; four brothers—Roan A. Bryant of Coosa county, Riley of Elmore county, Monroe, Dock and Alex of Chilton county. The wife of Charlie Bryant was buried about three years ago, at Samaria.

FOOD PRESERVATION SCHOOL

A food preservation school was held at the Home Economics building at Clanton, Monday, June 14. Miss Lavada Curtis, Food Preservation Specialist from the Extension Department, Auburn, Ala., and assisted by Miss Meta E. Grace, Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Martha Kennedy, Mrs. Irvin Wilson and Mrs. Jim Roper.

One of the most outstanding cautions was not to over cook the product or cook it on too high a temperature of heat for to long a time. This gives a poor product and causes it to lose some of its better flavor.

WANTED — 5 girls to learn Beauty Culture. See Mrs. W. C. Robinson for details. Modern School of Beauty Culture. Phone 168, Clanton.

TWO GOOD GAMES THIS WEEK END

Two exceptionally good games are on tap for baseball lovers for this week end.

On Thursday (today) Sparrow Easterling's Peppers will meet the Fliers from Maxwell Field in a return engagement. The Fliers won the game in Montgomery, and the Peppers will be gunning for revenge. This game is sponsored by Circle No. 4, W. M. S., of Clanton Baptist Church, and the ladies give a special invitation to this game.

On Sunday, Lay Dam meets the Homewood team at Lay Dam. This team was scheduled for last Sunday, but a schedule mix-up prevented their appearance here. Homewood always has a good team—you can bet on that.

Come out to these two games—you'll not be disappointed.

MARS HILL

We are still having Sunday school, but there is room for improvement. Everybody remember, God gave us six day's to work, and on Sunday we should realize that it is our duty to go to church to worship our Lord and Master, and do the things for the upbuilding of His cause and Kingdom.

Next Saturday night and Sunday are our regular preaching dates and we invite every body out. We always have wonderful sermons delivered to us by our pastor, Rev. Green. Bro. Green has done some excellent work for us this year. We hope that we can keep him with us this coming year.

Our revival begins the 4th Sunday in July, and we hope it will be one of the best that has ever been held at this place.

We are sorry to know Miss Gladys Lawley is sick. We hope her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Baggett visited Mrs. Baggett's mother, Mrs. Dennis, near Oak Grove this week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Underwood spent the week end in Birmingham.

Mrs. Robert Sturdivant is on the sick list this week. We hope for her a speedy recovery.

CEMETERY CLEANING

All who are interested in the Oak Grove cemetery meet us Friday morning, June 25, at the church grounds.

Our third quarterly meeting convenes on Tuesday, June 29. Rev. J. E. Brasher will preach at 11 o'clock, and conference in the afternoon at 2 o'clock. Everybody be sure and come.

PEPPERS 4—MAXWELL FIELD 13

The Woco Peppers went to Montgomery last Tuesday and lost to the Maxwell Field fliers 13 to 4.

For the Fliers, Funderburg led the 13-hit barrage on Ellison and Smith with three hits, with Penn, Hathern, Davidson and Busby came in for a pair each.

For the Peppers, Jones gathered a pair, while Smith and Easterling got the other two.

Kiwanis Convention At Indianapolis Ind.

Four-Day Convention Starts 1937-38 Service Work For Civic and Welfare Activities In U.S. and Canada

Indianapolis, June 21.—Thousands of Kiwanians and visitors from the United States and Canada have arrived here for the service organization's 21st annual convention. Four days of business sessions and conference are scheduled to plan 1937-38 activities in child welfare, safety, taxation, adult education, agriculture and youth programs.

A. Copeland Callen, of Urbana, Ill., president of Kiwanis International, in his annual message urged greater efforts in community service and for international peace. "This age has developed many social, welfare and economic problems and it is up to Kiwanis to provide community leaders who will arouse citizenry for the promotion of practical solutions. Out of such work will come lasting peace and good-will. Kiwanis continues to increase its membership and extend its influence into new communities. This is practical evidence for bettering community, national and international life," he said.

Fred. C. W. Parker, of Chicago, International secretary, declared, "Kiwanis realizes it is not enough to give our man-power for welfare endeavors alone. We must attack and prevent conditions which contribute to an under-privileged environment. Kiwanis leadership today devotes itself to better government, not political activities, and intelligent service which betters conditions for all citizens," he said.

Challenge of Democracy

"Is western civilization sick or healthy, on the upward swing or on the downward slope?" Arthur E. Bestor, president of the Chautauqua Institution, Chautauqua, N. Y., asked the thousands of delegates. "The challenge of the democratic way of life is whether it can maintain individual freedom! Otherwise there are only two alternatives, the totalitarian state or the communistic society," he declared. "America now has one of the oldest unchanged governments in the world. At the beginning of the century there were many kings by divine right, but now there are only dictatorships! For 150 years America, under a written constitution, has survived a civil war, assimilated 40 millions of foreign immgrants and transformed a small nation of farmers into a powerful industrial nation of 125 millions!

"The challenge is whether we can educate ourselves and develop leadership to make the state the servant instead of the sovereign of our lives! This is the best test of the democratic way of life. It is, therefore, the responsibility of every Kiwanian to help make his own community an environment for intelligent, aggressive and serviceable citizenship, for friendly understanding among all citizens and for service to the unfortunate.

"Kiwanis must be committed to the highest moral and spiritual values and these are revealed in the public affiars activities and the ideals of business standards with their application to business and professional life. Having mastered the problems of productions by the industrialization of our civilization and the mechanization of our industries, we must find a solution to the problems of distribution," he said.

All-Kiwanis Night

Monday night the 1,918 clubs on the North American continent met simultaneously at 9:30 p. m. (C. S. T.) to observe All-Kiwanis Night. This meeting brings the entire membership together for fellowship and the expression of gratitude for the accomplishments in service activities during the past year.

Indianapolis for the first time is host to an international convention of Kiwanis. Governor M. Clifford Townsend welcomed the thousands of visitors, asking that the guests visit all parts of the historic state after the convention ends. All down-town business districts are decorated with flags and banners.

Other speakers at the convention during the coming week are: U. S. Senator Claude Pepper, of Florida; Harry W. Colmery, national commander of American Legion; Whiting Williams, Cleveland, industrial consultant; Roe Fulkerson and Albert Kennedy Rowswell, nationally known humorists, and others.

New Clubs

Seventy new clubs were built during the past 12 months in towns throughout the United States and Canada, it was reported at conferences this week. Plans were made for an aggressive campaign to increase membership during 1937-38.

"Four basic reasons for successful Kiwanis clubs in any community are a growing membership with good attendance, fellowship, adequate Kiwanis education and worth-while service activities," said Walter S. Clark, of Rensselaer, N. Y., chairman of the international attendance committee. He warned that poor attendance made for weakness. "Kiwanis attendance rules must be strictly observed if resorts are to be of any worth. Credit shallnot be given unless a member attends a regular meeting and is present for at least 60 per cent of the time scheduled for this meeting," he said. Membership loss, he continued, could be expected, but poor programs and non-attendance of members, which cause deletions, can be prevented.

Membership

Maple T. Harl, of Denver, Colo., chairman of the committee on classification and membership, urged that a survey be made of all communities so a cross-section of all businesses and professions be represented in clubs.

"Our objective is 100,000 members before December 31, 1937," he declared. "This is a challenge, but it simply means an increase of about six members per club." Present membership was stated as approximately 95,000.

Clanton Club Met

The Clanton Club met at Mitchell Dam Monday night of this week, and carried out a program fitting to the occasion of the week's international activities. The local club is working in heary co-operation with Kiwanis International in observing Convention Week.

A total of 8,015,385 pounds of winter legume seed, the largest amount on record in the state, were planted by Alabama farmers last fall for soil improvement purposes during the winter months.

MT. CARMEL

Crops in and around here look good considering late plantings and dry weather. There was some rain last week about in places but nothing like a season.

We have heard of some having ripe tomatoes over here but if anybody has cut any ripe watermelons they are keeping silent. Thats a god idea too, unless they have enough to go around.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Dessie Foshee is very sick, and Mr. Ben Higgins isn't improving much. We hope they will regain their health soon.

Mr. Leslie Foshee was able to attend Sunday School, after being ill for over a week.

Our Sunday school is doing nicely, even if some of our leaders and others attend the different singings every Sunday. Last Sunday there were 46 present. The primary class had a full attendance. Mrs. Odell Higgins should get the credit. She is an excellent teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bearden and Misses Eva and Marill Higgins of Montgomery spent Saturday night with relatives here.

Mrs. Ben Vail, who has been visiting her parents,, Rev. and Mrs. Mims, returned to Auburn last Sunday where Mr. Vail is attending school.

Miss Nettie Johnson of Rockford, will visit friends here some time next week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Sewell and his mother, Mrs. S. C. Sewell, attended the three-day renunion of Spanish War vets, in Selma last week. They report a very nice time.

Miss Eula Sanders has gone to Billingsley to spend some time with her brother.

Mrs. Foshee, Mr. and Mrs. Alf Childress and sons, were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Watley Sunday.

Miss Oleta Watley was the dinner guest of Miss Ruby Mae Higgins Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sewell and mother, attended the singing at Stanton Sunday.

Mr. Leon Seymore of Billingsley, spent Saturday night with his mother, Mrs. J. D. Sanders.

Perry Oden spent Sunday with Doyle Liveoak.

Mr. George Vines of Selma spent Sunday afternoon in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Leach spent Saturday night with Mr. Alf Childress and family.

We hope our W. M. U. will have a good attendance at the institute next week; not only the ladies but all members of the family.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Our Sunday school crowd was small last Sunday, but let's not quit; come back next Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock with a well prepared lesson.

We were glad to see little Will Wilson back at Sunday school Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Glenn spent the past week end visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Devaughn.

Miss Mildred Wright spent the past week end visiting friends in Montgomery.

Mr. Alton Deloach of Poplar Springs was a visitor in this community Saturday night.

Mrs. W. F. Glenn attended the home coming at Olive Branch, one mile east of Rockford, in Coosa County, Sunday.

Messrs. Curtis and Vernon Jones of Isabella were in this community Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Hayes spent the week end here with Mr. and Mrs. John Hayes and daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Vonnie Blalock from near Concord spent the week end here with Mr. Jim Driver and family.

Messrs. Kern Sandlin and Otis Glenn made a business trip to Pittsburg, Tenn., last Wednesday.

Mr. Arthur Mitchell visited Mr. Arnold Glenn Friday night.

Little Bobby Joe Davis is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Elmer Rollan, of Highland.

LAY DAM 6—BEVELLE 8

The Kilowatts lost to Bevelle at Lay Dam last Sunday, 8 to 6.

Mickey McGuire started for the Kilowatts, but ran into a barrage of base hits in the 5th, and gave over to Whitaker, who held the visitors in check the rest of the way. However, the damage had already been done, Bevelle having scored six runs in the 5th, and with Red Amos turning in a 6-hit pitching job, it was certains for the Dammers.

Slagle led the visitors at bat with three hits, two of them triples. Long also tripled in the first inning.

Galloway led the home team with a pair, and also contributed one of the finest plays afield ever seen in this section. After Henderson had singled to start the ninth, Newman shot a screaming liner between short and second which had "Triple" written all over it; Teck, moving over fast, picked the screamer out of the air in a sparkling play, and doubled Henderson off first. Johnson, new Kilowatt keystone man, in a fine game at second, failed to hit again before the home folks.

To give so-called "branch line" passengers the same comforts that are enjoyed on through trains, the Seaboard Railway is rebuilding coaches used on these trains with air conditioning apparatus, de luxe reclining seats, and other features.

HELP KIDNEYS

To Get Rid of Acid and Poisonous Waste

Your kidneys help to keep you well by constantly filtering waste matter from the blood. If your kidneys get functionally disordered and fail to remove excess impurities, there may be poisoning of the whole system and body-wide distress.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination may be a warning of some kidney or bladder disturbance.

You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Use Doan's Pills. A multitude of grateful people recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

Information — Mrs. Grady Heflin.

We are sure that all Christians are anxious that we make a success of anything so far-reaching in its consequences for good as the Mission Institute. It is far too large a thing for a few people to manage. If it is to be what it ought to be, every good person in Chilton County will have a part in it.

First, we will all be praying. Second, we will attend ourselves, if possible, and make plans for others to attend; we will be especially careful that our pastor comes. We will plan ways for all our children and young people to come, because the speakers and the teachers are unusually fine.

Mr. Roswell Owens, missionary from Palestine, is one of the most interesting speakers. Mr. Charles Leek, who teaches the adults the book on Palestine, has visited that country, and is one of the best teachers to be had anywhere.

Dr. Plainfield, who teaches the other adult book, is an outstanding man in our Southern Baptist Convention. He brings the key addresses at Ridgecrest during Home Mission Week, which is evidence that he is the finest that can be gotten.

Mrs. Sam Heath, Y. W. A. teacher, is Eastern District Young People's Leader. She is a young woman of fine training, great charm, and unusual ability. Miss Margaret Hall, young scholarship girl from Eastern District, and Miss Lois Thompson, honor graduate from Montevallo, have the Junior girls. All Intermediate girls who were here last year know that Miss Juliette Weeks can not be beaten. She will teach them again this year. All our boys have the most unusual treat for them. The Napier boys, who grew up in China, and three other very fine young men, will lead their classes. Don't let the boys miss this great experience.

All who love to sing will greatly enjoy Bro. W. L. Cooper, of Montgomery, one of our very fine evangelistic singers, who will have charge of the music.

These things we have done, but we must have help. So we are asking the women named in the Hospitality Plans given below to make certain that there will be lunch each day. We are trusting these leaders to get in touch with each woman on her lunch committee right away and make plans. It will be hard for no one, if each does her part. If each Association prepares lunch for 150 each day, we will have enough, for Clanton will serve sandwiches to all the small children, and tea for everybody.

Each leader may ask each of her churches to prepare lunch for a certain number, or she may let one church bring all the cakes, another all the chicken, etc., until the menu is prepared. The Circles will serve the lunch, but the leaders are asked to stay downstairs until it is all in, so that she may know how her churches responded. All who bring dishes are urged to go back into the kitchen for them in the afternoon.

Please, leaders, get in touch with your committees and make plans. Please, women, prepare lunch for one day; see that your church feeds about 40, if your leader doesn't tell you what to do. Please, superintendents, announce the programs and plans, and help get ways for your folks to come. Please, pastors, announce the program, come, invite others to come, and together we'll greatly serve the Lord, and we will all be blessed.

Hospitality Plans

(Menu suggested by the Executive Boards — may be changed by those in charge).

There are 106 parent companies which form the family tree of the Seaboard Railway. The oldest was chartered in 1832 to operate a 79-mile railroad. The present Seaboard system, serving Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, and Florida, is close to 6,000 miles.

PEPPERS 9—CCC 4

The Peppers took the local CCC Camp in tow last Saturday on the local field by the count of 9 to 4, although Uncle Sam's boys lead the Peppers in hitting, 9 to 6.

For the CCC, Jones got three hits, and Hicks gathered a pair.

For the Peppers, Smith led with two hits.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

There was a man in our town,
The chump thought he was wise.
He swore (it was his policy)
He'd never advertise;
But, one day, he advertised,
And thereby hangs a tale—
His ad was set in 6-point type
And headed "Sheriff's Sale".

The present legislature during its three sessions passed 36 general bills pertaining to education.

MOTORISTS SAVE MILLION AND HALF ON TAGS

During the first half of the fiscal year, from October 1, 1936 to April 1, 1937, Alabama motorists, by reason of the reduction in the price of tags on passenger cars saved a total of $1,506,197.00.

During this period tags for 214,627 passenger cars were sold. Of this number 16,381 were class A cars and paid $5 each, or $81,905. At the old price of $11.25 they would have paid $184,28625. The saving to owners of this class of cars was $102,381.25.

Tags were sold for 64,876 class B cars at $9 each, a total of $579,884. These tags at the old price of $17.25 would have cost the owners $1,119,-111.00. They saved by reason of the reduction $539,227.00.

There were 121,803 class C cars. Tags for these cars cost $13 each, or a total of $1,583,439.00. At the old price of $19.25 they would have cost $2,344,707.75. The saving on this class was $761,268.75.

The number that bought D tags this year was 11,567 at $18 each, amounting to $208,206. The class D and class E were combined in the new law and all pay $18. Under the old law class D paid $26 and class E $30. Before the change in the law there were 2,696 in class E. They saved $12 on each car or a total of $32,352.00. Others now in class D saved $8, or a total of $70,968.

These figures do not include trucks and buses which paid a total of $829,-220.00. The total amount collected for passenger cars, trucks and buses combined for the six months was $3,282,654.00. Of this amount the county or city where the vehicle is owned gets twenty per cent, or a total of $656,530.80. The remainder, $2,-626,123.20 less the 2½ per cent paid to the Probate Judges for collecting the same, goes to the credit of the Highway Department.

L & N IMPROVES SERVICE

The L & N Railroad will shortly have in service on its lines a total of 135 units of air conditioned passenger equipment, consisting of 16 diners and 119 day coaches, in addition to its practically complete requirement of air conditioned Pullmans, according to the June 1937 issue of the L & N Employes' Magazine.

Last summer the L & N had 39 day coaches and 13 diners in service and in the latter part of 1936 it authorized the expenditure of an additional $800,000 to cover the cost of air conditioning of 80 more all-steel coaches and three diners. Work on the tremendous task was immediately begun and the cars have been rolling steadily out of the South Louisville shops and into service ever since.

It is expected that the work of air conditioning, renovating, redecorating and outfitting them with modern rest rooms will be finished by late June or early July. This means that every important through main line train on the L & N will be completely air conditioned, or that a total of 44 such trains will in the future provide cool sanctuary against heat, dust, dirt and noise at no increase in the regular fares.

DULL HEADACHES GONE, SIMPLE REMEDY DOES IT

Headaches caused by constipation are gone after one dose of Adlerika. This cleans poisons out of BOTH upper and lower bowels. Ends bad sleep, nervousness. Upchurch Drug Co.

Under an amendment to the Constitution adopted in 1923, a certain amount of the receipts from this source is set aside to retire the highway bonds authorized by this amendment and to pay the interest on these bonds. The amount of these bonds falling due this year is $500,000. The interest requirment for this fiscal year is $734,780, making a total of $1,234,780.00 of the motor vehicle license fund pledged for debt service. The remainder is used for maintaining highways or for matching federal road funds.

Notwithstanding this tag reduction last year, Alabama paved more miles of roads than all other States around her combined. We paved more miles of roads than Georgia, Florida, Mississippi and Tennessee together.

CLANTON 6—LAY DAM 3

The age of miracles is not past. They finally did it! The Peppers went into last Thursday's game and pulled out a 6 to 3 decision over the Kilowatts, although out-hit, 8 to 7, and beat Mickey McGuire in his first start with the Dammers.

Glas led the Pepper attack with a pair of hits, one of them a double, off the Micky, and Williamson dumped two bunts in front of the plate to lead the attack on Griffin, Pepper pitcher.

This game saw the advent of Johnson, new second baseman, in the Kilowatt line-up. Johnson hails from Arkansas. "Razorback" was fanning the ozone all afternoon, However. The youngster is a fast fielder, and takes a pretty cut at the ball. It would not be a surprise to see him hit his stride and prove an important cog in the Kilowatt machine.

Cobb, too, is back at his old place at first base, which strengthens the Lay Dam aggregation no little bit. When Baker is able to return, Lay Dam will be able to put an exceptionally fast team on the field.

Manager Sparrow Easterling, too, is scouring the woods for meterial, and we wouldn't be surprised to see the Peppers improved somewhat.

LAY DAM 10—MIGNON 4

After appearing hopelessly out of class with the Mignon team in their clash at Lay Dam, which was rained out, the Kilowatts went to Sylacauga last Friday and whipped the Millers soundly, 10 to 4, with the hitting honors even at 10 each.

For the Millers, McCarty led the attack with three hits, with Taylor and Johnson getting a pair each.

For the Kilowatts, Johnson, newly acquired second sacker from Arkansas, led his new mates with three hits. The "Razorback" had failed to hit in the one game he had played before this, striking out regularly; he found Baker's slants to his liking, however, and made the most of the occasion. Jones banged out a pair, also.

Of the $12,071,261.00 appropriated for public education, $9,987,920.00 was for the elementary and high schools, and $2,083,341.00 was for the institutions of higher learning and miscellaneous educational agencies.

JONES-DAVIS WEDDING AT THE METHODIST CHURCH THURSDAY

Marked with dignity and simplicity was the wedding of Miss Carrie Love Jones and Le Fort Davis, solemnized at 12 o'clock noon on Thursday, June 17, at the First Methodist church, Clanton. The Rev. J. M. Truett read the nuptial vows in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends. He was assisted by Rev. S. J. Ezell, minister of the Baptist church, Clanton.

The altar was banked with palms and Southern smilax festooned with white madonna lilies and gladioli. The bride and groom plighted their troth between cathedral candelabra. As a prelude to the ceremony, George McDonald, cousin of the bride, lighted the tapers. Mrs. Ada Sherer Hart of Anniston rendered musical selections and Mrs. Ruby McAllister Murphy of Rockford, Ala., and Clarksburg, W. Va., sang "Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "Oh Promise Me". The procession entered the church to Lohengrin's Wedding March. The bride was preceded to the altar by Tom McDonald, cousin of the bride, and Harry Teele, of Rockford, Ala. Schubert's Serenade was played during the ceremony.

Attending the bride was her sister, Marie Ashcraft, as matron of honor, who wore a leghorn hat, with a navy jacket frock of crepe and net, the snirt dashed with brilliant print flowers. She carried an arm bouquet of blue and yellow daisies tied with blue ribbon. Escorted by her uncle, Mr. C. Fenn Jones, who gave her in marriage, the bride was met at the altar by Mr. Davis and his brother, Ivan, who acted as best man. The ring ceremony was used, and the bride wore her mother's wedding band.

The bride was lovely in a dress of flowered chiffon, Eisenberg model, rich shades of orange, yellow and purple on a brown background. She used brown accessories. Her hat was a Neora pill box straw with yellow velvet daisies around the crown, and a tiny veil. She carried an arm bouquet of daisies, larkspur, sweet peas, and other garden flowers, tied with yellow ribbon.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Thomason Hotel for relatives, out-of-town guests, and intimate friends. The bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Biloxi and ohter points. They will make their home in Anniston, Ala.

Mrs. Davis is the daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Julius Jones of Rockford, Ala. Her charm and gentleness of manner has endeared her to her host of friends. On her maternal side she is a descendant of the McDonalds and the Lanes. Her great-grandmother was Elizabeth Lane, direct descendant of Joseph Lane, who was influential in the political life of the '60's. Her great-grandfather, Dr. John McDonald, was the first white man to settle in what is now Rockford, Ala., which was an Indian village at the time. Mrs. Davis is a graduate of Alabama College, Montevallo, where she majored in piano, violin and dramatics, having received her later training under Walter Spry, of the Chicago School of Music. For the past several years she has taught piano, violin and music kindergarten in Anniston, Ala., where her work is much accredited. In 1928 one of her pupils from Ft. Payne, Ala., won first prize in the state high school contest, which was held at Alabama College, another of her pupils coming second in the same contest.

Mr. Davis is a representative of one of the pioneer families of eastern Alabama. The town of Fort Davis was named for his father, Fort Madison Davis. The reunions of the Fort family have been held annually at Darlington, S. C., for the past 60 years. Mr. Davis is associated with the firm of A. J. Godwin, real estate and insurance, Anniston, Ala. Business for the firm has shown much progress since Mr. Davis has been connected with them. Aside from his executive ability, his jovial disposition has won him many friends. He is vice president of the Sportsman's Club of Anniston.

The following ladies assisted in the amenities at the wedding breakfast: Mrs. H. C. Pipes, Misses Mildred Pipes, Helen and Mary Newell, Nell Ross Mullins, Sarah Lawrence, and Jane Pitts. Miss Julia Katherine McDonald, cousin of the bride, presided over the bride's book.

The bride wore for traveling a navy and flesh combination frock of sheer material made on tailored lines featuring a long sharkskin cape. Her hat was an off-the-face French model.

Out-of-town guests:

Anniston, Ala.—Mrs. W. C. Knight, Miss Aleen Lecroy, Mrs. P. G. Myers, Mrs. W. J. Nelson, Mrs. Martha Thrasher, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Smith, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. S. A. TYPHOID FEVER

Montgomery, June 21.—Pointing out that 78 deaths from typhoid fever occurred in Alabama last year and that 60, or nearly 77 per cent, of them occurred during the five-month period from June through October, Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health officer, has issued a warning to vacationists and others against the danger of contracting this disease at this time of the year.

"Typhoid deaths in this State in 1920 numbered more than four and one-half times as many as those occurring last year," he said. "As encouraged as this decrease is, the typhoid toll is still much higher than it should be. With vaccine available for the prevention of this disease, there is no reason why it should not be virtually wiped out. However, the records show that this is still far from accomplishment, as there were 491 reported cases in Alabama last year. More than four-fifths of these occurred during the summer and early fall, specifically between June and October, inclusive."

Dr. Baker urged all those planning vacations, especially those planning trips to places where they cannot be certain regarding the purity of water supplies, food, etc., to be vaccinated before leaving home.

L & N TO HOLD BIG PICNIC

Thousands of L & N Railroad veterans and their families will gather in Louisville, Ky., on Saturday, June 26, for the 11th annual picnic of their olub, the June L & N Employes' Magazine reports. Host to the veterans this year will be beautiful Fontaine Ferry Park on the banks of the Ohio River. An enjoyable program has been prepared, including games, short talks, entertainment, music and other features.

Alabama paved more roads last year than any other state in the Union except Colorado and Michigan. Colorado used money derived from a bond issue to carry out her paving program.

Al Key Will Fly

Another world notable to be here for the activities will be Al Key, of Meridian, Miss. Probably Al's brother, Fred, will be here also. These two men will be remembered as having accomplished the world's endurance record flight in June, 1935. These two men stayed up in the air nearly one whole month without landing. Their ship, "Old Miss", in which the record was made, will be on display at Gragg Field during the two days.

MAJOR HENRY L. BADHAM, Jr.

Major Badham, with the 106th Observation Squadron, will be a noted visitor to Clanton for the airport dedication ceremonies. Together with Major Badham will be six planes of the Alabama National Guard. These will make maneuvers in formation as part of the program during the two days.

Glenn Messer, of Birmingham, is scheduled to do a number of stunts, furnishing plenty of thrills during the two days. Also, Mr. and Mrs. Odell Garrison will perform several air tricks full of excitement. Mr. Garrison will cut off his motor at a high altitude and glide for several minutes, landing his plane without the aid of the motor.

The flights of amateur planes will be one of the centers of attraction one of the days, more than likely Sunday. Small planes three and four feet in length will be cranked off and will soar into the air, making circles and landing back somewhere on the field, if they happen to the good luck of avoiding a crash into something. Lots of times these small crafts make perfect landings. This will be most interesting to the youngsters as well as grown ups.

Shady Picnic Ground

There will be ample grove space provided for those families or groups who want to rest in the shade or to spread dinner. Dr. Parrish has kindly consented for the woodland just south of the airport hangar and across the creek to be used for this purpose. A temporary foot bridge across the big ditch will be built so that people may walk across to the shady area. But people who avail themselves of this shade will please recognize that it is the private property of Dr. Parrish, and must not be abused. No tramping over the pasture and fields will be permitted. Signs will be put up to show where to go and where not to go. These must be observed.

There will be sandwiches and cold drinks sold on the field, but some people will want to bring their lunches. This convenience of a shady grove will be very handy for those who want a cool place to eat and rest; and it is likely to be mighty hot in places those days.

MR. HARRY KING

The above picture, although it looks like Will Rogers, is that of Harry King, another noted Alabama flyer. Harry is said to know airplanes from one end to the other, having had broad experience in operating repair shops as well as teaching flying schools. He will show us some of the things he can do here during Gragg Field dedication.

K. M. OLIVER VISITED FIELD

Mr. K. M. Oliver, of Orlando, Fla., flying the "Arrow Plane" for Wood Chevrolet Company of Birmingham, took a close-down view of Gragg Field Monday of this week. Mr. Oliver was most favorably impressed with the field here, and said that he would be here for the dedication July 3rd and 4th. Mr. Oliver was considerably worked up over the fine field we have and the possibilities of a great occasion for our dedication. His "Arrow Plane" is powered with a Ford V-8 motor.

MR. MERCER COX

Mr. Cox will be in Clanton both days for the air program. He will make one parachute jump each day. His jumps will not be delayed jumps.

VOLUME 45.—EIGHT PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, JULY 1, 1937 NUMBER 11

ROAD SUPERVISOR IS BOSS IN CHILTON

Montgomery, June 25. — Under a local act of the present legislature, the road supervisor of Chilton County has full authority to "hire and fire" district road foremen, but the Commissioners Court of the county has no authority to discharge or otherwise cause the removal of such foremen, it was held yesterday in an opinion rendered to Thomas J. Arledge, road supervisor of Chilton, by the office of Attorney General Carmichael.

In his letter to the Attorney General asking for the ruling, Mr. Arledge said that by authority of the local act he appointed three district road foremen who served under him for 11 months, and that on April 29, this year, the Commissioners Court passed a resolution dismissing these foremen. He attached a copy of the resolution, which stated that it appeared to the commissioners that the county was not deriving benefit from the services of the foremen (four of them in all) in proportion to their salaries, and also that there was a duplication in their services.

Mr. Arledge said he was continuing his three district foremen in the employ of the county, and personally guaranteeing their wages, and asked to be advised whether he had authority to "hire and fire" the district road foremen under the act, or whether the commissioners had the right to do so.

Answering the question, the opinion held:

"You, as the road supervisor of Chilton County, have the sole authority to hire and fire the district road foremen, and the Court of County Commissioners of Chilton County does not have the authority to fire or cause the removal of the district road foremen."
—Montgomery Advertiser, June 25.

CHILTON B. T. U. MEETING

The associational B. T. U. meets at Mt. Carmel the second Sunday in July at 2:30 p.m. Each church is expected to send a large representation. We are asking each B. T. U. group to bring their individual problems; yours might be attendance, daily Bible reading, taking part on program, or whatever it is. After the devotional, roll call and business, we will meet in groups, each led by a competent worker, and discuss our problems. All churches are urged to attend.—Horace Kendrick, Secretary; Maurice Hodgens, President.

ARROW-PLANE POWERED WITH FORD V-8 MOTOR

Will Fly and Be On Exhibition At Gragg Field July 3-4

Clanton Motors, local Ford dealers, wishes attention called to the fact that Mr. K. M. Oliver, of Orlando, Fla., will be at Clanton airport dedication this week end with his Arrow-Plane.

And most especially do they want it mentioned that this plane is powered with a Ford V-8 motor.

Mr. Oliver will fly the plane and do various tricks with it, and it will be on exhibition at Gragg Field during the two days. Spectators are invited to inspect the Arrow and make a special perusal of the Ford V-8 motor powering it.

CHILTON COUNTY'S SHARE OF SALES TAX IS $1,210

Montgomery, June 28. — Chilton County was allocated $1,210 Monday as its share of $100,000 of state sales tax receipts distributed by Comptroller Charles W. Lee.

The allotment was the second made to counties since collections of the two per cent levy began in April on March sales. The comptroller distributed $78,602 about a month ago.

The sales tax provides counties will receive one-fourth of the sales tax receipts and the schools three-fourths, after deducting losses due to homestead exemptions.

Half the counties' share is distributed on a basis of population and the other half divided equally among the 67 counties. It is earmarked for welfare, health, and agricultural extension services.

VISITED IN JASPER

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Webb and Polly spent Sunday in Jasper visiting Mrs. Webb's sister, Mrs. J. V. McCoy, and family. Mrs. Webb's niece, Miss Louise McCoy, returned home with them to spend about two weeks. Miss McCoy spent quite some time with Mrs. Webb last summer, and no doubt will be remembered by several of the younger set whom she met while here.

J. A. SIMS DIED AT JEMISON

Death visited the home of one of the county's well known citizens last Sunday night and claimed Joseph Allison Sims, age 70, following a long illness.

The deceased had been a resident of Jemison for a number of years and was widely known throughout that setcion of the county. He was connected with the hardware firm of C. C. Conway and will be greatly missed from his business, religious and social circles in that town.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock at the Jemison Baptist Church with the Rev. Maurice Hodgens and the Rev. R. M. Honeycutt officiating. Spigener Funeral Home of Clanton was in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Sims is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Zane Turney of Jemison and Mrs. Clarence Easterling of Clanton; five sons, F. N., of Birmingham; J. A., and C. W., of Birmingham; T. C., and F. O., of Jemison; two brothers, R. K., of Birmingham, and W. A., of Coleana.

Active pallbearers were Dr. A. A. Conway, Ed Lenior, Jack Sorell and Prof. Denson.

Honorary pallbearers were Dr. R. B. McNeill, Dr. Ballard, A. C. Wells, W. T. Hand, S. P. Shaw, A. M. Attaway, J. M. Langston, E. B. Langston, J. A. Peterson, Arthur Bratton, D. L. Langston, A. A. Langston, Charles Robinson, W. G. Atkinson and H. G. Jeffries.

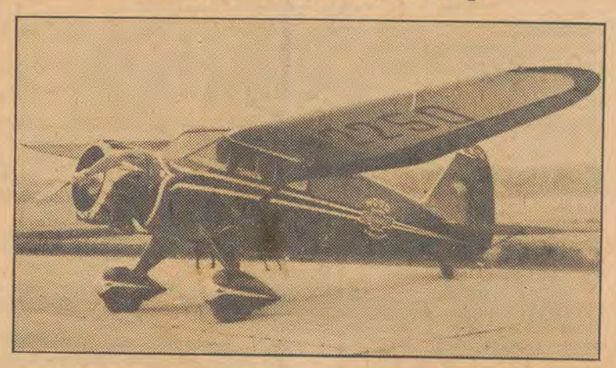
All Features At Air Carnival Will Be Free To Spectators

Plans All Completed For Greatest Event Ever Witnessed In Central Alabama. Many Thrills Are In Store For All

People are asking: "What is the admission price to see all the sights at the air show in Clanton Saturday and Sunday?" To this question, everyone is informed that nothing will be charged to see these sights, most of which are world-renowned and all of which are most outstanding. It is all brought to the people of Chilton County absolutely free of charge, and it is hoped that the population of the county will avail itself of this rare opportunity.



Contributed To Local Fund

Following is a list of the firms and business men of Clanton contributing toward the fund necessray to put over the proposition. The finance committee wishes to acknowledge that it is through the generosity of these donations that it has been possible to bring these attractions to Clanton and Chilton County. Those contributing are named below:

Chilton County, City of Clanton, Dr. V. J. Gragg, J. D. Rockett, Leo Thompson, J. Mell Martin, Peoples Savings Bank, First National Bank, Clanton Motors, Inc., H. F. Downs, Clanton Cash Store, Elmore's 5c, 10c & $1.00 Store, Big Four Hardware Co., Murray-Bell Hardware Co., Polk Brothers Motor Co., M. Lande, Upchurch Drug Co., Alred Drug Co., Hayes Chevrolet Co., Alabama Power Co., Tiffin Furniture Co.

Plane From Which Faye Lucille Cox Will Make Delayed Parachute Jumps

It requires an exceptionally durable and dependable piece of aircraft to attain the altitude of 10,000 feet and to perform the other feats necessary to make a happy landing of the parachute jumps of Faye Cox here July 3rd and 4th. All these requirements are met by the big Stinson plane, pictured above, belonging to Wood Chevrolet Company, of Birmingham. The plane will be piloted by Mr. H. F. Wood.

The two delayed jumps by Miss Cox will be the outstanding features of the program each day, but they will be supplemented by other activities almost as interesting and probably more so to some spectators. Mr. Mercer Cox will make one parachute jump each day and so will Walton Peteet.

As mentioned at length in previous write-ups in The Union-Banner, Mr. Glenn Messer will occupy an important part on the programs. Other notable flyers will be: Al Key, Major Henry L. Badham, Steadham Acker, Asa Rountree, Harry King, S. E. Travis of New Orleans, Roy Keely, and Mr. K. M. Oliver of Orlando, Fla. Of course Birmingham's airport director, Earle Wheeler, will be with the notables and mixing with the fans and enthsiasts of the state and Chilton County. It is probable that Mr. Fred Key, of Meridian, Miss., brother of Al Key, both of whom will be remembered as having accomplished the endurance record in 1935, will be a guest during the two-day festival.

Plenty Of Parking Space

Those people coming in automobiles and trucks need not worry about parking space, as there will be ample room for all. But all drivers are urged to drive and park strictly according to direction of the officers in charge. This being strictly observed, there will be no traffic jams and there will be plenty of parking room for all.

As stated in previous write-ups, there will be free grounds provided just across the creek from the hangar, suitable for eating lunch, resting in the shade, Etc. This grove belongs to Dr. W. L. Parrish, and all using it are urged to remember it is private property, and must not be abused.

Norimal Battle, reckless driving; $25 fine and $5.50 costs.

Patrolmen Henley and Watites call especial attention to all motorists in regard to driving over the center line on the highway. The black center stripe, say the patrolmen, should be regarded as just what it is—a dividing line, and motorists should stay on the right side of this line, and well clear of it, except when passing another vehicle. They say they expect to bear down on violation of this rule of the road, and are issuing due warning.

Another law the patrolmen call especial attention to is the flag-fiare law. Strict observance of this law is required, and the patrolmen will keep close watch for any violations.

DOG VACCINATION TO BEGIN ON JULY 6

Dr. W. L. Parrish, who has been appointed by the health department to vaccinate all dogs, announces a schedule below, showing places where he will be during the next few days for this work.

This is a state law, and all dogs must be vaccinated or disposed of. After the vaccination dates, a check-up will be made, and if any dogs are found which are not vaccinated, their owners will be prosecuted, just as in the case of any other law violation.

The vaccination of dogs is a real community service, and should have the support of everyone. The vaccine used is the only known method of combating rabies. This is at once a protection both to people who might be bitten by mad dogs, and to the dags themselves.

The charge for this service is 50c per dog. Dr. Parrish says that if anyone does not want to pay for the vaccination, nor to kill the dog, bring it to him and he will put it out of the way in an easy manner.

The schedule as arranged so far is as given below. Further dates will be announced later. Watch for the dates when Dr. Parrish will be in your community. Then bring your dog to the appointed place, along with 50c in cash, and the work will be done.

Tuesday—July 6

All day at George McCain's barn, in Clanton.

Wednesday—July 7

8:00 to 11:00—Thorsby, at the Fire Station.
12:00 to 12:30—Jemison, at grove east of Dr. McNeill's home.
3:00 to 5:00—Bob Merrill's store, about 2 miles south of the county line.

Thursday—July 8

8:30 to 10:00—Concord church, Beat 13.
10:30 to 1:00—Cofer's gin.
1:30 to 4:30—Fleetwood Rasberry's store.

Friday—July 9

8:00 to 10:30—Isabella schoolhouse.
11:00 to 3:00—Maplesville.

Monday—July 11

8:30 to 11:00—Shoults schoolhouse.
12:00 to 3:00—Stanton.
3:30 to 5:30—Riderville.

Tuesday—July 13

8:00 to 10:30—Cooper.
11:00 to 2:30—Verbena.
3:00 to 5:00—Mt. Creek.

Remember, this round is being made for the convenience of the people of the county, and you are asked to cooperate in the work. And when the inspector comes around and finds a dog which has not been vaccinated, mere killing of the dog will not be sufficient, but the owner will be subject to prosecution as well.

Dr. Parrish desires the cooperation of everyone in this work.

YOUNG MAN KILLED ON RAILROAD

A young man by the name of Grover Thomas Smitherman, age 27 years, was instantly killed by a train on the Southern Railroad near Maplesville last Saturday night shortly after midnight. The body was brought to Clanton by Martin's ambulance and was turned over to Spigener's Funeral Home. Burial was at Shady Grove Sunday.

Grover Thomas Smitherman was the son of the late William Edward Smitherman of Maplesville Route 2.

SAFE AND SANE FOURTH URGED

Montgomery, June 28. — "It is unfortunate indeed that the annual celebration of the nation's birthday has resulted in so many deaths and injuries that July Fourth has become a day of tragedy and bereavement," said Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer, in urging the people of the state to observe the Fourth this year wisely and safely. He referred particularly to the tragedy inherent in fireworks, highway accidents and swimming.

"Reports based on newspaper clippings alone show that at least 7,738 persons were injured, and at least 30 killed in the United States in 1935 as a result of celebrating the "Glorious Fourth" with fireworks and the accompanying paraphernalia, such as bonfires and matches," he added.

M. L. MILFORD DIED AT VETERANS HOSPITAL LAST SATURDAY

M. L. Milford, a Spanish-American War veteran, died Saturday at the Veterans Hospital in Tuscaloosa. He was 63 years old.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Pleasant Grove, with the Rev. Gibson officiating. Spigener Funeral Home directed.

He is survived by seven children.

SINGING AT CONCORD NEXT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

There will be singing at Concord church next Sunday afternoon, July 4th, beginning at 2 o'clock. Prof. W. M. Devaughn will be present, as well as a number of other good singers. You are cordially invited to attend; bring your new song books. This is the informal opening of Prof. Devaughn's singing school which opens at that place Monday morning, July 5th.

PICNIC AT NEW CEDRON JULY 10

There will be an all-day picnic at New Cedron on Saturday, July 10. There will be three ball games during the day—one in the morning and two in the afternoon. There will be plenty of cold drinks and ice cream for sale. Everybody is invited to come and bring your dinner. Proceeds will go to the New Cedron ball club.

IN MAYOR'S COURT

Annie Mae Mims Partridge, public drunkenness; $3 fine and $7 costs.

Charlie Hilyer, public drunkenness; fine and costs, $8.25.

Curtis Moates, public drunkenness; continued to July 3.

BARN BURNED SATURDAY P. M.

Lightning struck the barn of Rudolph Moates, near the home of J. L. Easterling in Beat 16, last Saturday afternoon, during the rain. The barn and contents, including one mule, corn, oats, and other feed, was destroyed by fire. It was a total loss.

ALL COUNTY OFFICES WILL BE CLOSED SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Notice is given that all county offices in the court house will be closed Saturday afternoon. If you have any business with any of the county offices during Saturday, be sure to attend to it Saturday morning.

AUDIE BROWN TO TEACH A SINGING SCHOOL AT MT. NEBO

Prof. Audie Brown will teach a singing school at Mt. Nebo, beginning on Monday, July 5th. The school will run from 8:00 o'clock each morning until 4:00 in the afternoon. It will continue for four or six weeks, as the patrons prefer.

All adjoining communities are invited to send pupils to the Mt. Nebo school.

Prof. Brown is a young man, but has been teaching singing schools for several years. He is well versed in music, harmony, Etc., and always gives satisfaction where he teaches schools. All people in reach should lend him their support in this school.

Subjects taught will include theory, ear training, sight singing, directing, violin, guitar, mandolin, tenor banjo, and composition.

Miss Lois Hand of Bessemer will teach piano. Miss Hand is an experienced teacher and well known. These two taught at this place last year with success. You can get good board cheap, so be at Mt. Nebo Monday morning at 8:30.

MRS. WALLACE COX DIED

Mrs. Mary J. Cox, age 28, wife of Wallace Cox, of Clanton, died at a Birmingham hospital last Friday morning about 2:20 o'clock. The body was brought here and prepared by Martin. The funeral was held at the Clanton Baptist church Saturday at 2 o'clock, conducted by Dr. S. J. Ezell and Dr. J. M. Truett, Martin & Sons directing.

Pallbearers were: Earle Robinson, Crit Jones, B. B. Larrimore, Frank Sanderson, Paul Rogan, and Ashur Durham.

Surviving are: the husband, Wallace Cox of Clanton; three children—Charles 7, Martha Ann 2, and Mary Katherine, age 3 weeks; father, Geo. L. Scott of Longview; three brothers—Albert Scott of North Carolina, George L., and Rastus of Longview; two sisters—Mrs. Paul Rogan of Montevallo, and Miss Lucille Scott of Longview.

Mrs. Cox had been teaching school in Chilton County for the past four years. She taught in Clanton Grammar school last year.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE

Many farmers have an abundant "crop" of gullies on their farms, but making the gullies themselves produce a crop is a part of the erosion control program of the Soil Conservation Service in the area near Clanton.

"Every farmer can provide conditions favorable to development of a crop of game by planting gullies and other small areas unsuited for agricultural use to vines, shrubs, and other plants which will control erosion and at the same time furnish food and cover for wildlife," James H. Wood, sueprintendent, said.

By the use of such plantings on farms of many of the cooperators in the local area, the Soil Conservation Service is carrying out literally "in every nook and corner" of the farms the objective of making every area serve the purpose for which it is best adapted.

Galled spots, turn rows, fence lines, hedge rows, and other similar areas can be given a productive use by planting them to forms of vegetation which will make of them havens for uail and other forms of game. Lespedeza and other legumes are well adapted to this dual purpose and in addition build up fertility of eroded areas.

Besides providing a crop of game, quail and other desirable forms of wildlife which range through nearby fields destroy many harmful insects. Officials of the Soil Conservation Service or County Agent J. W. Fant will be glad to explain to farmers the types of vegetation which can be used in this section to favor wildlife development and control erosion.

COTTON AND CORN PESTS ARE BECOMING NUMEROUS

Auburn. — Farmers are warned to watch for boll weevils and grasshoppers. Reports indicate that boll weevils are becoming numerous in the southern part of the state, and grasshoppers are appearing in several places in north and central Alabama.

Boll weevils can be controlled by dusting the cotton with calcium arsenate, advises Prof. J. M. Robinson, entomologist of the Alabama Experiment Station, in reporting that farmers may expect to profit by $5 to $15 per acre if they poison the weevils when 10 per cent of the squares are punctured.

Grasshoppers can be controlled with poisoned bran mash made of wheat bran, Paris green, or white arsenic, syrup, lemons or oranges, salt, and water.

"GO TO COLLEGE" PROGRAM

Auburn. — Alabama's "Go To College" poultry project is proving successful and popular with boys and girls, and other forms of livestock, including beef and dairy cattle, hogs and sheep, are being included by leaders of the project.

It also has been included as one of the leading projects in the program for expanding and improving Alabama's livestock industry to bring about a more balanced agriculture in the state. P. O. Davis, director of the state extension service, and Dean M. J. Funchess, director of the state experiment station, are working with livestock specialists, including J. C. Grimes, head of the animal industry department, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, F. W. Burns, Dr. R. S. Sugg, extension livestock specialists, and John E. Ivey, extension poultryman, in formulating a program for helping farmers with their livestock problems.

That the "Go To College" poultry plan is proving popular is indicated by the fact that some 250 boys and girls are participating and are making a success with their work. College presidents and extension service directors of 35 states also have written for full information on the project.

The boys and girls carrying out the livestock projects are being urged to save their money for paying their way through college. The need of this being done is emphasized by 7,000 letters from boys and girls to the higher institutions of learning in the state each year asking for work to help pay their way through college.

ALABAMA GOING FORWARD IN BANG'S DISEASE WORK

Auburn. — Bang's disease control work continues to go forward in Alabama with the federal government paying owners up to $25 a head for the destruction of diseased grade cattle, and up to $50 a head for diseased registered purebreds. The owner also gets the salvage value of the cattle destroyed.

"Probably one of the greatest disadvantages we have in Alabama in fighting the disease is the ponds or pools that, in some instances, seem to be necessary for use as water supply for cattle," says Dr. R. E. Jackson, inspector in charge of the work in Alabama. Of course, when cattle have access to these pools they become a serious source of infection. Getting rid of the disease under such conditions would naturally take a longer time than where a good running water supply was available."

CHILTON FARMERS PAID $148,945.43 IN AAA CHECKS

Chilton County farmers had been paid $148,945.43 through May 31 of this year for carrying out provisions of the 1936 AAA program, announces J. W. Fant, county agent.

At the same time, county agent Fant was advised by Walter L. Randolph, Auburn, that Alabama farmers had been paid $9,891,506.18 in benefit payments for cooperating under the AAA program in 1936. Farmers throughout the nation had received $296,019,844 for participating in the program.

Final payments have not been made in many counties, and the AAA officials continue mailing benefit payment checks daily, advises Mr. Randolph, in his report to Mr. Fant.

Reports from over Alabama indicate that about the same number of farmers are cooperating under the 1937 AAA program as participated in 1936. This means that approximately 250,000 farmers filled out work sheets and are taking part in the program this year.

CONSERVATION DEPARTMENT

Of all eggs placed in the incubator at the new game farm in Autauga County, 89.45 per cent hatched out successfully in June. This is considered above the average. The quail hens average laying four eggs a week, and right now 520 healthy and happy baby birds are pecking around in the brooder pens. They are watched very closely for any signs of disease.

Activities of the state fish hatcheries at Eastaboga and Aliceville are on the increase as the time for restocking Alabama streams nears. Eastaboga officials report ponds are being drained and bream are being assembled for shipment. Only 27 counties has submitted surveys to date—necessary before consignments can be made.

Sportsmen are reminded that they can obtain free the weekly report on fishing conditions compiled by the Conservation Department. Last week the report contained information on 82 streams, lakes and ponds in Alabama. If you want the report mailed to you, write to the Conservation Department, or ask any district game warden to transmit your request.

FARMERS' WEEK WILL BE HELD AUGUST 2-6

Auburn. — Plans have been made for Farmers' Week to be held in Auburn, August 2-6.

Officials of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation and Alabama Council of Home Demonstration Clubs also announce that the annual meetings of these two organizations will be held during the week.

Dr. L. N. Duncan, president of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, P. O. Davis, director of Alabama Extension Service, Dean M. J. Funchess, director of Alabama Experiment Station, J. Litt Edwards, president of Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, and Mrs. John Lee, president of Alabama Council of Home Demonstration Clubs, join in extending farmers and their wives an invitation to attend the meetings during the week.

Arrangements are being made for more things to be seen during Farmers' Week this year than ever before. Various farm exhibits, together with visits to experimental fields, are being planned.

Well known state and national farm leaders will deliver messages during the sessions. In addition, music, recreation, and other social features will be included on the program.

The meeting will start Monday evening, August 2, at 8 o'clock, and will end at noon, Friday.

During their stay in Auburn the farm men and women will be housed in the State Camp cottages on the campus of Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

FAIRVIEW 4-H CLUB

The Fairview 4-H Club met on June 21, at 3:00 p.m., with 6 members present. The boys enjoyed themselves playing ball and hide and seek before the meeting. Details were given in regard to the county-wide camp and about the calf club meeting on June 28th. A discussion was also held on projects and project books.

We are all looking forward to the camp and our next meeting.

VERBENA 4-H CLUB MEETS

The Verbena 4-H Club met at the home of Mrs. Joe Gaines on June 3rd. After singing "America", the secretary read the minutes and called the roll. We had a good attendance with several visitors present.

We decided that each member shall give five cents each month to the treasury to be used as the club sees fit.

Mrs. Oscar Howard read a poem, "The Conqueror", which everyone enjoyed.

As our work is based on foods and diets, the article "Eat and be Cool", given by Mrs. Lucile Williams, was very interesting.

Another interesting article, "Let's Eat Outdoors," was given by Mrs. Louie Allen. Miss Bessie Gilmore gave us some things to make our salads more attractive. The demonstration was on salads and a lovely salad plate with a drink was served to those present.

The next meeting will be held on July 1st, at the school house. Everyone make a special effort to be there.

COURT ORDERS RETURN OF TAX TO COTTON FARMERS

100,000 Producers Entitled To Huge Sum, Is Ruling

Washington, June 28. — The U. S. Court of Appeals held Monday that 100,000 cotton producers were entitled to more than $3,500,000 in refunds for cotton tax exemption certificates they bought under the repealed Bankhead act.

The court said the cotton farmers were coerced to buy the certificates under threat of a confiscatory tax.

The Bankhead act was repealed after the Supreme Court invalidated its basic principles in holding the AAA unconstitutional.

The Court of Appeals ruled on suits brought by two Alabama and two Mississippi cotton planters against Ernest L. Deal, manager of the National Surplus Cotton Tax Exemption Certificate Pool; Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, W. A. Julian, treasurer of the United States, and Comptroller Payne and Administrator Davis, of the defunct AAA.

CENTER HILL

The people of this community are so thankful for the rain that came our way Saturday afternoon, and are at work in a big way.

There is not much sickness in our community at present.

A wedding of much interest was that of Miss Glenora Howard and Ben Tom Haynes, on Saturday afternoon. They left Sunday for Decatur, where Mr. Haynes is in business. All their friends wish them many happy and prosperous years.

Miss Wilda Smitherman of Pleasant Grove community and Mr. Leonard Edwards were married Saturday afternoon. Mr. Edwards is an employe of Buck Creek cotton mills, and they will be at home in Siluria.

On Saturday night Miss Vivian Lowery of Thorsby and Mr. U. L. Hayes were united in marriage at the home of Mr. B. L. Cobb.

Miss Faye Coe of Ensley was a visitor of Mrs. Canie Frederick over the week end.

The singing here last Sunday was a grand success. We of Center Hill take this opportunity to thank all who helped in the singing, caring for the singers at the dinner hour, or in any other way, especially for the use of all books. The Capital City Quartet was with us, and every number was immensely appreciated. The Oak Grove Quartet rendered a few numbers, and the Oak Grove Duet one. Directors for the day were: W. J. Northcutt, Marion Cofer, C. W. Scott, P. M. Cleckler, Chester Maddox, E. M. Wilson, Cobern Cofer, Ralph D. Grant, O. L. Devaughn, A. H. Glasscock, T. V. Mims, Sam Collins, Amie Boswell, Lee Grant, T. E. Wyatt, Eugene Cleckler, E. L. Glasscock, L. T. Grant, Marion Mims, J. W. Cagle, Clifford Barlow, Bill Jones, Miss Berney Dean Cobb, Hazel Cofer. Pianists were: Miss Rubye Smith, Mrs. Howard Roper, T. V. Mims, R. B. Johnson, Giula Murrah, Ralph D. Grant, Lee Grant. We again thank all for their help and invite you to be with us again next year. This singing was in charge of the president, B. L. Cobb.

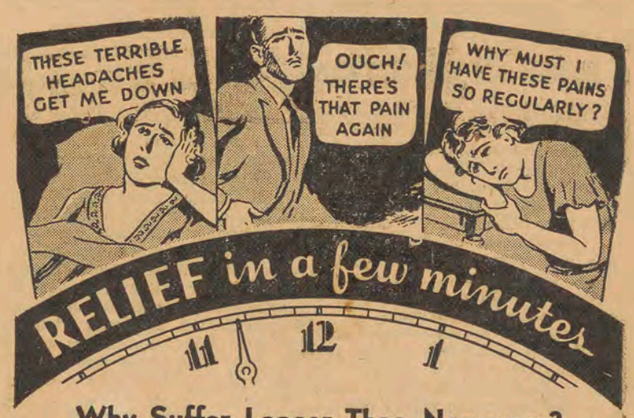
MARS HILL

Everyone around here is feeling fine on account of the good rain; crops are looking so much better.

Several singers from here attended the singing at Center Hill last Sunday.

We are sorry to lose Mr. Albert Whitaker, of this community. He left Sunday for Springfield, O. He made a number of friends while here. His daughter and son's wife came for him in a car.

Those who took dinner to Center Hill last Sunday fixed a nice box of good things to eat and sent them to Mr. Whitaker. He wants to thank each and every one for this thoughtful deed.



Mrs. R. Scott and Mrs. Boss Smith are ill this week; Miss Gladys Lawley is almost well again.

Mars Hill baseball team will play Thorsby at Mars Hill on Thursday, July 1, and on Saturday, July 3, Mars Hill will play Virginia Bridge, of Birmingham, at Mars Hill.

"BE CAREFUL"

Be careful of the little things you do,
For oftentime they echo back to you
Across the years.
The tiny note you sent one sorry day,
The coin that helped a beggar on his way,
Oh! Always take the time to stop and say
The word that cheers!
Perhaps some little deed will bring you fame,
Perhaps the world will learn to love your name,
Because of tears
You dried for others; and when life is through,
Perhaps the little deeds you, thoughtless, do,
Will be a glowing monument to you
For countless years.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTIONS

The Homestead Exemption Law, which under a recent decision of the Supreme Court, applies to taxes due and payable on October 1 of this year, was passed by the 1936-1937 session of the legislature. The exemption applies to state taxes only.

The law defines a homestead as a dwelling occupied by the owner and consisting of not more than 160 acres or an assessed value of not more than $2,000.

A law passed by the extra session of 1936 requires the owner, in listing his property for taxes, shall list separately and value separately his homestead. Since this has not been done, each home owner, in order to get credit on his tax receipt for taxes due this year must secure a certificate from the Tax Assessor, setting up his claim for exemption, and present this certificate to the Tax Collector when he goes to pay his taxes. This certificate should be secured before October 1.

Every home owner who occupies that home is entitled to the exemption whether the home is assessed at $500 or $5,000, or more. The maximum deduction that any person is entitled to in any one year is $13. The minimum amount depends on the assessed value of the homestead.

The loss in revenue sustained by the state because of the Homestead Exemption Act is made up by receipts from the sales tax.

LAY DAM 14—BEVELLE 9

Lay Dam defeated Bevelle Mills of Alex City by a score of 14 to 9 at Alex City, on Friday. The Dammers spotted the Millers a 7-run lead in the first but came back to score 7 runs in the first of the 9th to win the game. Whitaker for Lay Dam, and Long, for the Millers, hit home runs. Whitaker led the Dammers with 4 for 5 and Jones with 3 for 4. Mitchem with 3 for 5 led the Millers. Lay Dam got 17 hits and the Millers 12.

Batteries: Lay Dam — Whitaker and Tatum; Bevelle — Maddox and Ingram.

HOMEWOOD 13—LAY DAM 8

The fast Homewood team gave Lay Dam a 13 to 8 defeat at Lay Dam Sunday in a game which saw plenty of hits and errors. Williams and Shetland hit homers for Homewood in the second inning. Shetland with 2 for 4 led Homewood while Whitaker with 4 for 5 for the consecutive game led the Dammers. Two of Whitakers hits were triples both coming with men on base. Homewood gathered 13 hits and Lay Dam 11.

Batteries: Lay Dam — Massena, Whitaker and Tatum; Homewood — Pace and Williams.

U. S. Spends 200 Million Over Budget

Fiscal Year Ends July 1; Income Shows Increase As Debt Tops 36 Billion

Washington, June 27. — The government's income and outgo for the 1937 fiscal year appeared likely today to exceed the official estimates.

The year ends Wednesday midnight. Latest figures indicated that total revenue will top the estimates by about $50,000,000, and that spending will climb $200,000,000 above the predicted figure.

The net deficit already is $114,000,000 more than the $2,557,000,000 mentioned in President Roosevelt's revised estimate last April. The net deficit figure does not include $104,000,000 spent for debt retirement.

When this fiscal period ends, the public debt is expected to stand at about $36,300,000,000. This would be about $300,000,000 less than the all-time high of June 15, but would top the debt of a year ago by $2,200,000,000.

Since the government's surpluses melted into deficits in 1931, the public debt has climbed $20,115,000,000, reaching $36,388,000,000 on June 23, the latest date for which figures are available.

With only one week of the fiscal period unreported, a treasury compilation showed revenues since last July 1 have totaled $5,192,836,000. Should collections continue at the current rate, the total would reach about $5,275,000,000 on June 30, compared with Mr. Roosevelt's forecast of $5,224,000,000.

The expected total, however, still would be $553,000,000 under the president's original revenue estimate last January. This forecast was revised after March income tax collections fell 17 per cent under estimates.

On the spending side, the treasury reports indicate aggregate outlays of about $8,000,000 exclusive of debt retirement. This would be $219,000,000 over the revised forecast, and $76,000,000 under the original estimate.

Relief continued to be the largest spending item this year. WPA outlays totaled $1,864,000,000 through June 23, or 23 per cent of aggregate expenditures.

"BROTHER" BRYAN, IN HOSPITAL, MARRIES COUPLE FROM WEST

Although he was confined to his bed at Highland Avenue Baptist Hospital, Dr. J. A. Bryan performed a marriage ceremony for some friends who had traveled all the way from Los Angeles, Calif., to have the Third Presbyterian Church pastor officiate at their nuptials.

The young couple were George Foreman, 28, a former Birmingham resident, and Jean Bates, 19.

Hospital attendants said that Bro. Bryan was only in the hospital to get a much needed rest.

GOOD ATTENDENCE AT SCHOOL

Miss Willie Mae Wells has recently returned home from the Philips High school in Birmingham. She has a record of perfect attendance for eight successive years without either being absent or tardy. She finished her second year in High School this time.

Her brother, Joe James, was promoted to the 7th grade, and has a perfect record of neither being absent or tardy during his entire school days. He attended his first five and one-half years at Central Park school in Birmingham, and one-half year at Isabella.

MOTORISTS' DEPRESSION TAXES

Earl M. Hearne, Secretary of the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee, stated last week that the federal taxes on gasoline and lubricating oil, which cost the motorists of the country about $200,000,000 annually, of which Alabama motorists pay about $2,160,000, will be repealed, according ton Congressman Wesley E. Disney, of Oklahoma. Mr. Hearne said:

"The levies were originally adopted in 1932 as a 'temporary' expedient to provide revenue when tax receipts from other sources had fallen off. Despite strong opposition, these depression taxes on motorists were extended repeatedly, and the House Ways and Means Committee early reported favorably a measure to extend again the levies. Following the action of the committee, Congressman Disney of Oklahoma made the following statement predicting that congress will end the depression levies on American motorists:

"'Although the Ways and Means Committee failed by a close vote to adopt motions to allow the nuisance taxes imposed on gasoline and lubricating oils to expire on June 30 of this year, it was agreed by practically all members present that this would be the final enactment of these so-called 'temporary' levies'."

REV. STEVE HUGHES TO PREACH

Rev. Steve Hughes will preach at the home of Mr. Davis Davenport, two miles west of Jemison, next Sunday night at 7 o'clock. There will be special music by the Singing Painters Quartet. Everybody is invited.

The amount of money derived from forestry license last year amounted to $28,350.31. The largest amount, $4,112.33, was from Jefferson County. The smallest amount, $58.56, was from Elmore County. Among the larger contributors to this fund were: Mobile $1,893.34, Baldwin $1,254.57, and Montgomery $1,233.47.

The Service that adds Comfort to Your Home

During these hot summer days, the time you save with a telephone to aid in settling daily problems may be the difference between a day that worries your nerves into a frazzle, and a day that includes the time you need for relaxation.

There are so many details in running a household. An extra loaf of bread from the grocer—a six o'clock order of ice cream from the drugstore—and so on. And with a telephone to run your errands, many concerns of the day are easily disposed of.

Of course, most everyone is familiar with the value of telephone service, but if you are trying to get along without a telephone you may be surprised, and pleased, to know how little it costs to have a telephone in your home.

All you need to do is to ask any telephone employe, or get in touch with the telephone Business Office. Order your telephone today, and add comfort and protection to your home.

LIBERTY HILL B. Y. P. U.

We are sorry to say, but it seems that some of our members are getting kindly careless. Anything that is worth doing at all is worth doing well. We all know that a good wide awake B. Y. P. U. is needed in every community. So let's make ours one of the best for the Lord. If each member will do their part we will have a good B. Y. P. U. Let every member be present Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock with a well prepared lesson. Everybody be sure and be on time.—Mrs. J. E. Reid.

MERCHANTS CONVENTION

Birmingham. — Headed by Dr. W. W. Walker, General Chairman of the 1937 Alabama Merchants Convention, a group of 20 Birmingham business men made a good-will tour of northeast Alabama cities on June 22, including on the route: Springville, Ashville, Gadsden, Attalla, Jacksonville, Piedmont, Anniston, Oxford, Munford, and Talladega.

This was the fourth in a series of good-will trips to Alabama cities being made by the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce for the pudpose of building up interest in the Alabama Merchants Convention to be held this year on August 4-5 in Birmingham.

This year marks the 21st annual Alabama Merchants Convention. Every year the convention becomes more popular, and it is now the largest convention of its kind in the South. A number of new entertainment features have been planned this year, including a big radio amateur hour, with contestants from all over the state, an all-day barbecue, wrestling matches, swimming, dining, dancing, and baseball games.

Prizes amounting to $100 will be given to the winners of the radio contest, and grand prizes totalling several hundreds of dollars will be given away the last night, August 5, at the conclusion of the program of wrestling matches. This is the most elaborate program of entertainment that has ever been planned at a merchants convention. The convention committees in Birmingham are urging all state merchants to attend, bring their families, and have two big days of a glorious good time.

CARD OF THANKS

It is with the deepest gratitude that we recount the many acts of kindness and sympathy extended us during our recent bereavement. Our friends and neighbors were most thoughtful of us, and extended every feeling and consideration possible. We also appreciate the many beautiful floral offerings. May the Lord remember you all with His choicest blessings is our ardent prayer.—W. E. Robinson, Vernon Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Weaver.

MACEDONIA—BEAT 14

EVERY MAN'S RIGHT

(AN EDITORIAL)

Thirty-five years ago, there was a serious coal strike. President Theodore Roosevelt appointed a special commission to settle it. The following extract from that Commission's report is as pertinent now as it was then:

"The right to remain at work where others have ceased to work, or to engage anew in work which others have abandoned, is part of the permanent liberty of a citizen that can never be surrendered.

All government implies restraint, and it is not less, but more, necessary in self-governed communities than in others, to compel restraint of the passions of men which make for disorder and lawlessness. Our language is the language of a free people, and fails to furnish any form of speech by which the right of a citizen to work when he pleases, for whom he pleases, and on what terms he pleases, can be successfully denied.

"The common sense of our people, as well as the common law, forbids that this right should be assailed with impunity. Approval of the object of a strike, or persuasion that its purpose is high and noble, cannot sanction an attempt to destroy the right of others to a different opinion in this respect, or to interfere with their conduct in choosing to work upon what terms and at what time and for whom it may please them to do so.

"The right thus to work cannot be made to depend upon the approval or disapproval of the personal character and conduct of those who claim to exercise this right. If this were otherwise, then those who remain at work might, if they were in the majority, have both the right and power to prevent the others, who choose to cease to work, from so doing.

"This all seems too plain for argument. Common sense and common law alike denounce the conduct of those who interfere with this fundamental right of the citizen. The assertion of the right seems trite and commonplace, but that land is blessed where the maxims of liberty are commonplace."

CEMETERY CLEANING AT LIBERTY-HILL JULY 14

There will be a cemetery cleaning at Liberty Hill on Wednesday, July 14. Everyone interested in this cemetery please bring tools suitable for taking down the fence and cleaning off the fence row. The cooperation of everyone in this matter is important, as some have been coming and cleaning off a small portion of the cemetery and not being on hand the day set for work.

Revival meeting will start here on the Sunday following.—Zack Lowery, J. E. Littlejohn, Committee.

OAK GROVE

There will be a singing at this place next Sunday, and in the new books. We have the promise of Prof. A. H. Glasscock with his new books. We are also expecting Mr. W. M. Devaughn and Ellis Martin. Everybody come bring your new books and a well filled basket.

Oak Grove is about two miles North of Jemison, on the highway.—W. J. Northcutt.

Protests Desecration Of The Lord's Day

In order that a preacher may say anything it is necessary that he has a text. "What shall I do then with Jesus, which is called the Christ?" (Math.—27:22), was a question asked by King Pilate when Jesus was on trial in his court. "What must I do with the church, Christ's agency on earth to carry out His mission?" is a question to be asked by every child of God in the world today. As Jesus was in the hands of Pilate, and had to be disposed of in some way, so the church is on our hands and we must make some disposition of it. The enemies of Christ were crying, "Crucify Him" "Crucify Him," and the church is saying, "Destroy the Church" "Destroy the Church"; someone says, "Who is saying, destroy the church." The atheist, agnostics, Communist, Fasist and a good part of the time our most influential citizens, a large part of whom have their names on the church books.

If we will only look at what is being planned for the next "Lord's Day" right in Clanton in defiance of the churches of this community, when men are to take their lives in their own hands and do all kinds of foolish stunts that they may appeal to the sensational instinct of the people, a large part of whom are "Money Mad" and "Pleasure Crazy". The time has come for those who love the Lord and His church to take a stand for the right.

The Lord has promised "That the Gates of Hell Shall Not Prevail Against The Church", and if we only believed that we would throw up breast works and say, "We have had enough and I will not be led and further, and if you defeat us you will have to do so by force."

We find the Christians largely like old Pilate that says, "I will wash my hands of the matter. Take it if you wish and destroy it." Folks, are we going to continue to sit idly by and let enemies continue to come upon us without a protest? I know that Judas and all the mob will be out Sunday. There will not be the first child of God that has been regenerated, and born of the Spirit that will be there. There will be a lot of professors of religion, but no professor's of the "Holy Spirit of God" will be at the airport Sunday.

I haven't an ought against the airport or any one connected with it, but when it comes to having the celebrations on the "Lord's Day" in defiance of the churches, the institution that sets the standards of civilization I think it is high time to stop, look and listen. Danger is ahead. No nation has ever risen above the religion of its people.

When a nation forgets God as Rome did and turns to a life of pleasure and greed, we are bound for destruction just so surely as Rome fell.

If the celebration had been planned for some day in the middle of the week I would not have said anything, but when it is deliberately planned for Sunday, although it comes on the 4th of July I think it is enough.

We have allowed Sunday movies and Sunday baseball and Sunday fishing and so on until the mob has decided that they can complete the job of destroying the church, one of the greatest agencies of civilization. We have and we are just washing our hands and saying, "Take it, we will have nothing more to do with it." How many will show that they are on the Lord's side by attending their services Sunday and staying away from those things destined to destroy the church. If we continue to compromise with these evil forces and make no protest, we will soon have the institution we love and that Christ died for closed, then where will we be?—Yours for the right, W. E. Robinson, Member of the Executive Board of Chilton County Baptist Association.

RELIEF AND MORALE

There has been deep concern among the leaders of American thought that the "dole" under any form or however designated, would endanger the fine traits of character and determination to progress upon which the American ideal was founded and under which this nation and its people have grown great and prosperous.

Even in the soul trying days of the worst part of the depression, only the existence of lengthening bread lines reconciled many Americans to the adoption of a program of federal aid to those who, through no fault of their own, were without the power to supply themselves and their families with the necessities of life.

Largely as the result of this apprehension, outright federal relief to the able-bodied was soon discontinued and a program of work relief substituted.

Now, with the nation far along the highway to renewed and greater prosperity, there are disturbing signs that, at least to a certain extent, the fears of the deteriorating effect of the dole on American character were not unsoundly based. So evident is this that the relief solution now presents one of the major problems ever faced by the American people. —Atlanta Constitution.

Since it seems a popular belief now that man can be made happy, and wealthy, or at least socially secure, through legislation, why not simplify the matter by having the college professors at Washington draft a bill that would make it unlawful to lose money during a depression?

A lot of folks say that part of our high cost of living is due to faulty distribution. The same thing is true of weather. For example, how much better it would be if the weather man were to scatter the rain over the corn and wheat fields and keep it out of the baseball parks and the picnic grounds.

Some fellows who have long legs would go further if they had long heads.

SAVING DEMOCRACY

We hear a great deal about conserving our forests, our minerals and other resources, and it is just as important that we preserve for future generations our sound and traditional American democracy, according to Dan W. Gilbert, who writes in the National Republic Magazine under the title "Protect the Rights of You". In part, Mr. Gilbert says:

"Edmund Burke said that society is a sacred contract between the present, the future and the past. In a real sense, the present is simply a trustee for the past, whose duty it is to pass on to the future the fruits of the past, plus its own additions to this heritage. The constitutional heritage of liberty with which the present is blessed is not its own to do with as it sees fit. It was preserved for and handed down to men by those who lived before them. People living today have the obligation to pass on to people unborn the blessings of this liberty bequeathed to all 'posterity' by the fathers of the American republic.

"Under constitutional democracy, the people can do almost anything they wish. But there are some things they cannot do. There is no right under democracy to destroy democracy. People living today have no right to deny to generations unborn the right to recourse to the ballot box. The ballot box may not be used to outlaw free franchise. Free speech may not be used to destroy free speech.

"The ordinary American sense of fair play should make it olear that the present is obliged to respect the right of the future. But it must be recognized that there is abroad in our land, as never before, a political expression of the pagan philosophy of 'eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die'. There are certain influential demagogues, masquerading as 'progressives', who would 'cash in' the 'blessings of liberty' for whatever temporary profit they would bring.

"But, why should 'conservation' be confined to natural resources? Why should it not be extended and applied to spiritual resources? Our Constitution represents the finest crystallization of the influence of Christianity upon dozens of generations of Anglo-Saxon people. It is a priceless, irreplaceable heritage. Every single guaranty and 'blessing' of liberty enshrined in the Constitution was born of the sacrifice and suffering of our forefathers. By bitter experience, our antecedents learned an independent judiciary is the only enduring safeguard of freedom. Why should we not preserve, at all costs, the invaluable fruits of our forbears' strivings and sufferings in the field of political science? We conserve, protect and value the railroads and canals which our fathers built. Yet, there are some who wish to tear down the infinitely more precious structure of constitutional government which is our priceless heritage.

"For the sake of the future, self-control and sacrifice are two qualities which every generation must practice. Conservation of anything is always at the expense of the present, for the benefit of the future. So far as living Americans are concerned, laws protecting the wild life are a distinct nuisance and hindrance. By making the year around 'open season' for all forms of hunting and fighting, present day sportsmen could enjoy themselves much more fully."

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

It is believed that the report of the Senate Judiciary Committee, holding against the president's Supreme Court plan, will become a historic document. It has cleared away the mists of doubt and contention, and presented the case of those who favor the traditional American balanced government, in a way that all who read may understand. Its arguments, from the standpoint of fundamental Americanism, are unanswerable.

One of the most significant indications of the report is that the senators who oppose the president's court plan seem to be in no mood for a compromise. There were no honeyed words in the document. It was keen and incisive. A veteran Washington newspaper man noted for his open-mindedness, said the other day that the Senate committee document was the most scorching that had come out of a Senate committee in his long years of experience. There have been many rumors of a proposed compromise on the court bill to come after the committee handed in its favorable report. The most persistent of these rumors has said that congress would settle the matter amicably by providing for an increase of two justices in the Supreme Court instead of six, as in the proposed legislation. But the committee majority, by basing its objections on the broad principles of constitutional government and practice, seems to have turned its back against any compromise. In the summary of the report the committee recommended the rejections of the bill as "a needless, futile, and utterly dangerous abandonment of constitutional principle," declared that "it would subjugate the courts to the will of congress and the president, and thereby destroy the independence of the judiciary, the only certain shield of individual rights," and concluded with the statement, "it is a measure which should be so emphatically rejected that its parallel will never again be presented to the free representatives of the free American people".

Here certainly is no bid for compromise. The things which are said against an increase of six judges would hold against a proposal to increase the court by two justices. As the New York Times well said editorially:

"All the major points of criticism, made in the report, are equally valid, regardless of the number of new justices involved. If it is true, as a large number of fair minded and responsible people think, and as a majority of the committee now asserts, that the effect of the adoption of the plan would be to subjugate the will of the Supreme Court to congress and the executive, and thereby to destroy its independence, then the plan is equally bad in principle, whether the number of justices proposed is six, or four, or two, or even one."

Of course, the president's court bill may yet be forced through congress intact, or there may be political face saving through a compromise bill. But the tenor of the majority report seems to make compromise less likely. The political schism in the Democratic party has apparently been widened, not healed by the report, with its almost bitter tone. In fact, there seems to be evidence in the report itself that the feeling of some of the senators preparing it, goes even further than an opposition to the court bill and may apply to other things. For instance, the report says:

"If, under the 'hydraulic pressure' of our present need for economic justice, we destroy the system under which our people have progressed to a higher degree of justice and prosperity than that ever enjoyed by any other people in the history of the human race, then we shall destroy not only all opportunity for further advance, but everything we have thus far achieved."

In conclusion, a few months after President Roosevelt carried the country in the biggest landslide in modern American history, we have arrived at the point where he is able to control the majority of congress on an issue which he has made paramount. Times are certainly changing.

ALABAMA GIRL WINS HONORS IN NATIONAL ESSAY CONTEST

MISS CLEO FORSYTHE

Here is Miss Cleo Forsythe, a high school student of Anniston, who was awarded the title of state champion for Alabama in the 14th annual meat essay contest sponsored by the National Live Stock and Meat Board. The title of Miss Forsythe's winning essay was "Why The Growing Child Needs Meat". High school home economics students from every part of the country participated in this contest.

In her winning essay Miss Forsythe says that meat is being used much more extensively in the diet of the child than in grandmother's day, because science has proved that the most critical years of a child's life come between the ages of one and six, and it is generally known that meat is the most efficient food in promoting growth.

The fact that meat is a rich source of protein, iron, phosphorus, and calories and certain essential vitamins is stressed by this Alabama girl as a reason why more meat is recommended by medical authorities as essential in the diet for children.

CHILTON PEOPLE AT F. S. T. C.

Florence, Ala., June 28. — Mrs. Louise Chambers of Maplesville and Houston Robinson of Verbena are doing intensive work in the training school of the Florence State Teachers College this summer. Mrs. Chambers is studying and teaching arithmetic under the direct supervision of Miss Jessie Lenoir. Mr. Robinson is working in the field of science under Mr. Hubert A. Flowers.

The college is fortunate in being able to provide for its summer quarter students a laboratory school of approximately 300 elementary children, a group of 10 expert supervisors, and in having the privilege of visiting the progressive work of the T. V. A. school in Sheffield.

MAJOR FOURTH EVENT SET FOR FORT MORGAN

Montgomery, June 27. — Alabama's outstanding Fourth of July event will be observed on Monday, July 5, when all roads will lead to historic old Fort Morgan for a gigantic fish fry and ceremony for dedication of the first paved link in Alabama's new scenic highway.

Gov. Graves and Congressman Lister Hill will be the principal speakers and will dedicate the 22 miles of road paved by the WPA. The Fort heretofore has been virtually inaccessible by land.

$1,550,090 APPROVED TO BE SPENT ON ALABAMA DOCKS AT MOBILE

Montgomery, June 28. — PWA approval of a $1,550,090 expansion program for the Alabama state docks at Mobile was announced late last week by Gov. Graves.

"Additional slips (wharves) and other facilities are planned," the governor said.

The executive's announcement followed receipt of a telegram from Orville Rush, his personal representative in Washington, confirming PWA approval of the program.

The program involves two separate projects, each estimated to cost more than $700,000. Both loans and grants are involved.

The new facilities will tie into Alabama's application for establishment of a "free trade zone" at the Mobile docks, which represented an expenditure of $10,000,000 when constructed 10 years ago.

BETHSALEM

Bro. W. P. Lowery delivered his regular Saturday and Sunday sermons. A large crowd was present on both occasions.

Mr. Doll Mims and son spent the week end in Montgomery, where Mrs. Mims is in a hospital. She is improving fast.

Mr. Leonard Deloach and several from this community made a business trip to Clanton Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Green were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bowles Saturday. They were entertained by old time singing and playing. Afterward, ice cream was served, and they returned home.

Messrs. John Osburn, J. O. Collins and Cecil Vinson visited in Plantersville Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bowles visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bowles, recently.

Mr. Estes Deason visited Mr. J. M. Bowles Sunday.

Mr. Nutie Bowles and daughter, Sarah, visited Mr. J. T. Bowles Sunday.

Several from here attended the homecoming in Coosa County Sunday.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Sunday school was not so well attended Sunday, but the all day singings will soon be over, and we hope to have a much larger crowd. We are entering a new quarter next Sunday, so come and get your new book. The Blue and Pink contest closed Sunday, with the Blue winning on all three points.

The people around here were proud to see the nice rain Saturday afternoon, as the crops were needing rain badly.

Mr. W. F. Glenn attended the all-day singing at Rockford Sunday.

Mr. T. J. Ratliff and family visited relatives and friends near Pool's Cross Roads Sunday.

Mr. Wiley Jones of Isabella spent the past week end here with Mr. W. F. Glenn and family.

Come to Sunday school next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock and bring someone with you.

LIBERTY HILL B. Y. P. U.

We had a good program Sunday. If you missed it, you missed lots. If you are not a member of the B. Y. P. U., we invite you out to listen to our program. Parents, you should hear the Intermediates and encourage them. Let's all be present Sunday evening with a well prepared lesson.—Mrs. J. E. Reid.

BLANKENSHIP REUNION

Friends and relatives of Mrs. W. A. Blankenship gathered at her home, at Coopers, Alabama, last last Sunday, June 27, to celebrate her 75th birthday. Mrs. Blankenship has 11 children living and they were all present.

The morning was enjoyed by meeting relatives and friends. At noon a bountiful dinner was spread in the yard under the shade trees, which was enjoyed by all. Music was furnished during the day by messrs. Herbert and Vester Blankenship, and Willie Beasley. Pictures were taken of Mrs. Blankenship and all of her children and grandchildren together.

Those enjoying this occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Carroll and family of Coopers, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. Willie Beasley and son, Ocie, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Blankenship and daughter, Shirley Fay, Mrs. Cora Green and children, Billy and Mary Jean, Mr. Haines and Mr. Hobbs all of Sylacauga; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Blankenship and family, Ellis and Zady Belle, and Mr. Jess Blankenship all of Elmore; Mr Frank Blankenship and daughter, Laura, of Cooper; Mr. and Mrs. William Blankenship and children, Herbert and Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Blankenship, Mr. and Mrs. Vester Blankenship, Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Littleton and daughter, Willodene, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Littleton and daughter, Rhilla Fay, Mrs. Liddie Collins and children, Herbert, Orville, Dorothy and Betty Ann, Mr. Charlie Blankenship all of Thorsby; Mrs. P. A. Deason and children, Clinton, Jewell and Eula of Clanton; Mr. Oklee and Mr. Arkie Cleckler of Clanton; Mr. Walter Blankenship and hicldren, Martell and Offie, of Clanton, and Mrs. Eliza Kelley and two daughters, of Cooper.

Everyone had a grand time. We hope to meet with them again next year.

CANE CREEK

The all-day singing held here at Cane Creek was a grand success. Everyone enjoyed the singing and did their best which is something. The singing was called to order by the chairman, O. R. Robinson, who sang the first song. The directors for the morning were: O. R. Robinson, Kermit L. Connell, Floyd Bailey, Henry Driver, Floyd Little, Mrs. Leon Jones and Miss Lillie Mae Weldon.

At 11:15 the services were turned over to the pastor, Rev. E. A. Norris, who gave a fine sermon. At noon lunch was spread on the tables below the church. A bountiful dinner was served and enjoyed by everyone present.

At 1:30 we again gathered for the afternoon singing. The directors for the afternoon were: chairman O. R. Robinson, Kermit L. Connell, Floyd Little, S. L. Baker, Mrs. J. D. Collins Jr., Floyd Bailey, Mrs. Leon Jones and Miss Lillie Mae Weldon.

Pianists for the day were: Mrs. O. R. Robinson, Mrs. Kermit L. Connell, Miss Lillie Mae Weldon and Mrs. Emmett Wilson.

At 3:45 the singing was closed with prayer by the Rev. W. E. Robinson.

Our B. T. U. were held at 7:30 with a large number present. We only have two classes at present, but hope to add two more unions before very long.

Next Sunday, Sunday School will be held at 10 o'clock a. m., and the B. T. U. at 7:30. Let's all be present and make our union the very best.

Lesson for July 4

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 1:6-14; 2:23-25.
GOLDEN TEXT—Before they call, I will answer; and while they are yet speaking, I will hear.—Isaiah 65:24.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Prayer for Help.
JUNIOR TOPIC—In Need of Help.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Cries Rise to God Today?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—God Cares When a People Suffers.

Independence day—and we are to study about a people in bondage! How much that is like life. But, thanks be to God, no one need stay in bondage. The way to liberty is open and free. The Lord Jesus Christ opened it at Calvary's tree and anyone who is still the bond slave of Satan may make this a great and glorious Independence day by now declaring his faith in the deliverer of our souls!

We begin today a series of lessons in the book of Exodus which reveal the high and mighty hand of God working on behalf of his people. Many are the precious spiritual lessons and rich is the practical instruction for daily life to be received in the weeks just ahead. Let us not make the unfortunate mistake of many thoughtless folk who miss the blessing of Bible school attendance because it is a bit warmer than usual.

The family of Jacob—or, as the Bible calls them, "the children of Israel"—prospered in Egypt particularly as long as Joseph and the rulers who remembered him were alive. But they soon learned one of life's bitter lessons, namely, that—

I. Prosperity Often Brings Opposition (1:6-11).

The Hebrews were a peaceful, law-abiding people. They were God's chosen people and as he blessed them they prospered, and thus innocently they brought upon themselves the hatred of the suspicious Egyptians.

Prosperity is never an unmixed blessing. We as a nation know that to be true. Not only does it lead to a certain softening of the sinews, but all too often it results in a weakening of the moral fiber, which makes man easy prey to the attack of the enemy of our souls.

The Egyptians made plans which appealed to their brilliant leaders as politic and wise, but they reckoned without God, and the burdens and afflictions they placed on the Israelites only served to bring further blessing.

II. Adversity May Bring Blessing (vv. 12-14).

The people of Israel did not know it and undoubtedly did not appreciate the fact that the bitterness of their bondage was a blessing in disguise. Note that—

1. It kept them separate as a people. Affliction often serves to keep God's people separated from the world.

2. It disciplined them and prepared them for the hardships of their wilderness journey. We too do well to remember that "whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth," and that if we are properly "exercised" thereby our sorrows may yield rich fruit in our lives.

3. It threw them back upon God. Many are the saints of God who have found that the fiery trial, the burden so hard to understand or some affliction of their body has caused them to bring their burden to the Lord. We have traveled far on the road of faith when we have reached the place where we learn that "Man's extremity is God's opportunity."

They had only one place to turn. They were hemmed in on every side but, as ever, they found that the way up no man can close. They called on their God.

III. Prayer Always Brings God's Answer (2:23-25).

Does God really know when his people suffer? Does he really care? Yes, he does. "They cried," and "God heard" and "remembered." That's all we need to know. The groanings of his people had already stirred God's gracious and tender heart. But he waited to hear their cry before he answered. Such is the law of prayer. May we not forget it. Far too often we turn to everyone and everything else, and finally, in desperation, to God. Why not turn to him first?

As we opened this lesson with an appeal for all who knew not Christ as Saviour to make this the day of their Declaration of Independence, so we close by appealing to all God's children to let him make their ears as sensitive as his to the cry of the oppressed, that this national holiday may find every Christian citizen tender in heart and liberal in deed toward the oppressed.

Conduct Through Life

I will govern my life, and my thoughts, as if the whole world were to see the one, and to read the other; for what does it signify, to make anything a secret to my neighbor, when to God (who is the searcher of our hearts) all our privacies are open?

Submissive Will

The will can only be made submissive by frequent self-denials, which must keep in subjection its sallies and inclinations.

Mr. Hubert Ellison visited Clanton last Monday.

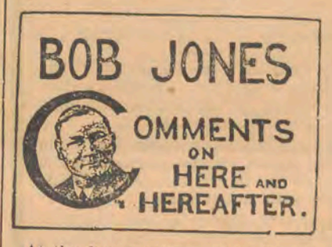
ALA. CHAMBER PLANS SURVEY OF NEEDS OF STATE

"Supplement Farm with Factory," Is Slogan Of New State Body—Additional Officers Elected

LaFayette, Ala., June 30.—"Supplement Farm with Factory," is the slogan of the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce as the state's newest state-wide body sets up offices in Montgomery this week to begin plans immediately for a survey of the industrial needs of each county in Alabama, according to a statement given the press today by Benjamin Russel, president, Alexander City.

At the second meeting of the Board of Directors held Wednesday, June 23rd, in Montgomery, Dr. H. G. Dowling, superintendent of Tuscaloosa Cty Schools, was elected as temporary manager; G. Arthur Cook, Montgomery textile executive, was chosen treasurer, and C. L. Walton, LaFayette publisher, as temporary secretary. Fourteen vice-presidents, five from state-at-large and one each from the state's nine congressional districts, were elected with one yet to be chosen from the state-at-large and one from the Fifth District. Vice-presidents from state-at-large elected are: Algernon Blair, Montgomery; Karl Langrebe, Birmingham; Donald Comer, Comer; David R. Dunlap, Mobile, and Sam F. Clabaugh, Birmingham. Congressional districts: Mark Lyons, First; Floyd McGowan, Second; Wallace D. Malone, Third; Harry M. Ayers, Fourth; Gordon Palmer, Sixth; J. S. Wittmire, Seventh; Barrett Shelton, Eighth; J. Chapman Hodges, Ninth.

County Directors: E. F. Allison, Sumter; A. B. Aldridge, Walker; Dr. Lee Bibgood, Tuscaloosa; P. O. Davis, Lee; W. D. Harrigan, Clarke; R. F. Hudson, Montgomery; A. B. Hooper, Marshall; Isadore Kayser, Dallas; J. Craig Smith, Talladega, and W. A. Steadman, Jefferson.



Objectives of the State Chamber at least for the present time, Mr. Russel said, would be as follows:

1—Survey of each county, ascertain its natural resources, farm products, present industry and the charactor of levelopment most needed.

2—Fabricate at home the State's natural and raw products of farm, mine and quarry and thereby provide employment for thousands of Alabamians.

3—Provide year-'round markets for Alabama grown farm and garden products, increase buying power and income of agriculture, and lighten agriculture with increased industry.

4—Conservation and development of Alabama's forests and promote reforestation. Develop paper industry and forests to the highest public benefit.

At the last meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Bob Jones College a charming, cultured woman who had just been elected to membership said, "I was a formal church member, but I never knew what real Christian experience meant until I came in contact with the Bob Jones College." It occurred to the editor that our churches are filled with many lovely people who have never been born again. It is one thing to join a church and it is another thing to be saved. We talk about trying to do our Christian duty. You never heard a normal mother say, "I will try to take care of my baby. It is an awful task, I haven't any taste for it, but it is my duty to stay here and watch the little child". Mother's love in a woman's heart ties her to her baby. If a woman is normal she will break any social engagement and never consider it a sacrifice to watch by the bedside of a sick child. When we have the love of God in our hearts, it isn't hard for us to "stick to Jesus Christ". The apostle Paul looked back over his life of training, culture, aristocracy, scholarship, and position and said, "I consider all this as refuse for the excellency of the glory of Jesus." When Paul met Jesus on the Damascus Road he got something in his heart that "tied him" to the Infinite. "I am afraid I can't stick," a sinner says. Jesus puts sticking qualities in the heart. You can turn an electric battery on a dead body and get some action, but you can't get life. Preachers can press electric buttons of social service and make spiritual corpses move around a little. They can press electric buttons of self preservation, and get dead souls to move like they might be alive, but they are dead just the same. Living bodies move because of life within. Jesus Christ puts life into the human soul. This life produces activity of the wholesome kind. If we could just get our church members regenrated, we would solve the problem of our churches.

Recently the writer heard a minister telling a story of a funeral he conducted. The woman, before she died, requested her son not to put her in the coffin until the pallbearers were ready to take her coffin to the cemetery. The corpse was put in a chair in the circle at the funeral. What a ghostly occasion it must have been. As I heard the minister tell the story I got to thinking about how many souls are dead in the average social circle. We read about being dead in trespasses and in sin. The Bible teaches that in Adam all died. According to God's Word the nicest, most elegant, most cultured, and most dependable man who has never been born again is a spiritual corpse. He is all dressed up and looks like he might be alive. He has a little educational paint on his face and a little powder of culture on his nose, and it is rather hard to look at him and tell whether he is dead or not, but God says he is dead unless he is born again. A colored preacher in one of our Southern cities said, "There are 400 members in my church. They are all live ones, too—we bury our dead." In many of our churches we haven't enough live members to bury the ones who are dead. Many a church would be a center of spiritual power if there were some way to get rid of corpses in the pews. There is something worse than dead men in pews, and that is to have a dead man in the pulpit. Bishop Kilgoe, of the Southern Methodist church, said to me not long before he died, "There are too many unconverted men in the pulpits of this country.' Educational training, degrees from college, and cultural backgrounds will never become a substitute for the cleansing blood of Christ.

Any person delinquent in paying unemployment compensation contributions must pay at the rate of one per cent per month from the time each contribution was due. The law does not permit remission of this interest rate.

Alabama workers numbering 214,000 are already protected by unemployment compensation legislation. The number is expected to reach 250,000 by January 1, when first benefits will be paid to unemployed.

COMECOMING DAY IN COOSA

We are to hold the 16th annual Homecoming Day celebration at Poplar Springs Baptist church, located three miles south of Hanover, and six miles north of Rockford, just off the Turnpike highway, on the second Sunday in July.

There are many ex-Coosians in Chilton County—still at heart Coosians—and we wish to extend to them a special invitation to attend; and the same invitation we extend to the editor, his family and office force, and to the public generally.

Rev. J. D. Hughes, of Verbena, a former pastor of Poplar Springs, will preach at 11 o'clock, and Dr. J. A. Bryan, of Birmingham, will preach at 2:45 in the afternoon. The Avondale Mills band is expected to be present to render sacred and patriotic music during the day.

A great day is in prospect for all who attend.—John A. Darden, General Chairman.

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Act provides that 60 per cent of the net profits from the state liquor stores shall go to the state, 20 per cent to the counties and is to be divided equally among the 67 counties, and 20 per cent to the municipality where the stores are located. The law also provides that 10 per cent of the state's part of the net profits shall be used for old age pensions and public welfare work, and 10 per cent of each county's part is to be used exclusively for public health, old age pensions and public welfare. The 20 per cent paid to the municipality goes into the general funds of the city and may be used as other general funds.

GRAGG FIELD FROM THE AIR

(Courtesy Birmingham News-Age-Herald)

FEATURES WILL ABOUND AT THE AIRPORT JULY 3rd & 4th

Mr. and Mrs. Odell Garrison are scheduled to do some real stunts, including several minutes of gliding, and eventual landing of a plane with the motor dead. Mr. Garrison has a long list of interesting achievements accomplished since he learned to fly in 1926. He used his plane while he was deputy sheriff in Dallas County in 1931 having at one time carried a crazy person to Tuscaloosa by airplane.

Tickets For Dance On Sale

Tickets for the street dance Saturday night are now on sale at Clanton Laundry, Alred Drug Company, and Upchurch Drug Company. To avoid the rush, everyone should procure their tickets in advance of the hour of the dance. This part of the activities is in charge of the Clanton Pilot Club; music will be furnished by Cecil Kristal and his orchestra.

City Is All Decorated

The city and numerous places of business are all decorated in flags and everything in honor of the Fourth of July and the airport dedication program. The decorating has been done by Meehan Flag and Decorating Company, and those who have observed it say that the job has has been done well. If anybody happens to pass through Clanton they may not know what it is all about, but they will know that something is about to take place here. A glance at the papers here will let them in on it all, however.

Avondale Mills Band To Furnish Music

The Avondale Mills Band from Sylacauga will be here Saturday and furnish music. Mr. McGowan is bandmaster. This will be an important phase of the program, as no occasion of this nature would be complete without a good band. The committee was fortunate in procuring this bunch of musicians.

WILL TEACH SINGING SCHOOL AT THORSBY STARTING JULY 5th

Beginning on Monday morning, July 5, Prof. L. T. Grant will teach a singing school at Thorsby at the public school building. Sessions will be held each morning from 7:30 o'clock until 12 M.

Prof. Grant has taught before at Thorsby, and has established an enviable record both as a teacher and a disciplinarian. He knows all of the stirngs about teaching music, and has had experience of over a quarter century teaching all over Chilton and adjoining counties.

Anyone, young and old, who wishes to equip themselves with a better knowledge of music, singing and composition, should arrange to go to this 18-day singing school. Prof. Grant will be glad to furnish all information about the school to prospective students. He urges that all who can arrange to attend the first day and stay with it until the close. Uninterrupted attendance is necessary for the best results to be obtained from the school.

WILL TEACH AT MT. CARMEL

Beginning Monday, July 5th, Prof. L. T. Grant will teach a singing school at Mt. Carmel, west of Thorsby. The school will be held each afternoon from 1:00 until 5:00 o'clock, and will continue for eighteen days.

REVIVAL AT MT. CARMEL

The revival will begin at this place monday night, after the second Sunday in July. The Rev. B. F. Dykes will do the preaching.

Everybody is cordially invited to come and be with us.

BIRMINGHAM MAN BOOSTS AIR CARNIVAL PERFORMERS

The editor of The Union-Banner has received the following letter from Mr. C. O. Vardaman, which goes to show how widely the Gragg Field dedication has been advertised, and how much interest is being shown in it. The letter follows:

"Mr. T. E. Wyatt,
"Clanton, Ala.
"Dear Mr. Wyatt:

"I read in last week's issue of The Union-Banner that Miss Faye Lucille Cox would be in Clanton on July 3rd and 4th for your air show. I certainly want to congratulate your committee for obtaining America's No. 1 air feat for your show. Both Mr. and Miss Cox are personal friends of mine. I talked to them a few days ago and they are looking forward to being in Clanton with a great deal of pleasure. The parachute jump of Miss Cox is the big thrill of any show.

"Your paper is to be commended for the fine civic spirit and interest it takes in everything that is for the good of Chilton County.

If nothing happens I will come to Clanton on Sunday for the air show, and also to see many of my good friends there.

"With best wishes, I am, sincerely,
—C. O. Vardaman."

SINGING SCHOOL AT CHESTNUT CREEK

Prof. A. O. Boswell will teach a singing school at Chestnut Creek, beginning Monday morning, July 5th. The hours will be from 8 o'clock untill 12.

Prof. Boswell urges the co-operation of the people of that and adjoining communities. Regular tuition will be charged.

Chestunt Creek is the home of Prof. Boswell, and he has taught singing schools there before as well as in several other communities of the county. He teaches everything usually taught in a singing school.

School At Mt. Pleasant Each P. M.

Beginning on the same day Prof. Boswell will teach a school at Mt. Pleasant from 1:00 oclock until 5:00. Each school will be taught five days each week and continue for 20 days. Students from adjoining communities will be welcome.

An agreement of a worker to pay any part of his employer's contribution to the unemployment compensation trust fund in Alabama is void. An employer requiring such an agreement may be prosecuted.

PEPPERS 5—AUTAUGAVILLE 1

The Clanton Woco Peppers took the Autaugaville team in tow last Tuesday afternoon on the local field, trimming the visitors decisively, 5 to 1.

Smith, Willie Armstrong and Tiffin led the 10-hit Pepper barrage off the offerings of G. Mately, Autaugaville hurler, with a pair each.

Sugar Boy Easterling was knocking at the door of the hall of fame, turning in a brilliant 1-hit performance; this lone hit was Edwards' double in tre 8th inning, scoring G. Mately, who had reached first on an error.

The Sugar Boy whiffed nine and walked one. G. Mately struck out 3 and walked 1 for Autaugaville.

CIRCLE NO. 2, W. M. S., MEETS

Circle No. 2 of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. Marion Gore Monday afternoon, June 28.

Mrs. Gore read Psalms 39. Prayer by Mrs. O. D. Deloach.

After business meeting the hostess served refreshments to Mesdames R. J. Jones, O. D. Deloach, Marvin Carter, M. L. White, Glennie Evans, C. A. Sherrod.

ALL DAY SINGING AT PILGRIM REST

There will be an all day singing at Pilgrim Rest, near Pletcher, the first Sunday in July, the 4th. This is the annual homecoming and singing day at Pilgrim Rest. Everybody is invited to come and bring dinner and new song books. Don't forget—it is next Sunday.

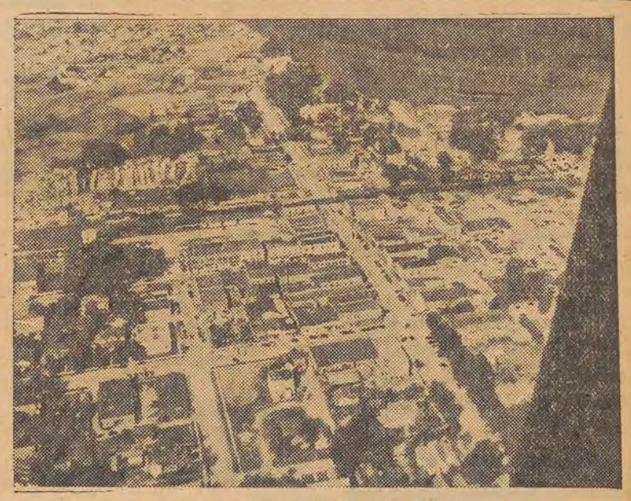
DEVAUGHN TO TEACH SINGING SCHOOLS AT CONCORD—COLLINS CHAPEL

Beginning Monday, July 5th, Prof. W. M. Devaughn will teach a singing school at Concord in the mornings and at Collins Chapel in the afternoons. The hours at Concord will be from 8 to 12; at Collins Chapel from 1 to 5. The schools will run for 18 days and probably longer.



Prof. Devaughn needs no introduction or comment. Everybody in these communities know him and know of his ability as a singing teacher. He is among the most experienced in the county, having taught all over the county and in other parts of the State.

He says that those wishing to attend from around Clanton can be furnished conveyance to and from either of the schools. You are asked to see Prof. Devaughn for full particulars.

Marion Easterling At Concord

Prof. Marion W. Easterling will assist Prof. Devaughn at the Concord school. Besides being general assistant at the school, Prof. Easterling will offer instruction in composition, poetry (hymn) writing, and piano. Prof. Easterling is an accomplished musician and singer, as well as a very proficient composer and poet. He has won for himself, in the past few years, a place among the foremost composers of sacred music in the State. All the students who can should avail themselves of the change of taking instruction under Prof. Easterling.

CLANTON IS A REAL CITY AS IS SHOWN BY PHOTOGRAPH TAKEN FROM AIR

(Courtesy Birmingham News-Age-Herald)

The view above is the business district of Clanton, county seat of one of the thickest populated and best counties in the State. This photo was taken recently from the air and shows the excellent lay-out of the city.

More than 75,000 miles are being traveled this summer by 1,653 members of 102 Alabama FFA chapters on educational tours to all parts of the country and Mexico.

Consumer demand for farm products during the next several months should remain at approximately the present level, says the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Man Drowns While Fishing Near Dam

Ben Thweat, of Sylacauga, Lost Life While Fishing At Mitchell Dam; Body Not Recovered

Ben Thweat, a Sylacauga merchant, was drowned about noon Monday at Mitchell Dam, while fishing with two companions, close up to the back of Mitchell Dam.

Reports say that the men were in a boat close to the lower side of the dam. An automatic switch took a wheel off the line, and the surge that was caused by this pulled the boat under. Thweat's body never came to the top, but the other men did, and were rescued. It was not learned who his companions were.

Thweatt's body had not been recovered at the time of this writing although searching parties had been at work constantly since the accident.

Alabama counted 12 dead and 31 hurt over the Fourth, while figures for the nation neared the 400 mark.

Locally, this Fourth of July saw no more major accidents, other than one auto wreck on Saturday night.

MAYOR'S REPORT

Cecil Coggins, public drunkenness; fine and costs, $8.50.

Herbert Whitaker, public drunkenness; continued to July 10th.

Dewey Anderson, public drunkenness; fine and costs, $8.25.

Armon Mims, disorderly conduct; continued to July 10th.

Wallace Cox (Maplesville), public drunkenness; continued to July 17th.

JONES-HUETT

A wedding of interest to many people in Chilton County was that of J. Marvin Huett and Miss Lena Mae Jones.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Jones of the Isabella community, and is a graduate of Isabella High School. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Huett, of Highland community, formerly of Enterprise. He is an employee of The Union-Banner.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. D. Hughes, last Thursday afternoon, July 1, at 2:00 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, in the presence of a few close friends of both parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Huett will make their home, for the present, with Mr. and Mrs. Jones.

ARTHUR LITTLEJOHN MAKING GOOD IN THE HOTEL BUSINESS

We have just received a clipping from the June issue of the Southern Hotel Journal which, under the heading: "Distinguished Names Grace Staff of the Cavalier, Virginia Beach," has the following to say regarding Arthur Littlejohn, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wiley Littlejohn, of Clanton:

"John Arthur Littlejohn, assistant manager, is well known through his activities at the Tutwiler and Redmont Hotels, in Birmingham, and the Barclay Plaza, in Miami Beach, and the Mt. Kineo Hotel in Kineo, Maine."

As shown by the above, Arthur is assistant manager of the Cavalier Hotel, Virginia Beach, Virginia, said to be one of the finest, if not the finest, on the Atlantic Seaboard. For some time he was employed at the Redmont and Tutwiler Hotels in Birmingham, and then was promoted to positions in bigger places. A report on the Cavalier says that rates at this hotel run from $25 per day up.

That Mr. Littlejohn is a capable hotel man is evidenced by his rapid advancement in his line of work.

SIX DIE IN ALABAMA

Birmingham, Ala., July 5.—Holiday deaths in Alabama amounted to six today. Traffic accidents claimed four lives, one person was drowned and another shot to death.

Miss Betty Moody, 18, and Anderson Greenwood, 18, of Tuscaloosa, and Edna Wolford, 12, of Bradford, Alabama, and Emma Picketts, Birmingham Negro woman were traffic accident victims. Fred W. Keller, 31, of Montgomery was drowned in a lake near Montgomery. A negro was shot to death at Birmingham.

TIFFIN CLEARING HOUSE FOR NEW 1938 PHILCO MODELS

In this issue of The Union-Banner appears an advertisement by Tiffin Furniture Company on used radios, as well as a few other cash specials.

This firm is a local dealer in Philco radios. The new models will be out soon, and Tiffin is clearing the way to stock them. They invite you to come in and see these. Philco is always one of the foremost in improvements, and you can't buy a better radio than a Philco anywhere, for any amount.

All the used sets advertised have been thoroughly reconditioned and should give excellent service. And look at the prices—they are ridiculously low.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday school Sunday morning at 9:45. Everyone be sure and come.

Preaching service Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock and Sunday evening at 7:30. Buford Truett, local preacher, and son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Truett will preach at the evening hour.

EXPERT RADIO REPAIRS BY TIFFIN AND POPWELL

Clanton at last has an expert radio repair service. Gabby Tiffin and Delphin Popwell run this new business, and are both A-1 men on the job. If something is wrong with your set, let them have a look at it, either regular or auto radios. In fact, the boys make a specialty in clearing away interference in auto radios, and guarantee to remove all noise, except, of course, that which comes in from the broadcasting stations.

Both of these young men are thoaoughly trained, both in theory and practice. Every week they offer their expert service through their advertisement in this paper. When in need of radio repairs, you can't do better than see Tiffin and Popwell. Phone No. 7, at Tiffin Furniture Company, and your radio worries will vanish.

SPECIAL USED TIRE SALE IS ON AT ROCKETT'S

J. Dewey Rockett, of Clanton Building Supply Company, says that he has a bunch of great bargains in used tires just now. In this regard, Mr. Rockett had the following to say:

"During the last few days we have had a number of real good tires traded in on new sets—some have much of the tread left. These, for the most part, were traded in by people who drive fast and do not care to have even a partly worn tire under them. These tires are not worn out by any means. They have thousands of miles in them, and we are able to offer them at unbelievably low prices. If a person is looking for tire bargains, we have them."

Turn to the big advertisement of the Rockett stores elsewhere in this paper, and look it over. You'll find bargains there.

RETURNED FROM MONTANA

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Mims and young son returned Sunday from Glasgow, Montana, after a 16-months stay there, where Mr. Mims has been employed on a government power project. They left Glasgow Friday morning about 3:00 o'clock, arriving in Clanton about noon Sunday.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Mims had much comment to make about the crops in Chilton County. Asked about how things looked around the place he left, he summed it all up with these words: "That is a burnt-up country." He said that the farmers had not made a good crop in that section for several years, and were not expecting much this year. Extreme heat and prolonged drouth had transformed the whole section into a dead waste, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Mims left here about the first of March, 1936, and had not been back to Clanton since that time.

Charlie Cox Says People Satisfied

County Representative Gives Views On Road Matters

Rep. Charlie Cox of Chilton County, is well pleased with the results of a local act placing all road work in that county in charge of a road supervisor.

This act was passed during this administration and provided for appointment of the supervisor by the governor. Thomas J. Arledge was named, and Cox says results speak for themselves—that the roads of the county are in better shape than ever and many new bridges have been built.

The people are well pleased, he said, and much good has been accomplished despite the fact the supervisor has had to operate on a small budget provided by the Commissioners Court.—Alabama Journal, July 2.

TOM ROCKETT INJURED

Mr. J. T. Rockett was slightly injured last Friday when his car left the road near his camp on Coosa River. The accident occurred a short distance east of what is known as the "deep cut" on the Higgins Ferry road. Mr. Rockett said the car left the road and struck a stump, throwing him against the windshield and cutting his head. The injury was not serious.

FURTHER SCHEDULE FOR DOG VACCINATON

Dr. W. L. Parrish, in charge of dog vaccination, wishes to thank the people in the Clanton territory for their fine cooperation and hearty response to his call for all dogs to be brought in last Tuesday.

Dr. Parrish said that approximately 640 dogs were vaccinated in his first day of the work,, although he stated that the western side of town was not so well represented, especially the negro district on the west side. He warns those having dogs in that section to atend to this matter at once.

The following further schedule was announced, as Dr. Parrish stated he was trying to make the rounds as handy to the people as possible:

Wednesday — July 14

8 to 10—Fairview.
10:30 to 10—Vermont.
1:30 to 3—Archie Giles' home.

Tuesday—July 15

8 to 10—Lay Dam.
10:30 to 12—Gentry's store, Lay Dam road.

Watch the county papers for further announcements.

THE PRESIDENT IS A PUPPET OF RADICALISM

(EDITORIAL)

Mr. Roosevelt's apologists are having a tough time of it right now, trying to explain away the nauseating subservience of their idol in the White House to the dictates of Mr. John L. Lewis, leader of the lawless radical wing of the labor party. Explain as they may, the fact remains that it is with the sympathy and encouragement of the administration that Mr. Lewis and his gangs have forcibly seized upon private property, and not only denied to American citizens the right to work, but denied to property owners the right of access to and control of their own property. It is a situation unique in American history, and charged with ominous portents for the future. It would be an ugly state of affairs, at best, with lawless mobs seizing and holding private property in defiance of all law, and forcibly denying to peaceful citizens the enjoyment of the most elementary rights of mankind—the right to work and to own property. When such lawlessness goes on the rampage, abetted and condoned by the government sworn to protect all its citizens, it is indeed time to take stock. When such an exalted personage as the President of the United States, to say nothing of his Secretary of Labor, stand revealed as loyal allies of lawless radicals, any explanation or apology sounds rather silly. Small wonder that, in the South, right here in Alabama, many of Mr. Roosevelt's most ardent champions of the party have quit trying to explain and gone to "cussing."

We all remember how, in 1936, with an election under way, these defenders of the Roosevelt record told us that the president would swing over to the conservative side, once he was assured of a second term. These friends of the president admitted that he had already gone too far to suit even them, but they voiced a childlike faith and confidence that all this would be changed, and an era of safety and sanity ensue, after his second inauguration. Instead, they have, in a short six months, seen their hero knuckle down to the leader of the lawless gangs who, under the guise of the "sit-down strikers" are spreading a veritable reign of terror over wide industrial areas. They have seen him deaf to appeals for help from peaceful communities asking for nothing except the fundamental protection which every organized society is supposed to extend to the individuals who compose it. They have seen him and his Miss Perkins proceed on the theory that 50,000 roughnecks can't be wrong, and that any capitalist, any employer of labor, comes under suspicion as a public menace, fore-doomed and fore-damned without a hearing.

The simple fact is that Mr. Lewis called Mr. Roosevelt, and he answered. Not many months ago, Lewis had the brazen effrontery to publicly remind the President of the United States that he was indebted to Lewis and his crowd for support in 1936 and that he was expected to pay off. We wonder what would have happened if a mob leader of the Lewis breed had "called" such a president as Andrew Jackson or Grover Cleveland or Theodore Roosevelt in such contemptuous fashion. Franklin Delano took it, and to date, by his acquiescence in the forcible seizure of private property, by the entire trend and tenor of his course, has lent aid and comfort to those who are trampling the laws of the land underfoot.

It is a long way from the peaceful fields of Alabama to the terror-ridden industrial areas of Ohio and Pennsylvania. It may seem impossible that anything of the sort should ever happen to us here. Less than a year ago, men in the peaceful possession of their lawful properties in the North no more sensed the danger of forcible seizure and eviction than we of the South. Such things, so we, and they, were told, happened only in Russia. Our New Deal regime might coddle and incite the radicals, but surely it would not go so far as to stand for "direct action"—forcible seizure of private property on the Soviet plan. When the advocates of "direct action" struck, and the administration stood supinely by, and peaceful citizens began forming committees of vigilants to protect themselves from gangsters, it put a new aspect on what might or might not happen down here.

Suppose, tomorrow, an armed insurrection—call it sit-down strike or what have you—fomented by radical agitators, should break loose in our Black Belt. Farms and farm houses seized and occupied, the owner kicked off or beseiged. The government has already done much to fan the flames of class and racial discontent in the South, with its doctrine of the "More Abundant Life", and its program of making everybody happy by bureaucratic edict. After all, why should our government protect the Southern plantation owner any more than it has protected the Northern factory owner? Should such a situation arise, we believe that there is enough manhood in the South to meet it. Still, it is worth thinking over. We may not be as far removed from Johnstown, Pa., and East Chicago, Ind., as the map might indicate.

For us in the South, there is one ray of light in the whole sordid and sickening drama being played before our eyes. The beam of hope is the fact that conservative Southerners are at last showing signs of awakening. Dispatches from Washington tell of Southern senators and congressmen "rearing up" and expressing themselves in no uncertain tones in opposition to the dictatorship that Mr. Lewis is trying to establish. The thinking people in the South have been forced to see that their political alliance with the radical mobsters in the North and East, under the mantle of the Democratic party, is an unnatural and dangerous alliance. It is a league of two elements, two schools of political philosophy, that are as far apart as the poles and must some day inevitably crumble. If the riots and bloodshed of recent weeks will hasten the end of this perverted union, and show the conservative South its proper place in the political fold, they will not have been altogether in vain.

Meanwhile, our sincere sympathy and condolences are extended to the Roosevelt apologists who kept telling us how wonderful his second four years would be. We are glad to see that most of them have at least the good taste to remain silent, and not force us to laugh out loud.

THE LYNCHING RECORD FIRST SIX MONTHS 1937

According to the records compiled at Tuskegee Institute in the Department of Records and Research that in the first six months of 1937 there were four lynchings. This is the same number as for the first six months of 1935 and 1936, and 2 less than the number 6 for the first six months of 1934.

All of the persons lynched were Negroes. The offenses charged were: murder, 3; rape, 1.

The States in which lynchings occurred and the number in each State are as follows: Alabama, 1; Georgia, 1; Mississippi, 2.

HIGHWAY PATROLMEN ARE ON VACATION

State Highway Patrolmen Henley and Waites, with their families, are on their vacation this week.

Patrolmen Wallace Waites and his family are taking their time off duty at West Palm Beach, Florida. Patrolman Earl Henley and family went to Panama City, Florida. Both left last Saturday morning, to be gone 10 days, but will be back on the job again on Tuesday, July 13.

While these Patrolmen are away, the highway department has put in their place Patrolmen Tatum and Meredith. These men, we are informed, are from Luverne.

THE BOSS IS OUT!

This week Editor T. E. Wyatt and Mrs. Wyatt are on their vacation. Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt left Saturday afternoon for a trip up through Tennessee, Virginia, and on to Washington. They plan the return trip through Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, and Georgia. The Wyatts' little daughter, Inez, stopped over to spend the week with Mrs. Paul Bishop (Ethel Cagle) in Birmingham.

Meanwhile, The Union-Banner is being printed this week by the regular force. We are doing our best to give you just as good a paper—we hope a better one—than is the usual custom. This is the first time the editor has taken any time off, and we are trying to show him that The Union-Banner, like Tennyson's brook "shall go on and on, forever."

BOARD OF REGISTRARS IN SESSION THIS WEEK

Urge All To Register By Last Day Friday, July 9

The Chilton County Board of Registrars have been in session all this week, to register people who have become 20 years of age since the last registration session.

The Board is composed of A. J. Lecroy, W. W. Wingard, and C. A. Rutherford. Members of the Board stated that applicants are coming in very slowly. Up until a late hour Tuesday only 34 had applied for registration, and the reg strars are anxious that everyone come in and register who has become 21 years of age. According to the state law a person must be registered before he can vote.

The board members further wish to make clear that an applicant must have attained the age of 21 on or before the day of application for registration. This will be the last change to register before the fall session. The board meets at the court house every day, and will close the present session at 4 o'clock, Friday, July 9. If this notice applies to you, you are urged to reg ster at once.

Wreck South Of Clanton Sat. Night

Woodrow Rockett Was Slightly Injured In Bad Auto Smash

A Plymouth sedan, driven by Woodrow Rockett, plunged off the road about one-half mile south of Clanton early Saturday night. The car was a complete wreck, although Mr. Rockett was not seriously injured, apparently saved by the steel construction of the car.

A report of the wreck says that Mr. Rockett was driving north, and was about to pass another car, also going north, just at the point where the old highway enters the paved road. As the Rockett car pulled up alongside the other car, a third car cut out of the old highway directly into his path. It was a case of a head-on clash, or of the Rockett car taking the ditch, which Woodrow did, tearing down the fence surrounding the Shell supply plant. The car turned up on its nose, and hung suspended, reports say.

NEWS FROM THE BOSS

A card received from Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Wyatt Wednesday morning, just before going to press, ran as follows:

"Monday a.m.—Spent Sunday night in Pulaski, Va. Will go through Natural Bridge and into Washington today. It is raining here. Are having fine trip.—T. E. Wyatt."

Before leaving, Mr. Wyatt left orders for his Union-Banner to be mailed to him at Richmond, Va., where he expects to be Friday, on his return trip home.

The card bore a picture of Natural Bridge, In Virginia, which is 215 feet high and 100 feet wide.

W. G. GRAY DIED

Funeral for W. G. Gray, age 63, who died sudenly at his home in Thorsby Sunday night was held Tuesday at 10 a. m., Collins Chapel. Rev. M. I. McLeod officated, and Spigener directed.

Mr. Gray is survived by his wife, and one son, W. J. Gray, of Clanton.

Dedication Of Gragg Field Great Success

Large Crowd In Attendance; Many Big Events On Two-Day Program

Clanton's modern ninety-two acre airport and emergency landing field is now officially named Gragg Field, following the two-day program of last Saturday and Sunday which was attended by one of the record-breaking crowds ever assembled in or near Clanton.

The program got off to a fine start with public inspection of airplanes that had landed at the field during the morning. A novel stunt parachute jump was put on by Walton Peteet, of Birmingham.

Four planes from Maxwell Field, Montgomery, stopped at the field for a short time Saturday. Many persons attending the dedication got their first view of one of the army's huge bombing planes as it slowly landed Saturday morning at the field, bringing five officers of Maxwell Field.

Many persons enjoyed an air view of Clanton and surroundings during the mass flight of all ships over the city. The ships from Maxwell Field did not participate in this flight, however.

Good Speaking

With Cohen E. Stapp, of Selma, formerly of Clanton, acting as master of ceremonies in his usual fine manner, the actual dedication program was carried out in splendid form, with Mayor C. Fenn Jones expressing a welcome from the City of Clanton, and Probate Judge Lee Smith extending the welcome from the county.

Officials of the Works Progress Administration of Alabama, who also had a great part in making Gragg Field possible, were present and made short talks. The presentation address was made by W. M. Wyatt, publisher of The Montevallo Times, Montevallo, who said . . . "we are presenting this airport to all of you people of Chilton County."

Mr. Wyatt was followed by Dr. Gragg in an impressive acceptance address, in which he paid tribute to those county officials and others who have done so much to make this field what it is.

A specialty act put on by Odell Garrison and Walton Peteet, thrilled the huge crowd as the ship in which they were flying, soared higher and higher. Spectators saw only one pilot in the ship as it left the ground and flew for several minutes near the field. Later, and suddenly, the lone pilot fell from the ship, apparently leaving it to its own course. However, the pilot who fell, opened his parachute, drifting slowly to the field, while the ship careened crazily in mid-air, seemingly without anyone at its controls. But, it landed and soon the spectators were relieved to learn that there were really two men in the ship all the time.

Street Dance Enjoyed

The largest crowd said to have ever assembled in Clanton at nine o'clock at night gathered in the block in front of the Tiffin Furniture Company, Saturday night to dance to the music of Cecil Kristal and his orchestra from Montgomery. This was another of the highlights of the two-day and night program. There was something like fifteen hundred persons attending this dance.

Rain Stopped Program

Although heavy rains set in Sunday afternoon with light showers Sunday morning, a part of the program for that day was carried out with a large attendance of spectators.

One of the main features of the program Saturday afternoon was the ten thousand-feet delayed parachute jump made by Faye Lucile Cox, one of the most famous women parachute jumpers. She was carried aloft in the trim Stinson plane of the Wood Chevrolet Company of Birmingham, and piloted by H. F. Wood. She jumped at the dizzy altitude, sailing down, down for several thousand feet before opening her parachute. She has made more than 300 such thrilling jumps. Mercer Cox, well known stunter and jumper also thrilled the crowd with a parachute jump Saturday morning.

All in all, the entire program, except that part which was called off on account of rains, was a tremendous success in every way. No accidents of any kind were reported from any section of the county.

GAME AND FISH MEETING

There will be a joint meeting of the Chilton County Game and Fish Conservation Association, and Corinth Region Conservation Club, at Verbena High School building Thursday, July 8, 1937, at 8 o'clock p.m., and all sportsmen, wildlife lovers and interested land owners are urged to be present. Mr. Tom Ford, of the State Department of Conservation will be the principal speaker, and will have an instructive message for those interested in conserving game and wildlife in Chilton County.—Corinth Region Conservation Club, by E. A. Norris, Chairman: Arcue Baker, Sec'y; Chilton County Game and Fish Conservation Council, by J. B. Atkinson, President; Wm. H. L. Smith, Sec'y.

CLANTON GOSPEL TABERNACLE

Rev. John H. Scalf will fill his regular appointment at this place next Sunday at 11 o'clock. Everyone is invited to come and take part in the services.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

FARM MEETINGS PLANNED DURING JULY AND AUGUST

Auburn. — Alabama county agents are making plans for farmers throughout the state to attend some most important farm meetings during July and August, announces P. O. Davis, director, Alabama Extension Service, and Dean M. J. Funchess, director, Alabama Experiment Station.

Emmett Sizemore, extension supervisor, is working with county agents in southeast Alabama in making plans for over 4,000 farmers to visit the Wiregrass sub-experiment station at Headland, July 13, 14, 15, and 16. Special emphasis will be given to experimental results obtained with poultry and hogs during these visits.

Farmers in west Alabama will visit the Black Belt sub-experiment station at Marion Junction during the second week of August, the exact dates to be announced later, advises J. L. Lawson, extension supervisor. Results obtained with beef cattle on pastures fertilized with different fertilizers will be stressed. Latest developments on how to succeed with peanuts, oats, and other crops also will be studied.

About the middle of July, county agents of north Alabama will study experimental results obtained at the Tennessee Valley sub-experiment station, Belle Mina, and the Sand Mountain sub-experiment station at Crossville. Following these conferences, the county agents will arrange for farmers in their respective counties to visit these stations during the last half of July and August, advises J. T. High, extension supervisor.

Plans are being made for a large number of farmers from all counties in the state to attend Farmers' Week in Auburn, August 2-6. Farmers interested in attending any of these meetings are advised to see their county agents.

On January 1 this year the farm population of the United States was 31,729,000 persons, compared with 31,809,000 on January 1 last year, a net loss of 80,000 persons. The year showed the first decrease in farm population since 1929.

Hot weather is the time when the horse disease, encephalonyelitis, sometimes called "blind staggers," "brain fever," or "sleeping sickness," is most likely to appear. Only a few sporadic cases of the disease have been reported in Alabama.

BUREAU ESTIMATES COTTON CARRYOVER

Auburn. — A carryover of about 4,400,000 bales of American cotton in the United States on July 31 this year is estimated by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in a report to P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service. This will be about 1,000,000 bales less than the carryover on the corresponding date last year.

World cotton production in 1936-37 is tentatively estimated at 30,900,000 bales, of which the farm production is placed at 10,500,000 bales. Both figures are record highs, the bureau says.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION APPLIES ON FARM HOMES

Auburn. — The Alabama Homestead Exemption Law applies to farms and farm homes the same as to other homes in the state.

Every farmer occupying the home is entitled to the exemption, whether the home is assessed at $500 or $5,000 or more. The maximum deduction that any person is entitled to in any one year is $13. The minimum amount depends upon assessed value of the homestead.

In order to get the exemption this year the owner must secure a certificate from the tax assessor, setting up his claim for exemption, and present the certificate to the tax collector when paying taxes. This certificate should be secured before October 1 this year.

FARMERS ADVISED STUDY NEW FARM LEGISLATION

Auburn. — Alabama farmers are advised by P. O. Davis, director, Alabama Extension Service, to write their United States senators and congressmen in Washington for copies of pending agricultural legislation with a view to helping them develop it into a "law which is as nearly perfect as can be written under existing conditions."

"It is obvious that existing federal laws pertaining to agriculture are not adequate," he said. "Unless present laws are either changed, modified, or new legislation is enacted, serious problems are ahead for the farmers of the nation.

"Consequently, this is to suggest to Alabama farmers that they write our congressmen and senators for copies of pending legislation for careful study," he continues. "It is expected, of course, that after studying this legislation they will write our congressmen and senators about it with a view to developing it into a law which is as nearly perfect as can be written under existing conditions."

POULTRY PROFITABLE IF PROPERLY HANDLED

Auburn. — John E. Ivey, poultryman of the Alabama Extension Service, reports that the results of the Alabama Poultry Demonstration Record Keeping project for the month of May shows:

1. That the gross income per 100 hens was $1.00 per day.
2. That the gross income per 100 hens for the month was equivalent to 227 pounds of lint cotton at 13.1 cents a pound.
3. That hens paid $2.74 a bushel for the corn they consumed.

SPELLING EASY FOR BOY OF 6

A-c-ac,c-u,mu,l-a-t-e, late. Accumulate.

Six-year-old Lee Baltzer spelled out that puzzler today, then declared his first term as a child prodigy was over in favor of a summer of robber and police.

Lee is an orthographical marvel, his teachers at Malana A. Harris School declare. He feels hurt when they ask him to spell cat, and actually revels in disyllable terrors like rhineceros.

"He's the most unusual speller I ever encountered," his teacher, Mrs. Lucille Mc Connell, said. Lee is only in the 1-A grade. He did not attend kindergarten.

Otherwise, he is a bright, blond headed youngester. "I guess I want to be a cowboy when I grow up," he informed a reporter after he ran through questionnaire.

Before he entered school last year, Lee knew all the letters of the alphabet and their sounds. He learned them from building blocks and drawing them on a blackboard. He could also count to one hundred.

"I remember the first words I learned to spell," he said. They were hot and cold. Spelling is awful easy. I just hear the sound of a word and spell it.

J's and g,s and k's and c's give him a little trouble, though. Besides spelling he likes to write. Recently, he visited the Cleveland Exposition and wrote a story about it on his blachboard. He says he may do some thing more serious this summer.

His father, Edwin Baltzer 1135 Sawyer avenue, is a good speller but his mother makes no sensational claims in the art. His brother Kenneth, 14, is good but not infallible.

Lee is tired off all the praise. I want to forget about school and see a lot of Buck Jones's pictures this summer.

MT. PLEASANT CLUB

The Mt. Pleasant club met on July 1, at 3:00 o'clock at the schoolhouse.

Ten members and two visitors were present. A baseball game was played before the club met.

Mr. Ivey explained to us how to keep our club record books up to date.

The meeting adjourned to meet again next month.

Phosphate and deficient soils make phosphate deficient crops. Phosphate deficient crops produce poorly nourished animals and costly gains in weight. Humans also suffer from these deficiencies.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

Mere intellectual training is not enough. The more knowledge a man has the more dangerous he is unless his heart is right. The Word of God teaches that the natural heart is "deceitful above all things and desparately wicked". It teaches that man was born in sin and that he has natural evil propensities. A new heart is necessary if man is going to achieve anything worth while. All governments which man in his natural state has been able to build have gone down in ruins. Unless the regenerative grace of God gets into the heart of modern man his civilization will fall. Except a man repent he must perish. This holds true to civilization. America can repent of her sins or perish in her sins. This holds for other nations, too. We have God out of the picture. That is our trouble.

"Will you have a prayer meeting in your home tomorrow?" the chairman of the executive committee of an evangelistic campaign which the writer was conducting recently inquired of a prominent church woman who was attending the meetings. "Oh, I haven't time to get up a program", the lady replied. That statement represents the "slant" most church people have no Christian work. We have thought of everything in the terms of program. We have lost the spiritual vision. We think of religion in the terms of churches, pipe organs, chimes, women's meetings, Men's meetings, young people's societies, social service, an da thousand other things. How different from the early church. Everything was so simple. Everybody was too busy doing the work of God to have committee meetings. Of course, they gathered for prayer and when they did something happened.

Our need in the ecclesiastical world is the same need we find in the poltical world. We need to get back to simplicity. We have built an ecclesiastical machine which we cannot sustain. It costs too much to keep up the fine house we have built. It takes the whole crowd to keep the house swept, the dishes washed, the rugs dusted, and things going on at home. We are so busy taking care of the house and the machinery and the program we haven't time to take the Gospel to the lost, so we are trying to do the business in a wholesale fashion. We used to lead people to Christ "one by one" program. "Whosoever will may come". "Him that cometh". "Whosoever believeth". Every man must trust Christ for himself. The best thing we can do for human society is to bring individuals to Jesus Christ. We ought to "softpedal" on machinery and go to doing real business for God.

MT CARMEL

Friends of Mr. Tom Foshee regret to know that it has been necessary to remove him to another hospital as his condition is very grave at this writing. He was first carried to a Birmingham hospital last Thursday. Sunday he was transferred to an Illinois hospital.

Mr. Harvey Liveoak is much improved.

Mr. Ben Higgins is some better than he was last week.

Mrs. Linie Mims has been away for the past week visiting relatives.

Brother Mims brought to us a fine sermon Sunday, using as his subject, "The Church's Defense and Protection." Four additions were made to the church, two by baptism and two by letter. The church is indeed glad to receive them.

All the people who are interested are requested to bring necessary tools for the purpose of cleaning the church grounds and cemetery on Wednesday, July 14th.

Marvin Oden, of Shoults, and Eugene Kelly, of Rome, Georgia spent a short while in this community Saturday morning.

Friends of Mrs. Martha McAfee are saddened over her death last Friday. Our deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbern Sewell, of New Orleans, La., announce the birth of a 10-lb son born the first of June.

Mr. Clifton Davenport, who holds a position in Birmingham, visited home folks the past week end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith visited relatives and friends here last Thursday. They have gone to Mobile for a few days vacation. Afterwards they will return to Birmingham.

Mr. Sid Higgins suffered the loss of a horse Saturday night.

We are glad of the nice rain last Sunday. Farmers have their crops about laid by.

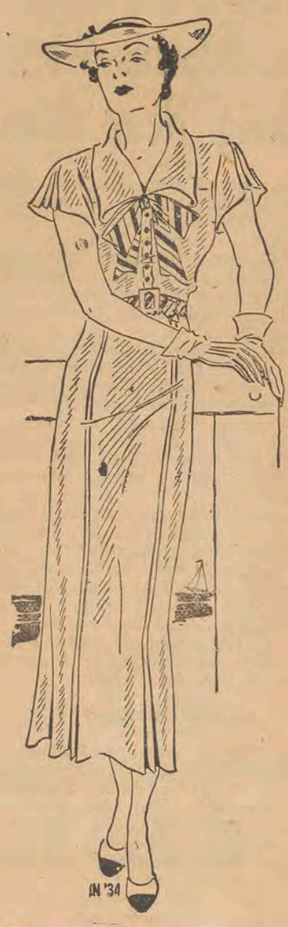
Our singing will be the fourth Sunday in this month. The revival begins the first Sunday in August. Bro. Paul Oden, who needs no introduction, will conduct the revival sermons so plan to hear him.

Those who enjoyed the Fourth of July dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Higgins were: Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Liveoak and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Liveoak and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Liveoak and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Higgins and family and Mr. Ira Watley.

PATES CHAPEL

There will be an all day singing at Pates Chapel, three and one-half miles west of Thorsby, on Sunday, July 11. Everyone is invited to come and be with us. Bring your lunch and new books.

Everyone interested in the cemetery at Pates Chapel is asked to meet there Thursday morning, July 8th, and bring tools to work with.—C. A. Maddox.



Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Taylor spent a part of last week visiing in Birmingham.

THE LEADER MANAGER, M. LANDE

SCOUT JAMBOREE

Washington — Originally conceived as a gigantic celebration of scouting's "Silver Jubilee," the first National Boy Scout Jamboree, now encamped on the banks of the Potomac in Washington, D. C., has gone through many stages of development since it was first proposed more than three years ago.

And scores of men and women have expounded their reasons for thinking that the Jamboree has profound implications to our national life far beyond the pageantry, the camping and fellowship which will be incident to it.

Business and professional men have expressed their opinion that the assembly of 25,000 boys from every nook and cranny of the land will do much to establish understanding, tolerance and friendships upon which harmonious business relations grow.

Educators add their belief that such an experience as the Jamboree and the trip to and from incident to it will have educational values equivalent to a year's schooling.

Fathers and mothers see new opportunities for their sons at costs far below anything they had dared hope for, while the boys themselves are receiving new inspiration through contact with historic shrines in Washington and through visiting the functioning center of National government, which will build toward greater patriotism and better fit them for participating citizenship.

Scouting leaders throughout the country report greater interest in Scouting by all men and women brought about by the dramatization of the things Scouting is doing for boyhood and look forward to an even greater interest through the powerful and campelling dramatization of the Jamboree itself.

Scouting leaders, under the inspired direction of Walter H. Head, President of the National Council, of the Boy Scouts of America, and Dr. James E. West, the Chief Scout Executive, have carefully weighed and measured these values as they developed in the Jamboree program so that Scouts would receive full benefit from the companionship, the contacts with inspiring monuments of the past and present, the drama of pageantry, the opportunity to meet the President of the United States, Congressmen and other Washington officials, to exchange the best in Scouting and camping ideas, all of which, combined into a carefully organized activities program, will enable boys to get benefits from the Jamboree which will have life-long effects.

I. L. SMITH TO PREACH HIS FIRST SERMON NEXT SUNDAY

I wish to say through the columns of The Union-Banner that on Thursday night before the second Sunday in July, the 8th, I will try, by the help of our Almighty God, to preach my first sermon in a church. This will be at East View Congregational church near Cooper.

About five years ago, God laid His mighty hand on me, saying: "Go and preach my gospel to every creature." I cannot resist the power of God any longer. Pray for me, and come. My subject, or text, if I should use one, will be: "By their fruits you shall know them."—I. L. Smith, Route 1, Verbena.

IN MEMORY OF M. L. MILFORD

On last Saturday at 5:20 o'clock the death angel carried our dear father, Marcus L. Milford, out of our midst.

He lived to be 63 years of age, but was in bad health for many years.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Pleasant Grove, with the Rev. Gibson officiating. Spigener Funeral home was in charge. Pallbearers were: Bud Klinner, Garland Deason. J. D. Miner, Mack Durbin, Alston Klinner, Homer Ratliff.

He leaves to mourn his loss: four sons and three daughters, a step-son, and a host of relatives and friends.

Cotton bags are used for packaging about two-thirds of the cement shipped in the United States but the trend in the use of cotton for this purpose has been downward during the past decade.

CEMETERY CLEANING

All who are interested in helping to clean off the cemetery at Mt. Carmel, better known as Childress cemetery, bring your tools Wednesday morning, July 14th.

CONSERVATION NEWS

Conservation farming practices provide "all weather" protection for farmers' fields whether the season be wet or dry, according to James H. Wood, of the Soil Conservation Service area, near Clanton.

When rainfall is excessive, such practices as terracing, strip cropping, contour cultivation, contour furrowing, the use of cover crops, and other approved methods of erosion control slow up run-off water, thereby reducing erosion and increasing absorption.

When rainfall is deficient and moisture is at a premium, water that has previously been stored in soil protected by conservation practices promotes better growth of crops in cultivated fields and better growth of grasses in pastures, Mr. Wood said.

On the steeper slopes, where water runs off swiftly and erosion progresses at a rapid rate when the land is unprotected, trees and permanent hay crops serve both to protect the land from erosion when rains come and to retain moisture in the soil against long periods of drought.

There is another angle to the use of conservation farming practices, too, Mr. Wood pointed out. Water held in farmers' fields and fed gradually to streams through underground channels regulates stream flow during periods of dry weather as well as during periods of excessive rainfall when the streams are called upon to carry on increased volume of water.

Just as it has been found that "all weather" tires are the best kind to use for safe driving, cooperating farmers in the Clanton area have found that "all weather" methods are best for safe farming.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to the many people who helped us during the sickness and death of our beloved father, Marcus L. Milford. May the Lord bless each and every one of you is our prayer.—His children.

MT. CARMEL W. M. U.

The W. M. U. will meet at the church on July 13. We are expecting Mrs. Lee Grant and two other ladies to be with us, so everyone who can come and bring your lunches, for we will enjoy the talks.

BATES REUNION

On July 4th the family gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Bates.

The morning was spent in talking and making ice cream. At 12 o'clock dinner was spread under the shade trees for an hour of pleasure eating with the family.

Those enjoying the gathering were: Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Mims, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Bates and baby, Norma Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bates and children, Alice Mae and Sarah Nell, Mr. and Mrs. Thurl Bates, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Peters, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bates and children, Maxine and Patty Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Edwards and baby, Margie Nell, Mr. and Mrs. Odie Cayton and children, Bettie Lane and Jettie Merle.

Mrs. Frances Peters and children, Mary Lou and Winfield, of Tallassee, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dickey and children, Thelma, Joan, of Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Arlen Dooley and children, Inez, Douglas and Ethel Dean, of Titus, Alabama, Mr. Dovard Jones.

At 4:00 o'clock the crowd began to part after enjoying the day and wishing many more happy gatherings of the family.—Mrs. Odie Cayton.

JUST FROM SHOULTS

On last Friday, Mrs. J. R. McAfee passed away. She had been sick for three or four years, and had been confined to her bed for about 12 months. She was a loving mother and neighbor.

She has eleven children and a host of friends who will miss her. The writer boarded with the family for about three years, and found her to be a Christian woman and one who will be missed around Pleasant Grove Church.

She was the daughter of Lenzy Moore, of Active, Alabama.

Well, we have had a one-inch rain which we are very thankful for. Crops are looking fine at last. We have had a time with the grass on Poverty Ridge. I saw some cotton today that has never been chopped. What a pity. If any of you boys have the rheumatism, find a salty fish and keep it to your feet for three days.—Uncle Remus.

Mrs. Anna Gardner, Miss Ruth Prince and Mr. Wilder have returned to their home in Alexander City, after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Prince.

Prof. and Mrs. L. C. Warr of Luverne, were here Monday to attend the funeral of Mr. T. C. McSwain.

DOGS BEING VACCINATED

According to notice given last week, Dr. W. L. Parrish started vaccination of dogs in Chilton County last Tuesday. He was at George McCain's barn all day Tuesday and was scheduled for three different places on Wednesday—Thorsby, Jemison, and Merrill's store, near the Shelby County line.

The charge for this service is 50c per dog. Dr. Parrish says that if anyone does not want to pay for the vaccination, nor to kill the dog, bring it to him and he will put it out of the way in an easy manner.

The schedule as arranged so far is given below. Further dates will be announced later. Watch for the dates when Dr. Parrish will be in your community. Then bring your dog to the appointed place, along with 50c in cash, and the work will be done.

Thursday—July 8

8:00 to 10:30—Concord church, Beat 13.

10:30 to 1:00—Cofer's gin.

1:30 to 4:30—Fleetwood Raspberry's store.

Friday—July 9

8:00 to 10:30—Isabella schoolhouse.

11:00 to 3:00—Maplesville.

Monday—July 11

8:30 to 11:00—Shoults schoolhouse.

12:00 to 3:00—Stanton.

3:30 to 5:30—Riderville.

Tuesday—July 13

8:00 to 10:30—Cooper.

11:00 to 2:30—Verbena.

3:00 to 5:00—Mt. Creek.

Remember, this round is being made for the convenience of the people of the county, and you are asked to cooperate in the work. And when the inspector comes around and finds a dog that has not been vaccinated, mere killing of the dog will not be sufficient, but the owner will be subject to prosecution as well.

Dr. Parrish desires the cooperation of everyone in this work.

REFUGE

There wasn't any Sunday school at this place last Sunday. May we take on more interest and be present next Sunday. If you haven't any other place convenient, come on and be with us. You should go to Sunday school somewhere every Sunday if possible.

There will be singing here on Thursday night of this week, in the new books. The chairman stated that he will ask some questions on the Sunday school lesson for next Sunday. Study your Sunday School lesson, bring your song book and come on and be with us.

Mr. Odis Mims was carried to the Central Alabama Hospital for an operation for appendicitis last Thursday. He underwent the operation Friday morning and is doing nicely.

Mrs. W. C. McMinn is also doing nicely. She will probably come home from the hospital this week.

Rev. M. Lockhart will leave Sunday for Lawley to hold a meeting for our pastor, Rev. W. E. Robinson. The meeting will be held at Pleasant Grove church. He is scheduled continuously from now until September 1st, except the week following the 5th Sunday in July.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stapp, of Selma, visited friends here last week.

Miss Anita Crawford, of Birmingham, was the week end guest of Miss Helen Deifenderfer.

Miss Helen Deifenderfer is spending this week in Birmingham as the guest of Miss Anita Crawford.

Registration NOTICE!

Lesson for July 11

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 3:1-12.

GOLDEN TEXT—Come now therefore, and I will send thee.—Exodus 3:10.

PRIMARY TOPIC—How God Answered His People's Prayer.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Leader in the Making.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How to Get Ready to Work for God.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How God Provides Leaders Today.

God calls men, commissions and uses them to carry out his plans and purposes in the earth. What a great truth that is and how it glorifies the destiny of man to know that it is divinely appointed. As Joseph Parker beautifully points out, the experience of Moses in Midian was a direct dealing with God, whereas we who may not be able to "see the fountain" must "be content to drink at the stream," but should always remember that the stream flows from that same fountain.

"Every man should put to himself the questions—What is my destiny? What does God mean me to be and to do in the world? . . . It is a most pitiful thing that a man should read of Moses being divinely called . . . to a special work" and fail to realize "that God has a special work for every man to do." Let us have a care that we do not "so pervert and misinterpret circumstances as to press them into a justification of self-will," rather than recognize them as "destiny which is beckoning us to duty."

For our instruction and guidance we consider then the story of the call of this outstanding leader of Israel. It presents him as a true servant of God—one who was

I. Personally Equipped.

While it is a blessed truth that God will use any man who surrenders himself to his control and guidance no matter how limited that man's ability and training may be, it is also true that, other things being equal, the man with the best equipment will be the most useful servant.

God gave Moses a unique preparation. He was first of all a Hebrew, born among the people that he was to lead. He knew the luxury and all the cultural advantages of the Egyptian court (Acts 7:22), with the safeguard of training by his own mother as his nurse. He observed at first hand the oppression of his people and made a self-willed and impulsive effort to deal with the problem. The result was that he had a "postgraduate" course of instruction and discipline in the wilderness where he spent forty years in the school of experience.

The leaders of God in our day need training. Some best receive it in schools, in Christian colleges, seminaries, and Bible schools true to the faith. Others prepare in the home, the church, and in the "university of hard knocks"—as someone has called the school of experience. Perhaps the best preparation is a balanced combination of the two, school and experience. But the important thing is to be prepared for God's call.

II. Spiritually Qualified.

Moses was a man who knew God. Had he been a worldly man he would have been but curious of the phenomenon of the burning bush. But note how alert and reverent he was and how immediately responsive to the instructions and the call of God.

All the training and preparation in the world is worse than useless in God's service apart from that spiritual qualification that comes from true regeneration and dedication to him. There is no more pathetic sight than a spiritually powerless church worker "going through the motions" of service for Christ. If we are in that condition we may be sure that we deceive no one but ourselves. Let us seek God in confession and in glad acceptance of his provision for both our redemption and our sanctification.

III. Divinely Called.

Moses was called (v. 4), commissioned (vv.6-10), and clad with divine authority (vv. 11-12) for his great task.

God calls his servants to different responsibilities and in different ways, but the important thing is that we should know that we are in his will and that we are answering his call.

No man or woman has any right to choose full-time Christian service simply as a desirable vocation, for it is a divine calling. Quite unscriptural was the attitude of the man who said that in a quiet woodland nook he had faced life's realities and had decided "to bet his life" on the preaching of the gospel.

On Giving of Alms

In giving of thy alms, inquire not so much into the person, as his necessity. God looks not so much upon the merits of him that requires, as into the manner of him that relieves; if the man deserve not, thou has given it to humanity.

Sense of Humor

A sense of humor enables us not so much to laugh at the people who provoke us, as to laugh at ourselves for being so easily provoked. —Robert Power.

Mr. Dee Bates was carried to the Veterans Hospital Sunday.

FACTS FROM THE RECORD

Alabama's bonded debt at the end of the fiscal year, September 30, 1936, was $73,055,000. Since that time bonds to the amount of $1,800,000 have been retired, leaving bonds to the amount of $71,255,000 outstanding on July 1st. This included $8,557,000 worth of bonds originally issued immediately following the War between the States, which have been refunded from time to time. Most of these bonds bear interest at the rate of 4 per cent. Nearly a million dollars worth, however, were refunded the last time at 3½ per cent, while nearly a half million bear four and one-half per cent. None of these bonds mature until 1950. Most of them run until 1956.

Road and bridge bonds were issued to the amount of $25,000,000 in 1933, 1925 and 1927 for the purpose of building roads and bridges in Alabama. These bonds carry a rate of interest at four and four and one-half per cent. A certain amount of these bonds are being retired annually out of the automobile license tag tax. Some have already been retired. The amount outstanding on September 30, 1936 was $17,183,000. Some of these have been retired since that date.

The next bond issue for roads and bridges was authorized by Constitutional amendment in 1927. Another $25,000,000 worth of bonds were issued under this authority. These bonds bear interest at the rate of four, four and one-half, and four and three-fourths per cent, and some of these mature each year. The two cents per gallon gasoline tax was pledged to the payment of principal and interest on these bonds. They are being retired annually and the amount outstanding on September 30, 1936, was $20,790,000.

For the purpose of building the State docks at Mobile a $10,000,000 bond issue was authorized in 1923. These bonds were sold at the rate of four and one-fourth to four and one-half per cent interest. Some of these bonds have been retired. There is still outstanding $9,775,000 of these bonds. Under a recent reorganization of the commission the docks are now making money and are expected to pay off this bonded indebtedness.

In order to take care of the floating indebtedness of the State another bond issue of $17,000,000 was authorized by the amendment to the Constitution adopted on August 2, 1933. These bonds carried a rate of interest at 5 per cent, but the Legislature in 1935 gave the Governor authority to refund these bonds at a lower rate of interest which he succeeded in doing at a saving to the State of $206,000 annually over a period of years. The new bonds bear interest at the rate of 3 to 4 per cent, and one batch was placed at the rate of 1.85 per cent. The average was 3.80. A certain amount of these bonds are payable annually and the entire issue is to be retired in 30 years. For the first four years bonds to the amount of $200,000 are to be retired annually. The saving in interest will more than pay off the bonds that mature during the first four years.

These bonds are payable out of the receipts from the income tax and the Governor is authorized to buy up and retire other bonds out of any surplus that may remain after the maturing bonds have been paid. Under this authority, on June 24th, he purchased the retiring $550,000 of these bonds. The bonds retired were those maturing from 1958 to 1965 and were bearing interest at the rate of three and three-fourths per cent. Had these run to maturity the interest would have amounted to more than $350,000.

This covers the entire bonded indebtedness of the State. There is no floating debt and the State is paying its obligations promptly.

MALARIA FEVER

Montgomery, July 2. — "The time has come for the people of Alabama and other states to get away from the old idea that malaria is inevitable, like changes in the weather," said Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer, today in urging people of the state to take special precautions against this disease during the summer months, when it is especially prevalent in this part of the country. "As soon as this idea is discarded, once and for all, and people everywhere realize that malaria is a serious, but, fortunately, also a preventable disease, a real forward step will have been taken toward the elimination of one of the most troublesome aspects of the public health problem in this state."

Dr. Baker pointed out that new cases of malaria reported to the Bureau of Preventable Disease Control of the State Department of Health during June totaled 441, this being an increase of more than 68 per cent over the total of 262 cases reported in May, and predicted, on the basis of the trend in previous years, that the number of reported cases would increase steadily until next October.

"Last year every month from April through October showed an increase in the number of reported cases over the previous month, with the single exception of September," he said. "Last October's total of 2,948 new cases was more than seven times the total for June of last year. In November, however, the number of reported cases dropped to 722, or about 25 per cent of the October totals."

The State Health Officer pointed out that malaria could be effectively prevented by avoiding being bitten by the malaria-carrying mosquito, known as Anopheles, and urged that breeding places be destroyed and that houses be properly screened.

Many employers exempted from unemployment compensation laws have found it to their advantage to come voluntarily under the law. Workers have shown a desire to obtain this protection by taking jobs with industries that make contributions.

Shallow row cultivation often enough to control weeds is recommended for cotton. Three well timed shallow cultivations produced the most cotton over a 5-year period in tests conducted by the Alabama Experiment Station.

IS THAT SO?

In this week's issue of The Union-Banner is reproduced a clipping from The Alabama Journal, which quotes our representative, Charlie Cox, as stating that Chilton's roads are as good as they have ever been, and that the people of the county are satisfied with the supervisor system of working roads.

Now, Charlie is pretty good at explaining away things, and always has been. Furthermore, we have no fault to find with anyone for blowing his own horn. But we believe that Mr. Cox knows better than this. We don't believe Mr. Cox was asleep all those years just prior to the advent of the supervisor system. We will not even take the trouble to contradict the statement that "our roads are as good as they have ever been"—we believe we will leave that to the people who travel over the roads, and who have been traveling over them for a number of years.

We believe that we could safely challenge Mr. Cox to ask any citizen of the county if he believes "our roads are as good as they ever were" or if the people are "well satisfied" with the new system. We firmly believe that at least 95 per cent of the people would answer NO to both questions.

Furthermore, we believe that 100 per cent of our people are thoroughly disgusted with the eternal wrangle in the county's road affairs that the system has brought about.

If anyone (including Charlie Cox) will take his car out over any of our roads, even the best of them, we believe the "ducknests" and ditches in the roads themselves will bounce enough of politics out of that man until he will come back and tell you that if our roads are as good as they ever were, then we've had some terrible roads for a long time.

Frankly, we cannot believe Charlie made the statement attributed to him, for it has not been so many weeks ago since he stated that "The reason for the bad condition of the roads is that the supervisor has had no cooperation, and the reason our people do not like the system is because they have never had an opportunity to see what it really can do." Say it isn't so, Charlie!

We want no part of the road scrap, but the above assertion was a little off key. Charlie may believe them—we can't, no matter how hard we try.

CHILTON HIGH MAY HAVE NEW FOOTBALL COACH

Chilton County High School may begin a climb back to the high place it once held in football circles among Alabama high schools during the coming season, if negotiations now under way go through.

Reports are that Coach "Bull" Spicer, who has coached at Etowah County High, has been offered the place as coach at C. C. H. S. It is not yet known if he will accept the post, but hopes are high among alumni of the Blue and Gold that he will. Coach Spicer has built for himself an enviable reputation as one of the best high school coaches in the South, with a fine record during his stay at Etowah High, so far as wins and losses are concerned.

On top of this good news, Chilton High is expected to have the best prospects for a winning team next year that it has had in many years, with all of last year's team returning except Thompson. The big rangy tackle was the only man lost through graduation. Williamson, last year's spark plug and speed merchant, will be back, and it is expected that he will get some help in the backfield from certain new men who are expected to enroll ths fall.

Armstrong, heady little quarterback, and doughty field general of last year's squad, will be back, and would very likely get the call at the barker's post. We could easily place Armstrong on a par with Hayes, Fitts, Sartor, and other C. C. H. S. greats of days gone by in the signal-calling department.

In addition to the ball-toters, this fall will see the return of big Clive Aldridge and Morris "Red" Mims, a 175-pound guard who wa sone of the mainstays in the Tiger line last year. There are others who are due much credit—they will all be back, augmented by the new material, and if Coach Spicer can be secured, the old Tiger should bare his teeth with a vengeance this fall.

Chilton High has produced some of the brightest lights in high school football of the state in years passed. Clyde Williams, Johnnie Burnett, Horace Popwell, Tom and Bert Curlee, Lee Sartor, Jack Hayes, Howard Thompson, Crit Jones, Rucker and Benson Sims, and others too numerous to mention have blazed their trails across C. C. H. S. football history's pages, and old grads have bemoaned the death of Tiger victories in other years. With a big line in front of an extra fast backfield a certainty for the 1937 Tiger, and with prospects bright for one of the best coaches in the profession to be on the job, the Tiger sun seems to be rising again. The '37 Tiger line should average around 160 pounds (pretty good for any high school nowadays), and the backfield around 140 or 145, in addition to a wealth of speed. We expect to see the old Blue and Gold strut this year.

Need has nothing to do with unemployment benefits in Alabama. An employee does not have to be on relief to qualify. Benefits come as a matter of right, not as a matter of charity.

Road Supervisor Writes Further Regarding Road Matters

April 18, 1937, a resolution was submitted, and on motion of Cimmissioner Bean, seconded by Commissioner Oden and voted by all except Commissioner Ousley, was adopted by the Commissioner's Court to the effect that beginning on May 1st, 1937, all district foremen or supervisors of the road department were suspended. A copy of this resolution being sent to all such foremen.

June 12, 1937, another resolution was adopted in the same manner to the effect that the Clerk of the Road Supervisor was suspended effective on June 30, 1937, a copy of this resolution being mailed to A. D. Maddox.

In the first resolution the Court contends that the service of the foremen or supervisors are inessential to the field work; that their services are a duplication of the work being done by the Commissioners in the inspection and supervision of the work on the public roads and bridges of Chilton County, and we have made various efforts and attempts to take over this part of the road department activities regardless of the fact that there is no way under the law for the Road Supervisor to employ them as such representatives.

In the second resolution the Court contends that the Clerk is not essential to the proper functioning of the road department regardless of the fact that the Court is well aware that the Supervisor cannot maintain an office and the accounting necessary under the law and still carry out his duties in the field operations.

In last week's issue of the Chilton County News an opinion or ruling by the Honorable A. A. Carmichael, Attorney General was printed, verbatim, which shows that the Commissioners Court have no authority to discharge or cause the removal of any employee of the road department. This opinion includes two separate decisions of the Supreme Court of Alabama on similar cases which indicate that the right to fire is vested in the authority to hire, and that this right is not in the power of the Commissioners Court of Chilton County.

On March 25, 1937, the Attorney General ruled: (1) County Commissioners not authorized to inspect roads and to receive pay therefor from County treasury; (2) County Commissioners cannot accept employment as county road supervisor—employment violates section 5024, Code of Alabama, 1923.

Yet, and regardless of these rulings, the Commissioner's Court of Chilton County has withheld and is now holding, the wages earned by the district foremen, J. T. Thompson, T. C. Sims, and H. D. Traywick for services rendered during the months of May and July, the greater portion of which was used by these men in the operation of their personally owned automobiles in the service of Chilton County—covering miles upon miles of the public roads directing and supervising the work of both the machine and labor activities on the roads and bridges in various parts of the county. In addition to this the Commissioners Court have withheld and are now withholding claims for truck rentals for trucks used in actual work on the roads of Chilton County all because these trucks were owned by the overseers or road foremen and who had been authorized by the Supervisor to use such trucks during an emergency when the County trucks were not available, such authority being given to avoid the delay in sending elsewhere to hire or employ trucks at the same rate of pay.

The people of Chilton County expect the Road Department to give them service; they expect good roads and bridges, and they have a right to expect this, and to the fullest extent of his ability, with the funds available, the Road Supervisor will carry on and every member of the organization will do the same though not so efficiently as they would could they have definite assurance that their wages would not be withheld after such services have been so unselfishly rendered to the people of Chilton County. How do they know they will receive their pay when due? Did the Commissioners Court not pay others? Most assuredly such action would have its effect on the morale of the road employees. There most certainly will be a doubt, and we all know what doubt will do to a lot of workers who are depending on their wages for sustenance.

The Supervisor will carry on; he will continue to aid with his own money where it is needed until light comes through the clouds. He knows that these men will receive their wages, and if it takes court action to clear it up, to court he will go. Yet it seems so useless—an utter waste of money, his money on his side and the County's honey on the other side. It costs the other side nothing to go into court; they have the County Attorney and the county's money, while the Supervisor must use his own to hire attorney aid and at the same time to assist those employees whose wages have been withheld, to enable such employees to continue their unselfish and loyal work for the people of Chilton County.

The County road work will continue; there will be no stopping of such work because we lack proper supervision of the work. These men are working for Chilton County and they will receive their wages in due time, and they will continue to carry on at the posts assigned to them.—Thomas J. Arledge, Road Supervisor.

PEPPERS VS. LAY DAM THURSDAY (TODAY) AT 3:15

The Woco Peppers and Lay Dam's Kilowatts will take up their old struggle again this afternoon at the local park at Clanton, at 3:15 sharp.

Manager Sparrow Easterling has gathered quite an array of good baseball talent about him during the last few days, and is out to scalp the Kilowatts again. The Peppers won the last affray with the Lay Dam aggregation, although losing several games before to the same team. If you want good baseball, see this one.

On Saturday afternon, the Peppers will meet the strong Marvel team. This is a return engagement, Clanton having lost a hard fought game to the Marvel team a few days ago. This will also be Ladies' Day, with all ladies admitted free, and admission rates for others set at 15c. This should be a thriller.

On Tuesday the Peppers went to Autaugaville and lost, 3 to 2, in which manager Easterling tied up in a tight pitcher's battle, and was in great form, losing a hard fought contest.

Don't forget the above games—see them!

T. C. McSWAIN

Funeral services for T. C. McSwain, age 58, well known Clanton business man, who passed away at a Birmingham hospital Saturday, were held Monday at 11 a.m., at Clanton Methodist church, with Rev. J. M. Truett officiating; Spigener directing.

He is survived by his wife; four daughters—Mrs. H. C. Jones of Troy, Mrs. B. M. Inzer of Clanton, Elizabeth and Frances McSwain of Clanton; one son, Thad, Jr., of Clanton; one sister, grandchildren—Mary Frances and Elizabeth Jones, and Burt Inzer.

Here's Lavish Finale of Billy Rose's Aquacade at Great Lakes Exposition in Cleveland

SPECTACULAR AND COLORFUL are all the scenes of Billy Rose's Aquacade, but the grand finale, seen here, presents vividly the gorgeous costuming and unusual staging typical of the gigantic dancing, singing, swimming production which has won unstinted praise of the critics and the applause of the large crowds visiting the Exposition. The specially created train worn by the central figure in the scene cost $7,000 and its unusual size is evident in comparison with the 160 foot floating stage of Aquacade. Typical of Billy Rose are the miniature battleships seen here plying the waters of Lake Erie. Yes, Canada is the backdrop. The Exposition continues open in Cleveland through Sept. 6. Stars of the Aquacade include Johnny Weismuller, Eleanor Holm and 500 singing, dancing, swimming beauties, and music for dancing by the audience is played by nine famous orchestras.

REPUBLICAN FUTURE

So far as can be foreseen at this time, the Republican party will continue to function under its present name while inviting to its standards voters of whatever past affiliation who agree with its central contention that the follies and excesses of the New Deal must be energetically combated. The Democratic party has suffered many overwhelming defeats since the first great Republican triumph of 1860, but it has maintained its name and organization throughout and in the elections of 1932, 1934 and 1936 demonstrated its extraordinary vitality. No one knows what will happen in the years just ahead, but the G. O. P. appears prepared to go resolutely on in 1938 and 1940, confident that the major oppositionist role will be confided to it. It should be remembered that when all is said and done the Democratic and Republican parties are far from being rigid political organizations as respects their individual members. A great body of habitual Republican voters deserted their accustomed affiliations in the last three elections without, presumably, being convinced that their desertion was fated to be permanent.—Providence Journal.

NEVER AGAIN, PLEASE!

The situation has its own warning for the United States. Now, as never before since 1918, it behooves Americans to permit, insofar as decency and honor will allow, Europe to settle its own brawl. Loose-tongued fanatics, "choosing sides" in the current fracas, are of more real danger to America than dozens of battleships. The Spanish government and its troubles are apart from interests of the United States, and the political affiliations of Europe, brought to a head by the Spanish situation, should be viewed by Americans in an entirely objective manner. Just so long as that attitude is maintained, just so much longer will we be able to remain apart from a situation which the Nazi action has wafted from a spark like glow into a nearly-flaming brand. —Arizona Daily Star.

PRICE FIXING VS. CONSUMERS

Among other things, the new Guffey-Vinson coal bill provides for a commission of seven members at salaries of $10,000 each, who, with the assistance of 23 district boards, will fix the prices the public must pay for coal. A consumers' counsel is a part of the administrative set-up under the legislation. But the formidable commission array suggests that the public will get about as much protection in this instance as it obtained from the consumers' agency under the NRA regime.—Kansas City Star.

PEOPLE PAY NO ATTENTION

Publicity that people pay no attention to:

Propaganda in behalf of careful motoring and dieting.

Propaganda urging thrift.

The philosophy that night life injures one's health.

Warnings that the government has gone crazy, and property is no longer the owner's.

Urgings that people trade at home.

Proofs that Communism is entering this country.

Statements to the effect that the "new tax" will not be the last tax.

Close application to work and business, and a disposition to save constitute the best social security.

John L. Lewis is the greatest menace in this country, and is encouraged by the government.

And, finally, that there will be an awakening some day, and it will be too late.—Atchison Globe.

LAST FLURRY OF TOWNSENDISM

No more practical proof of the futility of the Townsend plan could be provided than the failure of the numerous attempts to set the plan in operation in various sections of the country. In each case the 2 per cent transaction tax has come nowhere near to producing the $200 a month needed to make the plan self-supporting. Although those who did the spending found that part of the plan workable enough, others have been discouraged by the continuous subsidy that would be needed to keep the plan in operation. But the country is losing interest in this scheme of noble purpose but improbable economics, and the income of the Townsend National Recovery Plan, Inc., has dropped as members have resigned and clubs disbanded. Now the dissension of the New Deal members of the Townsend staff at the Chicago office spells its dissolution.—Hartford Courant.

PERILOUS POLITICS

"There can be only one justification for the modified form of martial law which I have ordered to be put into immediate effect. That is the maintenance of law and order."

With this theory of Gov. Earle none can fail to agree. When, however, the execution of his order takes the form of depriving men who wish to work of their ability to do so, when it fails to furnish the protection to which each citizen is entitled in the normal pursuit of his activities, when the armed power of the state is invoked to furnish the shock troops for illegal picketing, then martial law is without justification and the governor's words become a perilous, political harangue. —New York Times.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

It is increasingly evident that congress is becoming debt conscious. True it is that the president's party in the senate succeeded in defeating the amendments proposed by Sen. Byrnes and Sen. Robinson for a locality sharing of 40 or 25 per cent in the public relief bill. But it is to be remembered that the two Southern senators have always been staunch supporters of the administration program in the upper legislative body and their action now is worthy of serious notice.

The stand of Sen. Robinson has particularly aroused a great deal of comment. As senate leader he has been successful in piloting to victory many New Deal measures which have come in for barrages of criticism from Democrats and Republicans alike. His skill as a debater has never been questioned, and his success as a leader speaks for itself. Yet Sen. Robinson the other day, in discussing the billion and a half relief bill stated that he was unable to find anything to laugh at in a 36 billion dollar national debt, and he expressed the opinion that such a debt menaces the future welfare of the country.

Speaking on Sen. Robinson's compromise, Sen. Glass of Virginia loosed some bitter barbs against the fiscal policies of the administration. Following Sen. Barkley, who had been delivering a peroration of Mr. Roosevelt, the caustic senator from Virginia declared:

"I individually think that more economic blunders, if not in some instances, economic crimes, have been perpetrated by congress in the name of starving who never starve, and freezing people, not one of whom has ever frozen, than the imagination can conjure up." The real debt, he declared, was nearer 40 billion than 36. Speaking of our national credit, the much boasted over-subscriptions to federal bonds are not over-subscriptions at all, he declared, but allocations, as the treasury certificates are allocated to banks, and the banks have been maneuvered into a position where they have to take the bonds. The Virginia senator continued that "a reduction of 10 per cent under the par value of federal securities would practically bankrupt 90 per cent of the banks of this country".

Of course there are cheerful notes coming out of the treasury department at times, as to the fiscal future of the government. It is to be hoped that the treasury is not too optimistic as has been the case in its estimating of what the income tax is going to bring to Uncle Sam in the future. For instance, not long ago fiscal officers said that after six years of heavy borrowing, the government may operate in the next fiscal year without going into the money market for cash. This may be true, but there is a joker in the optimism. It doesn't mean we won't go further into debt. Officers were quoted as stating further that taxes under the social security act and sales of baby bonds are expected to furnish the cash which will do away with the necessity for more bank loans.

These statements do not mean therefore that Uncle Sam is not going further "in the hole." They indicate simply that he may get his money from the Social Security Commission and the baby bond purchasers instead of the banks. But he will be going deeper into debt just the same. If he spends the "social security" money which comes in to provide for the aged and jobless in the future, then he will be owing just that much more. And every time he takes money from small investors who buy baby bonds he is going into debt. There has been no statement here, therefore, that the national debt is not going to grow. It is indicated only that the type of borrowing will be different. The money will come from those who pay their social security tax and those who buy the baby bonds. But that doesn't mean that Uncle Sam will not owe more money just the same. Indeed, many people are beginning to wonder whether after all the social security assessment isn't just another tax to help keep the government going at its accelerated speed.

GREAT SERVICE TO DEMOCRACY

To a Senate committee, composed predominantly of members of the president's own party, the nation today is indebted for a magnificent service in the cause of American democracy. As a result of its patriotic efforts, its readiness to place the country over politics and its determination to preserve our form of government, the present proposal to raid the Supreme Court will meet the fate it deserves and future proposals looking to the same nefarious end are destined to die stillborn.

At no time within memory has a plan sponsored by an American president and behind which he put the full force of his power met the blistering reception which the judiciary committee has now accorded the bill to pack the nation's highest court. It is described as "a needless, futile and utterly dangerous abandonment of constitutional principles." It is held "to violate every sacred tradition of democracy". It should be "so emphatically rejected that its parallel will never again be presented to the free representatives of the free people of America".

To this characterization of an iniquitous scheme the American people will say "Amen". It is only what they, themselves, have been thinking of the measure. It is precisely the judgment which they would have passed upon it if the administration had dared to give them the chance. That Democratic senators, heretofore steadfast in their loyalty to the president, courageously condemn it is as heartening a circumstance as political and legislative history has recently afforded.—Boston Transcript.

SAVING TO SPEND

Nebraska's first unicameral legislature cost approximately $140,000, which was $63,000 less than the cost of the previous session, the last one participated in by two houses. The session was 12 days shorter, and passed more laws.

All of which sounds well, though the enactment of laws in volume is not necessarily the measure of a legislature's usefulness.

The economy record is good, but before jumping to the conclusion that the one-house system saves money, take a look at the appropriations. The total of money bills for the next two years ran to $54,851,000, some five million in excess of the budget demands, and the largest appropriation total in the history of the state.

A one-house legislature is not necessarily a one-horse legislature, when it comes to handing out money.—Minneapolis Journal.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION COMMISSION

Montgomery, Ala., July 5—Because of improved business and the addition of large numbers of payrolls in Alabama, H. M. Harper, Chairman of the Alabama Unemployment Compensation Commission, today pointed out that many Alabama employers who were not subject to the Unemployment Compensation law in 1936 are now subject because of having eight or more employees for 20 weeks in 1937.

Chairman Harper urged each employer to make a check and determine whether he has employed as many as eight persons during 20 weeks this year. If he has he is required to pay 1.8 per cent of his total pay roll for the year to the unemployment compensation Reserve Fund. If an employer had as many as eight employed on any one day in 20 different weeks, he became liable for the contribution at the end of the twentieth week and, in addition to the payment of his contribution, must withhold from his employees one per cent of their wages from the time the employer became subject to the law.

Under the social security law each subject employer is required to pay the federal tax of two per cent of his pay roll this year, but he is permitted to deduct from this tax 90 per cent of the amount he contributed to the State Unemployment Reserve Fund. Therefore, his contribution to the State Fund will not mean an increase in the total amount paid under the social security law. This year each employer of eight or more is contributing 1.8 per cent to the State Fund. Next year the amount will be increased to 2.7 per cent of his pay roll. Each employer eligible for unemployment benefits will continue to pay one per cent of their wages to the fund.

Field agents are now making a careful survey of the State for the purpose of putting on the list all employers and employees who are subject to the law, but Chairman Harper said employers who have become subject to the law will save money by filing their reports and contributions with the commission at once. He mentioned that interest is collected at the rate of one per cent a month on delinquent payments. Forms for the payment of contributions will be forwarded immediately to all employers who make applications for them, Mr. Harper said.

In 1934 compulsory unemployment insurance existed in 10 countries in Europe, covering about 50,000,000 workers. Eight other countries had voluntary systems of insurance.

Twenty-two states will begin the payment of unemployment benefits on January 1, 1938. Alabama will be in the list. Only Wisconsin which passed its law in 1933, will precede Alabama in making effective this form of social legislation.

AUTO RACES JULY 18 AT BIRMINGHAM

Birmingham, Ala., July 5.—Professional sanctioned auto races have been carded for Sunday, July 18, at the Alabama State Fair's fine half-mile track with a score of the nation's greatest drivers assured for competition in a seven-event program of speed, thrills and possible spills.

Races will be under sanction of the International Motors Association and the management of John A. Sloane, the young man who inherited the country's biggest racing business when his father, J. Alex Sloane, died last spring.

The entry list will be topped by the "Big Five" of racing, Gus Schrader, world's dirt track champion; Emory Collins, the Canadian king; Buddy Callaway, the Southern dirt track title holder; Cotton Grable, southwestern champion and Phillipine Lacetier, the flying Frenchman.

Alabama itself will have Gordon Bracken, Warrior; Gordon Chard, Speed Goff and Jess Jones, Birmingham. A southern half-mile championship race will be run as a part of the program. The feature race will be the International Gold Cup Sweepstakes, run as the feature final but having two fast qualifying races.

Birmingham will decide whether Buddy Callaway can keep out in front in the IMCA 1937 standings, and if Collins, who has won two legs of the Gold Cup trophy, can clinch it at Birmingham.

Time trials will start at 1 p.m., and races proper at 3 p.m., on auto race day.

The second allotment to the counties of receipts from the sales tax amounted to $100,000. The counties get one-fourth of the net amount collected. This was for the month of May.

Of the 2,288 State convicts received at the State prisons last year, 416 were under 20 years of age; 672 were between 21 and 25; 470 were in the class of 26 to 30; 260 were 31 to 35; 180 from 36 to 40; 105 from 41 to 45; 87 from 46 to 50; 46 from 51 to 55; 19 from 56 to 60 and 33 over 60 years of age.

ANNUAL FFA MEETING SET FOR JULY 15-17

Auburn. — The 8th annual convention of the Alabama Association of Future Farmers of America will be held in Auburn, July 15-16-17, announces C. W. Wells, Jemison, State FFA president.

"Attendance at the convention this year will of necessity be limited to 5 officers from each of the 143 chapters which represent a total State membership of more than 2,750 students," says R. E. Cammack, supervisor of agricultural education. An excellent program is being prepared. During their stay in Auburn the students will be housed in the state camp on the campus of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Tennessee's bonded debt is $128,500,000. Only $3,500,000 has been retired during the past twenty-two years. Alabama has poid $14,302,000 during the past ten years. Of this amount $1,800,000 has been paid during the present year. This is at the rate of $4,931.78 per day, assuming that no other bonds will be retired before the end of the fiscal year, September 30, 1937.

The average daily prison population of Alabama for the past year was 5,736. Of this number 667 were county convicts. While there was an increase of 549 in the number of State convicts, there was a decrease in the number of county convicts. This does not include county convicts from Jefferson County. They are not handled by the State.

CONSERVATION SERVICE NEWS

Beavers Vegetarians

A colony of beavers that had built a dam in a lake near Opelika prompted Sen. Isham J. Dorsey to ask the Conservation Department if beavers would harm fish. "We appreciate the wildlife that it affords us by having this colony of beavers, but would hate very bad for them to destroy our fish," said Sen. Dorsey. The beaver is largely vegetarian, and Lee County fishermen need not worry about the destruction of fish in waters impounded by the beaver dam, the Department informed Sen. Dorsey.

Fish Planted

Sixty cans of fish, reared at the Eastaboga state hatchery, were planted in Lauderdale County streams on June 19 by Hewlett Jackson, president of the county conservation council, C. W. Darby, secretary, and Arnold Jones, game warden. Secretary Darby said the young fish were placed in Cypress Creek, Cox's Creek, and in Shoals Creek, at five different locations.

Directors To Meet

A joint meeting of sportsmen's club directors from south Alabama counties, with Mobile County Sportsmen's Association directors as hosts, is planned in the near future at Fishing Lake of the Bull Pen Hunting Club. Directors of Washington, Clarke, Choctaw, Baldwin and Mobile will be invited to a get-together meeting for discussion of mutual problems.

Shelby Organizes

Shelby County sportsmen and conservationists are now drawing plans for incorporation of the Shelby County Conservation Council, and leaders envision an active program. A ringing editorial in a recent issue of the Shelby County Reporter called on the people of the county to wake up to the natural advantages enjoyed by that section of Alabama, and to take steps to insure the future of game and fish resources.

She is survived by five daughters—Mrs. C. D. Stone Belle Ellen, Ala., Mrs. M. H. Allen, Altoona, Alabama: Mrs. N. E. Miller, Sprott, Alabama; Sarah and Grace, of Maplesville. Six sons—John, of Birmingham; Ben, of Plantersville, Ala.; Brady, of Goodwater, Alabama; Lindsey, of Fort Benning, Georgia; Robert and Alvis, of Maplesville.

One brother—John Moore, Lawley, Alabama; two sisters—Mrs. John Belvin, Lawley, Alabama, and Miss Fannie Moore, Maplesville. Sixteen grand children.

Spigener, from Clanton, directed. Active pallbearers were: Ezra Moore, Howell Belvin, Wm. McFarland, Malcolm McFarland, Clayton McGee, and Kay Latham.

TWO CELEBRATIONS PLANNED IN COOSA

Goodwater, July 1. — Two outstanding celebrations will be held in Coosa County this month.

On Sunday, July 11, the 16th homecoming day will be observed at Poplar Springs Baptist church. More than 1,500 persons from Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee and Mississippi are expected to attend.

Rev. J. A. Bryan of Birmingham will deliver a sermon, and the Avondale Mills band of Sylacauga will play.

The centennial celebration of the founding of the Lemuel Salter Home will be held Sunday, July 25. The original Salters came to America from Ireland. They settled at the present homestead in 1837, and no other family has lived there since that time.

Prominent state and county citizens will attend the celebration.

Uncle Jim Says

"Winter cover crops conserve water, check coil losses, and provide valuable early spring pasture several weeks before permanent pastures are ready to graze."

CHILTON B. T. U. MEETING

The associational B. T. U. meets at Mt. Carmel the second Sunday in July at 2:30 p.m. Each church is expected to send a large representation. We are asking each B. T. U. group to bring their individual problems; yours might be attendance, daily Bible reading, taking part on program, or whatever it is. After the devotional, roll call and business, we will meet in groups, each led by a competent worker, and discuss our problems. All churches are urged to attend.—Horace Kendrick, Secretary; Maurice Hodgens, President.

PICNIC AT NEW CEDRON JULY 10

There will be an all-day picnic at New Cedron on Saturday, July 10. There will be three ball games during the day—one in the morning and two in the afternoon. There will be plenty of cold drinks and ice cream for sale. Everybody is invited to come and bring your dinner. Proceeds will go to the New Cedron ball club.

Only $112.13 was collected for chauffeur's license in Alabama last year. This was collected from 11 counties. The largest amount, $24.38, was from Shelby County.

REV. TRUETT TO ASSIST IN A REVIVAL

Rev. J. M. Truett leaves Sunday afternoon to assist Rev. J. O. Phillips in a meeting at Siloam Grove on the Headland charge. For three years he was pastor of the Headland-Midland work. The people requested the pastor to get Rev. Truett to do the preaching. His pulpit will be filled Sunday evening by his son, Buford. This is Buford's initial appearance in his father's pulpit. He was licensed to preach last September in Mobile. Buford felt the call to preach just as he entered his Sophomore year at Birmingham Southern College. He has preached in some of the Birmingham churches. This is his first appearance in his own conference. He is working his way through school. Buford will possibly preach Sunday afternoon at Isabella.

CEMETERY CLEANING AT CEDAR GROVE

Everyone who is interested in the cemetery at Cedar Grove are asked to meet there on Thursday, July 15, and bring tools for a general clean-up of the cemetery.—Mrs. W. H. Wilson.

CEMETERY CLEANING AT LIBERTY HILL JULY 14

There will be a cemetery cleaning at Liberty Hill on Wednesday, July 14. Everyone interested in this cemetery please bring tools suitable for taking down the fence and cleaning off the fence row. The cooperation of everyone in this matter is important, as some have been coming and cleaning off a small portion of the cemetery and not being on hand the day set for work.

Revival meeting will start here on the Sunday following.—Zack Lowery, J. E. Littlejohn, Committee.

Workers of all Southern States are now protected by unemployment compensation laws. Florida's legislature has enacted a law similar to that in Alabama, which was the first State in the South to act after passage of the social security legislation. Only Illinois and Missouri are now without unemployment compensation laws.

You need not be a beneficiary to the unemployment compensation law in Alabama to obtain the services of the State employment service. Workers are being placed in gainful occupations every day, although payment of unemployment benefits will not begin until January 1. If you are without a job and will register with the service, an effort will be made to find a job for you. If you are eligible for benefits you must register with the unemployment service after January 1, 1938. If you fail you cannot collect benefits.

Free employment offices will be opened by the state employment service in all sections of Alabama before January 1. A representative of the service will visit all county seats and large towns at least once each week to interview unemployed persons and aid in putting them in gainful occupations.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Taylor, Mr. James Black of Birmingham and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Thompson of Prattville, are spending their vacation this week in Foley.

COUNTY LOST IN SUIT TO RECOVER MONEY

Appeal Taken After Decision Given Arledge In Road Scramble Last Week

The County lost the first round in its attempt to force road supervisor Arledge to repay money to the county which it charges was paid unlawfully. The county attorney, Omar L. Reynolds, had been instructed to start suit for recovery of money paid on several warrents, contending that it had evidence that the claims were unlawful.

After a hearing of the evidence, Justice of the Peace, J. L. Wilson, decided in favor of Mr. Arledge. County attorney Reynolds immediately gave notice of appeal to the Circuit Court.

County officers charge that they have evidence, gathered since payment of the warrents in question, that certain warrents were unlawfully presented. For instance, some were for "road work," the contention being that evidence will prove that no road work was done. This, they believe, is unlawful, and have sued for recovery of such ammounts.

Members of the Commissioners Court state that they will test the case to the full extent of the law procedure, and in addition, will not abide by the attorney general as to hiring and firing. They say they have fired no one, but they believe there is duplication in the system, and that they believe payment of the payment of all claims will include a waste of the county's money—this they declare they will not allow.

This is the last chapter in the road scrap that has been raging among county officials for the past several months. The next step, it seems, will be when the whole matter is aired in circuit court.

MAKING OF A NATION

Cleveland, Ohio—Should history repeat, the Great Lakes Exposition may be credited for nitroducing an outstanding developement in the field of industry by displaying for the first time in its Making Of A Nation, section Dr. Charles Greely Abbott's Solar Boiler which is acclaimed the first practical machine for converting solar energy into usable power.

The telephone was first shown to the public by Dr. Bell at the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition in 1876. And the first horseless carriages appeared at the Columbia Exposition in Chicago in 1893. Both of these novelties heralded the founding of new vast industries for the world.

Dr. Abbot, acting head of the Smithsonian Institute, has produced a machine whoch can develop two horse power from the direct sun's rays, and he claims that a square mile of land covered with these units could produce 70,000 horsepower for industrial and home use.

Other outstanding exhibitions in the Making Of A Nation section of the Great Lake Exposition, housed in the Lakeside Exhibition Hall, tell the story of the building of America. The steel industry, the great railroads, the petroleum industry, agriculture, and tung oil industry, the pulp and paper industry of the south, aviation, flood control, fisheries, labor, health service, and many other fields are represented by displays, many of which includes working models and diagrams.

Visitors to the Exposition can now board a greyhound bus a block from the public square and enter the Making of A Nation Section and the grounds in but a few minutes from the heart of downtown Cleveland.

LIBERTY HILL

Our revival begins here on July 18, with Rev. S. V. Gullett to do the preaching. Rev. Gullett is from Blue Mountain, Mississippi, and is an able preacher.

The public has an invitation to attend these services, which will last through the week.—D. W. Ward. 7-8-2t

SINGING AT OAK GROVE

Sunday, July 4th was the annual singing at Oak Grove, and was the best in the history in the opinion of all who attended. The outstanding music writers of Chilton County and of Alabama attended.

Directors for the day were: Prof. W. Lee Higgins, Miss Mildred Little, Marion Easterling, E. L. Glasscock, W. M. Devaughn, P. M. Cleckler, Cobern Cofer, Prof. Menzo. C. Jones, Prof. A. H. Glasscock, Ellis Martin, Prof. L. T. Grant, Mr. Durden, Velpo Mims, Henry Woods, L. R. Scott, Irie Grant, Henry Godfrey, Vernadean Cobb, Vernon Northcutt, Miss Cowen, and others.

Specials were: Devaughn Quartet, Walker County Four, Jones Trio, Providence Quartet, from Walker County, and the Oak Grove Quartet.

In spite of the rain at the noon hour benches were arranged in the church and all had plenty of dinner.

ARCHER'S CHAPEL

There will be a home-coming day at this place on the second Sunday in this month, July 11. Our revival begins also. We invite everybody to come and be with us. There will be several sermons preached Sunday, so everybody come and bring a well-filled basket.—Rev. Ocie Payton.

Unemployment compensation began in Germany more than 85 years ago, the government cooperating with private organizations in paying out-of work benefits. The plan has been successful in England since 1911.

THE RELIEF MUDDLE

(Editorial in The Atlanta Georgian)

The Congress of the United States is still putting the cart in front of the horse in providing for relief. It is appropriating the people's money, not with specific knowledge of what relief needs really are, but with sole regard for what the spending bureaus would like to have. The senate, approving a grant of a billion and a half dollars for relief, agrees with the House of Representatives that this is an adequate sum.

How do the members of the senate know that? They rejected a proposal for a census of the unemployed. Without knowledge of how many need relief, how can they know what funds are needed for relief? Estimates of the number of unemployed range from three millions to twelve millions. Estimates of the amount of money required for relief range from one billion to two or three billions.

All this is guesswork. Congress is guessing. Mr. Hopkins, the generalissimo of relief, is guessing. Isn't this matter too important to be guessing about? The billion and a half relief fund may be too much or too little. Nobody knows, least of all the spending bureaus, which should be most concerned about the facts, do not know.

All they know, or seem to care about, is that it is enough to keep the bureaus going! It may be exacting more money from the people than is necessary. It may be insufficient to care for the needy. But it will support the political spenders in the manner to which they have become accustomed, which is good for the spenders but bad for the people.

ROBINSON SPRINGS

There will be an all day singing in the old books on the third Sunday in July. Everybody come and bring your song book and lunch and just all enjoy the day in praising God.

There will be a working at the church on Thursday before the third Sunday to clean off the church yard. Let's everyone come and bring something to work with.

The Lord has blessed us with health to work and with good crops, so I think that there ought to be more time spent in serving the Lord. It seems like we are growing cold in the work of the Lord. Let's get about our Father's service. From one who loves the Lord.—Floyd Bailey.

ATTENDED STATE RURAL CARRIERS CONVENTION

Rural letter carriers G. C. Harris and B. J. Sessions attended the Alabama State Rural Letter Carriers Convention held at the Whitley Hotel in Montgomery Monday and Tuesday of this week.

According to G. C. Harris, the meeting was one of the best ever held, with the principal speaker being a postal department head from Washington. The meeting closed Tuesday night with a banquet, at which the postal head spoke.

The National Rural Letter Carriers Convention is to be held in New Orleans in the near future, and some of Clanton's carriers and considering attending.

Mr. J. A. Chandler of Enterprise was in Clanton Tuesday.

AUTO BODY DESIGNMENT COMPETITION FOR BOYS

Judging of original automobile models submitted in the new model car design competition of Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild by boys residing in Alabama and neighboring states wil be commenced Monday in Atlanta Ga., it was learned.

The competition, in which two $5,000 university scholarships and 704 other awards valued at $47,350 are being offered, closes Friday, July 9, at midnight. The preliminary work work will be started immediately thereafter at the headquarters of the John J. Woodside Co., Inc., to which all models constructed by youths in Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina,, Mississippi, Georgia and Florida, as well as Alabama, are to be delivered.

The miniature automobiles, representing the hopes and ambitions of hundreds of youngsters in this section of the country, will then be moved to the High Museum of Art, where they will be judged individually and comparatively as the officials check and re-check the various items that must be evaluated in arriving at the scores which will determine the winners. The exhibition hall will be open to the public while the judging is in progress.

Fourteen cash awards will be distributed in this and each of the other states comprising the region. The winner of first place in the junior division, which is restricted to boys of from 12 to 15 years of age, inclusive, will receive $100 in cash; second, $75; and third, $50. There are also four $25 awards for the runners-up. Similar amounts will go to those submitting the best models in the senior division, which is for youths of from 15 to 19, inclusive.

From among the miniature motor cars selected as the best examples of design, two regional winners will be picked, one in the senior division and one in the junior. The youthful builders of these models will receive trips to the seventh convention of the General Motors-sponsored educational foundation, to be held in Detroit, August 31 to September 3, inclusive.

It is from the group of regional winners that the Guild's international board of judges will select the winners of the $5,000 university scholarships, whose names will be announced at the award dinner the opening night of the convention.

Estimates of the social security board are that 18,678,000 persons are covered by unemployment compensation laws in 45 states, Alaska and District of Columbia. Florida and Hawaii recently enacted unemployment compensation laws.

YALE TIRES
Guaranteed One Year

When most tire companies recently CHANGED their guarantees to NO LONGER PROTECT YOU when you DAMAGE one of their tires, many people asked if YALE tires would still be insured.

The answer is YES. We are in a position to give you, same as always, an Insurance Policy that PAYS YOUR BILL in case of ANY damage to your tires.

If you cut a tire, snag it, or bruise it, or run into something and blow it out—No matter WHAT you do, or whose fault, the Insurance protects YOUR pocketbook. If it pays for only ONE repair, you save $2.00 or $3.00. And if you should completely ruin a tire, the Insurance would save you $8.00, $10.00, $12.00.

Changes In Game & Fish Laws For Ala.

Squirrel Season Begins October 15th, and Continues To January 15

The Alabama Conservation Board, meeting July 7, in the office of Commissioner I. T. Quinn at Montgomery, ordered the following changes in open seasons for game in Alabama. Bag limits were not altered.

1. A uniform squirrel season from October 15 to January 15 will take the place of the split season in effect last year when north Alabamians hunted from October 15 to January 15, and south Alabamians hunted from November 1 to January 31.

2. A reduction of 38 days in the open season for catching furbearing animals for commercial purposes was voted. Commercial trappers may operate from December 1 to January 31, instead of from November 20 to February 28. This action was taken because a number of the more important species have been over-trapped, and because fur-bearers yield their highest classed pelts in the two months of December and January. Animals in this class are bear, beaver, civet cat, fox, mink, muskrat, o'possum, otter, rabbit, skunk, raccoon and weasel.

3. Hunting of fur-bearing animals solely as game will be permitted from October 1 to January 31, the closing day coinciding with the closing day of commercial trapping. Formerly game fur-bearing animals were hunted up through February 28. These animals include bear, fox, o'possum and raccoon. There is no closed season on rabbits hunted for game.

4. A closed season on deer in Walker and Tuscaloosa Counties until 1941 was ordered by the board, following petitions from organized sportsmen of the two counties. Jefferson County also has a closed season until 1941.

5. Federal regulations relating to migratory birds were incorporated as part of the Alababma regulations, to be adopted when Federal regulations are drawn up for the next season. State laws relating to migratory birds must conform to Federal regulations.

All members of the Conservation Board attended, as follows. Dr. J. P. McQueen, of Birmingham; Judge Coma Garrett, of Grove Hill; Representative H. L. Reeder, of Florence; Judge B. L. Malone, of Decatur; Representative S. L. Toomer, of Auburn; Albert Gill, of Mobile and Glenn Stanley, of Greenville. Commissioner Quinn is chairman of the board, which meets in January and July of each year.

PROBE IS ASKED OF DEMOCRATIC ELECTION FUNDS

Rep. Snell Wishes To Know If Farley and Roosevelt Violated Law

Washington, July 10. — Minority leader Snell (R., N. Y.) demanded today that the House investigate whether President Roosevelt and Postmaster General Farley had been parties to a scheme to evade the law governing political campaign contributions.

The New Yorker introduced a resolution calling for appointment of a special House committee to investigate the alleged sale to corporations of President Roosevelt's autographed editions of the Democratic campaign book of 1936 at $250 a copy.

Asserting the federal corrupt practices act expressly forbade corporations contributing to presidential election campaigns, Snell said his resolution related to matters "involving, in my judgment, a clear violation" of the act.

"The information before me," he said in a formal statement, "names the president of the United States and the Postmaster General as parties to a scheme of evasion perfected and applied through the Democratic National Committee". Farley is Democratic national chairman as well as postmaster general.

MARSH'S CAMP IS POPULAR

According to Mr. Homer Nicholson, manager of Marsh's Camp, above Lay Dam, the camp is increasing in popularity daily. The fine fishing waters, and cool mountain air attract those on vacation, or desiring a week end rest, and they return again and again.

Business has grown so that the management has put into service several new boats, and new cabins are to be built. In this week's issue Marsh's Camp carries an adv. about the place. Read it, and visit this restful spot in the mountains; fish or swim, or just relax in the shade of the trees. Follow the signs to Marsh's Camp—you'll like it.

SPANISH VETERANS TO HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC SUNDAY, 18

The annual picnic of the Spanish War veterans will be held at Hugh Mims pond next Sunday, July 18th. All veterans and auxiliary members are urged to come and bring well filled baskets.

There will be speakers during the day by prominent men. An enjoyable time is promised all.

ALL-DAY SINGING AT LIBERTY IN AUTAUGA COUNTY

There will be an all day singing at Liberty church, on the Montgomery-Birmingham Highway in Autauga County, Sunday, July 18. All singers and lovers of music in Chilton and other counties as well are cordially invited to come and enjoy the day with us. There will be plenty of good quartets, as well as good class singing.

WILLIE CROWSON TAKEN BACK CENTRAL ALA. MILLING COMPANY

Mr. Willie Crowson has taken back into charge the feed grinding business of Central Alabama Milling Company in East Clanton. Mr. Crowson made a great success of this business when he was operating it up until six months ago. Mr. Crowson contemplates moving his family back in his residence over there in the near future.

RETURNED FROM WASHINGTON

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Wyatt returned last Sunday from a week's trip up through the north-east. They joined a party at Gadsden, including Mr. and Mrs. Bill Means and little daughter, Rosamond, and Miss Alene Beard. The trip was made in Mr. Means' car.

The route to Washington went up through the Shenandoah Valley, carrying them through Knoxville, Natural Bridge, Skyline Drive and Lexington. The return was made by way of Richmond, Williamsburg, Yorktown, Hampton Roads, Charlotte, Greenville and Atlanta.

COX IS WRONG ABOUT ROADS

Editor Union-Banner:

I noticed an article in The Union-Banner last week from Mr. Charlie Cox, stating that he is well pleased with the results of a local act placing all road work in the county in charge of a road supervisor, and he states that the results on the county roads speak for themselves, and that they are in better shape than ever. Mr. Cox further states that the people are well pleased with the supervisor bill.

I believe that if Mr. Cox would get out on the county roads, he would be convinced that our county roads are not in better shape, but are in worse shape than they have been in many years. Many of our roads have grown up in weeds where they are almost impassable, and I hear complaints continually over the county about the condition of the county roads.

I believe that a great deal of the trouble in our county road system is that too much money is spent in road supervision and not enough money in the actual working of the roads.

I am one of those who long for the time to come when the spending of our money and the working of our roads will be put back in the hands of the commissioners, elected by the people. —L. G. Posey.

TIFFINS GONE TO MARKET

Mr. J. B. Tiffin, of the Tiffin Furniture Co., left last Sunday, accompanied by Mrs. Tiffin, for the Chicago furniture markets, to purchase new fall stock, and to give directions for shipment of stock already bought at the old low prices. They expect to return by next Sunday.

While on this trip Mr. Tiffin intends to make conection with a number of large furniture builders, whereby he can use the "sample" system of display for their wares.

In the radio department, Tiffin announces that the new 1938 model RCA Victor line is already on the market, with samples on their floors.

The new and improved 1938 Philco will be out August 1, and Tiffin will have a complete stock of this popular line. This year Philco brings out a combination battery-power set for the convenience of people who are now without electric service, but are expecting same in the near future. Many people have been postponing the purchase of a radio until they could get power. Philco has seen this and the new set is the result.

With this new unit, the set will operate on a regular 6-volt auto battery at homes not wired, and then when "juice" is secured, it can be switched to the power line with the same fine reception for which Philco is famous. Thus, people who have been delaying the purchase of a radio because of the lack of electric current in unwired homes need hesitate no longer.

The Tiffins invite you into their store any time you are in the city. It is one of the best stocked houses in the state, and your furniture needs can be filled promptly.

CITY ENGAGED IN DIGGING TWO LARGE WELLS ON SITE

The city authorities are engaged in the digging of two large wells, each eight feet square, on the newly attained property north of the present city water works, announces Mayor C. Fenn Jones. The work was contracted to B. M. Connell, and all local labor is being used on the work.

Mayor Jones says that the wells will have to go down about 40 feet. The new wells are on the north side of the creek ditch from the water works plant, and four- or six-inch pipes will be used to convey the water to the reservoir. Individual electric pumps will be installed at each well. Wood curbs will be put in the wells until they are proved; if they turn out satisfactory, then brick curbing will be put in them.

The new wells are in a lower place of ground than the old ones, but the dirt will be used to build up the ground around them so that there will be no danger of flood water covering them.

This is het initial step toward ex-

This is the initial step toward exthe newly extended corporate limits. Clanton is growing and the necessity for more water is becoming more and more urgent.

PEOPLE FROM HERE VISITING IN TEXAS

Mrs. Arthur Tippett and daughter, Ruby, and Miss Mrytis Mims, left Tuesday of this week for Gladewater, Texas, where they will visit several days with Mr. and Mrs. George Tippett.

Mr. and Mrs. George Tippett and son, Ross, have been here on a visit for a week or so; they returned Tuesday.

Mr. Arthur Tippett and Mr. R. F. Wyatt, familiarly known as Uncle Ruben, will leave for Gladewater Saturday night. This visit will be a real treat for Mr. Wyatt, as he has never been out of the state. Gladewater is over five hundred miles from Clanton.

The Tippetts and Mr. Wyatt will visit the Texas exposition at Dallas while they are out there. This city is some over a hundred miles from the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Tippett.

J. MATT JOHNSON HAS BOUGHT OUT JOE BAKER

Mr. J. Matt Johnson last week bought out the store of Uncle Joe Baker near the Clanton cemetery. Mr. Johnson has already greatly increased the stock of goods, and will gradually add more to it. He promises to give the customers real service down there, and the place will make good under the new menagement.

ED CARLETON'S LEG AMPUTATED

FREE DEMONSTRATION OF FRIGIDAIRE AT BIG FOUR

You are invited to see the proof of Frigidaire's greater ice-making ability, says Amon Jones and Big 4 Hardware Company. You will want to see the big ice cube, weighing 75 pounds or more, frozen on Frigidaire meter miser.

Frigidaire is a product of General Motors, and is always found in the lead as to electric refrigerators.

The Big Four says that they have had a good business this season, and they are looking forward to putting them over in a big way the remainder of the season.

Again, be reminded to see the gaint ice cube on display at this progressive hardware store. Watch this paper for advertisements explaining about Frigidaire from time to time.

Dr. Gragg Writes What He Wanted To Say At The Airport Dedication

Well, there was fine cooperation, locally and generally, and there were many present at the dedication July 3rd, and all know how hot and dusty it was, and how we lagged some 30 to 45 minutes with the program. There were many things I would have been pleased to say that had to go unmentioned because it was too hot, too dusty, and too late to try to say it to folks who came to see rather than hear things. I fully realized this and therefore cut my remarks short. I said, among other things, that due credit should be given the WPA and preceding relief set-ups for what they had done in financing the project, also to the Commissioners Court and others locally, who had helped to finance and put over the job.

Some of the things that I wished to say were: That I hoped that we could enjoy more cooperation in the future than in the past and that I hoped it would not be too late to put in operation an athletic field where our young people could enjoy the proper exercise of modern play and sport without having to go so far from home and parental care to find it. I also wanted to state that I had hoped for more cooperation in securing a swimming pool right here at home instead of our people going, a score at a time, to a town nearly 40 miles away, that in no way should be better than our own home town. I also wanted to say that while I was too young to know anything about golf, that I saw no reason on earth why we should not have a first class golf course with practically no cost.

I wanted to say that my greatest desire, THE ONE THING ABOVE ALL, was that our farmers should have a fair ground, and a meeting place where the farmers of this county and in the surrounding counties could meet in a place that they could feel at home and call it theirs, or ours, and have a permanent home for a meeting place at any and all times. Right here and now, I will state that I am ready to be one of ten men to sponsor a CENTRAL ALABAMA FAIR to be held at Clanton every fall for the benefit and advancement of our farmers if they want it. If they do not want it, then well and good. Enough has been said.

Another matter that should have the attention of our thinking, progressive men is a National Guard unit. Selma had an armory built under the WPA. So did Prattville. Clanton stood still, did nothing but help pay taxes and let the other towns of no more importance walk off with the "cake" or "bread" or whatever you please to call it.

On the last or WPA set-up, we lacked $12,000 of using all the funds allotted to the airport. Some two years ago we let a similar amount go back because it was not properly sponsored. There is $24,000 that was turned back to Uncle Sam that he would have given us for a swimming pool, community house or other project, that a few of ran to Montgomery and wrote and wired to Washington, D. C., till we got it tagged for Clanton's airport. The director of WPA in Montgomery wanted us to have it. The area engineer almost begged us to take it. The county timekeeper busied himself about it. A community house would have been fine. A swimming pool would have filled a crying need of our bathers and kept money at home and paid for itself in the long run. And think of the money that would have been turned loose in our midst—$24,000—already ours, thrown away, and our folks needing a community house and swimming pool.

Again let me say that my hat is off to the fine people who took part in the program in every way.—Dr. V. J. Gragg.

LAWRENCE F. GERALD HEADS ALABAMA LAWYERS NEXT YEAR

State Bar Attacks Legislative "Pay Trough"; Condemn Practice

Alabama lawyers, both as a body and in individual suits last week attacked the practice of the state administration in placing legislators on the state pay roll after their legislative sessions have terminated.

Nearing the end of their convention at Tuscaloosa, members of the Alabama Bar Association unanimously adopted a resolution condemning the practice, declaring it to be "contrary to the public policy, public welfare, and best interests of the state."

The lawyers also adopted a resolution urging state reforms to take parole powers out of the hands of politicians, and one reaffirming the association's stand against the Roosevelt court reorganization plan.

Lawrence F. Gerald, Clanton, was elected president to succed Douglas Arant, of Birmingham.

Meanwhile, in Jefferson Circuit Court, Conrad Jarrell and J. J. Powers, Jr., two young Birmingham attorneys who have become thorns-in-the-side of the state administration, fired another blast at legislators who, in their opinion, have dipped too heavily into the public pay trough.

Two suits were filed by Mr. Jarrell in the name of Mr. Powers. One suit seeks to recover for the state approximately $50,000 paid by the state to legislators "for jobs in the executive department of the state government." The other seeks to recover approximately $35,000 paid to legislators as extra expense money under an act which is declared to be unconstitutional.

Previously Mr. Jarrell had brought suit seeking a declaratory judgment that would brand as unconstitutional the hiring of legislators by the state after their legislative session is terminated.

PREACHING AT CARROLLTON

Dr. S. J. Ezell is preaching for a revival at Carrollton, Ala., this week. He will be back in Clanton for services Sunday and Sunday night.

DEATH OF COURT BILL IS FORECAST

Nevada Senator, In Assault On Plan, Declares It Will Not Come To A Vote

Washington, July 10. — Sen. Pat McCarran (D., Nev.) took up the battle against the administration's substitute judiciary bill today by charging that it "will never come to a vote" because "it is worse than the original bill."

Charging the senate leadership with "unfair" tactics, McCarran said that the opposition was ready to vote any time the administration would propose to present to the people a constitutional amendment embodying the "essence" of the court issue.

McCarran, who held the floor when the senate recessed yesterday, said he would speak the entire afternoon as a result of majority leader Joseph T. Robinson's decision to apply pressure for action on the bill by holding the senate in session on Saturday despite short tempers and sweltering heat.

Few senate veterans believed that any action by the senate leadership could force the bill to a vote unless some entirely unexpected development changed the opposition attitude. Foes of the bill claimed 44 definite votes against it—enough to prevent a vote for many months—and the most optimistic claim of the supporters was 52 votes.

McCarran almost upset the administration's carefully - laid precautions against filibustering in sharp floor clash yesterday.

He was overruled when he insisted that Sen. Sherman Minton (D., Ind.) had lost the floor because he yielded for a motion to take up a conference report on the War Deparment appropriation bill. Opposition forces considered the ruling was likely to do them more good than harm in future debate.

Only a quick and complicated ruding by Sen. F. Ryan Duffy (D., Wis.) presiding, and a supporting decision by President Pro Tem Key Pittman (D., Nev.) who hurried back to the chamber to take the chair, prevented the conference report from displacing the court bill as the business before the senate.

HITEN CABINET SHOP MOVED TO CLANTON

Messrs. Hollis and Wayne Hiten, of Verbena, have moved their cabinet shop from Verbena to Clanton. They are located in the building belonging to Mr. Will Reynolds next to Bearcat Filling Station between Clanton and South Clanton. They will be glad to figure with you on your cabinet needs.

KIWANIS MEETS AT THOMASON HOTEL

Dr. Harman To Speak

The Kiwanis Club meets tonight (Thursday) at Thomason Hotel, at 7:30 o'clock. Dr. A. F. Harman of Alabama College, Montevallo, will be the guest speaker for this meeting, and all members are urged to attend.

Dr. Harman, former State Superintendent of Education, and for the past two years president of Alabama College, is an outstanding educator and a most interesting speaker. It is a privilege to have him come to our city, and the Kiwanis Club feels honored in having his presence. All members will want to hear what he has to say to them.

Improved Telephone Service For Clanton

New Battery System To Be Used Instead of The Magneto Type

Mayor C. Fenn Jones has, after working on the proposition for a year, got the Southern Bell Telephone Company to agree to put in a new telephone system for the city. The improvements will include a building either to be erected by the company or to be built by some property owner here, according to the company's specifications, and leased by the Bell system.

What they call the battery system will be put into use instead of the old magneto type which we have been using. The principal difference is that to call central one will have only to pick up the receiver—not necessary to do any cranking. It will not be a dial system, but callers will have to give the central operator their number just the same as at present.

Pictures of the interior of the proposed central office are in Mayor Jones's office, and may be seen by anyone interested.

In order for this new system to be put into operation here, the signatures of phoneholders here will be necessary. Mayor Jones has the petition in his office, and he wishes phoneholders to call by and sign the petition within the next few days. He will be glad to explain the whole affair to anyone who calls.

The entire change-up by Southern BeH in Clanton will cost about $14,-000; will require the work of forty to fifty men four months for installation.

It may be of interest to the general public that in Clanton at present there are 333 phone holders. Outside of this number there are 58 phone holders among farmers outside Clanton. The above numbers do not include the pay stations in the city.

It is understood that the French type phones will be used in all business places and in residences where they are desired; there will probably be some evtra charge for this type, however.

This will be welcome news to people here who use telephones. It is especially commendable that new quarters will be built for the central office. Heretofore, the exchange has given good service; no kick can be made of that; but the office is not a place commensurate in appearance to what the city has a right to. Everyone will welcome a new and improved exchange for Clanton.

TEEL FAMILIES VISITED OLD HOME IN COOSA COUNTY

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Teel and daughter, Ruth, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Teel and daughters, Myrtle and Billie, and sons, Luther and J. L., all attended the homecoming at Poplar Springs in Coosa County last Sunday. They left there about 49 years ago.

Their mother was buried there in 1882, when they were 6 and 4 years of age. They decided that a real home coming to them would be to visit the home where they were born, which was later the Duke home. So together with Mr. and Mrs. Will Duke of Sylacauga they crossed those Coosa hills back to their partly tumbled down childhood home, which was built partly from hewn logs; the log portion is still in good condition, the logs being hewn by their father, the late T. J. Teel.

Believe it or not, the Messrs. Teel say they plowed this place where there is now grown timber. They tell us stories of how they drove up on the hill with loads of corn and unloaded it through the roof of the barn.

The day was thoroughly enjoyed by all and will long be remembered.

As they lived over their childhood days, their families wondered what it was like, as it is a perfect wilderness now.

SEN. JOE T. ROBINSON FOUND DEAD WEDNESDAY MORNING

Last minute radio newscasts Wednesday morning carried the news of the death of Sen. Joe T. Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic leader, and one of President Roosevelt's mainstays in his Supreme Court fight. He was found dead in his bed at 8:15. His doctor stated that death came from a heart attack, very probably brought on by his excitement of the last few days in the senate fight on the Court bill.

COPE FAMILY ON VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cope left last Sunday for a vacation trip. Plans were for them to visit their former home at Brundidge, cantinuing their trip to points in Florida. They plan to return next Sunday.

While the Copes are away, Spigener Funeral Home is under the management of Raymond Underwood, of Tuuscaloosa.

MARRIED AT COURTHOUSE

Mr. Fred Pope, from Newton, N. J., was married to Mrs. J. L. (Emma) Culp at the courthouse in Clanton last Thursday. The ceremony was performed by the chief clerk in the probate office. Mr. and Mrs. Pope will make their home in South Clanton.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

THRIFT CONTEST WAS WON BY VERNON F. F. A.

Auburn, Ala.—The 1937 Thrift Contest, sponsored for the first time this year by the Future Farmers of America, in cooperation with the Protective Life Insurance Co., of Birmingham, was won by the F. F. A. Chapter of Vernon.

As a result, the 82 Chapter members were entertained on a three-day outing at Camp Crosby, near Birmingham on June 17-19, with C. W. Whitehead, supervisor of Protective Thrift Club Work, in charge.

While at the camp the Vernon students in vocational agriculture visited the industrial plants in the Birmingham District.

Enrollment in the Vernon Chapter included 82 members, 63 of whom are now in school. The average amount of money saved or wisely invested by each member of the chapter was $117. The 100 per cent participation of the membership in the Thrift Contest and the foct that the Chapter was the largest competing resulted in the Vernon Chapter winning the Contest.

Other Chapters which ranked high and the average amount of money saved or invested are as follows: Pine Apple, $263.06; Chambers County High, $215; Slocomb, $72; Uriah, $58.27; Akron, $50.76; White Plains, $31.50; and DeKalb County High $30.41.

The purpose of the Contest is to encourage students in vocational agriculture to save and invest wisely their profits made in supervised practice programs. Money invested in farm improvements, personal improvement, life insurance, and savings deposits were credited to the Chapter in the competition.

Running water pumped by electricity is a change being brought to many Alabama farm homes by the installation of electricity, reports Nell Pickens, home management specialist of the Alabama Extension Service.

PUBLIC SPEAKING CONTEST

Auburn, Ala.—One of the features of the annual convention of the Alabama Association Future Farmers of America to be held in Auburn July 15-17 will be the State F. F. A. Public Speaking Contest in whcih the five district winners pictured above will participate.

They are J. E. Oakes, Lamar County High, Vernon; Dewey Hardaman, DeKalb County High, Fort Payne; Dan Curlee, Holtville High, Deatsville; Roy Fuller, Mason High, Notasulga; and Edward Dismukes, Dixons Mills High, Dixons Mills.

Staged in coopertion again this year with the Barrett Company, these contestants have won in Chapter and district contests. They represent the best in oratorical ability of 774 F. F. A. boys who took part in the public speaking contest.

The Alabama winner will represent the state later in regional contests, and if successful will take part this fall in the national F. F. A. contest in Kansas City.

Early this year the contestants prepared their addresses dealing with a vital local, regional or national agricultural problem. Subjects of their addresses are as follows: J. E. Oakes, "Farming and Fertilizer Practices in My Community as Compared with Experiment Station Recommendations;" Dewey Hardaman, "The New Era in Agriculture;" Dan Curlee, "Vocational Agriculture Enriches Country Life;" Roy Fuller, "Re-claiming Our Lost Acres;" Edward Dismukes, "Farm Tenancy."

F. F. A. BOYS TO TRAVEL

Auburn, Ala.—The total of more than 75,000 miles being traveled this summer by 1,563 members of 102 Alabama F. F. A. Chapters will establish a new high record for educational tours to all parts of the country and Mexico by these high school students in vocational agriculture. The boys will travel by bus and automobile.

Most of the chapters are first visiting interesting places in the state, several plan to make trips to old Mexico, one will travel to Montana, a number will go to Florida, and others will visit New York City and Washington, D. C.

The boys have raised money for the tours by selling subscriptions to magazines, conducting school stores, putting on plays, giving box suppers, beautifying homes, spraying fruit trees for farmers, feeding-out hogs marketing broilers, and growing farm crops as chapter projects.

Although the tours include many recreational features, the principal object is to give the boys opportunity to observe agricultural practices in other parts of the country and to visit experiment stations en route.

An indication of the scope of the tours may be seen from the information on trips taken by the following chapters: The Abbeville Chapter will visit points of interest in Florida, including Beacon Hill, Apalachacola, Wakula Springs, and Tallahassee. The Blue Springs Chapter returned recently from a tour to Mobile where the boys visited the Bellingrath Gardens, the Azalea Trail, and a number of historic buildings.

More than 5,000 miles will be traveled by the Foley Chapter which goes to Yellow Stone National Park and the Grand Canyon. Leroy is now on a tour through Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, and Old Mexico. When the Millport Chapter arives in Gulfport, Miss., the Chamber of Commerce will entertain the F. F. A boys with a boat trip to old Fort Massachusetts on Ship Island. Ramer is now on tour to Washington, D. C., and New York City.

The following Chapters will make tours to points in Florida: Blountsville, Berry, Gorgas, New Hope (Randolph), Pell City, Pleasant Home, Wetumpka. Three Chapters, Brilliant, Camp Hill and Rockford, will make trips to Washington, D. C. The Scottsboro Chapter will make a tour to North and South Carolina.

WEEVILS MAY ATTACK COTTON THIS SUMMER

Auburn, Ala., — Alabama's cotton crop is a rather expensive feed for boll weevils, says P. O. Davis, director, Alabama Extension Service, in calling attention to the fact that many county agents in south and central Alabama report weevils numerous at this time.

If the weather is warm and cloudy during July, with frequent showers, boll weevil infestation will apparently be heavy in Alabama this summer, he advises.

But if hot, dry weather predominates it may keep the weevils from multiplying to any serious extent.

Farmers may expect to profit from $5 to $15 per acre by poisoning boll weevils when there is a 10 per cent infestation, reports Prof. J. M. Robinson, head of the entomology department, Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

The only way to know whether or not boll weevils are numerous enough to warrant dusting is to make infestation counts of the squares. When 10 or more out of each 100 squares are punctured the cotton should be dusted with 5 or 6 pounds of calcium arsenate per acre. If a heavy rain occurs within 24 hours after dusting the application should be repeated.

Boll weevils are reported as becoming numerous in Houston, Hale, Tuscaloosa, Talladega, Baldwin, Pike, Jefferson, Elmore, Sumter, Crenshaw, Lowndes, Marengo, Clay, Butler, Macon, Randolph, Chambers, Bibb, Chilton, Coosa, Bullock, Clarke, Covington, Dale, Dashington, Mobile, Conecuh, Tallapoosa and Henry Counties.

Aabama turkey growers, breeders, and hatcherymen desiring that turkeys be included in the National Poultry Improvement Plan should advise R. B. Jones, Montgomery, or John E. Ivey, Auburn. After learning the desires of the Alabama growers, Mr. Jones and Mr. Ivey will pass this information on to the Bureau of Animal Industry, Washington, for consideration along with suggestions from other states.

8th ANNUAL CONVENTION TO MEET AT AUBURN

Auburn, Ala.—The 8th Annual Convention of the Alabama Association of Future Farmers of America will open here at the Alabama Polytechnic Instiute on Thursday morning, July 17 according to C .W. Wells, Jr., Jemison, State FFA president.

Approximately 1,000 FFA boys and advisers from 143 chapters throughout Alabama will be present. Attendance this year is limited to chapter officers and candidates for the State Farmer Degree, stated R. E. Cammack, State supervisar of agricultural education and FFA adviser.

One of the highlights of the meeting will be an address by Congressman Lister Hill, Montgomery, at 8 p.m., on the evening of the opening day. He will be introduceed by Dr. J. B. Hobdy, Montgomery, state director of vocational education.

Special music for the convention will be furnishel by a 30-piece band and the DeKalb District String Band, all members of which are FFA boys.

Sixteen teams representing various FFA districts in Alabama will take part in a two-day soft ball tournament as one of the principal recreational attractions at the convention, tccarding to G. T. Sargent, tssistante supsrvisor.

Of particular importance to all chapter officers will be the "training program for the officers" which has been added to the program for hte first time this year. Definite plans for the work in 1937-38 will be made at this time.

The State Public Speaking Contest, featuring the five district winners, is scheduled for Friday evening.

SULPHUR WILL CONTROL COTTON FLEA HOPPERS

Auburn, Ala.—Cotton flea hoppers, numerous in several Alabama counties at the present, "may be controled by dusting cotton with superfine sulphur at the rate of 10 pounds per acre."

The sulphur should be applied with a dust gun at intervals of 4 to 6 days until the insects are under control.

"If weevils are numerous the sulphur may be mixed with calium arsenate in the proportion of 2 pounds of sulphur to one pound of the arsenical and the mixture applied at the rate of 16 pounds to the acre they say.

COTTON LEAF WORMS MAY DAMAGE PRESENT CROP

Auburn, Ala.—Chances are that the cotton leaf worm, commonly known as the cotton army worm, will appear in Alabama and other sontheastern states before the end of the present cotton season.

The insect has already appeared in Texas. The first reports came from Necues County, Texas, on May 27 and from Calhoun County, Texas, on June 9. These dates are about 2 to 3 weeks later than the first reports of the worms last year.

Farmers are warned by W. A. Ruffin, entomologist of the Alabama Extension Service, to watch for the first appearance of the insect nad to dust the cotton with calcium arsenate if the worms appear in a large numbers on cotton with immature bolls. The dust may be applied undiluted with a dust gun at the rate of 5 to 7 pounds per acre or it may be shaken from cloth bags on the end of poles. If bags are used, each pound of calcium arsenate should be mixed with 9 pounds of hydrated lime.

ALABAMA FARMERS GROWING BETTER QUALITY COTTON

Auburn, Ala.—Alabama farmers are making good progress in improving the quality of their cotton, reports the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Washington, after making an extensive study of the cotton ginned in Alabama during the years 1928 through 1936.

"Figures show that a smaller proportion of ginnings from the 1936 Alabama crop was shorter than seven-eights inch in staple than from the crop of any other year between 1928 and 1936, and that a greater proportion of ginnings from the 1936 crop was fifteen-sixteen inch and longer in staple than the ginnngs from the crop of any other year of the period," says the report on the study.

This improvement has been brought about by a cotton improvement program conducted by the Alabama Extension Service, the Alabama Experiment Station, the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics, textile interests, ginners, manufacturers, seed breeders, teachers of vocational agriculture, and others, says J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist, in reporting that almost 100 one-variety cotton improvement communities have been organized in the State.

GOOD VEGETABLES SUPPLY INDICATED FOR SUMMER

Auburn, Ala.,—Present indications are that markets will be well supplied with nearly all kinds of vegetables at moderate prices during the summer months, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Econoics in revealing that "market supplies of vegetables for the next few months are expected to be considerably larger than a year ago.

"Beans, cabbage, cucumbers, green peas, potatoes, spinach, tomatoes and watermelons all promise larger summer crops than last year," says the report. "Moderate marketings of other leading crops are in prospect, but no shortage is indicated for any of the commercial market vegetables."

By raising six to 10 pigs to the litter, farmers of Alabama and other southern states are beginning to solve one of their biggest problems in hog production.

Plans are being made for a large number of Alabama 4-H club members to visit Muscle Shoals during the latter part of July and August.

MEDICAL DIRECTOR OFFERS HOT WEATHER HEALTH HINTS

The present widespread heat wave has led Dr. Robert A. Fraser, Chief Medical Director of the New York Insurance Company, to issue a health warning, cautioning every one to take simple safeguards that their health may not be impaired by the extreme temperatures.

Dr. Fraser offers ten Health Hints for hot weather that are easily followed by young and old. They are:

1. Take it easy—don't rush around.
2. Wear a hat out in the sun.
3. Wear cool, loose fitting clothes.
4. Get plently of rest and sleep.
5. Eat moderately of easily digested foods.
6. Drink plenty of cool (not ice cold) liquids.
7. Exercise moderately.
8. Take frequent tepid (not cold) baths.
9. Do not stay in direct sunshine for long periods.
10. Avoid large meetings in poorly ventilated auditoriums.

"If all of us would observe these rules," Dr. Fraser said, "our general physical condition would be vastly improved and we would be able to withstand hot weather with much less difficulty."

HIGHLAND

All who are interested in the cemetery at Highland, please come and bring tools for cleaning it off, next Wednesday morning, July 21. All the ladies are requested to come prepared to help clean up the church.

Purchase of price-depressing Irish potatoes, a program started in Alabama in May, will be continued during the present marketing season, announces the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

MRS. O. T. GULLEDGE

Funeral for Mrs. O. T. Gulledge, who passed away at her home, Thorsby Route 1, Thursday at 8 p.m., after a long illness, was held Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at Maynard's Chapel, Rev. Dewey Robinson officiating. Burial was in Verbena cemetery, with Spigener directing.

She is survived by: her husband; one daughter, Bettie Lou, age 7; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Davis; two brothers—Herman and Kelly Davis; one sister—Mrs. Charlie Littleton.

Effective marketing of feeds through hogs is dependent on three essential features — breeding, sanitation, and feeding.

The revival will begin here the 3rd Sunday in July and run during the following week.

Martin's ambulance carried a married daughter of Mr. Hardy Jones to Woodlawn hospital Saturday for an appendix operation.

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

The world is filled with movements. These movements seem to be different and in many cases opposed to each other. However, it is interesting to note that all these different movements agree about three things. First, they seem to have the idea that man has inherent in himself all he needs to succeed. Second, they seem to believe that if man had the proper environmnt he could solve all his problems. Third, they seem to have the same great goal. They are endeavoring to make man into "a god." Any Christian who knows his Bible knows that man, left to himself, without God, is bound to fall. Man cannot be saved by his environment. Adam and Eve sinned in spite of their environment. The devil told Adam to become like God and he became a sinner and wrecked the human race. The only hope for man is the regenerating grace of God brought by the Holy Ghost into an unregenerated heart.

Recently the writer heard a preacher preach against worldly amusements. He mentioned two or three things which "high society" people do. The minister's conception of the world was just those things he mentioned. What is the world? We have the material world which God made. I mean the earth. We have the world of mankind. Then we have the organized world. John said, "Love not the world." The word for world here is "cosmos". It means world system. It is a little shocking to realize it, but John was really talking about civilization. We have worlds within worlds. The world of music. The world of art. The world of business. The world of politics. Many other worlds. John said, "Do not love the organized world." It will pass away. That is what has been happening. The world of John's day crumbled into ruins. Disintegration seems to have started in modern civilization. It seems that this world—that is, this organization, is going to pass away. The only man who is safe is the man who does the will of God. The Christian who keeps step with God in the midst of his age will live forever and ever.

Jesus did not pray that Christian people might be taken out of the world. He prayed that Christians might be kept from evil in the world. Christians are not at home here. Our conversation (literally, "our citizenship") is in Heaven. Christians are pilgrims and strangers. They use the world. They have to. Americans traveling in foreign countries use the conveniences of foreign countries, but they do not belong in those lands. They are there just temporarily. We Christians patronize banks, ride on trains, buy automobiles, and mingle with the world's people, but we are always conscious that we are not at home. We are on our journey to our own land. We have a house not made with hands, eternal in the Heavens. We must be courteous and kind and patient in all of our transactions, but we must not settle down to live the lives of unconverted, worldly people. Let's remember who we are.

MT. CARMEL

The Baptist Training Union met at Mt. Carmel last Sunday afternon, with five other churches represented. The afternoon were spent in talking of the different unions, and a wonderful sermon preached by Bro. Bentley.

The working or cleaning of the church and cemetery were postponed until Wednesday of next week on account of the W. M. U. meeting and some are still busy in the crops yet.

Mrs. Delene Askins of Thorsby spent part of last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Davenport.

Mrs. Jodie Mims is spending some time with her mother, Mrs. Foshee.

Mr. Tom Foshee underwent an operation in Birmingham last Saturday.

The report last week was that he had gone to an Illinois hospital, but his condition would not permit the trip. He is still in a serious condition. The writer apololizes for the mistake last week.

Mr. Harvey Liveoak suffered another heart attack last week, although he was feeling lots better Sunday.

Mr. Crayton Lenoir is about the same as he has been for several weeks. We hope all the sick will soon recover.

William Oden of Isabella spent Saturday night and Sunday with his cousin, Perry Oden.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Seymore, Miss Ola Mae and Miss Udora Nummy of Billingsley, visited J. D. Sanders and family Saturday.

Mrs. Alf Childress took dinner with Mrs. Ben Higgins Sunday.

Miss Willie Mae Lenoir was a visitor of Mrs. Silas Oden last Wednesday afternon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Sewell and mother, Mrs. S. C. Sewell, spent Sunday in Bessemer.

Mrs. Silas Oden and daughter, Gladys, spent Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Rito Watley and daughter, Oleto.

State Capitol News

Governor Graves was in Washington this week to press for approval of numerous Alabama projects contemplated under the new federal relief program for which Congress last week appropriated $1,500,000,000.

Mentioning no specific projects, the Governer said he "would look into every thing of interest to Alabama."

Previously he had indicated he would seek federal funds for expansion of the state docks at Mobile. Numerous Alabama projects, including the Dauphin Island and the Florence-Sheffield bridges, were pending at the end of the last fiscal year which ended June 30.

The State Highway commission has called for the bids for construction of a grade crossing elmination project in Pike county, 6.3 miles of road in that the last dangerous grade crossing in the state on U. S. No. 31 had been eliminated. The bids will be open July 28.

The grade crossing project calls for construction of an over head bridge between Troy and Banks over the Atlantic Coast Line railway tracks. The road project is for draining, grading and surfacing that portion of state road No. 5 in Tuscaloosa County between Bucksville and the Bibb County line.

The last dangerous grade crossing in the state on U. S. 31 was eliminated last Friday as a 132,000 steel and concrete overhead bridge at Evergreen was thrown open to traffic. The bridge was constructed with federal funds and crosses the Louisville and Nashville railroad on the main line between Montgomery and Mobile.

While it is not a permanent opening for this project, the bridge will be closed again only for a short interval during application of bituminous materials on the approaches.

H. H. Houk, chief highway engineer, said the only major grade crossings remaining on U. S. 31 were at Calera and Birmingham, at both of which flagmen are maintained to lessen the traffic dangers. Small log road crossings at Chapman, Flomaton, and other places present little hazards, he said.

Each joint owner o fa homestead is entitled to his proportionate share of state tax exemption, provided each actually occupies the homestead, Atty. Gen. Albert A. Carmicheel ruled last week.

However, the ruling continued, when a homestead is owned by two or more persons, only one of them occupies it, the occupant only is entitled to his proportionate share of the exemption.

An example cited by Tax Assessor O. S. Nichols, of Perry County, was a $2,000 homestead owned jointly by five sisters, only one of whom lived on the estate. Carmichael ruled that only the sister living on the estate was entitled to claim "her proportionate share of the exemption, which is $400."

While homesteads are exempt up to $2,000 assessed valuation from state ad valorem taxes, Carmichael said occupancy was essential before the exemption could be claimed.

W. O. Baldwin, chairman of the Alabama Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, announced Friday that state headquarters of the board would be moved immediately from the national guard armory on Madison Avenue, near Cramton Bowl, to the second and third floor of the state store at Lee and Tallapoosa Streets, down town.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

Services were well attended Sunday and Sunday night. We were glad to have the many visitors that came Sunday, and we invite you back again.

Our revival begins the second Sunday in August, just one month from last Sunday. Bro. Nichols from Birmingham will assist in the meeting, unless his time has already been given for that week.

Several from here attended the three-days meeting at Bethel.

Miss Elmerine Jones from Isabella spent the past week end in this community.

Miss Jean Ratliff and brother, T. J., had as their dinner guests Sunday Mr. Carlos Ratliff from Selma; Misses Delene and Lera Glenn.

Mr. Henry Sandlin was a visitor in this community the past week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Wilson left Sunday afternoon for Montevallo, where they will spend some time with their son.

Mrs. Joe Delaney, children and sister, from 5 miles east of Monegomery, were here last week visiting Mr. W. F. Glenn and children.

Several from here attended the singing at White City Sunday.

Misses Elsie and Delene Glenn spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Glenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Vonnie Blalock from Concord community were visitors in this Community last week.

Mr. Sam Davis was a business visitor of Birmingham last Thursday.

Messrs. Vernon and Curtis Jones were in this community last Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Melvin Lansford, from near Montgomery, was in this community last Tuesday night and Friday.

Mr. Wiley Jones and famly, Mr. Otto Burnett and little daughter, Boots, from Isabella, were the guests of Mr. W. F. Glenn and family last Tuesday.

Mrs. Elmer Rollon, from Highland, visited her mother, Mrs. O. L. Devaughn Sunday.

Last Thursday morning July 9th, God called from this community a loving friend and neighbor, Mr. R. J. Downs. He was sick only a little while, but God saw fit to call him from this old world of sin and sorrow. He leaves to morn his death, his wife and 10 children—four girls and six boys; sixteen grandchildren and a host of friends and relatives who will miss him very much. He was laid to rest in the Bethel cemetery.

MULBERRY W. M. S. MEETS

The Mulberry W. M. S. held its monthly business meeting at the church Wednesday, July 7, with mission classes held.

The meeting was opened with song, followed by prayer by Mrs. T. L. Lecroy. The watchword for the year was repeated by all. Classes assembled, with Miss Margaret Speaks as teacher for the women's class and Y. W. A., Mrs. Fred Oden teacher for the G. A.'s and R. A.'s, and Mrs. Lee Grant teacher for the Sunbeams.

At noon a delightful lunch was served to about 45 members and guests.

After lunch classes assembled again. A business meeting of the W. M. S. followed. The books were finished, and we adjourned.

A CORRECTION

In the story carried by The Union Banner last week relaitve to the auto wreck at the Shell plant south of town, it was stated that, according to reports, Mr. Woodrow Rockett started to pass another north bound car, and as he came alongside this car, another came out of the old highway intersection directly into his path, and in an effort to miss this car, he went into the ditch and was wrecked.

We are informed by Mr. Henley Moore that we were in error in this report. He states that his was the car that was facing Mr. Rockett; that his car entered the highway on the north side of the creek, and at the time of the wreck was proceeding on the right side of the highway; that on the curve a few feet north of the Shell filling station, on the crown of the hill above the Shell supply station, Mr. Rockett's car attempted to pass the other north bound car; the Henley car, he says, pulled partly off the cement, with Rockett setting his brake and attempting to go between the other two; that the Rockett car sideswiped the Henley car, the driver apparently lost control, and swerved into the ditch.

In giving our report of the accident, we followed our regular procedure of getting a correct report as far as we were able, and printed the report exactly as it was given to us. Always anxious to correct any errors on our part, we are glad, also to correct this one. We had no way of getting the story except from reports, hence the error.

NEW PARSONAGE AT M. E. CHURCH

Work is in progress razing the old Matthews building south of Clanton Methodist Church, preparatory to erecting a modern brick veneer parsonage there. This new building promises to be a distinct asset to the Methodist property as well as that section of the city.

NEW MANAGER AT LOCAL HOTEL

Within the next few days Mr. Raymond Mims will take charge of the Thomason Hotel in Clanton. Mr. Mims, a young attorney here, is experienced in the hotel business, having been engaged in that work while he was attendng the University of Alabama.

REVIVAL AT POPLAR SPRINGS

The revival will begin at this place on the fourth Sunday in this month. Rev. Maurice Hodgens will assist the pastor, Rev. W. P Lowery with the preaching. The services will continue through the week. The public is cordially invited.

There will be a public working at Chestnut Creek cemetery, Cooper, Ala., July 21, and we ask all those who are interested in this cemetery to meet us on this date with tools to work, clean off our cemetery, also to clean the church house.

ALABAMA PIG CROP REPORT

The 1937 spring pig crop in Alabama is above though slightly smaller than the 1936 crop, it was announced today by the Alabama Cooperative Crop Reporting Service. Based upon information obtained in cooperation with the Post Office Department through the rural mail carriers, the number of pigs saved in the spring season of 1937 (December 1, 1936 to June 1, 1937) is estimated at 622,000 head compared with 638,000 head for the same period in 1936, 515,000 head in the spring of 1935, 462,000 head in 1934 and the average for the 1932 and 1933 spring crops of 560,000 head.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cagle have moved to their home in East Clanton.

CHILTON BOYS AT AUBURN FOR THE SUMMER SCHOOL

Auburn. — Among the 350 Alabama school teachers, principals, and superintendents who continued their graduate or undergraduate study at the first term of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute's summer session, two are from Chilton County. They are Byron Vinson of Maplseville, and Howard Boockholdt of Stanton.

The first summer term, attended by 1,282 students, will close with examinations on Thursday and Friday, July 15 and 16. The second term opens on Monday, July 19, and runs until August 21.

Highlights of the first term were special lectures and courses in curriculum making, and the expanded summer recreational program. An average of 300 summer students attended the weekly community sings on Wednesday evenings and daily an equal number took part in the recreational program including more than a score of games.

There are only four persons in Alabama prisons serving sentences for perjury. There are 61 serving sentences for murder in the first degree and 108 or murder in the second degree. Grand larceny heads the list with 474 and burglary in the second degree takes second place with 443. There were 385 in the State prisons for violating the prohibition law. In 1934 there were 163 serving sentences for violating the prohibition law and 364 for murder in the first degree and 519 for murder in the second degree.

According to the last Federal census there were 257,395 farms in Alabama, comprising an area of 17,554,635 acres. These farm lands including the buildings, were valued at $502,370,806. Madison County had the largest number of farms, the total number being 7,178, valued at $17,136,437. Dallas has the next largest number of farms, 7,036, but the farms in this county are valued at only $8,995,291. Cullman leads all other counties in the value of its farm dwellings. Its farm dwellings are valued at $3,143,379. Madison comes second with a valuation of $2,873,215. Mobile has the smallest number of farms, the number being 1,557.

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

Seeking Contentment.

SANTA MONICA, CALIF. — Out in the desert country I met kindly, hospitable folk bravely making the best of things on remote, small homesteads.

On little far-away ranches, on reservation trading posts, they are educating their children by resolute self-sacrifice; keeping in touch with the world through radio, through books and magazines and newspapers; and almost invariably content with their lives and proud of their struggles and living comfortably — yes, and happily—within their means, however meager.

Irvin S. Cobb

Then I come back to crowded cities where wealth seems only to make the inmates dissatisfied because somebody with greater wealth puts on a gaudier show of ostentation and extravagance. And I see the man who feverishly is striving after riches so that when he breaks down he may afford the most expensive nerve specialist. And the spoiled woman who was born with a silver spoon in her mouth, but judging by her expression the spoon must have been full of castor oil—and the flavor lasts. And the poor little rich children who have everything now and so will have nothing—except maybe dollars—when they grow up.

Curious, isn't it, that so little buys such a lot for some people and such a lot buys so little for the others?

* * *

The Return of Prosperity.

I CAN'T help gloating over what appeared in this space when I predicted that the temperamental and fickle bird of passage known as prosperity was winging its way back. Because the Better Business bureau reports that sellers of no-good stocks are showing increased activity.

Moreover, I hear that for the first time in years practically all the veteran bunco-steers are off relief. The lean times when the locusts of depression gnawed away our substance must indeed be over if the customers begin to nibble more freely at the same dependable old baits.

So, as he thumbs his copy of the sucker list against the morrow's campaign, I seem to hear Mr. Henry J. Slickguy (late of Leavenworth but now opening offices in the Wall street district) murmuring to himself:

"Happy days are here again! Drouth may kill the corn, Rust rots the wheat. Boll weevils destroy the cotton. But, thanks be, there's one crop in America which never fails!"

Have you a little gold brick in your home, dear reader? Well, don't worry, nobody's going to be slighted. Ere long you'll get your chance to invest in one.

* * *

Making Mental Slips.

THE most incredible thing has come to pass. Here I go along, year after year, building up a reputation for invariably being right, the same as George Bernard Shaw and Mme. Secretary Perkins. Then—bango!—I make one little slip and the trusting reader is shocked from pit to dome.

The other day I suggested taxing salaries of governmental employees. Now from all sides I'm told federal employees are subject to income taxes; only the vast majority of them, and probably the hardest-worked ones, draw such small wages that they owe Uncle Sam nothing when March 15 rolls around.

So far as I recall, this is the second time in my life I've been wrong. I can't cite what the other instance was—some very trifling matter, no doubt—but it must have occurred because I remember the nation-wide excitement which ensued, with people going around in a daze muttering: "Can it be possible?"

I now admit that early error and the recent one, too, and humbly beg pardon of my devoted public—all eight of them. It'll never happen again.

* * *

Conquered Champions.

IT HAS been brought to the attention of Mr. James J. Braddock that something happened to him a while back. Probably, by now, he has quit wondering whether many others were caught in the earthquake, but is reported to be still saying "Ouch!" at intervals.

And now, as is customary, his backers will insist he demand a return engagement—or disaster—with the Brown Bomber. But if I were Mr. Braddock—game though he be—I think I'd pattern my reply on the example of the gentleman who was knocked galley-west by a hit-and-run motorist.

As the dazed pedestrian was trying feebly to ascertain whether he was all in one piece, a kind-hearted citizen hurried up.

"Have an accident?" he inquired, brightly.

"No, thank you," said the victim; "just had one."

ALABAMA MERCHANTS ASS'N

Birmingham, Ala., July 10.—Entertainment of many varieties and fun galore is assured for the thousands of merchants and members of their families on hand for this, the 21st annual convention of the Alabama Merchants Association to be held here August 4 and 5, with registration headquarters at the Municipal Auditorium.

Again, as in former years, the visitors will be the guests of the Wholesale and Manufacturers Division of the Chamber of Commerce, and James C. Lee, Chairman of the Executive Committee of this division, and Dr. W. W. Walker, general chairman of all convention committees, announce that all of the entertainment provided will be free to registered merchants and members of their families.

Frank J. Stayton, chairman; and Cosby Hodges, co-chairman, of the Entertainment Committee, announce as one of the outstanding features of the convention program, a monster barbecue at the State Fair Grounds on the afternoon of August 5, provided by the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, whose officials will be hosts of the occasion. There will also be a State Amateur Contest at the Municiual Auditorium on the first night of the convention, with the winner receiving a cash prize and an Alabama Theater engagement, followed by the annual grand merchants ball from 9 to 12. The second day, in addition to the barbecue in the afternoon, will also be featured by a wrestling match at night at the Municipal Auditorium between women stars and between two athletic giants designated by the committee as "Tuffy Luxury Tax" and "Alabama Citizen."

A speaker of national prominence will also be heard at the closing night session and other unique entertainment "surprises" will conclude the program.

MT. PLEASANT

There will be a singing at this place next Sunday. The third Sunday in July.

Everybody come and bring your books and lunch.—W. J. Northcutt.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this method of expressing our deepest appreciation for the sympathy and kindness shown us during the sickness and death of our wife and mother, Mrs. Katie Chandler. Also we thank Dr. Franklin and the nurse, Miss Daniels. Especially do we thank the Jones Trustee Funeral Co., for their kindness, and for the beautiful floral offerings. May God's richest blessings rest upon each and every one of you, is our prayer.—Thomas Chandler and children.

CEMETERY CLEANING

There will be a general clean-up of Sardis cemetery on Wednesday, July 21. All persons interested please come on that day and bring your tools to work with.—J. P. Adams.

REFUGE

The hevival meeting will begin here Sunday, July 18. The Rev. Paul Oden will do the preaching. We take this means of inviting one and all to these services.

The Sunday school here last Sunday was well attended and very interesting.

We are glad to report that Mrs. W. C. McMinn, and Mr. Odis Mims, who have been confined to the hospital following an operation, are now doing fine. Rev. M. Lockhart brought them home together in his car Monday, July 12.

The home of Mr. John Minor of this community was totally destroyed by fire last Thursday, at 4 o'clock. The people have been very generous toward them. If you have anything for them it will surely be appreciated.

Rev. M. Lochart is engaged in a meeting at Pleasant Grove, and reports a great meeting.

A RECOMMENDATION

South Side Baptist Church,
Atlanta, Ga., June 30, 1937.

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify that Rev. S. C. Hayes, who is a member of the church above stated, is in no way connected with any Holiness church, and so far as we know, has never been.

He came to us from the Southern Methodist Church, and was baptized and ordained in 1933. His work has been successful in the Atlanta Baptist Association. We find him to be 100 per cent in the doctrines of the Missionary Baptist Church, also strongly believes in church government.

You will find him faithful in his work, and a hustler at all times. Believes not only in professing religion, but also in possessing religion. We feel that any church should be honored in having his services.

Any other information can be obtained from Rev. Thomas B. Thrailkill, pastor of South Side Baptist Church. Sincerely, — John H. Hall, Deacon.

COLLINS CHAPEL REVIVAL

The revival will begin at Collins Chapel next Sunday, July 18th. Rev. Maurice Hodgens, pastor, will do the preaching, and Hal Bennett the singing. The services will continue through next week. The public is cordially invited.

Circuit Clerk J. C. Pattillo left Wednesday for a thirty-day trip, which he will spend with relatives in Indiana, Ohio and North Carolina.

PUBLIC SPEAKING CONTEST

Auburn, Ala.—One of the features of the annual convention of the Alabama Association Future Farmers of America to be held in Auburn July 15-17 will be the State F. F. A. Public Speaking Contest in whcih the five district winners pictured above will participate.

They are J. E. Oakes, Lamar County High, Vernon; Dewey Hardaman, DeKalb County High, Fort Payne; Dan Curlee, Holtville High, Deatsville; Roy Fuller, Mason High, Notasulga; and Edward Dismukes, Dixons Mills High, Dixons Mills.

ROCKY MOUNT

There will be a cemetery working at this place Friday, July 23.

Our annual homecoming day is on Sunday, July 25.—Mrs. J. B. Northcutt.

The W. M. U. will meet at this place next Friday p. m., at 2 o'clock, July 16. Mrs. Lee Grant and some others will be with us. We want all the women, girls and children to be there. Be sure and come if possible.—Mrs. R. E. Jones.

EILAND CEMETERY CLEANING

Everyone interested in the Eiland cemetery, 2½ miles west of Cooper, near Bethel church, is asked to meet there on Monday, July 26th, for the purpose of giving the place a good cleaning up. Bring tools to do the work with. 7-15-2t

FILLERS

There were 76 arrests for public drunkenness in Alabama during the month of June, according to records in the office of the State Highway Patrol. There were only 53 arrests for this offence during the month of May. Two hundred and sixteen persons were arrested for driving while intoxicated during the month of June as compared with 215 during the month of May.

RULE OR RUIN

John L. Lewis has made public his "peace terms"—unconditional surrender by the A. F. of L. to the C. I. O.—and has said that he does not want peace anyhow. His Atlantic City address was the frankest statement which Mr. Lewis has made since his break with the A. F. of L.

There was a time when Mr. Lewis pretended that he did not want to wreck the American Federation of Labor, that he merely wanted a free hand in organizing along his own lines. He now has frankly revealed his purpose. Mr. Lewis probably did not begin his C. I. O. offensive with the object of destroying the American labor movement as it has existed for the last half-century. His original goal was control of the A. F. of L. He failed to attain that goal; and now, in effect, he says that, if he cannot rule, he will ruin.—Buffalo Observer-Express.

Women's skirts are getting shorter, but that doesn't mean they will be any cheaper.

NO RIGHT TO WORK?

The right to work seems to be a matter of small concern to the administration at Washington, to the governors of Pennsylvania and Michigan. In their desire to uphold the right to strike, which is a right by no means so important to the individual and to society as the right to work, they are entirely willing that the agencies they have for the enforcement of law and order shall be used in support of strikers bent on intimidating non-strikers. The methods of picketing employed are in plain violation of state laws, which permit a limited number of strikers or their accredited spokesmen to exert "peaceful persuasion" but which interdict acts of violence and coercion.

The time has come when the peaceful law-abiding citizens of the country are entitled to know whether they have the protecting arm of government or whether government has become an ally of the forces of disorder.—Hartford Courant.

"HELPING" THE MOUNTAINEERS

There is little truth to the old saying that there is nothing new under the sun, and the day of miracles is not past. We now have the example of an American statesman protesting against the expenditure of government money in his state. The statesman is Sen. Byrd of Virginia, and in filing his protest he exhibits statesmanship and business judgment of a high order.

In Sen. Byrd's state of Virginia the proposed outlay of government money is for a resettlement project to "take care of" the mountaineer farmers ousted from the Shenandoah National Park. Sen. Byrd is objecting not to help for the Virginians, but to the resettlement plan, which he says is inefficient, wasteful, and will not accomplish the purposes for which the more than a million and a half dollars of the taxpayers' money are to be spent.

The plan of Prof. Tugwell, and supposedly of Secretary Wallace, is to build the rehabilitation homes at a cost of something like $6,000 and have the mountaineers pay back the government by raising tomatoes and berries and through day labor. Sen. Byrd, in his letter to Secretary Wallace, says that the government's plan will not work even though it is based on an estimated rental cost of $4,500 per unit, though the actual cost will be from $7,500 to $9,500 per family unit. The estimated income, he says, will not be forthcoming, and in time the mountaineers themselves will rebel on paying for "the mistakes and errors of the federal government". The homesteads, he predicts, will be vacated, and "will stand as a monument to governmental inefficiency and extravagance".

"This outrageous cost for buildings and equipment," Sen. Byrd writes of the housing project, "worth in real value perhaps one-third of the expenditure made, can only be accounted for by inefficient management and a tremendous overhead expense of various unnecessary supervisors and co-ordinators".

But to get back to the subject of miracles. Some time ago Sen. Byrd told Mr. Wallace that he was going to protest against the $1,500,000 government project for Virginia. Mr. Wallace, it is alleged, expressed some doubt about this, and intimated that the age of miracles has not yet come.

Evidently Mr. Wallace was mistaken, though it is possible that this was not the the first occasion on which he has been mistaken. But it will be an even greater miracle if this project to provide the mountaineers of Virginia with $9,000 homesteads actually works out satisfactorily and the mountaineers are able to repay the government with their profits on berries and tomatoes. It is more than likely that the mountaineers, when the going gets tough, will be disposed to give the government the raspberry direct.

Sen. Byrd intimates that this project is scheduled for completion near his home in the valley and that he ought to know something about this one thing. Perhaps so. But Mr. Wallace knows everything about everything.

Although friends are not "urging" him to do so, Ye Ed has about decided to run for governor in '38, and should he be defeated in this attempt, he may run for president in '40. Personally it doesn't matter to which office he is elected, either one will do, for the plain, simple cause of this yearning for office is the fact he hasn't had an opportunity to go fishing for over two years.—Greenleaf (Kan.) Sentinel.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

One of the most significant political developments of recent months has been a split in the so-called liberal ranks—perhaps it might be more nearly correct to call it the rift between the real liberals and the so-called radicals, who are by no means liberal in the historic sense of the word. This parting of the ways became publicly noticeable when the fight on the President's Supreme Court enlarging bill became acute. A number of the statesmen who had consistently supported many of the New Deal measures, in congress and out, refused to follow along on the court bill. Their public record over a great many years, in most instances, precluded any attack on them by charging such statesmen with being reactionary . This change in the political atmosphere is noticeable too in the printed logic of many of the newspaper and magazine writers who have always been regarded as liberal but who are not disposed to oppose the court bill and in addition to criticize the handling of the national labor difficulties.

A fact which a great many people have overlooked is that real liberalism means developing the individual against the governmental autocracy which is the very essence of such cults as communism and fascism. The real liberal from the time of Jefferson on down to the present has opposed governmental control of private affairs, and of the individual, a process which is now known generally as regimentation. Dr. Glenn Frank, former head of Wisconsin University, whose split with the LaFollettes has been one of the political events of the year, explained this theory of genuine liberalism in a recent address when he likened the government to a physician. In part he said:

"The great doctor must never forget that his ultimate purpose is to emancipate his patients from dependence upon him, and to see that they are brought back, as quickly as possible, from that dependence on him which the emergency of illness forced upon them, and to restore them to their normal self-reliance as soon as possible.

"Obviously, a doctor who took advantage of his patient's emergency dependence and deliberately worked to keep him dependent upon him would be classified by the legitimate doctors as a quack."

Here is an illustration of the difference of the purpose of real liberalism as opposed to blind reaction on the one hand and blind radicalism on the other. Its aim historically must be to give the individual the opportunity to help himself, not to make him a ward or dependent of the government. It was on such theory that the Constitution of the United States, with its compromises, with its checks and balances, was finally formed.

And it is on this rock of enlightened individualism as opposed to regimentation that many are splitting away from those pseudo-liberal cults which preach that the way to help humanity is not to permit it to strengthen its mentality and its muscles by exercise, but to make mankind even flabbier by teaching us to depend on a "benevolent government". The latest acts and statements of a great many liberal leaders indicate that there may be an important political realignment in the near future. Whether this will result in the organization of new parties or the readjustment of the old ones remains to be seen. The latter of the two possibilities at this time seems much the more probable.

OUT IN THE OPEN

The spectacle presented by the governor of Pennsylvania as he modestly rejects the presidential crown for himself and presses it firmly on Mr. Roosevelt's brow for a third term is not edifying from any point of view. But it is important for the mind which it unconsciously reveals.

The outlook is that of a person who has learned to be dictated to, and to like it. Its presence in the unimportant person of Governor Earle is of the utmost importance, for he expresses what a host of Mr. Roosevelt's devotees have plainly got the habit of feeling. After all, the dictator is only one-half of the picture. There cannot be a successful dictator unless there are people who really want to be ordered about and told what to think.—New York Herald-Tribune.

UNEXPLAINED MERRIMENT

President Roosevelt's comment on the suggestion that Sen. Copeland would be nominated for mayor was "Ha, ha, ha!"

The last time that Mr. Roosevelt and Dr. Copeland came up together for election was 1928, when Mr. Roosevelt was running for governor and Dr. Copeland for U. S. senator. Mr. Roosevelt's total vote in the city of New York was 1,135,217; Dr. Copeland's was 1,178,650—43,433 more than Mr. Roosevelt's. The Copeland majority in the city was 549,401; the Roosevelt majority, 406,505.

Why, then, the "ha, ha, ha!"?—New York Sun.

PAYING THE PREMIUMS

Part of the premiums on the policies of "social security", so called, will be paid by employers. Where will any employer get the money to pay them except from the earnings of himself and his employes? If the employes earn most of the income of the corporation they will pay most of the premiums supposed to be paid by the employers—and if any gentleman can get around that conclusion he is smarter than Franklin D. Roosevelt or "General Jim" Farley.—Charleston News and Courier.

Here is some more worry for Henry Wallace and his cutting down of production theories. A hen has been imported from the South Seas which is only half as large as our hen and lays an egg ten times as big.

Blessed are the poor. They are the only ones who have any political influence.

SHADOW OF COMING EVENTS

Perhaps an indication of the demands that will be made upon congress by organized labor is to be found in the report that if the United Automobile Workers of America are successful in their effort to organize in the Ford plants there will be a demand of a daily wage scale of an $8 minimum and a working day of six hours. This information is contained in the statements that are being made and distributed by the organizers. — Bangor Commercial.

FAIRNESS

No honorable citizen seeks to evade his just tax liability. But it is important not to overlook that the question is two-sided. A government that expects its taxpayers to be scrupulously fair must itself set an example of scrupulous fairness. Our government fails to do that when it blandly taxes capital gains without allowing deductions for capital losses; when it refuses to allow corporations to carry forward the losses of bad years as deductions against the profits of good years; when it penalizes as it does under the undisputed profits tax, ordinary corporate prudence.—New York Times.

GUESSWORK RELIEF

Guesswork seems to be the method now favored in Washington of fixing upon a suitable sum for relief.

FACTS FROM THE RECORD

Written By F. G. STEPHENS Publisher of The Southern Democrat, Oneonta

FACTS ABOUT THE CONSERVATION OF GAME AND FISH

The State Department of Conservation of Game, Fish and Seafoods was organized by the Legislature on February 18, 1907 and was designed to restore, protect and observe the wildlife resources of Alabama.

The Department as at present organized is headed by an administrator, the Commissioner of Conservation.

The Legislature in 1935 set up a non-salaried Conservation board composed of seven members whose duties are as follows: to set with the Commissioner twice each year and advise with him and assist him in (a) formulating a State wildlife policy, (b) to fix open seasons on game birds, game and fur bearing animals, (c) to fix daily and season bag limits on game birds and game animals, (d) to designate the species of fish which shall be game fish, (e) to fix the daily creel limits on game food fishes, (f) to regulate the manner, means and devices for taking game fish, (g) the manner, means and devices for taking non-game fish, (h) to close the season on any species of game in any county or area when found necessary, (i) reopen any season on such species when doomed advisable, (j) to designate by name what animals shall be classed as game or fur bearing animals, (k) to designate time, manner, means and devices for taking same, (l) and to introduce desirable species of game, birds and fish.

The Department is divided into divisions as follows: (1) enforcement, (2) fish culture, (3) game propagation, (4) research and publications, (5) organization, (6) seafoods.

The division of enforcement is headed by a chief game warden who supervises the field staff of game wardens in this State.

The division of fish culture is in charge of a superintendent who directs fish propagation at the State fish hatcheries and the reclamation of fish in overflow areas.

The division of game propagation is under the direction of a game farm superintendent who operates the Department's game farm and supervises the planting of game reared at the farm.

The divisions of research and publications is in charge of the Department's editor of publications, who edits the Alabama Game and Fish News, complies all reports, and keps the public informed through the press and radio of the activities of the Department.

The division of organization is supervised by a director of organization planning whose duties are to assist in setting up County Conservation Councils, and cooperate with them and other interested organizations in planning programs of conservation activities in each of the several counties of the State.

The division of seafoods is headed by a non-salaried Oyster Commission of which the Commissioner is chairman. Its duties are to develop the State's marine fisheries, including oysters, shrimp and salt water fish, and to promulgate regulations in reference thereto. A force of inspectors are employed to enforce all laws and regulations and to collect taxes and revenues imposed on the industry, which revenues are used exclusively to maintain and operate this division of the Department.

The Department has full use of all revenues which it collects from the sale of hunting, fishing and fur catchers' licenses and from fines imposed on violators of the game, fish and fur laws of the State.

The revenue collected by the Department is used in the administration and enforcement of the wildlife statutes and regulations based thereunder, and for the propagation and distribution of fish and game.

The revenues of this department are unlike other forms of revenue collected by other agencies of the State in that they are not derived as taxes based upon anything of commercial value, but come as a contribution from those who hunt and fish and are expected to be used exclusively for the purpose or restoring, protecting, conserving and maintaining an adequate supply of game and fish for all who would enjoy these fine forms or recreation.

SOUTHERN PULPWOOD INDUSTRY

When the leading members of the American Pulpwood Association met in conference at New Orleans in May, a program of conservation of Southern pine forests was launched which should help to solve a problem that has troubled conservationists since the advent of the paper industry to the southern pine regions. This was the opinion expressed by Joseph C. Kircher, Southern Regional Forester of the U. S. Forest Service, Atlanta, Ga., in commenting on the meeting.

The members present at this conference, representing a large section of the pulpwood industry in the South, accepted a conservation policy looking toward the establishment of the pulpwood lands of the South as a permanent source of production. For the purposes of administration, the South was divided into four districts, over each of which a representative of the industry will maintain supervision. The pulp and paper mills in Alabama, Mississippi and West Florida were assigned to Group 3.

At their meeting in Mobile, Ala., Group 3 adopted the first cutting and conservation rules to bring about better forest practices on company-owned and non-company lands. "Although the rules adopted at the Mobile meeting fall far short of what is required to prevent depletion of growing stock, they will prevent devastation in most cases," Regional Forester Kircher said. He also stated that the U. S. Forest Service is cooperating with the industry in its attempt to keep the forest lands of the South in a productive condition.

The rules adopted by this group provide for leaving at least four thrifty seed trees per acre where less than 75 seedlings are already established. They also provide that stands of timber 7 inches or less in diameter at the stump may be thinned so as to leave an average of 75 trees per acre.

The group also agreed to assist the state and federal agencies in obtaining better fire control and to work with the various state foresters in solving local problems. They agreed further to use for pulpwood, where possible, the waste left behind logging operations and to work with the turpentine industry in the cutting of their worked-out timber.

The rules were admittedly a first step and are subject to revision at the end of 90 days. Regional Forester Kircher believes that better methods will result from these rules and that they will be improved as the companies work out their forest practices. The enforcement of the rules lies entirely in the hands of the industry.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for July 18

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 3:13-16; 4:10-16; 5:1.

GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord will give strength unto his people.—Psalm 29:11.

PRIMARY TOPIC—When Moses Was Afraid.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Moses Made Ambassador.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—God Stands by His Workers.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Strong in the Strength of God.

Never in a hurry! Who? God. He needed a human leader to bring his chosen people up out of the bondage of Egypt and he spent 80 years getting him ready—40 years learning all the wisdom of Egypt, and 40 years learning the lessons of God, patience and humility, on the back side of the desert.

Infinite and omnipotent is God, and he may move with faster-than-lightning speed. But usually we find him working out his blessed purposes, normally, quietly, but always "on time."

Our lesson brings before us the meeting with God which preceded the appearance of Moses as the head of the nation of Israel in its mighty conflict with Pharaoh. We find him first proceeding with commendable care but then going on in unfortunate humility which amounted almost to unbelief and which resulted in the substitution of his brother Aaron as his spokesman, but eventually we do see him going about his difficult task with resolution and courage.

I. Justifiable Caution (Exod. 3:13-16).

Neither God nor man dare entrust a high and difficult commission to a foolish man who brusquely "rushes in where angels fear to tread." The fact that one feels fully and unhesitatingly qualified to take over such a responsibility is almost a certain indication that he is not the man to assume it.

The ambassador must have credentials. God's representative has them. When "they shall say"—what an important and difficult situation that creates. The one who speaks for God must expect not only the scornful bitterness of God's enemies, but also the unbelieving questions of those he seeks to serve.

"What shall I say?" asks Moses, and God answers that he may say that "I AM" had sent him. This name of God reveals him as the eternal, independent, self-sufficient, self-existent, immutable, personal being. Consider, Christian brethren, whose we are and whom we serve. Here indeed is "inspiration in excess of duty," real equipment for Christian life and service.

But Moses seems to be unable to see beyond his own human infirmity even in the light of such a glorious revelation, supplemented as it was by miraculous powers, and we find him showing an

II. Unjustified Humility (Exod. 4:10-12).

When God calls a man he knows his limitations—why then should one plead them as an excuse for not serving? The excuse of Moses that he was not a fluent speaker has been the stand-by of unwilling workers all through the ages. When asked to lead a prayer meeting, teach a Sunday School class, conduct a young people's meeting, thousands have lamely thus excused themselves and missed a blessing.

The perfect answer of God in v.11 merits attention. God made your mouth and mine. He gives us the power of speech. He asks not the eloquence of polished rhetorical periods, or the flights of man's imagination. He wants but the incomparable eloquence of his own words on our lips. Dr. Richard Ellsworth Day in "Bush Aglow" rightly points out that this was the secret of the power of D. L. Moody.

III. Unnecessary Substitution (Exod. 4:13-16).

Loving and patient is our God, but there is a boundary line to that patience. Moses went too far in his humility and reflected on the ability of God, who promptly substituted Aaron as the spokesman.

Gracious was He in thus providing a helper for Moses. But one wonders what Moses missed of blessing and power because of his slowness of heart.

IV. "And Afterward" (Exod. 5:1).

Commissioned, bearing credentials from the infinite and eternal "I AM," and with a strong and eloquent brother by his side, Moses stands before Pharaoh to say in God's name, "Let my people go."

Preparation and the holy privilege of fellowship with God are to make us ready for service. While it is folly to go unprepared, it is double folly to prepare and then fail to go when God commands.

This is to be a homecoming revival reguesting the presence of all who have ever been members of this church. Come and testify as to what good this church has ever done for you. If it is impossible for you to attend this revival and you wish the church to know what it has meant to you please write a letter to the committee. The names of the committee are as follows: Mrs. A. L. Bearden, Verbena, Ala., Rt. 1; Miss Ettie Charles Wilkins, Verbena, Ala., Rt. 1. This letter will be read during prayer service, beginning in the morning at 10 o'clock and at 7:30 in the evening.

There will be a chart at each door of the church. Please sign your name while there in order that we might know how many that have ever been members of this church.

We cordially invite all preachers who have ever been pastor of this church.

The Rev. J. W. Jones will help in this meeting. Please pray that this revival will be a glorious revival, and that many might be brought to Christ.

CHRYSLER'S 1937 STYLING INDORSED BY THE PUBLIC

Distinctive style, always a feature of Chrysler cars, is proving one of the most important factors in making the 1937 line the most popular in the company's history. Radical changes made in the entire design have caught the public's fancy. More than ever before, the true "spirit of Chrysler" is expressed in the appearance of fleetness, sinewy strength and indivdualistic swank.

The front end of the Chrysler Royal and Chrysler Imperial is a triump in modernistic treatment. Lady Mendl, world-famous style creator, was a consultant in ths design. Since the appearance of the car it has won the approbation of the leading style experts of the country, including interior decorators, conturiers, painters, illustrators and funiture designers. Thus the pleasing appearance that it makes to the lay eye has the backing of sound styling principles.

The hood rounds down to a tapering convex radiator grille fashioned from horizontal bars of chrome steel that flare out from a vertical center bar to the extended sides of the raditor shell. An artistic touch is given by a chrome script name placed in a panel just above the grille.

Finely drawn horizontal bars of chrome steel form the hood louvres. Placed on the belt moulding line and longer than ever before, they contribute to the car's appearance of lowness and extreme langth.

Gasoline taxes collected in Alabama during the month of June amounted to $1,142,944. Of this amount each county got $8,401. That quite a bit of this came from tourists is indicated by the fact that persons from 16 States registered at the capitol in one day recently.

GARBAGE TRUCKS GO HIGH HAT

Minneapolis, Minn., July 12.—The lowly and redolent garbage truck has gone high hat.

The city fathers here have strated to replace their fleet of old-fashioned municipal salad wagons with swell swill trucks done in the modern mode.

Five already are in service. Streamlined, with turret tops and extra wide, well-cushioned cabs which afford comfortable riding accommodations for the driver and for the two garbage gentlemen, the new trucks are extremely ultra.

They are of GMC manufacture with specially-constructed drop frames to render less arduous the duties of the garbage gentlemen and with big 8.25 by 20-inch tires for maximum riding comfort.

The garbage tanks, which have a capacity of eight cubic yards against only three cubic yards in the previous models, are equipped with sliding "pull-down" covers to fool the flies. Also, they are fitted with under-body hydraulic hoists which tip out the contents on a conveyor belt at the city incinerator.

Concord-Billingsley

The Quarterly Conference will be held here next Saturday. Also, the revival meeting will begin at that time. Everybody is invited to attend.

RANDOLPH NEWS

The following people from Clanton have helped us toward paying for our piano: Popwell Pressing Shop 25c, Bishop and Klinner 50c, Chilton County News $1.25; Union-Banner $1; Dr. N. S. Johnson $1; J. E. Easterling 50c; L. J. Stewart 50c; J. E. Edgar 50c, Dr. O. C. Mastin $1; M. Lande 25c; J. D. Rockett $1, J. E. Teel 50c.

The following are from Randolph and vicinity: Davis Smitherman 25c, Bob Burnett 25c, Howard Jones 25c, N. G. Merchant 70c, Verda Lee Smitherman $1, Mrs. Sarah Cottingham $1, Mrs. Ovid Merchant $1, Dalton Brown $3, Vernon Hicks 50c, W. J. Apperson $1, Pettice Henderson $1, J. Hudson Williams $5, J. C. Horn 50c, Brown Bolding $2.

I am very grateful indeed to all of these people for their generosity. I hope to be able to give the publishers another list of names soon.

I want to insist that the people in this community and ohters make a special effort to send to the music school which begins at Randolph on July 26. I am anxious to see the proceeds of this school go to paying on our school piano. Please remember that this is a cash proposition. Your children will not be enrolled unless paid for, and others will be counted as visitors. Visitors will not be invited except on the following dates: on July 26 and 30, and August 6 and 13. The school will close August 13. I intend to run buses on the morning of the first day, so catch it and let's see if it can be made profitable. I hear that some of the people in the Tabernacle community are planning to attend, and hope they will do so. We will be glad to have you come. Some of you over there better get ready, because I may need someone to help me teach it; it is going to be large.

The barbecue at Randolph is to be the last day of July, the 31st, instead of July 21st as was once printed. Any person having yearlings, hogs or goats for sale please see Dalton Brown or me. I cannot say just yet who the speakers will be. Several invitations have been sent but have not been heard from.

I wish to take this means to express my appreciation to our commissioner, Mr. Horace Cleveland, for the road he has built in front of our school. Both Mr. Suttles and Mr. Lightsey seem to be proud of their job. People around here ought to be proud, and I am sure will want to shake Mr. Cleveland's hand for this when they see him.—J. Hudson Williams.

Mrs. J. Mell Martin and son, James Carl, are in Tupelo, Miss., visiting relatives. They will be there for about a week.

MRS. ARTIE DRIVER DIED

Mrs. Artie Driver, age 46, died at Gorgas-Baptist hospital in Birmingham Tuesday of last week. The body was brought here by Martin and prepared. Burial was at Samaria Wednesday, Martin and Sons in charge. Dr. S. J. Ezell officiated.

Surviving are the husband, Walt Driver, and six children.

Mild, mellow, old Southern tobacco tamped in your companionable pipe—a careful lighting—and you settle back to mull over a knotty problem, count your blessings—or just dream.

Deep, satisfying pleasure, isn't it, neighbor? But look into the curling smoke again. See those long lines of freight cars gliding through space on gleaming steel—through blistering heat or numbing cold—storm or fair weather? That's the L & N, my friend, bringing from all sections of the South the choice tobacco you enjoy so much.

Perhaps it has never occurred to you what an important part the L & N plays in keeping your pipe filled, your home warm in the winter, your corner grocer stocked with meats and garden-fresh vegetables. But 28,000 loyal L & N employees know, and they constantly strive to make the service you receive safe, dependable and satisfactory.

Supplying the needs of your daily life is just one of the hundreds of ways in which the L & N tries to be of friendly service—a good neighbor in all that the term implies.

Catch Fish in Hampton Roads

(By T. E. Wyatt)

On our return trip from Washington we swerved out east to the Atlantic coast and spent a half day fishing in Hampton Roads near the mouth of Chessepeake Bay. I never thought before that I was a fisherman, but I believe now I am in the class with John M. Robinson and J. P. Lawrence; at least I could catch oodles of fish in those waters.

While the women folks took a dip at Buckroe Beach, Bill Means of Gadsden and I charted us a fishing boat and a negro boy to carry us where they were biting; and biting those fish did. We returned to land in three hours with over two hundreds pounds of croakers. There were two other men with us, however. We did not catch any large ones; the largest weighed around four pounds, but those croakers make fine eating. We packed up a large box of them in ice and shipped them home.

To fish for croakers, which are very similar to our fresh water crappies down here, fishermen scarcely ever use a pole. You merely get a line about fifty feet long, tie on a six-ounce sinker and fasten two hooks near the end of the line. Crab meat is most generally used for bait. You let the line out from the side of the boat until the sinker reaches the bottom. Croakers bite best in about 30 feet of water, and when you get where they are feeding, you don't have to wait. The minute the sinker reaches the bottom a fish swallows the bait and hook. It is not uncommon at all to bring in a croaker on each of the two hooks.

Ordinarily the keenest fisherman gets enough after draging them out for three hours. It is real sport, but a fellow can get fully satisfied catching fish at Hampton Roads.

We caught two spots, one toad fish and one nice trout. All of the rest were croakers; and when you get a box full of croakers, they sound like a bunch of bull frogs out on the bank. The fuss they make is what gives them their name "croakers."

After getting a taste of salt water fishing, I can Understand why some of our fishermen are always going down to the gulf coast for week ends, Etc. I think I will go down there and try it some time in the near future. I believe I can rank a real fisherman now, and I must admit I have the fishing fever.

I was about to forget to say that the women folks came away from the beach with considerably blistered backs and shoulders.

LIBERTY HILL B. Y. P. U.

We had a wonderful lesson Sunday evening and had a good crowd present. But quite a few did not do their daily Bible reading. Let's read our Bible daily. It would be a wonderful habit to form.

Everybody be present, on time and come with a well prepared lesson next Sunday evening.

Our revival begins Sunday at 11 o'clock. Pray for a heart stiring, soul saving revival. We need it.

SAMARIA REVIVAL

A series of services will begin at Samaria Baptist Church Sunday, July 18th. Rev. Sam Heath, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Lanett, Ala., will do the preaching. You are cordially invited to attend these services.—M. I. McLeod, Pastor.

THANKS FRIENDS FOR HELP

We wish to express our thanks to the good people who came to our help our barn and contents were lost by fire June 27. We appreciate what was done for us more than we can tell. We pray that your home may be protected and that you may be bountifully blessed. — Rudolph Moats, wife, and blind mother.

MOVIE "JACKPOTS" ILLEGAL IN STATE

Montgomery, July 2. — Operation of theater "jackpots" is illegal in Alabama, the State Court of Appeals had held today.

Judge James Rice said of the plan: "The scheme falls under the ban of our laws."

The court's decision, handed down yesterday, affirmed a $200 fine on Cecil B. Grimes, of Tuscaloosa, convicted of running a lottery on charges growing directly out of operation of a "jackpot".

"We have no occasion to consider what would be the legal status of appelant's 'plan' without the machine registration feature," Judge Rice said in the unanimous opinion of the court. "But we do not want to be understood as intimating that it would then be beyond the reach of the law."

Under the theater "jacrpot" plan, persons who purchase a ticket and "register" for performances are not required to be present when their names are called to win the cash prizes.

SINGING SCHOOLS AT MINERAL SPRINGS AND MAYNARDS CHAPEL

I will begin a singing school next Monday, July 19th, at the Mineral Springs schoolhouse, at 8 o'clock a.m. and a school at Maynards Chapel on the same date beginning at 1 o'clock p.m. We invite everyone who is interested to meet us on the above dates and at the specified places.

All the usual courses will be taught in these schools, such as rudiments, harmony, voice and reading.—A. H. Glasscock.

Rev. Willie Wilson brought The Union-Banner some nice radishes last Friday. They were very large ones to be gathered this early in the season.

Foshee Gives Views On Road Conditions

West Chilton Citizen Surprised At Financial Status of the County; Road System Is Scored

"Maplesville, Ala., July 16, 1937.
"Hon. J. Lee Smith,
"Judge of Probate,
"Chilton County,
"Clanton, Ala.
"Dear Judge:

"I have received a copy of your letter of July 13th to T. J. Arledge, Road Supervisor, in regard to placing bituminous surface treatment from State Highway to Maplesville High School, and note that Mr. Arledge is requesting an extra appropriation in order to do this work. I was very much surprised to know that there were not sufficient funds in the Road and Bridge and Gasoline Funds to take care of the outstanding obligations against the Road Department on July 1st, 1937, inasmuch as I had noticed a statement in The Union-Banner from our Representative, Charlie Cox, stating that he was well pleased with the local act placing the road work of the county in charge of a Road Supervisor; that the people were well pleased; and that much good had been accomplished in spite of the fact that the Supervisor had to operate on a small budget provided by the Commissioners Court.

"If your statement relative to funds and obligations against Road Department is correct, it appears the Commissioners Court has been very liberal in making their appropriation to the Road Department. Mr. Cox may be well pleased with the results as per his statement, but I am sure he has been misinformed as to the people being pleased and as to the condition of our roads.

"I believe that if Mr. Cox would travel over our roads in Chilton County that he, too, would be opposed to his local act, as the people were opposed before and since the passing of same. There is one provision of the act which meets with my approval, and this relates to relatives of officials being employed in the Road Department, however, I feel that this should apply to relatives of all officials.

"Local governments, in my opinion, should be run by the local people, and not from the capital, and I look forward to the day when the Commissioners Court of Chilton County can again supervise the roads of our county.

"Yours very truly,
"HILL J. FOSHEE.

WARNING ON CREDIT OF U. S. HEARD SATURDAY

New York, July 18. — The Twentieth Century Fund reported Saturday night that "inflation and possible impairment of United States credit are threatened if costs of government continue much longer to outrun income."

Mounting government deficits were unavailable during the depression, it was stated, and the present national debt of more than 36 million dollars, though unprecedented, is not yet a cause for apprehension.

"But to carry annual government deficts into a period of recovery would be both dangerous and unnecessary."

The report, based on a study started two years ago, was made by a committee headed by Pres. Oswald Knauth of the Associated Dry Goods Corporation, and included Donald Richberg, former presidential adviser, and agricultural and labor representatives.

Some doubt exists about whether the federal budget will be balanced next year. the committee commented, urging that any increase in revenues rising out of returning prosperity should not be regarded as a justification for new spending, but should be applied toward debt retirement.

The Twentieth Century Fund is a privately endowed organization for tax studies.

MOTORIST VACATIONISTS TO PAY TAX COLLECTOR 16 CENTS HOUR

Going on an Alabama vacation in your automobile? If you are, you will pay the tax collector 16 cents pre hour on the gasoline you use on your trip, according to Earl M. Hearne, the Secretary of the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee. If you travel 100 miles a day for 12 days, the tax collector must be given $6.40.

Hearne points out that an automobile getting 15 miles to the gallon of gasoline will use two gallons per hour when traveling 30 miles an hour; since the average tax per gallon in Alabama is 8 cents, the tax collector will get about 16 cents for each hour the million vacationists spend in their cars.

BOB CONNELL'S SPORT MODEL WATERMELON

You have heard of sport model cars, sport model mules, etc. Well, Bob Connell last Saturday presented to The Union-Banner a sport model watermelon. It is green with bright yellow spots on it of various sizes; some say that it is a moon-and-star melon.

The melon has one large yellow spot on it, which Bob contends is in the shape of a fan—a semblance of this hot weather we have been having. Some make it out to be the shape of a man's face. Any way, it is a pretty melon, and we are going to eat it unless it turns out to be crossed with a gourd or something.

LAY DAM VS. SYCAMORE NEXT SUNDAY P. M.

The Lay Dam Kilowatts take on the Sycamore Millers at the Lay Dam park next Sunday afternoon, July 25, at 3:00 o'clock. This should be a stingaree! Don't miss it!

ALL DAY SINGING AT ENTERPRISE FIRST SUNDAY

The annual all day singing will be held at Enterprise schoolhouse the first Sunday in August. All singers of the county and adjoining counties are invited. Come, bring your new song books—any variety, and your dinner basket. We want you to spend the day with us.

A number of outstanding quartets have agreed to come and take part on the program. Any other quartets that have not been contacted have a cordial invitation.—I. D. Huett.

3 "Crack" Baseball Games Here Friday

Games Between Lanett, Birmingham and Tuscaloosa in Clanton This Week

The American Legion who is sponsoring teams all over the State will play three baseball games in the town of Clanton, one game at 10:00 a. m., Friday, July 23rd., and a double header in the afternoon on the same day. The three highest teams in Central Alabama are as follows: Birmingham, Tuscaloosa and Lanett, by reason the Central location of Clanton, these three teams will play off the championship at the High School Park here Friday. Naturally, these teams by reason of selection to play off this championship title are supposed to be excellent baseball teams.

The State Department of the American Legion has designated that the play-off be held at Clanton and the same is being sponsored by the Chilton County Post No. 6. If you want to get your money's worth be sure and attend these games. The admission will be the same as has been used by the local teams, which is 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children.—Chilton County Post No. 6, American Legion.

HITEN CABINET SHOP IS NOW IN FULL OPERATION

The announcement was carried in last week's Union-Banner that Hiten Cabinet Shop, formerly of Verbena, was being moved to Clanton. All of the machines and equipment has been placed and is now pretty well in complete operation.

The location is in the W. A. Reynolds building next to Bearcat Service Station on the Highway south of Clanton. The operators are Messrs. Hollis and Wyne Hiten, both hustling young men and well experienced in the cabinet business.

They specialize in refinishing work, and do anything from making small picture frames to manufacturing large wardrobes and even bedroom outfits. A circular being distributed this week announces that they are specializing now in cedar chests. Attractive prices are offered on different sizes and models of chests.

The Messrs. Hiten invite you to let them figure on your next cabinet job. They are prepared to do really fine work, and guarantee complete satisfaction.

Mr. H. H. Armstrong, from Beat 14, member of the county board of education, was in Clanton on business Wednesday. Mr. Armstrong says that crops up his way are flourishing, and so is the grass.

THE SAD FATE OF SENATOR ROBINSON

For four long years Sen. Joe Robinson of Arkansas stood in the United States Senate and, because of the tradition of party loyalty, battled for causes that did violence to his inmost convictions. As the years passed the fight that he was required to lead became increasingly bitter, until it culminated in the President's effort to control the judiciary by packing the Supreme Court. This fight split the Democratic party wide open, in an intra-party conflict waged with the peculiar savagery found only in civil feuds. For Robinson it meant the breaking of old friendships, the leading of a war of extermination against old comrades, when at heart his own place was with the gallant group making a last stand for a free court and a free Constitution. It meant the sad spectacle of a great political party riven asunder, its future blighted, by the boundless ambition of one man. One may imagine the anguish that must have rent the soul of the old warrior of Democracy, when forced to lead the fight against his friends, his convictions, and the institutions of his country's liberties. It is not greatly to be wondered at that he finally crumpled under the strain, that a long and honorable political career ended face down on his apartment floor, slain by the stress of the unnatural labors placed upon him.

Thousands of other Southern Democrats have faced, and still face, an ordeal similar to that of Sen. Robinson. They have been called on to stifle their convictions, and for the sake of party regularity, to back a program utterly repugnant to their inmost convictions. To their credit be it said that an increasing number of them are kicking over the traces, in the realization that their primary allegiance is to America, and not to the Socialistic machine that usurped the functions of the Democratic party.

With Sen. Robinson it was different. By tradition and conviction he was fitted to represent the property-owning, tax-paying, God-fearing people of the South in the nation's councils. He had nothing in common with John L. Lewis, Ickes or Frankfurter. But, when the radical Eastern gang—the college professors and the labor demagogues—took over the Democratic party, Robinson was by the very nature of his position powerless to resist. As majority leader, the recognized party spokesman, he had no recourse but to fight the battles of the President of his party, however distasteful that President's program might be to his personal convictions.

It must have been a bitter pill—just how bitter probably no one but Joe Robinson ever knew. In addition to the break with old friends and convictions, it must have rankled Joe Robinson to have to stand for the tactics of his boss, Jim Farley; to stand sponsor, in a way, for Farley's brutal threats of punishment for those Democrats who dared to break away; to see the whole thing reduced to the level of cheap ward politics of the Tammany type, with United States senators browbeaten and threatened as though they were so many aldermen who had voted wrong on a paving contract. Men of sensitive and chivalrous nature have been killed by being placed in such a position, ere now. And it is worthy of note that the entire trend of the dispatches recounting the senator's death indicates the generally accepted belief that he was killed by the unbearable load placed upon him. It is no exaggeration to lay his death, in all seriousness and solemnity, at the door of the man whose ambition placed him in a position that any other gentleman would have found difficult to endure.

It is rumored that Sen. Robinson's untimely end may cause President Roosevelt to abandon his court-packing fight; perhaps, as Sen. Wheeler so aptly phrased it "lest he appear to fight against God".

Meantime, we may say of the indomitable Arkansan and his untimely fate, as Horatio said of Hamlet, "Now cracks a noble heart". His passing, particularly under such tragic circumstances, leaves his erstwhile political foes with only kindly and sympathetic emotions in thinking of him. We will not endeavor to imagine the emotions of his so-called friends—those who used him and abused him, who called on him to override conscience and convictions, who placed him in the position from which death released him.

NANNETTE NIVENS IS MOST POPULAR BABY

The Intermediate Department of the M. E. Church closed its Baby Popularity Contest Friday, with Nannette Nivens, attractive little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Houston Nivens, leading by 1,128 votes.

The Department wishes to express its appreciation for the cooperation of the parents and sponsors in the contest.

C. O. VARDAMAN PASSED THROUGH ON VACATION TRIP

Hon. C. O. Vardaman, of Birmingham, passed through Clanton Saturday afternoon en route to Daytona Beach, Fla., for his vacation. Mr. Vardaman was accompanied by his family and party from Birmingham. We were glad to have him call on The Union-Banner on his way through.

THOMASONS APPRECIATE CLANTON BUSNIESS MEN

Mr. J. H. Thomason, who has been operating the Thomason Hotel in Clanton for the past two years, wishes to express his thanks as well that of his family for the courtesies extended them by the business men and people in general of Clanton.

The Thomasons are moving back to Cullman, where they will operate the Eureka Hotel.

Clanton hates to see these people leave our city. They have made numbers of friends while in our midst.

YELLOW FRONT STORE WILL ENLARGE QUARTERS SOON

The Yellow Front Store in Clanton has "outgrown its britches" so to speak, and is now engaged in enlarging its quarters. The wall between it and the building east of it is being removed, which will double the space of the place.

Mr. Blackketter, the manager, says that it will require two or three weeks to get everything cleared out and the goods placed in the new part of the building; all will be carried to completion by the middle of August or probably before.

Since coming to Clanton three years ago Yellow Front Store has built up a nice business. They render the kind of service that people like and that tends to build up trade and hold it. Mr. Blackketter and the Yellow Front are to be complimented on their accomplishments since coming to Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Teel have returned to their home in Lanett, after a visit to friends here.

CITIZENS WROUGHT UP OVER ROAD DISCUSSION

The road question of Chilton County has become rather common gossip among our citizens. The statement has been made that our people are satisfied with the present road system in the county. Well, The Union-Banner does not propose to contradict what any man has said, but we will say that such a statement is a broad mistake. Our people are not satisfied with the present road-working system—we venture to say that at least 90 per cent of them are complaining about bad roads, saying that they are the worst in 10 years.

Two men were in our office Saturday and asked us to publish their protest to the supervisor system. One man was from near Coopers, and he said that the people in his community had to take their shovels and work their roads before they could get their wagons over them to do such necessary hauling as carry their corn to mill. Special mention was made by this citizen about the bad condition of water boxes. His name will be gladly furnished anyone desiring it. Another loud and bold protest comes from up in Beat One. This citizen says that roads in his community are far from satisfactory; and he wants it stated publicly that the people of Chilton County are not pleased with the way the road business is being handled.

These are only two instances; hundreds of such protests are to be heard every day, if one only listens to them.

EIGHT CASES DISPOSED OF IN CIRCUIT COURT LAST WEEK

Judge Arthur Glover disposed of eight cases in his one-day non-jury session held last Saturday. They were as follows:

Truth Ray, driving while intoxicated; $100 and costs.

Charlie Heard, violating prohibition law; $50 and costs.

Clifford Headley, malicious injury to animal; $1 and costs.

Hill Pierce, unlawfully presenting firearms; $25 and costs.

Wilber Pierce, temporary use of property; $10 and costs.

Clarence Miner, carrying concealed weapon; $50 and costs.

Buck Barnett, assault and battery; $1 and costs.

Allen Culp, public drunkenness; $10 and costs.

Trussville Man Hit By Auto Sat. p. m.

W. J. Sewell Fatally Injured While Repairing Puncture on Highway

Injured when he was struck by an automobile on the Birmingham highway about two miles north of Clanton Saturday night, W. J. Sewell, building contractor of near Trussville, and a former Birmingham resident for nearly 20 years, died Monday in Central Alabama Hospital.

Mr. Sewell, it is said, was struck by a machine while he was repairing a puncture on his auto. He suffered head, chest and internal injuries.

Sewell is survived by a daughter, Mrs. David Tindal, of Billingsley; his mother, Mrs. Henry S. Sewell, Pletcher; three brothers—O. E., of Birmingham, Foster of Clanton, and Oscar of Pletcher.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 1 p.m., at Antioch Methodist church, Pletcher, with burial in the cemetery at that place. Martin and Sons directed.

STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO MEET THURSDAY, JULY 22

Completion Of Organization And Perfection Of Operating Plans Objects Of Scheduled Meeting

Alexander City,, July 14.—The 3rd meeting of the officers and directors of the newly formed State Chamber of Commerce was announced today by President Benjamin Russell, of Alexander City, for Thursday, July 22nd, at 10 a. m., Jefferson Davis Hotel, Montgomery. Completion of the organization and perfection of plans of operation were announced as objects of the scheduled meeting.

Headquarters were opened last week in Montgomery Chamber of Commerce Building, South Perry St., with Dr. H. G. Dowling, Tuscaloosa educator, acting anager, in charge of the office. Dr. Dowling is on leave as city superintendent of schools at Tuscaloosa.

A slogan of "Supplement Farm with Factory" was announced by President Russell as indicating the state's greatest need at the present time. Immediate plans of the statewide organization call for a county-by-county survey to determine the natural resources available and the industry most suited to the various communities of the state.

President Russell stated that the Chamber will embrace in character the general development of Alabama and will include in its membership goal of 200,000 representatives from every county and precinct of the State.

New Football Coach At Chilton Co. High

"Bull" Spicer To Coach Football; Cox Takes Cage Quint, With Varnell Coaching Baseball Team

County Superintendent of Education Luther E. Little last Tuesday announced appointment of three members of the Chilton County High School faculty, and one for Isabella High.

Old Chilton gridsters and loyal followers of the Blue and Gold were jubilant over the acquisition of "Bull" Spicer, of Andalusia, and former coach at Etowah County County High School, as head football coach. Spicer is one of the best coaches in Alabama, and his selection to handle the potentially great galaxy of football material expected at Chilton County High this year gives notice of a highly successful season. Coach Spicer "knows his stuff", proved by his teams in the past, and Chilton is sure to have a great bunch of material for him to work with.

The basket ball team will be coached by Dewey L. Cox, who taught at Ethelsville (Pickens County) last year. Although full infromation regarding Coach Cox is not available at this time, rumor has it that he knows the game thoroughly, and Chilton will likely put a formidable cage squad on the floor this winter.

In baseball, Coach Varnell will keep the reins again. His team this past spring had an exceptionally good record, and with all the boys on the old team back again, and new faces in there fighting for a place on the line-up, we should have a good baseball team also.

All in all, it looks like a great year for Chilton High. Once upon a time the Chilton teams were threats to all schools in central Alabama in all kinds of sports. Old grads long for that time to return—and indications are that such may be the case this year.

Coach Curtis Matthews has decided to remain at Isabella High, rather than go to south Alabama, as dame rumor has had him doing. Isabella and Chilton play their annual game under a world of pressure. For each of them, they may lose every other game on the schedule, but if they can win that one old grudge fight, the season is counted a success. That's how the boys at these two schools feel about it. And here's hoping for these two Chilton schools a great year, both in their school work and in athletics.

Wilma Banks, no flags and flares; bond.

J. R. Tucker, no flags and flares; bond.

C. L. Seymore, no flags and flares; $5 fine and $6.50 costs.

C. N. Baker, no flags and flares; $5 fine and $6.50 costs.

S. S. Stanfield, no flags and flares; $5 fine and $6.50 costs.

R. A. Patterson, no flags and flares; bond.

The patrolmen, Henley and Waites, commented on the decrease in drunken driving. There was not a single arrest during the past week for this offense.

THOMPSON SIGN SHOP NOW LOCATED IN CITY

Mr. P. W. Thompson, from Memphis, Tenn., is now operating a sign painting business in Clanton. He is a young man, a nephew of the flying laundryman, Mr. Leo Thompson, and seems to be as proficient in his line as his uncle is in his chosen profession.

The Thompson Sign Shop is located in the little booth upstairs over Schmith's Shoe Shop. He does all kinds of sign painting and card writing. He possesses a rare originality in arranging words on signs and cards. He will be glad to help you figure out your wants in this line and arrange them in a way that his customers will be tickled. Young Mr. Thompson wants to get acquainted with the people of Clanton.

REAL FOUR-LEGGED CHICKEN

A four-legged chicken about three weeks old was brought to The Banner office last Thursday. It is a speckled Sussex-Wyandotte, raised by Wm. L. Theede of Clanton Route 5.

Mr. Theede had high hopes of raising the chicken, until it showed up missing one morning, and it was found that this chicken and another one the same size had been swallowed by a large chicken snake.

The four-legged chicken is in pickling alcohol at The Banner office.

Mr. and Mrs. Newt Gray and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gray spent Sunday in Birmingham.

EILAND CEMETERY CLEANING

Everyone interested in the Eiland cemetery, 2½ miles west of Cooper, near Bethel church, is asked to meet there on Monday, July 26th, for the purpose of giving the place a good cleaning up. Bring tools to do the work with. 7-15-2t

PLEASANT GROVE M. P. CHURCH

On Wednesday, July 28, there will be a cemetery cleaning at this place. We are asking all concerned to come and help us; also we are asking the ladies to bring mops with which to scrub the floors. Water will be hauled for this purpose, and brooms will be brought with which to sweep the yards. Please come on that day; if rained out Wednesday, come Thursday.—N. H. Culp.

I. L. SMITH WRITES

Editor Union-Banner:

I wish to report in your good paper that on 27 stalks of corn in rotation in my field I counted 69 well developed ears.

Then I wonder if we really are thankful enough to our Almighty God for the many blessings He has bestowed upon us, or do we realize that it all comes through His tender mercies toward us, and from His most bountiful hand, or do we just think we did it all without the help of our Almighty God?

Friends, it is time for us to wake up to the fact that we can do nothing without His help, and think more seriously about our soul's salvation, and ask ourselves where will our souls spend eternity? My dear sinner friends, don't you hear the still, small voice of Jesus calling you today? If so, then I say to you today, if you hear His voice, harden not your hearts. If you have played the part of the prodigal son, He has fixed a plan by which you may return to your Father. Remember, Jesus said: "Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down and cast into the fire." So then my friends, let us be very carful about the fruits we bring forth. Prepare to meet thy God!—I. L. Smith, R 1, Verbena, Ala., July 17, 1937.

CONSERVATION SERVICE

Operators of 103 farm, comprising 10,786 arces in the Soil Conservation Service area near Clanton were carrying out complete programs of soil and water conservation on their farms at the end of the fiscal year on June 30th, according to the annual report of James H. Wood, Camp Superintendent.

Strip cropping, one of the outstanding vegetative methods of erosion control is being followed on 569 acres and cooperating farmers have agreed to follow approved crop rotations on 5,185 acres of their cultivated land. Erosion resisting crops have been increased by 2,382 acres.

A total of 241 miles of tarraces have been constructed, protecting 2,160 acres, and contour furrows have been constructed, in pastures to protect 36 acres. Contour cultivation is being practiced on approximately 75 per cent of the land in row crops.

On the steeper slopes 360 acres have been retired to new forest through the planting of 1,067,175 trees. Proper woodland management pratices are being followed on 2,230 acres of existing woodland on the farms in the area.

The various mechanical, cultural, and vegetative methods of erosion control are coordinated on each farm so as to conserve the soil and water resources of the farm by putting each acre to the use for which it is best adapted, Mr. Wood said.

Interesting Letter From Colorado

Littleton, Colo., Route 2, Box 160.
July 18, 1937.
Editor Union-Banner:

I thought a few lines from the "Golden West" might interest your readers, so I decided to write you a letter, which will be necessarily somewhat mixed, or as Mary C. Punckee of The Farm Union Journal puts it, "Little Bits of Everything."

I was born and raised in dear old West Chilton, where the Union-Banner has long been a welcome visitor in my mother's home. I came out here early last Spring on an extended visit to my sister, Mrs. Tempie Beal. I came in the Greyhound Bus from Birmingham. My first change was in Memphis, then St. Louis, then Kansas City; arriving at Denver on Sunday morning where sister and her husband met me. I had an enjoyable safe journey. I was very much interested in what I could see en route; it was a long interesting trip.

I find the grandeur of the Colorado mountains is just wonderful, so green and pretty, so majestic, crowned with snow in July. I can see the foot hills from sister's home. Sometime ago I ascended Lookout Mountain, and visited the grave of "Buffalo Bill," the noted western scout. His grave is beautiful. Visitors drop their pennies on his grave, that helps in taking care of it. They have a large museum up there on the mountain top filed with Indian relics, souvenirs, etc., some of which we obtained and sent to friends in West Chilton. It is wonderful to go through that museum. I wish my friends could see that grave. I was told before going up the maintain that the high altitude would make me sick. But no, I came down without getting sick. The atmosphere is so bracing it makes us feel lighter than we do down in "Dixie." The other day we went up in the mountains; it was real warm down where we live but up there it was so cool until sister had to put on her coat while we ate dinner. The mountains are just like a picture. I wish my friends in Chilton could see them.

The climate here is wonderful; TB sufferers coming here get well. I had headaches in West Chilton, but don't have them here. The rainfall here is light. While more than usual like in Alabama; the churches are not

They have no Sunday singings here like in Ala.; the churches are not numerous in the country, but plentiful in town; fine structures.

The young people here go up in the mountains and picnic. They dance; they go out to the parks; they go boat riding in the lakes; they go horseback riding and play soft ball on Sundays. I have never heard of that in Alabama. They have baseball here too.

People fish quite a bit here in the lakes, but they have to pay for the privilege.

The land is rich, corn grows fine—no fertilizer. They raise an abundance of alfalfa hay here; it is beautiful. It has to be irrigated; they are busy now irrigating. I love to watch them irrigate. I went out one day to the sugar beet farms. There were vast fields of beets, and great numbers of Mexican "kids" crawling along the rows and thinning them by hand. There is not much fruit here, except cherries. But across the range I learn fruit is fine. Roads here are good. People are not so thickly settled in the rural districts, but near town they are thick. I am twelve miles from Denver; it is a beautiful city with its fine institutions of learning. I saw a man recently driving a large buffalo hitched to an old time covered wagon; a relic of the early days; it was a novel scene to me.

Just imagine my surprise on the 4th day of June when it snowed. Nature was out in a livery of green, and the earth covered with a mantle of white. The ground was not frozen, neither was vegetation injured. The snow soon melted.

We are near Platt River, and near what is rupted to be one of the finest dairies in the U. S. The milk is never touched by human hands, but bottled and delivered into the homes.

I like Colorado just fine. The nights are cool; you need a blanket or quilt at night. Now, my friends if you are sweltering in the heat of the Alabama sun, just come up to cool Colorado and play snow ball in July.

Best wishes to the Banner and to it's readers.—Miss Johnnie Smith.

ROCKY MOUNT

There will be a cemetery working at this place Friday, July 23.

Our annual homecoming day is on Sunday, July 25.—Mrs. J. B. Northcutt.

Livestock shows of national and international import will run currently with the 1939 Golden Gote International Exposition at the Grand National Livestock Pavilion now under construction.

All the Central American nations have announced their intentions to participate ni the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

IN MEMORY

The death angel visited the home of Mr. Thomas Chandler on July 9 and carriew away the soul of his wife, Katie. Dark clouds of grief are hanging over our heads. The burden seems almost more than we can bear, but God's will be done, not ours. It is God's will that we must die to fit us for the world beyond.

She was sick seven months or more. She bore her suffering with patience.

She joined the church early in life and has been a faithful member since. At the time of her death her membership was at Robinson Springs Baptist church.

She leaves: her husband; four children—Kathleen 11, Royce Wilton 9, Peggie Lou 6, and Tommie Sue 4; three brothers, three sisters, and a host of other relatives and friends.—A brother, Floyd Little.

BOB JONES

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

"You preachers are not scientists." That is what a teacher of Chemistry said to the writer one time. A few minutes later the scientist said he did not believe that the whale swallowed Jonah. "Who said a whale swallowed Jonah?" I asked the scientist. "The Bible says so," he replied. "It doesn't say anything of the kind. The word in the original is not whale, it is 'sea monster'. No one knows what kind of sea monster it was." The average minister of the Gospel who has studied the Word carefully and prayerfully knows more about science than the average scientist knows about the Bible. The Bible contains more facts, history, and philosophy than any book that has ever been written. It is the most profound and the deepest book in all the world. It teaches absolutely that no man can understand it who has not been born again. It is a supernatural book and only men of supernatural apprehension can understand it, yet the world is filled with all types of little, unregenrated, half-baked scholars who are arguing about the Word of God. The poor, blind ignoramuses.

"When you pass away I would like to wear your robe," Elisha said in substance to Elijah. "If you see me when I go up, you may," Elijah replied. In other words, he said, "Elisha, I am going to be supernaturally translated. If you are able to apprehend the supernatural, you can wear a prephet's robe." To a great extent we have lost our apprehension of the supernatural. Educational training, scientific discoveries, travel, and all modern opportunities will never be a substitute for the New Birth. T. understand life at all one must be alive. To breathe the supernatural air we have to have spiritual lungs. To see the spiritual heavens the soul must have spiritual eyes. To walk through the universe with God it is necessary to have spiritual feet. The world is filled with church people who are trying to be religious without religion and who are trying to be Christians without Christ, and who are trying to understand without an understanding heart.

Jesus said in substance that it is useless to cast pearls before swine. Swine have no appreciation of pearls. Unregenerated hearts have no appreciation of spiritual values. "The Bob Jones College is a great community asset. It brings business to the town." That is what a very good friend who lives in our college community said to the writer one day. The man thought in terms of material values rather than in terms of spiritual values. There are really very few people who have the proper appreciation of spiritual values. It is true that the Christian religion helps business. If there were no Gospel preachers or churches in America, real estate would have less value. However, the man who supports a Gospel program simply for the material benefits it brings has no true appreciation of values. "That which is seen is temporal and that which is unseen is eternal." The real values are always hidden to a man who looks at life through materialistic eyes. The soul will outlive all worlds. Material things perish. Therefore, the immortal soul to be happy must come in touch with the unseen values which are imperishable. No man is really a Christian unless he knows how to put the imperishable above the perishable and the eternal above that which is temporal.

13,000,000 CHEVROLETS HAVE BEEN BUILT

Another milestone in industry was reached last Wednesday, when the 13-millionth Chevrolet rolled off the assembly line in the Flint plant of the Chevrolet Division, General Motors Corporation.

In spite of interrupted production, Chevrolet's 13th millionth car was produced in a period of just two days more than 11 months, the second shortest million unit period in the history of the company. Officials stated that the demand for the 1937 models has exceeded anything heretofore known, and that, but for the frequent interruptions of output since January 1, production and workers' wages would have shattered all previous records, and the present milestone would have been reached from 60 to 90 days earlier.

Production of No. 13,000,000 was marked by no ceremonies at the factory, but M. E. Coyle, general manager of the division, issued a brief statement from his Detroit office officially announcing the event, which was also the occasion for an informal luncheon, attended by Mr. Coyle, Mr. Holler, and other executives of the company.

When the present management, headed by Mr. Coyle, took over the reins in October, 1933, the company had built 9,000,000 cars and trucks. The 10,000,000th was produced November 20, 1934, the 11,000,000th December 4, 1935, and the 12,000,000th August 5, 1936. Records show that it took 12 years for the company to build its first million units, while the remaining 12,000,000 have been produced in a period of only 14 years. Mr. Coyle has been a member of the Chevrolet organization throughout the production of all but 120,000 of the 13,000,000 units built to date.

FISHING RODEO AT FOLEY WILL BE EVENT OF JULY

Prizes Offered For Both Deep-Sea and Fresh Water Fish

Foley, Ala., July 17. — The most unique event of its kind anywhere in the United States, offering the most varied type of fishing possible, the annual Baldwin County Fishing Rodeo will be held Wednesday and Thursday, July 28-29, and is expected to draw a record crowd of sportsmen from every section of the state.

Numerous valuable prizes are again offered for the largest or first fish of innumerable varieties. Every member of the finny tribe that may be caught in waters along Alabama's famed Gulf Coast, from tarpon and mackeral of deep-sea fame, to bass and trout of fresh water lakes or streams, has a special award awaiting the fisherman —or woman—who brings in the largest of each species to the rodeo headquarters at Burkhardt's Landing.

The event, which each year attracts state officials from every department, and scores of prominent business men, has become an annual summer competition. It is sponsored each year by the Foley chapter, Izaak Walton League of America. And those who intend to take part had better write or wire immediately to either Max Lawrenz or Ernest Bannard, Foley, to register and make reservations for boats, as it now appears almost certain that the number of available boats will become exhausted prior to the rodeo dates.

Deep-sea fishing along the Alabama coast, already good, is expected to be at its peak the latter part of this month.

CONSERVATION DEPARTMENT

Birmingham, Ala.—Meeting in Birmingham last week, directors of the Alabama Wildlife Federation went on record as favoring three projects relating to forests and soil of the State. They are:

1. Sponsoring an educational campaign for conservation of soils and forests as a restorative measure for wildlife and renewable natural resources.

2. Placing of educational signs concerning forest fires, erosion and wildlife on highways as a State project.

Affiliated with the Alabama Wildlife Federation are conservation councils in 67 counties of the state. Attending the Birmingham session from Chilton couhty was John L. Hollis, Verbena, vice-president.

Of the 2,288 state convicts sentenced to the penitentiary last year, 861 were white, 1,426 were negroes, and one was an Indian. There were 1,639 of the state convicts on hand October 1, 1936, who could neither read nor write.

Construction is starting on the huge regional livestock laboratory at Auburn. The laboratory will work on livestock and poultry diseases and pests. It will serve 13 Southern states.

The 1937 spring pig crop was above the average though slightly smaller than the 1936 crop. The number this year is estimated at 622,000 head compared with 638,000 head in 1936.

The Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation is to continue the purchase of surplus eggs, butter and Irish potatoes during the summer and fall months if such purchases are required to provide reasonable markets for producers.

DRESS FOR COMFORT SAYS MEDICAL DIRECTOR

Dr. Fraser Advises Preparation For Hot Weather And Summer Accidents

"The clothes that women can purchase today for hot weather wear are both cool to look at and actually cool to wear," Dr. Robert A. Fraser, Chief Medical Diretcor, of the New York Insurance Company declared in pointing out the importance of suitable clothing for maintaining hot weather comfort and health.

"The light pastel shades that one sees so much in the summer time" Dr. Fraser continued, "not only look cooler but are cooler. Light colors and white reflect light and absorb less heat, as well as appearing cool to the eye."

If you are going on a vacation or staying at home through the hot months, Dr. Fraser advises everyone, men and women, boys and girls to wear clothes that do not fit too snugly around the waist or neck, especally when exercising. Loose fitting clothing, that permits complete freedom of circulation, is by far the best, as well as being much more comfortable.

To the men, Dr. Fraser points out that, in general, suspenders are preferable to a belt, since the weight of clothng is best carried by the shoulders.

Of the 5,120 state convicts on hand in Alabama prisons on October 1, 1936, 837 were ex-convicts; 673 were serving their second sentence, 112 were serving their third sentence, 40 were serving their fourth sentence, eight were serving fifth sentence, and four were serving their sixth sentence.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Prince and son, Wilbur, have returned from their vacation, spent in Florida.

ARCHIE CHANDLER

Archie Chandler, age 36, died at the Community Hospital at Tallassee after two weeks illness. He was a son of the late W. L. Chandler of Chilton County, and had lived at Tallassee for the last four years.

Besides his wife and three small children, he leaves to mourn his death, his mother; nine brothers — Arthur, Jesse, Grady, Clyde, Curtis, Alvin, Clint, Leon, and Harvey; three sisters—Mrs. Clarence Taylor, Miss Gladys Chandler, Mrs. G. C. Hathcock.

Burial was at Bethsalem, with Rev. Charles Taylor of Tallassee officiating and Herrin & Mann in charge.

Arizona is the latest of the states to make an appropriation for its display at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

The famed San Francisco Press Club will act as host to visiting newspaper men at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, according to present plans.

TALLASSEE 7—LAY DAM 6

The fast Tallassee Mills team nosed out the Kilowatts at Tallassee last Sunday, 7 to 6, in a hectic game which was replete with thrills of every sort.

Lay Dam jumped into the lead in the first inning and held it until the fourth, when the Millers tied the count at 5-all. The Kilowatts took the lead again in the eighth, only to see their game slip away when a bounder took a wild hop over Galloway's hop and the tying and winning runs came over.

Waldrip, Miller, center fielder, led his team with their 12-hit attack, and Johnson and Greene led the Kilowatts with a pair each.

Two fist fights livened this game; one came when Chambliss, Miller catcher, slid into second base and was accidentally spiked by Johnson, coming up with fists flying; reports are that the little Razorback accommodated Chambliss, however, and the scrap was soon over. The other came when Whitaker slid into the home plate, causing Chambliss to drop the ball; he starting swinging at Whitaker, and again was accommodated. Reports are that the spectators placed all the blame for these two flare-ups on the hot-tempered Chambliss.

E. Cadorin, famed Italian sculptor, was a recent visitor to Treasure Island, site of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition. Cadorin is one of the few red-haired Italians in San Francisco.

The 400-foot Central Tower of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition will tower higher than the summit of nearby Yerba Buena Island.

AIRFLOW DEMONSTRATES NEW SAFETY FEATURES

Four Chrysler Airflow cars are now touring the country giving demonstrations of the efficiency of the Goodyear LifeGuard tube in preventing serious consequences when a tire is blown out or otherwise deflated. The Airflow was considered an ideal car on which to demonstrate this new safety feature because its design incorporates so many other safety features.

In the first place, the Airflow has an integral body and frame construction in which the passengers are completely surrounded by the frame instead of riding on it. They are in effect placed within a box made of steel girders extending from front bumper to tail light. Scientific weight distribution, a lower center of gravity, and perfect balance also contribute to the Airflow's safety. The car is equipped with the Chrysler time tested hydraulic brakes and with safety glass throughout. With the LifeGuard tube, it has a fourth great safety factor to add to its staunch steel body, perfect brakes and non-shatterable glass.

The LifeGuard is in effect a tire within a tire. When the outer casing is punctured so that the air escapes instantly from the regular tube, the LifeGuard or inner tire retains its pressure long enough to enable the driver to bring the car to a smooth, safe stop, no matter at what speed he might have been traveling when the deflation occurred. The car retains its balance and its steering ability despite the puncture. In fact, the driver hardly is conscious of any difference in the way it responds to the wheel.

FIN PETRIE OF OPAL, WYOMING NAMED PRIZE RURAL REPORTER

New York, July 22.—Finlay Petrie, who for the past quarter century has worked in the general store at Opal, Wyo., a town of 50 inhabitants, has been judged the best country newspaper correspondent of 1937, it was announced today by Wheeler McMillen, editor of the Country Home Magazine, which sponsors the annual award to crossroads writers.

"Fin" Petrie, who writes a weekly column of Opal news for The Gazette in nearby Kemmerer, has built up a large and loyal following of readers. Guido Bott, news editor of The Gazette, says that "our paper could hardly do without his weekly correspondence. From a little wool-gathering center he writes live news shrewdly interspersed with witticisms that have point, leave no sting, and carry the flavor of the place."

Petrie is the first man to win the annual award, which consists of $200 in cash and a trip to New York and Washington. Previous winners were Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Mahnkey, of Oasis, Mo., and Mrs. Susan Frawley Eisele, of Blue Earth, Minn. The award is equivalent, in rural journalism, to the Pulitzer Prize in the metropolitan press.

The winning work was chosen from more than 3,500 clippings from country newspapers, submitted by editors as the writing of their best correspondents.

KILOWATTS 9—FLIERS 0

Behind the 4-hit pitching of "Skip" Massena, Lay Dam trounced the Maxwell Field Fliers at Lay Dam Sunday, July 11, by a score of 9 to 0. The Kilowatts looked like world champions in the field, making seemingly impossible stops, with Teck Galloway setting a record of some kind for amateur play in this neck of the woods; the Kilowatt shortfielder accepted 14 chances, making good on all except one low throw to first, which, however, took a perfect hop, and it looked as if Baker should have handled it; Galloway was a shining light in a galaxy of stars in this game.

Massena showed his appreciation of this sparkling support by turning in a 4-hit performance, and the stocky Razorback was never in serious trouble. Hawthorn, Flier shortstop was the only man to get more than one hit; he had two, getting half of his team's total.

Baker and Galloway each slapped one into the juniper bushes for home runs, and Baker led the Kilowatts with two for three; Jones had two for five.

Little Mary was sometimes allowed to be present at the dinner table when there were guests. On one occasion when she enjoyed this privilege she sat very still while her father told a joke. When the laughing died down, little Mary piped out:

"Now, daddy, tell them the other one."

MULLINS REUNION

On last Sunday morning, July 18, a large crowd gathered at the home of Mr. G. W. Mullins for a family reunion. The morning was spent in conversation.

At the noon hour a bountiful dinner was spread on the table under the shade trees. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Mullins, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Mullins and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Hayes and son, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Mullins and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Coggins and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fonzie Mullins and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Dobbs and son, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kendrick, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mullins and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dobbs, Mr. and Mrs. Cary Mullins and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Mims and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Clackler and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Deavers and daughter, Misses Lela and Essie Dobbs, Miss Eula Wilson, Messrs. Leonard Lockhart, Alton and Aubrey Baker, Wilber Littleton, Jack Friday, Charles Burnett, Horace Mims, James Vines, and Henry Vines.

The afternoon guests were Rev. and Mrs. Earl Brewer and daughters, Mrs. Ouida Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Mullins and daughters, Mrs. Bill Mullins, Mrs. Hugh Foshee, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Rushing, Mrs. Edna Cleckler, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Popwell, Mr. and Mrs. Will Popwell, Mrs. Liza Foshee, Miss Mildred Lett, Vernon Bailey, Willie Rushing, Allen Tucker, Cecil Coggins.

At three o'clock in the afternoon Rev. Brewer delivered a wonderful sermon, and singing was enjoyed.

At a late hour the guests began to leave, hoping to meet again with dad and grand-dad for many more happy reunions.

One rainy afternoon Aunt Ella was explaining the meaning of various words to her young nephew.

"Now, an heirloom, my dear, is something that has been handed down from father to son," she said.

"Well," replied the boy, "that's a queer name for my pants!"

The farm population of the United States fell off some during 1936 for the first time since 1929. The loss was about 80,000.

NEW BLAST FIRED AT STATE "PIE-EATERS"

Duggar Charges Two Solons With Evading Issue

Another blast against Alabama legislators holding state jobs during their term of office was fired today by Lloyd L. Duggar, Birmingham attorney, who in letters to Rep. A. L. Hanks of Talladega County and Rep. J. D. Carter of Marengo County, replied to their recent charge that a resolution opposing the practice was "railroaded" through the Alabama Bar Assn. meeting.

Mr. Duggar, who introduced the resolution condemning the practice, charged the legislators with "evading the issue by pointing attention to another abuse."

In letters to Lawrence F. Gerald, of Clanton, president of the bar association, the two solons recently defended the job-holding and attacked corporation lawyers who accept retainer fees from corporations while serving in the Legislature.

Referring to their letter to Mr. Gerald, Mr. Duggar wrote: "Your vicious attitude is easily explained when it is known you are holding a "pie-eating" job in the present administration in open and flagrant violation of the constitution and laws of the State of Alabama and in scorn of political morality and decency."

REPORT OF THE SINGING AT MT. PLEASANT, BEAT 12

The house was called to order by the chairman, Mr. J. W. Northcutt, prayer by Mr. R. A. Barnett. The following directed during the day:

Prof. A. H. Glasscock, R. A. Barnett, E. L. Glasscock, Aulton Benson, Sam Collins, Mr. Godfrey, Akins Collins, B. L. Cobb, Miss Wilma Scott, Miss Bernidene Cobb, Miss Mildred Little, Mrs. Corrie Shaw, Mr. P. M. Cleckler, Cobern Cofer, Velpo Mims, and Mr. Billingsley. Mr. W. J. Northcutt directing the closing song.

There were two quartets, Thorsby and Oak Grove, and duets by Miss Willie Frank Northcutt, Miss Mildred Little; Paul and Willie Jene Northcutt. Pianist for the day were: Miss Ruby Smith, Miss Dorris Martin, Mrs. Gyenla Murray, Mrs. Velpo Mims and Mr. Benson. We, the people of the church and community wish to thank each and everyone who assisted in any way in making the day a success. We also wish to thank the ones who helped prepare the dinner.

We ask all singers to remember the 3rd Sunday in July, as it is our regular annual singing day. We invite all to come back and spend the day in song service.

Hotel Proprietor: "Do you want the porter to call you?"

Guest: "No, thanks, I awaken every morning at seven."

Proprietor: "Then would you mind calling the porter?"

NOTICE—TEMPLE CHURCH

Rev. A. T. Hickman, pastor of Temple church, three miles southeast of Clanton, will begin a revival Saturday night before the first Sunday in August. He will be assisted by his wife in the pulpit and at the piano. She also plays a guitar, and is a good singer. We are praying that the Lord will meet us in that place, and give us a great revival.

Bro. Hickman may bring another preacher and his wife with him. The public is cordially invited to attend.

EAST VIEW

Our revival begins at this place the first Sunday in August. Bro. Gray will be back again with us. Everybody is cordially invited to help us out in the meeting.

Stellar Singer Shows Summer Styles

JANE FROMAN, lovely stage, screen and radio star, reveals what the well-dressed young woman is wearing this summer. The popular singer, who is featured on the NBC-Red network Sunday nights while Jack Benny vacations, is shown (1) ready for the tennis court, (2) lacing on sand skis for beach wear, (3) wearing a formal cape of light furs, (4) sporting a lumberjack suit as she suns on her penthouse terrace and (5) in evening dress for her broadcast.

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

Third Term Ballyhoo.

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—After a president has been re-elected it's certain that some inspired patriot who is snuggled close to the throne will burst from his cell with a terrible yell to proclaim that unless the adored incumbent consents again to succeed himself this nation is doomed.

Incidentally, the said patriot's present job and perquisites also would be doomed, so he couldn't be blamed for privately brooding on the distressful thought. You wouldn't call him selfish, but you could call him hopeful, especially since there's a chance his ballyhoo may direct attention upon him as a suitable candidate when his idol says no to the proposition. He might ride in on the backwash, which would be even nicer than steering a tidal wave for somebody else.

Irvin S. Cobb

Political observers have a name for this. They call it "sending up a balloon." It's an apt simile, a balloon being a flimsy thing, full of hot air, and when it soars aloft nobody knows where it will come down—if at all. It lacks both steering gears and terminal facilities.

There have been cases when the same comparison might have been applied not alone to the balloon but to the gentleman who launched it.

So let's remain calm. It's traditional in our history that no president ever had to go ballooning in order to find out how the wind blew and that no volunteer third-term boomer ever succeeded in taking the trip himself.

Modern Prairie Schooners.

WE'RE certainly returning — with modern improvements—to prairie schooner days when restless Americans are living on wheels and housekeeping on wheels. Only the other day twins were born aboard a trailer. And—who knows?—perhaps right now the stork, with a future president in her beak, is flapping fast, trying to catch up with somebody's perambulating bungalow.

So it's a fitting moment to revive the story of early Montana when some settlers were discussing the relative merits of various makes of those canvas-covered arks which bore such hosts of emigrants westward. They named over the Conestoga, the South Bend, the Murphy, the Studebaker and various others.

From under her battered sunbonnet there spoke up a weather beaten old lady who, with her husband and her growing brood, had spent the long years bumping along behind an ox team from one frontier camp to another.

"Boys," she said, shifting her snuff-stick, "I always did claim the old hickory waggin wuz the best one there is fur raisin' a family in."

Pugs Versus Statesmen.

IT'S confusing to read that poor decrepit Jim Braddock, having reached the advanced age of thirty-four or thereabouts, is all washed up, and, then, in another column, to discover that the leading candidates to supply young blood on the Supreme court bench are but bounding juveniles of around sixty-six.

This creates doubt in the mind of a fellow who, let us say, is quite a few birthdays beyond that engendered wreck, Mr. Braddock, yet still has a considerable number of years to go before he'll be an agile adolescent like some senators. He can't decide whether he ought to join the former at the old men's home or enlist with the latter in the Boy Scouts.

* * *

Quiescent Major Generals.

SOMETHING has gone out of life. For months now no general of the regular army, whether retired or detailed to a civilian job, has talked himself into a jam—a raspberry jam, if you want to make a cheap pun of it.

Maybe it's being officially gagged for so long while on active service that makes such a conversational Tessie out of the average brigadier when he goes into private pursuits and lets his hair down. It's as though he took off his tact along with his epaulettes. And when he subsides there's always another to take his place.

You see, under modern warfare the commanding officer is spared. He may lead the retreat, but never the charge. When the boys go over the top is he out in front waving a sword? Not so you'd notice it. By the new rules he's signing papers in a bombproof nine miles behind the lines and about the only peril he runs is from lack of exercise in the fresh air.

May be, in view of what so often happens when peace ensues, we should save on privates instead of generals.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By ANN PAGE

COOKING for two days at a time in summer helps to keep the kitchen cool at least every other day. Cooking may be done on Saturday to keep Sunday an easy day for the housewife too, since her family makes it a rest day.

If the two day plan does not work, plan meals that use quickly cooked easy to prepare foods, featuring salads and fruit if the budget permits. A good rule to keep in mind, however, is never to serve a meal without one hot dish, whether it be soup, beverage, main dish or dessert. It will help keep away summer indigestion and lagging appetites.

There has been but little change in the average prices of foods during the past week.

Seasonable foods make up the following menus.

Low Cost Dinner

Cold Meat Loaf Potato Salad
Pickled Beets
Bread and Butter
Stewed Dumplings with Shredded Pineapple
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner

Consomme
Cold Roast Beef
Mixed Vegetable Salad
Sliced Tomatoes
Bread and Butter
Banana Ice Cream
Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner

Fruit Cup
Celery Olives
Cold Baked Ham Candied Yams
Green Beans

T. C. I. HEAD DEAD

Birmingham, July 20. — Funeral services were held here Monday for Dr. Mell F. Jackson, manager of the Farm Products Department of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Company, and widely known advocate for crop diversification.

Dr. Jackson died last Saturday night at Mentone Springs, Ala., where he was stricken with a serious illness during a brief vacation trip. He was 57 years old.

Born on a farm near Auburn in 1880, Dr. Jackson was educated at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, where he was graduated in Agriculture, and at the Toronto School of Veterinary. He came to Birmingham shortly after the turn of the century as a practicing veterinarian. He entered the service of the Tennessee Company 27 years ago.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

PICKLE RECIPES

I have had several requests for my pickle recipes. As I can't answer all of them, I was asked to send a copy of them to the papers. It will be appreciated if you will print them.—Mrs. J. M. Roper.

7-Day Pickles

Cover 12 pounds of green tomatoes or cucumbers (sliced) with 2 gallons of water into which has been sifted and dissolved 2 cups of lime. Let stand 3 days in refrigerator. Then wash each piece well and soak 1 day in clear water (leaving the mixture in the refrigerator). Remove and soak 3 days in alum water made by dissolving 1 cup of alum in 2 gallons of water. On the 7th day boil 3 minutes in 2 gallons of water containing 1 tablespoonful of alum. Drain and boil 3 minutes in strong ginger tea, made by dissolving 2 tablespoons ginger in enough water to cover (about 2 gallons). Remove from water and drain well. Weigh, and to each pound add ¾-lb sugar, 1 tablespoon whole cloves, 1 tablespoon whole mace or 2 nutmeg quartered, 2 sticks of broken cinnamon, 1 tablespoon whole allspice, vinegar to cover, and boil 4 minutes only. Can in glass. Use only porcelain or earthenware for soaking. Be sure to keep on ice while soaking.

9-Day Pickles

Wash and slice crosswise 12 pounds or about 3 gallons of tender cucumbers (medium size). Cover with a cup of salt and boiling water (about 2 gallons). Change every day for three days. Cover next three days with alum solution, ½ cut in boiling water to cover. Change each of 3 days. Be sure to have boiling hot. Cover next 3 days with 2 cups sugar to each quart vinegar, boiling hot, with 2T mixed spices in bag. Reheat vinegar each morning. Turn spices loose last day, as they don't have to be sealed. Will keep indefinitely. Use only porcelain or earthenware.

HIS PARTY'S CONSCIENCE

The senior senator from Virginia remains his party's conscience. Speaking in the senate on the tax resolution, Carter Glass said:

"The last election was carried by people who were getting favors from the government, people who were subsidized by the government, people who were on relief rolls, and people who were sanctioning the invasion of private property and its occupation, as is being done now. We have got no government in Washington and we have got no government in some of the states, because government has surrendered to mob violence."

BLIND TO THE FACTS

Surveying the field from the vantage point of a Secretary of Labor, Miss Frances Perkins has devised a plan for bringing industrial peace to a strike-ridden land. But, by her own admission, she is "not sure that it is practical". Therefore, she will say no more about it at this time.

While this reticence and this restraint do no little credit to a lady who seldom keeps her own counsel, it is not unfair to state that the doubts she herself entertains as to the practicability of her program are probably shared by the great mass of citizens. As an arbitrator of labor disputes and as a constructive force for better relations between employer and employee, Miss Perkins has not made an impressive record. The truth is, on the contrary, that the course which she has pursued since industrial troubles became acute has served to cause dissension rather than harmony. In the General Motors strike she contributed to the common unrest and postponed the inevitable settlement by declaring that she could see nothing illegal in sit-down strikes or the seizure by workers of corporation property. In the current steel strike, she has suggested that the corporation executives be forced, by subpoena, to sit in conference with the union leaders.

A further measure of the Secretary's attitude toward past, present and possibly future disorder is contained in her statement that she regards John L. Lewis and his C. I. O. as fully responsible parties. Here, as usual, the facts are completely against her. The C. I. O., by actual record, abides by contracts only so long as it has everything it wants. No amount of pretending or specious reasoning can wash away the events of the past six months. Although suspension of work is definitely forbidden by a signed agreement between General Motors and the United Automobile Workers, the corporation has had more than a hundred strikes inflicted upon it since February. Time and again the C. I. O., through illegal picketing, violence and rioting, has violated state laws. By tampering with United States mails, it has made a mockery of federal law. By seizing the Lansing, Mich., power houses it brought all the activities of a city to a standstill for 24 hours and threw fear into thousands of people who were in no way concerned with the organization or its aspirations. Are these reckless doings the mark of responsibility or the sign of sober management?

Today, as yesterday, Frances Perkins, as the Secretary of Labor, is little more than an active ally of John L. Lewis. It is not without reason, therefore, that her department was included among the four federal agencies which the C. I. O. declared publicly and boastfully were fighting "on our side".—Boston Transcript.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

One of the most interesting stories to come out of Washington recently is the one asserting that the cordiality between President Roosevelt and John L. Lewis, head of the C. I. O., is cooling to a considerable degree. Ordinarily reports like this are discounted as so much rumor emanating from the political or thermal heat in Washington. But the fact that Louis Stark, of the staff of the New York Times, and one of the best known and most impartial writers on labor affairs in the country, saw fit to write a column or so on the subject, lends to the Roosevelt-Lewis story more than ordinary interest.

For a long time following the election and the beginning of the second New Deal term there seemed to be almost perfect accord between the chief executive and the labor leader. Miss Perkins, Secretary of Labor, had by indirection at least, shown some favor to the sit-down strike. Mr. Lewis' own organization had contributed substantially to the Democratic cammpaign fund in 1936 and had, according to reports, loaned the political organization additional sums. Again there was silence on the part of the White House regarding the strike troubles, on the theory that these were purely state matters.

But of late there has been a noticeable trend at Washington in the other direction. Miss Perkins issued a statement condemning the sit-down strike. Other leaders close to the New Deal administration were heard to intimate that something might have to be done to make labor organizations more responsible toward verbal and written agreements. Then came the famous statement of the president, dealing with the labor situation, in which he was quoted as using the classic phrase "a plague on both your houses". This was taken to mean that he was getting tired of the attitude the leaders on both sides of the strikes used. This, of course, where it has previously been believed that he was more concerned with the failure of the independent steel companies to make written contracts with the C. I. O. than with the strike tactics of the labor leaders.

Whether there is any cooling between the president and Mr. Lewis in an official or personal way remains to be seen. The president is non-committal on the subject and Mr. Lewis, of course, has said nothing. But political wiseacres in Washington are already beginning to discuss the probable effects of such a development if it proves real. Among the president's friends who want him to make a turn toward the right, there is the opinion that such a development would help the president. They point out that Lewis is now steadily losing taste with the public, that the extreme measures taken by some of the strikers have injured their cause. The action of Gov. Earle, of Pennsylvania, in calling out the militia to close the Johnstown mills has also had an unfortunate effect on public sentiment so far as Mr. Lewis and his friends are concerned. These conservative friends of the president declare then that at this time, when the tide of public opinion is running against the C. I. O., any kind of estrangement between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Lewis would help the former politically and would give his friends grounds for declaring that he had been appreciative of Mr. Lewis' aid in the campaign and went along with him as far as possible, failing to back him only when his lieutenants got out of hand and were injuring the future welfare of the country—showing that the president always has the sound, best interests of the nation at heart, etc., etc.

On the other hand there are political observers who believe that if Mr. Lewis cools to the New Deal he will cause it much injury. They believe that the formation of a real labor party will be the result and that this will take much strength from the New Deal Democrats. They admit that Mr. Lewis' party would have no chance of winning now but say that his defection next year would seriously affect the political situation in many congressional districts over the country. In the meantime Republican leaders are saying nothing. But it is noticeable that some of them are beginning to smile for the first time since 1929.

It is announced at Washington that friends of the president's court plan will not make any reply to the adverse report of the Senate Judiciary Committee. The reason they give is that they want to keep things peaceful. Another possible reason why they make no answer to the report may be that there isn't any answer.

A repentant sinner was almost in the mood to confess to the congregation, and the revivalist and many friends were exhorting and urging him to come forward. Finally the man stood up and said: "Friends, I want to repent and tell you how bad I have been, but I can't do it while the grand jury is in session."—The Better Way.

"My son went to Chicago ten years ago to make his fortune," boasted an old southern Oklahoma hill-billy to a city visitor recently.

"And what is he worth now?"

"I really don't know for sartin', but the state of Illinois is offering $20,000 for information about him," boasted the old man.—Wichita Eagle.

SOME NEW LAWS PERTAINING TO EDUCATION

During the regular session of the two special sessions of the Alabama Legislature a number of laws pertaining to education were enacted.

One of the first of these was the School Budget law which requires every board of education to live within its annual income. This law prevents County and City Boards of Education from spending for current expenses in any year more than its available funds for that year. This prevents operating deficits and the payment of interest on borrowed money. The budget has to be prepared by the County Superintendent and approved by the County Board of Education, after the State Comptroller has certified the estimated State funds that will be available. This budget must be made up and approved before July 1st of each year.

Another important educational bill enacted was the Minimum Program law. This Act provides for a minimum school term of seven months for all elementary schools. There are certain conditions that must be met. It provides that every county must levy and collect seven mill advalorem or property tax. This is a one mill county tax, a three mill county tax and a three mill district tax. This county tax of seven mills is spent in the County where collected. Not one cent of it goes out of the County. If any county fails to collect this tax the State will not make this up but it will provide the remainder of the funds necessary for the seven and nine months term. In order to provide these funds a gross receipt tax was first enacted, which was later repealed by the enactment of the sales tax law.

State ad valorem taxes collected by the county tax collectors last year amounted to $6,123,712.51. This does not include commission paid to the collectors ond assessors, but the actual amount of money received from this source by the state treasurer. The probate judges turned into the state treasury $3,603,515.69. This was for privilege taxes, deed tax and other fees the law reuires the probate judges to collect. It does not include store licenses.

Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Middlebrooks and children of Union Springs visited Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Stewart Tuesday.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Sunday school was very well attended Sunday, though a lot of our members have not been attending lately. But we want to urge all the Sunday school members to come next Sunday, as there is some very important business to attend to. Let's not let our Sunday school go down just as our revival begins. So, let us urge and beg of you to come back next Sunday and bring someone with you.

Our revival meeting comes off the second Sunday in August, and there must be some cleanng up done in the house and on the yards. The Sunday school decided on a day to meet and do this work, which is the first Friday in August. We want to ask each member of this church to come and hoes, rakes, brooms and srubbing mops. Everybody will be welcomel on this clean-up day, August 6th.

Mrs. Pete Wilson and Mrs. John Hayes, who have been on the sick list for several days are still very sick.

Mrs. Oliver Glenn visited her sister, Mrs. Elmer Rollan, of Highland community, Wednesday night.

Mrs. W. F. Glenn visited Mrs. R. J. Downs last Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Traywick were visitors of this community last Wednesday.

Mr. Ottis Glenn was a visitor of Birmingham last Wednesday night and Thursday.

Rev. A. T. Davis and wife visited Mrs. R. J. Downs last Thursday night.

Mr. Oliver Glenn visited Mr. (Pete) Latham Wilson last Wednesday night.

Several from here attended the singing at Liberty, in Autauga County Sunday.

Mr. T. J. Ratliff visited relatives and friends near Pool's Cross Roads last week end

Mr. Houston Blalock visited Messrs. Arthur and Evan Mitchell Friday night.

Mrs. Bill Wise was here visiting her mother, Mrs. R. J. Downs, the past week end.

STATE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

Montgomery, Ala., July 22.—During the nine-year period from 1927 to 1935 inclusive, 227 persons, or an average of more than 25 a year, were killed by lightening in Alabama, the recrds of the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health reveal. The 1935 total, the latest available, was 20, or four below the preceding five-year average of 24 deaths from this cause a year.

On the basis of the latest available records, Alabama's annual toll from lightening is greater than that of any other state except Georgia, which, during the seven-year period ending with 1933, had an average of 30 deaths from lightening every year.

Miss Mamie Truett and brothers have returned from a visit to friends in Headland.

Robinson Springs

We wish to thank all the singers for their help last Sunday, and we invite them back again. Everybody seemed to enjoy the singing very much.

Rev. Cost delivered a fine message to us, which everyone enjoyed. We had one person, Bro. Clifford Littleton, to unite with the church. Everybody was glad to have him unite with the church, and may God's richest blessings rest upon him and that he will be a great help to the church.

Our revival begins the fourth Sunday in July, and we invite everybody to come and help us serve the Lord. We are hoping for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit and a great blessing from God.

During the year 1936 Alabama sent 17 men to the electric chair; three were white and 14 were negroes. The sentences of three negroes and one white man were commuted to life imprisonment.

DON'T SLEEP WHEN GAS PRESSES HEART

REVIVAL AT MULBERRY CHURCH

Revival services will begin at Mulberry church on the fourth Sunday, July 25, and continue through the week. Rev. John Cunningham, pastor of the Central Baptist church, Selma, Ala., will be the visiting minister. He is a splendid preacher and a fine Christian. All the people of the community are urged to attend the services, and visitors are welcome.

Further announcements will be made on Sunday.—Rev. Paul Oden.

County Farm Agent's Notes

BEST TIMES LISTED FOR PLANTING FALL POTATOES

Auburn. — Irish potatoes should be planted in Alabama in Alabama during July and August.

"Potatoes are usually planted in north Alabama from July 20 to August 1; in middle Alabama from August 10 to 20; and in south Alabama from August 20 to September 1," reports the Alabama Experiment Station in discussing the best planting dates for the foll crop of Irish potatoes.

"The seed should be planted so that the plants are up to a stand approximately eight to 10 weeks before frost," says the station report.

"To obtain best results with the fall crop of potatoes, especially in central and southern portions of the state, a well drained, moist bottom land should be selected and the area mulched with straw. It is not as necessary to mulch in north Alabama as it is in the other sections of the state, nor is it necessary to plant on bottom land.

"If the spring crop which preceded the fall potato crop received 800 to 1,000 pounds per acre of a complete fertilizer, it is not necessary to add more potash or superphosphate. An application of 10 pounds per acre of ammonium sulphate should, however, be applied at planting time.

"If no fertilizers have been added during the spring, 800 pounds of a fertilizer analyzing 4-10-7 should be carefully worked into the soil."

UNPROFITABLE BIRDS SHOULD BE ELIMINATED

Auburn. — Alabama farmers should cull their poultry flocks, eliminating the "boarder" birds and keeping the productive ones.

Proper culling may mean the difference between a profit and a loss, says John E. Ivey, extension poultry specialist, in explaining that poor birds may be unprofitable to the extent of eating up the profits of the good birds.

A device to measure brain waves will be one of the features found in the Hall of Health and Science at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

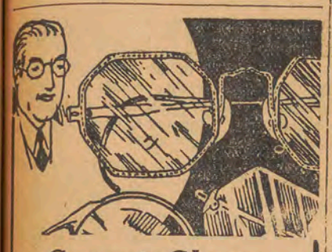
A process whereby minerals can be extracted from the sea will be demonstrated at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

PREPARE NOW FOR EGG PRODUCTION THIS FALL

Auburn. — Eggs are made before they are laid, and egg production during the coming fall and winter will depend largely on the feed and care that pullets receive during the summer months.

Pullets should have all the feed that they will eat, says John E. Ivey, extension poultry specialist. Limiting the feed for pullets during the sumber months usually results in stunted growth and low egg production. A good way to feed pullets is to give them free access to mash in self-feeders and a heavy feed of grain at night. Milk is one of the best feeds for chickens at all times for all ages, he says, and the feeding of a balanced ration promotes normal growth and increases the pullet's resistance to disease.

Keeping the pullets healthy is also important. Pullets should have access to roomy, comfortable well-ventilated houses, free from drafts and dampness. Crowding at night in poorly ventilated houses or brood coops is the starting of many poultry troubles.



Clean range is essential in profitable poultry production, he points out. Alfalfa, clover, lespedeza, or blue grass sod make suitable range for growing pullets. Succulent green feed will lower the mortality and feed costs and increases the rate of growth. They should have access to clean, fresh water at all times and to shade in hot weather. Lice and mites do most damage in hot weather. Poultry raisers should not wait until pullets are badly infested with these parasites before taking steps to control them.

The laying flock should be given good feed and care during the summer. The best hens if properly fed will continue to lay through the summer and until late in the fall. Hens that stop laying in July and August are usually low producers and should be sold, Mr. Ivey advises.

Literally, millions of workers will be used at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition. They will work a 24-hour shift without pay. They are microbes which when placed in the proper medium will transform waste into useful articles, such as medicine, fabrics, explosives and perfumes.

When Fulvio de Suvich, Italian ambassador to the United States, returned from an inspection trip of Treasure Island, site of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, he selected as a place to lunch, from all of San Francisco's eating places, the cafe of Joe DiMaggio, San Francisco youth of Italian descent, now a star outfielder for the New York Yankees.

More than $152,000,000 was expended for the Golden Gate and San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridges and the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, which is being created to celebrate the completion of the two great structures.

There Must Be A Reason For This

FOR the 12 months ending May, 1937, residential customers in 75 per cent of the towns and communities served by Alabama Power Company used electricity in amounts substantially greater than the national average.

In March, 1937,* the national average annual electricity consumption per residential customer was 743 kilowatt hours. In June of 1937, the average annual use of electricity per Alabama Power Company residential customer was 1,222.3 kilowatt hours, or almost two-thirds more than the national average!

What Can Be The Reasons For This?

Is it, perhaps, the dependable, reliable service furnished our customers? Or, possibly, the low rate at which they have for years been able to buy electricity? Or is it likely that the company's policy of constantly introducing new electrical appliances to lighten household tasks played some part?

Or is it a combination of all these things that have created among Alabama Power Company customers that degree of satisfaction with electric service and its cost that has made Alabama outstanding in the large amount of electricity used by her residents and the low price they pay for it?

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for July 25

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 12:21-28.
GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord thy God hath chosen thee to be a special people unto himself.—Deuteronomy 7:6.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Ready for the Journey.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Ready to Start Home.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How God Prepares a People.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Equipped for a New Era.

"Let my people go"—such was the word of the Lord to Pharaoh through Moses and Aaron. "Who is the Lord, that I should obey his voice to let Israel go? I know not the Lord, neither will I let Israel go" — thus hardened Pharaoh his heart. The issue was so drawn for one of the great struggles of history. On one side was a bold and mighty monarch with all the resources of the empire of Egypt, and on the other an unorganized multitude of slaves. No, wait, on the other side was Almighty God! The outcome was never in doubt and through the unspeakable horror of the plagues we come to consider the last of the ten, the death of the first-born, with which is joined the establishment of the Passover.

The Passover is of sufficient importance to justify careful study simply as the perpetual feast of Jews, but to the Christian it is also a most blessed and instructive type of Christ who is, according to Paul, "our passover" (I Cor. 5:7). Let no one who studies or teaches this lesson fail to point to "the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world" (John 1:29).

I. A Lamb Slain (v. 21).

The sacrifice appears, a gentle, submissive lamb, a male without blemish, which is separated for the giving of its life that the first-born in Israel might be saved.

Notice that God's instructions were explicit, and were to be obeyed if there was to be redemption. There are those in our day who would substitute any and every other method of salvation for God's revealed plan. They talk about character development, the redemption of the social order, peace and politics, and forget the Lamb of God.

II. A Blood Salvation (vv. 22, 23).

The act of faith in marking the lintel and the doorposts with the blood, brought salvation to the families of Israel. Had they waited until they could reason out the philosophy of their promised redemption, or had they shrunk from the blood as their covering, their first-born would have been slain. It was when the destroying angel saw the blood that he passed over them.

Many there are in our time who speak disparagingly of the blood of Jesus Christ, but it is still the only way of redemption. "Without shedding of blood there is no remission."

It ill befits an age that is so blase and sophisticated as ours to attempt to cover its dislike for God's way of redemption by suddenly becoming too cultured and sensitive to hear of the blood of the Lamb of God shed on Calvary's tree for our cleansing from sin.

III. A Perpetual Memorial (vv. 24-28).

God wants his people to remember. We, like Israel, are to remember the bondage from which we were delivered. Down through the ages the Jews have kept the Passover. Our Hebrew neighbors do it today. Let us honor them for their obedience to God's command and at the same time seek to point them to the One who is the true Passover, Jesus Christ.

IV. Christ Our Passover (I Cor. 5:7).

Let us add to the assigned lesson text this New Testament passage which speaks of our Lord Jesus Christ as "our passover . . . sacrificed for us."

The bondage in Egypt was terrible in its afflictions and sorrows, but far more serious is the bondage in which men find themselves under sin and the rule of Satan. Surely there is need of divine redemption, and there is none to bring it to us but the Lamb of God. He was the One who without spot or blemish (I Pet. 1:19) was able to offer himself in our behalf that in him we might find "redemption through his blood" (Eph. 1:7, Col. 1:14).

"Is the blood upon the house of my life? Is the blood upon the doorpost of my dwelling place? Have I put up against the divine judgment some hand of self-protection? Verily, it will be swallowed up in the great visitation. In that time nothing will stand but the blood which God himself has chosen as a token and a memorial. 'The blood of Jesus Christ, his Son, cleanseth us from all sin' " (Joseph Parker).

NEW MASTER FARMERS ARE TO BE SELECTED

Three new Master Farmers will be named by the Alaboma Extension Service and the Progressive Farmer-Ruralist during Farmers Week at Auburn, August 2-6, announces P. O. Davis, director of the State Extension Service.

A special program is being prepared in honor of the new Master Farmers to gether with those named in the past. About 25 Alabama farmers and their wives have been named Master Farmers. Invitations are being extended them to attend the Master Farmer ceremonies on the night of Wednesday, August 4.

The Master Farmer awards are not made as a result of a contest, but the selections are based on something more than the production of good crops and livestock. In addition to being good farmers, the recipients are good citizens and maintain their homes in keeping with financial means and desirable American standards.

A. E. A. REACHES HIGHEST ENROLLMENT

Montgomery, July 17. — Miss Loraine Barnes, president of the Alabama Education Association, was in Montgomery Saturday to confer with the employes of the state headquarters office. Miss Barnes came down from Montevallo, where she is serving as a member of the faculty of the summer session of that institution.

While in Montgomery Miss Barnes announced that the Alabama Education Association closed its fiscal year on June 30 with a membership of 13,602, the largest enrollment in the history of the organization.

University News

Beginning Monday, July 19, the National Youth Administration, in cooperation with the University of Alabama, inaugurated on this campus a 6-week course in home-making for rural girls, Dr. John R. McLure, Director of the Summer School, announced this week.

The course was planned by Dr. John E. Bryan, Birmingham, state director of the NYA; F. F. Newcomb, Montgomery, state director of NYA projects; Mrs. Joseph Sledge, Birmingham, first district director of the NYA; and University officials.

Like father, like son!

Following in the footsteps of his dad, Dr. Benjamin A. Wooten, professor and head of the department of physics in the University of Alabama, B. A. Wooten, Jr., will enter Columbia University in New York City next September to work for the doctorate in physics.

Young Ben has been granted a graduate residence scholarship at Columbia, the school in which his father earned the Ph. D. Furthermore, he will study under famed Dr. George Pegrma, at whose feet Dr. Wooten sat and who supervised his graduate work at Columbia years ago.

The 14 students in the College of Education, University of Alabama, who have been outstanding in scholarship during their college careers in preparation for the teaching profession, were initiated into the national honorary society of the College, Kappa Delta Pi, Saturday evening.

The nitiates included Elizabeth Littlepage, Yantley, Ala.; Faye Coates, Ft. Payne; John Steiner, University; Mrs. Herman Adair Scott, Tuscaloosa; Mrs. Ruth Miller Campa, Vernon; Elsa Lundquist, Pensacola, Fla.; Eva Lucille Wilson, Tuscaloosa; Mrs. Grace S. Hamby, Tuscaloosa; Elizabeth Lasseter, Selma; Mary Lillian Watson, Montevallo; L. Tennent Lee, Jr., Wetumpka; Robert L. Scribner, Brewton; and W. R. Riley, Decatur.

The principal address of the initiatory banquet was delivered by Dr. J. R. Sharman, visiting professor of Physical education from the University of Michigan.

JOHN L. HAYES

Selma, July 18. — John LaFayette Hayes, 69, of Maplesville, died in a Selma hospital at 10:33 a. m., Sunday.

He was a member of the Presbyterian church. Surviving is an only sister, Mrs. J. B. Hardy, of Maplesville. His wife died a number of years ago.

The late Mr. Hayes's father operated a house boat on the Alabama River at a point near Selma many years ago, and was well known in this area as a fisherman by trade. Up until two years ago, Mr. Hayes was engaged in coal mining work in Tennessee and Birmingham, but retored, returning to Maplesville to live.

The funeral was held at 5 p.m., from the chapel of the Breslin-Service Funeral Home, with the Rev. O. W. Wardlaw, pastor of the Alabama Avenue Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial was at Live Oak cemetery. Pallbearers were W. A. Gore, Percy Smith, Bernard Reynolds, and Preston Jackson.

REVIVAL AT POPLAR SPRINGS

The revival will begin at this place on the fourth Sunday in this month. Rev. Maurice Hodgens will assist the pastor, Rev. W. P Lowery with the preaching. The services will continue through the week. The public is cordially invited.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and gratitude to our many friends and relatives for their help and many deeds of kindness and sympathy shown us during the short illness and death of our dear beloved husband and father. Also for the many beautiful flowers. Especially do we thank Dr. Hayes and Mr. Cope for their kindness. May the Lord's richest blessings rest upon each and every one is our prayer.—Mrs. R. J. Downs and family.

MACEDONIA CEMETERY CLEANING

There will be a cemetery cleaning at Macedonia, Beat 11, July 23, all day. Provide for your lunch and bring the necessary tools.

HYPOID REAR AXLES

Hypoid rear axles are generally used today in all fine cars. The rear axle of any car is important, because it is usually through this particular member of the car that power is delivered to the wheels from the propellor shaft.

It is a part of the car that is so well made that usually the owner has no concern about it, so long as he lets his service man provide the essential lubrication at proper times, and makes allowances for seasons depending on the climate in which the car is used.

"Quiet operation and long life are the two advantages of the Plymouth hypoid rear axle," said C. R. Copelan, service manager of the Polk Brothers Motor Co., local Chrysler-Plymouth dealer.

"It has lowered the propeller shaft so that there is no ugly tunnel above the floor running the length of the car. The gears, due to the hypoid design, have longer and stronger teeth. This increased gear tooth contact creates a need for special lubrication."

Finest service results will be obtained from the hypoid rear axle by draining and flushing out the gears, and refilling with proper grade of lubricant at least once every 6,000 miles.

The lubricant of any car is the most important feature of keeping it in smooth operating condition, and getting maximum satisfaction. There's a right way to lubricate each part of an automobile. Service men are trained to give this highly necessary service at no extra cost to the motorist.

MAPLESVILLE

The Stamps Southernaires, of Birmingham, will be at Maplesville High School, Saturday night, July 31, at 8 o'clock. The proceeds will go for the benefit of the W. M. S.

The public is cordially invited.

W. A. FISHER WANTS HUNTERS TO STAY OFF HIS LAND

Mr. W. A. Fisher, of Sardis community, Maplesville Route 2, was in the Banner office this week and purchased a quantity of trespass notices. Mr. Fisher said that he was warning the hunters against killing his squirrels and other game. Mr. Fisher asked The Union-Banner to help him notify everybody that he would not permit hunting on his land except under very extraordinary circumstances.

SINGING SCHOOLS AT MINERAL SPRINGS AND MAYNARDS CHAPEL

I will begin a singing school next Monday, July 19th, at the Mineral Springs schoolhouse, at 8 o'clock a.m., and a school at Maynards Chapel on the same date beginning at 1 o'clock p.m. We invite everyone who is interested to meet us on the above dates and at the specified places.

All the usual courses will be taught in these schools, such as rudiments, harmony, voice and reading.—A. H. Glasscock.

MASONIC CONFERENCE

The Chilton County Masonic Conference will meet in annual session with Thorsby Masonic Lodge on Wednesday and Thursday, July 28 and 29. All Lodges composing the conference are expected to be represented, especially are the officers of the various Lodges urgd to be present. All Masons are invited to attend. Don't forget the date, July 28 and 29.—H. A. Harris, Secretary. 7-15-2t

Health authorities in Montgomery County will distribute thousands of capsules of quinine this summer and early fall to prevent recurrence of the malaria epidemic.

Thirty-nine students received diplomas at the graduating exercises conducted at the Alabama School of Trades, Gadsden. It was the largest class in school history.

Miss Bertha Perry, 20, one of seven wounded during a gun battle at Owens Chapel, near Moulton, died a week later. Deputy Sheriff Andrew Dutton was instantly killed.

Rainbow Rex, owned by Neil Luther, of Arab, was sweepstakes winner in Talladega's first horse show, which was judged by Sam L. Wooldridge, of Versailles, Ky.

The State Supreme Court refused to reconsider the 4-2 verdict by which it acquitted Sheriff J. L. Corbitt, of Henry County, of charges of "neglect, connivance and cowardice" in the lynching of a Negro.

Alabama has begun a reforestation program with the State Forestry Department furnishing trees to landowners. Col. Page S. Bunker, state forester, said a farmer might obtain as many forest tree seedlings as he desires at $1 per 1,000.

The board of directors of the new Alabama State Chamber of Commerce, meeting in Montgomery, named Dr. H. G. Dowling temporary manager and C. L. Walton, LaFayette publisher, temporary secretary. Dr. Dowling is superintendent of Tuscaloosa city schools.

Misses Dorothy Sessions and Mabel Harris have returned from a recent trip to Pensacola.

PILOT NEWS

A regular meeting of the Clanton Pilot Club was held in the Methodist church last Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, with the following officers and members present:

Gertie Fiquette, President; Edith Thompson, Secretary; Laura Little, Treasurer; Lona Thompson, Mamie C. Smith, Zora Guy Smith, Bo Searcy, Bertha Dennis, Olive Welch.

Bertha Dennis and Olive Welch were in charge of the program, which consisted of a very enjoyable contest and interesting report by Laura Little and Bo Searcy of their recent trip to the west coast and Canada. — Reporter, Olive Welch.

VISITING FROM CALIFORNIA

Mr. and Mrs. John Gerrard Smale, Jr., of Fresno, California, have been spending some few weeks with relatives and friends in Clanton, Verbena, and other places in the county. Mrs. Smale was formerly Miss Virginia Scott, daughter of the late Samuel Scott and Mrs. Scott of Verbena. They visited in Selma also while in this section.

VISITING FROM TENNESSEE

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Farley had as their week end visitors Mr. and Mrs. Bob Randall of Nashville, Mrs. Julissa Farley Willis, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jacobs of Chattanooga. Mrs. Farley and Mrs. Jacobs are staying here for some time visitnig friends and relatives.

Some weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Farley spent about 10 days in Nashville with Mr. and Mrs. Randall, visiting historical points of interest, among which was the Hermitage, the home of Andrew Jackson. Mr. Farley says the sights at the Hermitage are really worth seeing, but I don't believe he wants to take a trip to Washington in the old buggy that Jackson used for the trip. That's too slow for these modern days. Mr. and Mrs. Randall brought them back in their car.

Monday of this week Mr. and Mrs. Farley made a trip to Norwood clinic in Birmingham, where Mrs. Farley is taking treatment for her eyes.

CLANTON GOSPEL TABERNACLE

COLLEY-MULLINS

Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Colley, of Troy, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sara, to Mr. Reese Gulledge Mullins, of Clanton, the marriage to take place in August.

LAST ROUND-UP FOR DOG VACCINATION

The final wind-up schedule, and the one that will be to the advantage of everyone not to miss if you have dogs that have not been vaccinated, from 3 months old on up, and all dogs that have been vaccinated 90 days prior to this time, is as follows:

8 to 11, Monday, July 26, Jemison.

8 to 11, Tuesday, July 27, Maplesville.

8 to 11, Wednesday, July 28, Verbena.

8 to 10:30 Thursday, July 29, Pletcher.

8 to 3:30, Friday, July 30, Clanton.

Don't forget this is a state law, and all violators are subject to prosecution.

Dr. Parrish states that he has been informed that there are some who have several dogs and have had one or two vaccinated, hoping to get by on this. He warns that this will not do—that each and every dog must be vaccinated, and each dog not vaccinated will be a separate and distinct violation of the law.

HAD PICNIC SUPPER AT GULLEDGE CAMP SATURDAY

The road hands of Chilton County, together with a few invited guests, were given a supper at Gulledge Camp on the river last Saturday night. Mr. T. J. Arledge, county road supervisor, arranged the festivities for the benefit of the county road workers. Reports are that everyone had a most enjoyable time.

ICE CREAM SUPPER

There will be an ice cream supper at Pleasant Grove Baptist church on Saturday night, July 24. There will also be other contests. Everyone is invited to come and bring your extra nickles.

S. F. AUSTIN ELECTED LEGION HEAD AT GADSDEN MEETING

Montgomery Chosen For 1938 Rally; Hospital Speed Urged

Gadsden, July 20. — The Alabama Department, American Legion, today elected Dr. S. F. Austin, of Montgomery, State Commander for the ensuing year, and chose the capital city for the 1938 convention.

Mrs. Edward Fennall, of Tuscaloosa, was elected president of the Legion Auxiliary.

The election followed an address by Gov. Bibb Graves, in which the Alabama state executive pleaded for a "crusade for Americanization". Gov. Graves said "the unadulterated spirit that made this nation is centered in the South and in Alabama".

RITES FOR WALKER VANCE HELD AT LIBERTY TUESDAY

Walker Vance, age 35 years died in Birmingham Sunday at 1 o'clock. Burial was at Liberty Hill Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Dillons, of Birmingham, in charge. Services were conducted by Rev. Wilcutt of Birmingham, assisted by Rev. W. P. Lowery. Pallbearers were: Jesse Gibbs, W. R. Wamack, Ed Copeland, Walter Brock, Ray C. Downs, Billy Smith, and C. C. Wilcutt.

He had been working in Birmingham for some time.

ENGAGED IN GRAVELING LAY DAM ROAD

County road workers are engaged in graveling a portion of the road leading toward Lay Dam. Work began the middle of last week at the city limits at the one-mile post, and it is now graveled nearly to the home of Jim Parrish. We understand that it is intended to extend the gravel to the home of Cleve Littlefield near Cane Creek church. The gravel is being dug from the land of Rudolph Moates and is being loaded on the trucks by machinery, which is said to be the most economical way of loading gravel.

BRO. BRYAN IS UNCHANGED

The chaplain of Birmingham, Dr. J. A. "Brother" Bryan, remained in "just about the same condition" Wednesday at his home, where he is suffering from a heart ailment.

"He has shown no improvement and no setback," a member of his family said, "and had a fairly restful night."

It was said "Brother" Bryan's voice, which has spoken literally thousands of times during the more than 40 years he has been a Birmingham pastor, was very weak, and he speaks very little. Physicians ordered him not to speak any more than was necessary to preserve his strength.

REUBEN WYATT IN TEXAS

A card received from Mr. Reuben F. Wyatt, who is visiting at Gladewater, Texas, stated that he reached there at noon last Sunday, and was feeling fine. He planned to attend the Pan-American Exposition during this week. Mr. Wyatt writes, that he wishes the Clanton people could have a look at the East Texas oil fields.

Exhibit palaces for the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition on San Francisco Bay are laid out on a "step-saving" ground plan.

Social aspects of modern civilization such as recreation and employment of leisure time will be featured at San Francisco's 1939 World Fair.

Man Killed In Fight Late Saturday p. m.

Tommie Littleton Died From Knife Wounds Inflicted By His Brother Near Pinedale Schoolhouse

Tommie Littleton, 22-year-old son of Jim Littleton of Mt. Springs community, died at Central Alabama Hospital last Sunday morning about 10 o'clock from knife wounds said to have been inflicted by his brother, age about 27 years.

The cutting is said to have occurred shortly before midnight Saturday night on the road a quarter of a mile south of Pinedale schoolhouse, when both the brothers had been drinking. After the cutting Tommie Littleton was brought to the hospital by Albert Thompson.

It is reported by witnesses that the real trouble between the two men started when Tommie Littleton hit his brother on the side of the head with a rock.

Ernest Littleton was arrested at the home of a neighbor Sunday morning about 11 o'clock. He was placed in jail by county officers to answer the charge of murder.

Funeral serfices for the dead man were held at Mt. Springs Monday at 10 o'clock, Martin & Sons in charge. Services were conducted by Rev. J. J. DuBose, assisted by Rev. Parker.

Pallbearers were J. D. Thompson, Grady Knox, Walter Giles, Floyd Giles, Oliver Headley, Lester Connell.

Surviving is a young wife, daughter of Barney Knox, and one child, two years old; parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Littleton; two brothers, Ernest and Daniel Littleton; six sisters, Mrs. Othniel Mims, Mrs. Floyd Giles, Mrs. J. E. Jones, Mrs. Walter Giles, Misses Lorene and Myrtice Littleton.

Ernest Littleton is married to a daughter of Lee Headley, and they have two children.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS TO MEET AT THE COURTHOUSE

The Chilton County Post, Spanish War Veterans, will meet at the courthouse in Clanton next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All members are urged to attend, as some important business is to be attended to.—W. J. Best, Adjutant.

HOME FROM VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Chester G. Mims and son, Milton, returned last week from a week's vacation spent in Florida.

Mrs. Mims, proprietor of Helene Curtis Beauty Shop, located two blocks east of the city hall, wants her customers informed that she is back on the job and working every day.

The date for cleaning off the cemetery yards and house is Friday of this week, July 30th. All who are interested please come early Friday morning, and bring the necessary tools to work with.

Filling Station Broken Into Last Friday Night

The Street Car Service Station, south of Clanton, was broken into last Friday night, and the entire stock of cigarets, chewing gum, cakes, Etc., was taken. Two men were arrested by Highway Patrolmen Henley and Waites, said to have been the burglars, near Thorsby later in the night. The goods were found in the car and recovered. W. H. Sams was placed under arrest, and the other occupant of the car, John R. Conner, escaped. He was arrested at Siluria the next day, but made his escape from Officer Fallon and is still at large. Both men, thought to be ex-convicts, are from Siluria. Sams is in jail here.

I. S. LEVINE IS AWAY UP EAST

Mr. I. S. Levine, of Levine Brothers, is in New York, where he will be for a few days looking over the markets of ladies' and men's ready-to-wear. He will also go to Boston and buy a stock of shoes for the Clanton store. Thence to Hartford, Conn., where he will join Mrs. Levine and their son, Myron; from there they will go to New London Beach, Conn., for a few days. In about two weeks they hope to be well on their way back toward home in Clanton.

Accompanying Mr. Levine is his brother, Manuel Levine, an attorney of Birmingham of the firm Mullins, Deramus & Stewart.

While Dock is away the other brother, Sol, is holding the fort; Sol says he wants their friends to help him do great things here while his brother is away. He hopes to do a big business and take in lots of "dough", so that when Mr. and Mrs. Levine return they will be happier than ever that they are living in the garden spot of the world.

The Banner wishes for them all a fine and enjoyable trip and vacation. May they return with renewed energy and the determination to serve their customers with more and better merchandise and with an abundance of that good old Levine spirit of "Make our store your home while in Clanton."

NOTICE TO DOG OWNERS OUT AROUND WEST END

From West End, Clanton, comes the complaint by Mr. J. V. Mims that the trifling, roving dogs are tearing down his corn and other growing stuff Mr. Mims says that these dogs are a complete nuisance to his crop, and that he wishes the owners would do something about them. Mr. Jones addresses the following letter about these dogs:

"Notice to one and all in this vicinity: You are hereby warned to keep your dogs up, as the trifling things are ruining my crop. This is my last warning. If you do not keep your dogs from tearing down my stuff, I am going to kill them, and no fooling. —J. V. Mims, West End, Clanton."

RETURNED FROM TEXAS

Mr. R. F. Wyatt, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tippett and daughter, Ruby, and Miss Myrtis Mims returned last Friday from a week's visit to Gladewater and other points in Texas. Mr. Wyatt, who had never before been out of Alabama, states that he had a most enjoyable trip. The oil fields were a great sight to him, as well as the natural scenery out there. They visited the exposition at Dallas. All members of the party had a most enjoyable time.

Government Nursery To Be Near Thorsby

Local Kiwanis Club Realizes Cherished Objective As Project Becomes A Certainty

The Clanton Kiwanis Club is most elated over the fact that the large government nursery for Chilton County is no longer a cherished hope but that it is now a concrete certainty.

The United States Department of Agriculture has procured the Collins and Barrett property, about 120 acres, located one mile southwest of Thorsby. This is a reforestation project of the government, and this nursery will be used to germinate seed and raise seedlings of pines, locust, an dvarious other forest fillings.

During the past week a carload of piping has been received and unloaded on the premises. Twenty or twenty-five local men are at work on the place getting it in readiness for the actual work to be undertaken later. Negitiations with the Alabama Power Company to build a line there has been completed, and electricity for lights and power will be furnished there.

The county commissioners have agreed to build wide roads out to the property, sufficient to take care of the hauling and traffic to and from the nursery. There will be telephone connection either from Clanton or Thosrby. As soon as the crops are gathered from the farms there this fall, work will begin on several houses, which will be used by the supervisors and operators of the nursery. Most of the work of clearing up the premises will be done with CCC workers from the local Civilian Conservation Camp.

Officials of the Clanton Kiwanis Club have been at work on the proposition of getting this nursery located here for about one year, and much time and effort have been expended in the undertaking. The business men in this organizaton feel greatly helped up over the fact that the enterprise has become a certainly.

The work is under the supervision of Mr. J. L. Pelham and Mr. L. I. Scott.

DIXON TO SPEAK TO SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

The young men's class of Clanton Baptist Sunday School, Prof. Luther E. Little, teacher, is going to have a distinguished visitor next Sunday in the person of Major Frank Dixon, attorney of Birmingham.

Major Dixon will address the class during the regular lesson period, and several other classes of the Sunday School will have representatives to hear the address.

The class is real proud of this guest, and they want all members present next Sunday. All are urged to be present promptly at 9:45, so that Major Dixon will have ample time for his address.

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY IN THE TREE GROWING BUSINESS

Passers through Verbena south have no doubt noticed on the east side of the highway, about a quarter of a mile south of that place, a nicely cared for plat of ground with iron piping runing over it at such and such intervals. This plat of ground is the forest nursery of Alabama Power Company, which was started this Spring.

The nursery is said to have a capacity of 1½ million seedlings annually, and the purpose is to "reforest company lands adjoining its reservoirs, reduce soil erosion and supply pine for Alabama industries."

Present seed beds contain 80,000 long leaf seedlings, 350,000 slash pine, and 50,000 black locust. The pipes are the sprinkler system, water being obtained from a nearby branch.

VISITING FROM NORTH CAROLINA

Mrs. Clara B. Curry this week has as her guest her grand son, Mr. Curry Jones, from Asheville, N. C. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clint Jones of that city, and this is his first trip to Clanton. He has been visiting his aunt, Mrs. Mable Jones West, in Birmingham. The young man says that he is mighty favorably impressed with Clanton, the old home place of his father and mother. Mrs. Jones was Miss Mary Curry.

Roosevelt At Moscow Facing Waterloo

(AN EDITORIAL)

When our government was established a century and a half ago, those who laid the foundation provided a system of checks and balances. They knew that too much power in the hands of any one man is bad for all concerned, including the man who has it. So they provided a system with three separate and distinct branches of government, the executive, legislative and judicial. To eacn branch they gave duties and powers not vested in the others. They thought that they had it worked out so that no one man and no one of the three branches of government could ever get all the power in his or its hands. Of course, the founding fathers had never heard of Mr. Franklin Delano Roosevelt. They probably never figured that anyone would ever come as close as he did to taking over the powers of all three branches and becoming the undisputed master of the United States. It took this outstanding twentieth century politician, schooled in the arts and wiles of Tammany Hall, to devise a scheme for beating the Constitution around the bush and achieving by indirect means a power that would have been as absolute as if he had actually abolished both the Supreme Court and the Constitution. The scheme failed by the narrowest of margins, because there were still in the United States Senate men who could not be cajoled, bribed or browbeaten. Staking their all on the issue, they made a stand for American liberty as brave as any that was made at Bunker Hill or Brandywine. Thanks to their devoted fortitude, millions of Americans can now sleep soundly in the knowledge that their right of appeal from injustice is not limited to an appeal to the partisan judgment of the Roosevelt-Farley machine.

Mr. Roosevelt is one of those strong, forceful characters who loves power, and the more he gets the better he likes it. As president, he is head of the executive department by law. Right after he took office, he got busy and proceeded to take over the legislative branch of the government also. He succeeded perfeitly in this usurpation of power—that is to say, he succeeded until July 22, 1937, when an outraged and long-suffering Senate slapped him in the face and gave the American people the comforting assurance that we actually still have a law-making body on the banks of the Potomac, just like the school books always said we did.

In bending Congress to his will, Mr. Roosevelt was favored by circumstances. He took office in a time of depression, when people were willing to overlook a lot under guise of saving the nation. Then too, the same landslide that swept Roosevelt into office also returned an overwhelming majority of Democrats to Congress. Weak representatives and senators could always offer the alibi of party regularity and "standing by the president" every time they took another step in surrender of their powers to him. The new laws enacted by Congress at the behest of Roosevelt built up the greatest patronage machine ever seen in this country, with limitless loot for distribution among the faithful. The president could always appeal to the greed and gratitude of those who shared in the spoils of office. Finally, there was always the threat of reprisals to club rebellious ones into line. Democratic senators who dare dto differ from their chief learned that virtue is indeed its own reward. So Mr. Roosevelt took over Congress, and they hearkened unto his words, and when he sent something up to the hill marked "must" they fell all over themselves saying amen. Still under the plea of fighting the depression, Mr. Roosevelt then set out to make over our whole system of living—to make us live and work, plant and reap, according to his ideas and those of the half-baked college theorists and labor radicals who are his friends.

Mr. Roosevelt soon found, however, that he could not handle the Supreme Court that way. Members of the court did not have their hands out; they were not interested in postmasterships and building projects for the home town. They were appointed for life, and they obstinately refused to die and leave vacancies for the president to fill. In some cases, the Supreme Court ruled in favor of his New Deal enactments. In others, they disagreed with him; solidly so in the case of the NRA. Mr. Roosevelt does not like for people to disagree with him. He could not be satisfied with Congress eating out of his hand, and a Supreme Court that agreed with him part of the time. He would have nothing less than 100 per cent submission from both the legislature and the judiciary. So, since he could not control the Supreme Court, he set out to destroy it.

Not by direct means, of course, for that would have been going a bit too far, and besides, the Constitution was in the way. While he had no means of exerting direct control over the court, there was an indirect way of achieving his end. Congress could say how many members should make up the court. So Mr. Roosevelt hit on the scheme of having Congress pass a bill practically doubling the numbers of judges on the court,—the new judges, of course, to be named by the president. This novel scheme for debauching the court was carefully concealed until after the election of 1936; it would never do to let the people pass upon it. Here again, the president's schooling in

KIWANIS CLUB MEETS AT THOMASON HOTEL TONIGHT

The Clanton Kiwanis Club will hold its regular meeting at the Thomas Hotel on Thursday night of this week, beginning at the usual hour of 7:30 o'clock. This is an important meeting and the club hopes all members will attend and take part in the meeting.

HOLLIS HITEN MOVING TO CLANTON IN A FEW DAYS

Mr. Hollis Hiten, proprietor of Hiten Cabinet Shop, with his wife and little daughter, are moving to Clanton from Verbena within the next few days. They will live in east Clanton on North First Street.

Mr. Hiten and his brother, Wayne, say that their cabinet shop is getting started off fine in Clanton. They have a nice bunch of orders already, and hope to continually increase their business.

The shop is specializing this week on mouldings; they say they have everything in this line—suitable for picture frames, window and door stops, screening, and general purposes. Messrs. Hiten invite the people of Clanton to come to see them.

Retail Credit Service Is Being Formulated Here

Merchants Merchantile Company Of Washington, D. C., Putting System In Clanton; First In Alabama

Representatives are this week contacting business men of Clanton and other town of the county explaining the credit system that is proposed for this section. The work is sponsored by and will be in direct control of The Merchants Merchantile Company of Washington, D. C.

An advertisement by the company in this week's Union-Banner says to the business and professional men of Chilton County: "We will appreciate your courteous attention to the explanation of the system that is contemplated for this district."

Clanton was chosen as the first place in the State for this system to be organized, because it is centrally located and because it was adjudged by the representatives as an ideal little city for the nucleus of the movement, from which other cities near by will be worked.

This company caters to cities and towns of 10,000 population and less, and after incorporating the plan here will go to Sylacauga, Wetumpka, Alexander City, Centreville, and other places of about this size.

The Union-Banner believes that this is a most worthy movement for Clanton. All of the work is carried on in a most courteous manner, strictly in a business way, and is intended to work out to the mutual good of everybody. We believe that no business or professional man will make a mistake in co-operating with The Merchants Merchantile Company, but that it will prove a distinct benefit to everybody concerned.

CLANTON GUESTS HONORED

Mrs. Homer L. Hagan of Woodlawn was hostess at a luncheon Thursday, complimenting Mrs. Jadie Barnett and Miss Rebecca Cleckler of Clanton.

The attractive home was decorated with summer flowers.

Those present on this occasion were Mrs. W. F. Mims of Jacksonville, Fla., Mrs. Georgia Hagan, Mrs. O. E. Blalock, Mrs. Sam O'connor, the honorees and the hostess.

CLANTON MOTORS SHOWING LINCOLN-ZEPHYRS FRIDAY

New Electric Line To Be Built Into Mobile

Alabama Power Company Is To Spend $1,700,000 On 187-Mile Connection To Mitchell Dam Soon

Thomas W. Martin, president of the Alabama Power Company, last week made public the utility's plans to erect an additional high-voltage transmission line 187 miles long from Mitchell Dam to Mobile, which, with all equipment, will entail an expenditure of more than $1,700,000.

The power company's plans were disclosed in a prepared statement released simultaneously with the filing with the Public Service Commission of a petition of convenience and necessity. Mr. Martin said construction would begin immediately upon issuance of the certificate, and would be completed by July 1, 1938.

President Martin accompanied his statement with a map showing the direction to be followed by the proposed line as well as the present network of Alabama Power Company's high voltage transmission lines.

While no reference appears in the Martin statement to the recently announced plans of the Aluminum Ore Company to erect a $4,000,000 plant in Mobile, it was known at the time the latter plans became public that the new transmission line was contemplated and that all surveys for it had been completed.

Mr. Martin said: "The new line, which will interconnect with the company's six hydro-electric plants on the Coosa and Tallapoosa Rivers, and with its Gorgas steam plants, will connect at Selma with lines now serving that area, and from there will extend to Mobile. The route will be through Chilton, Autauga, Dallas, Wilcox, Clarke, Washington, and Mobile Counties. The line will be a companion to another now serving Mobile at a distance approximately 50 to 60 miles eastward and thus result in a new power 'loop' for South Alabama. In the event of a disturbance on one of the lines, the loop arrangement will permit service to be continued until the localized trouble can be cleared up. This will not only aid to the dependability of the company's service in South Alabama, but will result in a substantial increase in power supply to meet the demand of existing and new industries coming into that section."

CREEL REUNION

The 12th annual meeting of the Creel reunion will be held at the Majestic schoolhouse, 18 miles north of Birmingham, 3 miles northeast of Morris, and 5 miles southeast of Warrior on Wednesday, August 4, 1937. We invite everybody to meet with us in our great picnic.—J. E. Creel, Sec'y.

DR. EZELL AND FAMILY ARE NOW ON VACATION

Dr. S. J. Ezell and family left Monday morning on vacation. They will spend till August 1 at Chesnee, S. C., with their kinfolks. They go to Ridgecrest, N. C., August 1 to 14, then back by Chesnee on their return home.

On next Sunday, August 1, Rev. W. A. McClure, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McClure, will fill Dr. Ezell's pulpit at the morning services. Rev. McClure is a strong young preacher, and the public is invited to hear him.

Musical Concert At The Courthouse Friday P.M.

Prof. W. M. Devaughn and his two singing classes, from Concord and Enterprise, will put on a concert at the court house Friday night, July 30, beginning at 7:45 o'clock. This will be the closing exercises of the two schools which have been in progress for the past month.

The program will last for about one and one-half hours, and will consist of class singing, quartets, trios, duets, solos, Etc. Prof. Devaughn says that he believes this will be one of the best programs of the kind ever put on in this county. The class singing especially promises to be really good.

The admission charge will be 15 cents to everybody—grown-ups as well as children. This price is within the range of all, and should not deprive anyone of hearing the program. Everybody is invited to attend.

A special feature of the program will be singing by Minzo C. Jones and his trio, from Bessemer. This is said to be exceptionally good.

ALL DAY SINGING AT SILURIA FIRST SUNDAY

There will be an all day singing at Siluria school building the first Sunday in August. All Chilton County singers are invited to bring their new books and dinner and spend the day. Some good quartets will be on hand to assist in the program.

NIX TO PREACH AT LIBERTY

The young preacher, Rev. A. W. Nix, will preach at Liberty Hill on Sunday, August 1, at 11 o'clock in the morning and at 8 o'clock in the evening. Everybody is invited to hear him.

MARRIED AT COTTON MILL

Mr. John F. Poole was married to Mrs. Jessie Mae Poole at Clanton cotton mill on Monday, July 19. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Ernest Jones.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

"The Bible is so full of contradictions", a young man said one time to the writer. What wonderful confidence this young man must have had in his intellect! It never occurred to him that the trouble was not with the Bible. The trouble was with his head and heart. In the first place, he was not a Christian and the Bible teaches that a person cannot possibly understand the Word of God unless he is a Christian. In the second place, the young fellow never had studied the Bible. I don't suppose he could quote a half dozen verses accurately. He had given far more time to the multiplication table than he had to the Book of Books. Dr. Robert Dick Wilson, who was probably the outstanding scholar of the last 50 years, said that no man is prepared to be a critic of the Old Testament unless he has studied it for 50 years, and he must begin with a thorough knowledge of the language and with a spiritual mind.

Yes, there are many things in the Bible that are too deep for me. The greatest spiritual scholars the world ever knew have dived into the depths of the Word and have come back to the surface saying, "We couldn't touch bottom". However, it is a blessed thought that the way to heaven is clear. There is no obscurity here. "By grace are ye saved through faith." In other words, you can't earn salvation. You can't buy it. You can't pay for it after you get it. "The gift of God is eternal life". Do you want to know the way to heaven? Jesus says, "I am the way". The Bible says, "He that hath the Son hath life". If I have accepted Him, I have Him. If I have Him, the Book says I have life. It is a logical proposition. Can you call God and heaven and angels to witness to the fact that you have, the best you know how, honestly, sincerely, definitely accepted Jesus Christ as your personal Savior? If you can, then you do not have to be cast about upon a sea of doubt. Jesus said, "He that cometh unto me I will in no wise cast out".

At the close of the last fiscal year, September 30, there were 134 county convicts in the state prison camps who could neither read nor write. Of the total number of county convicts on hand at that time, 363 were employed at the time of their arrest, and 303 were unemployed.

Keeping new tree plantings cultivated to free them of weeds is probably the most practical method of protecting them from the effects of the drouth.

SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for August 1

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 13:17-22; 14:10-15.

GOLDEN TEXT—And the Lord shall guide thee continually.—Isaiah 58:11.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Shining Cloud.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Forward March!

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How God Leads Today.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—A Nation Following God's Leadership.

The destinies of the nations are in the hands of God. Mighty are the warriors, learned are the advisors, clever are the diplomats, and when they have exercised all their human ingenuity and have only brought themselves and their nations to "Wits' End Corner," God must lay hold and bring order out of chaos. Happy is that people where rulers recognize God and seek his guidance.

Israel through the human instrumentality of Moses was ruled by God. He had prepared for them a leader and had prepared the people to follow that leader. Now he brings them forth out of their bondage.

I. "God Led Them" (Exod. 13:17-22).

It is significant that he did not lead them by the easy way to Canaan, by the short route through Philistia but rather led them south into the wilderness.

How often it seems to us that we could improve on God's ways. Suffering, sorrow, affliction, we would shun and would go the quick easy road, where all is bright and happy. But God's way is the best way, even though it leads through the wilderness.

His purpose for Israel was that they might not be disheartened by the warlike Philistines (v. 17). Thus it was really his loving-kindness that sent them the long way. See Prov. 14:12, and Prov. 10:29.

Another and equally important purpose of God was that the undisciplined multitude might in the trials and responsibilities of their journey through the wilderness be prepared to enter the promised land.

The miraculous pillar of cloud and fire was God's constant assurance of his presence with them.

Hardly had Israel withdrawn, and the wail over the death of the firstborn in Egypt ceased when Pharaoh regretted that he had permitted his slaves to escape, and set out in pursuit. He represents the world, the flesh, and the Devil in their relentless efforts to hold back those who would follow the Lord. Making a decision for Christ, and experiencing his redemptive power does not mean that the enemy has given up. Temptations, doubts, trials, will come. When you come up out of Egypt do not be surprised if Pharaoh pursues you.

The situation could not have been more difficult. Hemmed in by the flower of Egypt's army, with the Red sea before them—a group of men not trained in warfare—with women and children to care for, and God forgotten in their disbelief and discouragement.

Moses, who was their great leader in the hour of triumph, tastes the bitterness of their hatred and unbelief in the hour of trial. A leader of men for God must know that God has called him and have faith in his almighty power, for in the time of crises he will find those whom he leads ready to condemn him. What is the solution?

III. "Stand Still" (vv. 13,14).

Sublime in his confidence in God, Moses bids the people to cease their petty complaining, to abandon their plans for saving themselves. "Stand still, and see the salvation of the Lord" (v. 13).

Perhaps these lines will be read by some Christian who is fretting and fussing, bearing all the burdens of the universe on his shoulders. Be still, my friend. God is able to care for you, and for all the burdens which you are needlessly trying to bear. Trusting God will result in real spiritual progress.

IV. "Go Forward" (v. 15).

Humanly it was impossible, but "with God all things are possible" (Mark 10:27). When every circumstance says "Stop," when the counsel of men is against attempting anything, when human leadership seems to be lacking—just at that hour God may say, "go forward."

If every true Christian who reads these words will respond to the Lord's command, "Go forward," hundreds of locked church doors will be opened, new Sunday schools will gather children to hear God's Word, men and women will be won for Christ. Let us "go forward." The God who brought Israel dryshod through the Red sea is just the same today!

CHEVROLET MOTORING TIPS

Only a few days ago, the newspapers carried a story about a man who had made a 17,000-mile motor trip without once blowing his horn. This driver emphasized the point that he handled his car in such a way as to obviate the need of warning signals at any time. And in spite of the fact that all cars have horns as standard equipment today, his example is one which the average motorists could probably study and need.

Driving, under the traffic conditions which prevail in most places today, is a job which requires the undivided attention of the man or woman at the wheel. The modern car is built to respond quickly to the various controls; but the controls tnemselves still have to be operated by human agency, and it is just as vital as it ever was that the driver concentrate on driving. He can do this best if he maintains a calm state of mind. And it is hard to remain calm and cool when horns are screeching on all sides.

Many a farmer who seeded rye last fall for pasture was delighted with the abundance of early feed he got this spring.

MT. CARMEL

Last Sunday was our regular singing day, and what a singing it was. If you were not there, you missed a great, glad day spent in singing the praises of our King. We were so glad to have all who attended, and hope you enjoyed it all. We invite you all back again next year at our annual singing.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Sewell and Mrs. Silas Oden spent last Thursday and Friday in Bessemer with their son and brother, Curtis.

Several from here attended the revival and baptizing at Liberty Hill last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Patterson and sons, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Patterson and baby, all of Clanton, spent a while Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Silas Oden.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Sewell of Bessemer are the proud parents of an 8-pound girl, born July 16, who has been named Dorothy Louise.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Y. Higgins and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burden and son, all of Montgomery, visited relatives in this community last Saturday and Sunday.

Dairy cows should be dry a month, and preferably six weeks, before freshening. Fall freshening cows will usually receive sufficient feed from pasture alone if good pasture is available.

PROVIIDENCE—BEAT 13

There will be a cemetery cleaning at Providence, Beat 13, on Thursday, August 12. Everybody please come.

The revival will begin at this place the third Saturday in August. 7-29-2t

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

FARMERS URGED TO GROW LEGUMES THIS WINTER

Auburn. — Experiments show that one of the most economical ways for farmers to increase their corn and cotton yields is to plant winter legumes in September and October and let the grow during the winter months.

"This being true we are urging the farmers to grow more vetch, Austrian peas and crimson clover this fall than ever before," says P. O. Davis, director, Alabama Extension Service.

In an 11-year experiment the average annual production of corn folowing winter legumes has been 34.2 bushels per acre compared with only 7.7 bushels with no legumes, reports Dean M. J. Funchess, director of the Alabama Experiment Station, ni emphasizing the importance of farmers growing more legumes.

For the same period the average production of cotton has been 1,433 pounds of seed cotton following legumes compared with 432 pounds on adjoining plots without legumes.

In a 2-year rotation on the Sand Mountain and Tennessee Valley substations the turning under of vetch ahead of corn has increased the corn yield 23.7 bushels per acre. It also increased the seed coton yield the following year 248 pounds, reports Dr. J. W. Tidmore, head of the department of agronomy and soil.

Winter legumes — Austrian winter peas, hairy vetch, and crimson clover — should be planted the last half of September and the first part of October. However, now is a good time for farmers to make ararngements for their planting seed, inoculation, and fertilizer.

SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE

The control of erosion by the use of close growing crops and other forms of vegetation with which farmers are familiar is becoming more and more important in the demonstration work in the Soil Conservation Service area near Clanton, according to James H. Wood, Superintendent.

Properly built terraces, contour cultivation, and contour furrows in pastures are important phases of a complete program of soil and water conservation, Mr. Wood Pointed out. But a large part of the protection can be accomplished by the use of vegetative cover which provides a return from the land.

Strips of close growing crops planted between strips of clean tilled crops such as cotton and corn prevent excessive soil losses in cultivated fields. The use of legumes in strip crops and strip rotations increases the fertility of the soil. Trees on the steeper slopes provide a variety of wood products.

Many gullies are now being stabilized by the simple process of seeding them to lespedeza or other suitable forms of vegetation and mulching to protect the new growth. Where dams are used in gullies they serve a temporary purpose by collecting silt in which vegetation can become established.

A change in the method of planting crops now grown on the farm will often do much to control erosion by giving the crops an opportunity to be of maximum benefit, when used in conjunction with mechanical aids such as terraces and contour furrows. But usually more close growing crops are needed to provide effective vegetative control, Mr. Wood said.

PLANS ARE COMPLETE FOR FARMERS' WEEK

Auburn. — Plans have been completed for 750 to 1,000 Alabama farmers and farm women to attend Farmers' Week here August 2-6, announces P. O. Davis, director, Alabama Extension Service, in releasing copies of the program for the week to county farm and home agents throughout the state. Every county in the state will be represented by a large delegation.

The program will open Monday night, August 2, and will close about noon Friday, August 6. Educational and recreational programs have been prepared for both men and women during their stay in Auburn. State and national leaders have accepted invitations to take part on the programs.

Annual meetings of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation and the Alabama Council of Home Demonstration Clubs will be held during the week, according to J. Litt Edwards, Selma, and Mrs. John Lee, Hamburg, presidents.

Where pastures are becoming short or drying up it will pay to increase grain feeding for dairy cows. A grain mixture of 2 parts of corn and cob meal, 1 part of ground oats, and 1 part of cotton seed meal will be satisfactory to use at this time.

A dirty separator will not skim efficiently.

COWS NEED FRESH AIR, WATER AND SUNSHINE

Auburn. — One of the best ways to cause cows to give more milk at a smaller cost is to give them plenty of fresh water to drink, fresh air to breathe, and sufficient sunlight and shade to enjoy.

"Milk is about 87 per cent water, and large amounts are needed both in feeds and liquid form for heavy production of milk," says F. W. Burns, live stock specialist of the Alabama Extension Service, in pointing out that a cow will not drink all the water she needs unless she can get it frequently.

Dr. "Coos" Neighbors, of Goodwater, was in Clanton Tuesday.

FARM MACHINERY SHOULD BE STORED FOR WINTER

Auburn. — Now is a good time for farmers to store the farm machinery used in making the present crop, says J. P. Wilson, agricultural engineer of the Alabama Extension Service, in advising that the machines be well cleaned, painted, greased and oiled before being stored.

"Clean all parts, both wood and metal, to prevent rusting and rotting by the chemical reaction of foreign matter left on surfaces," he suggests.

"Grease with cup grease or old motor oil all polished surfaces such as plow shares and wings.

"Paint all surfaces that are exposed. This paint may be of any color desired, but be sure that it is of a good grade that will protect the surface.

"Store all machines out of the sun and rain. This will make paint and grease do a better job of protecting tools, as well as prevent warping of wood sections."

BEST WOODS NAMED FOR MAKING FEED TROUGHS

Auburn. — Cypress, redwood, chestnut, and white oak are some of the best woods for farmers to use in making feed troughs, reports the Forest Products Laboratory, U. S. Forest Service, to Lyle Brown, forester of the Alabama Extension Service. Southern yellow pine will also stand rough treatment where the tendency to rot is not too great.

No. 1 and No. 2 boards are ordinarily recommended in the soft woods for large troughs, but a soft wood grade as low as No. 4 can sometimes be used to advantage in troughs where the lumber is cut to short lengths. When hardwoods are used, the No. 2 common grade is most popular for the longer troughs, but if the material is being cut to short lengths, the No. 3 hardwood grade can sometimes be used satisfactorily.

STATE CONSERVATION NEWS

1,500 Young Quail

Over 1,500 quail have been hatched at the state game farm in Autauga County since the first of June, exceeding estimates made before the first eggs were placed in the incubator on May 15, this year. All of the brooder pen sare full of little birds ranging in age from a few days old to six weeks, and additional pens are being constructed. Progress in the Conservation Department's niitial effort to raise game birds for restocking fields has been encouraging; 74 hens have produced all of the 1,500 eggs, and they will continue to lay up into the month of September.

Rodeo Date Near

The lure of the silver king and other fighting game fish will draw sportsmen from all over Alabama and other states to historic Dauphin Island in lower Mobile Bay for the opening of the 9th annual Alabama Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo August 9, 10, 11. While the registration already exceeds that of last year, there is still time for deep sea anglers to enroll for three days of red-blooded sport and recreation off Alabama's beautiful coast. Thousands of pounds of game fish are caught annually in competitive contests for which valuable prizes are awarded. Life, popular pictorial magazine, is sending a staff to cover the rodeo this year.

Sportsmen's Dues

The use of special excise taxes already collected by the federal government on shot guns, rifles and ammunition for a nation-wide wild life conservation movement is proposed in a bill now pending before the national congress. The measure provides for the joint activity of state and federal agencies in a continent-wide restoration for all species of wild life. Revenue from taxes on sportsmen's equipment would be allocated to the states, and no new taxes would be involved. Write your senator or congressman and ask him to help the cause by voting for the wild life measure.

Spring pigs should be rushed for the early fall market. Green soy beans should be used, if available, to reduce the amount of grain for each 100 pounds of pork produced.

Ewes should be bred to pure bred rams in August for early spring lambs. Early lambs can be gotten to market before the northern lamb crop moves and will usually sell at a higher price.

UNITED STATES MARINE CORPS

Examination of 50 applicants for entrance in the United States Marine Corps will be held at the Marine Corps Recruiting District Headquarters, Municipal Auditorium, Macon, Ga., during August, it is announced by Major J. M. Tildsley, officer in Charge.

The Marine Corps offers great opportunities in education, athletics and travel. Young men who can pass the physical and mental tests are selected for a variety of duty and may be sent to a detachment aboard a battleship, cruiser or airplane carrier, or to duty at some barracks in the United States or foreign station. Others will have opportunity, after the usual training period, in which all Marines participate upon entering the Corps, to be selected for technical schooling in aviation, radio, motor mechanics, etc.; all have opportunity, regardless of duty and station, to enroll in the Marine Corps Institute, where they may learn free of charge some trade, art or science.

Young men in this vicinity between the ages of 18 and 28, ranging from 64 to 74 inches, single, without dependents, fair education and of good character, who desire information as to enlistment may procure same by writing or visiting the Marine Corps Recuiting Station at Macon.

Application blanks will be sent on request, Major Tildsley stated.—J. M. Tildsley, Major, U. S. Marine Corps.

What Irvin S. Cobb Thinks about

Semi-Nude Fashions.

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—Clothes may not make the man, but leaving them off certainly makes him foolish. And that goes double for the women.

Whence arises the present-day delusion that going about dressed at half-mast enchances the attractiveness of the average adult? Our forbears of the Victorian era wore too much for health or happiness or cleanliness. But isn't it worse to offend the eye all through the lingering summer by not wearing enough to cover up the blotches, the blemishes, the bulges and the bloats that come with maturity? Sun baths should be taken on a doctor's prescription, not at the corner of First and Main.

Irvin S. Cobb

Women old enough to know better are the worst offenders, seems like. If only they'd stop to consider that the snail, which is naked, would lose in any beauty contest against the butterfly, which wears all the regalia the traffic will stand!

But even though it's for their own good, you can't tell 'em. If somebody started the fad of going at the game while practically nude, inside of two weeks mumblepeg would be the national pastime—until somebody else thought up a game to be played by folks without a stitch on. Or anyhow, just a stitch here and there.

Doctoring Movie Scripts.

USUALLY they lay these yarns on Mr. Sam Goldwyn, who thrives upon them and goes right on turning out successes, his motto being, "What's grammar as between friends so long as the box office shows results?" But, for a change, this one is ascribed to another producer, who proudly describes himself as a self-made man, which, according to his critics, is relieving the Creator of a considerable responsibility and putting the blame where the blame belongs. They also say no self-made man should stop with the job only partly finished. But then Hollywood is full of parties trying to push Humpty Dumpty off the wall.

As the tale runs, this gentleman entered the conference chamber at his studio and as, with a kingly gesture, he laid down a fat sheaf of typewritten pages, said to the assembled intellects of his staff:

"Jumpmen, in all my experience in the picture business this is what you might call unique. Here is absolutely, posstiffly the only poifect script I have ever read in my ontire life. I tell you that before we start altering it."

* * *

Strikes Versus Wars.

DID you ever notice how like a war is a strike?

The operator and his operatives are the shock troops that suffer the heaviest casualties. The owner risks his profits and perhaps his market and sometimes his plant. The worker gives up his wages, frequently his job, occasionally his life.

Stockholders see dividends vanishing and investments shrinking. Citizens see their communities disrupted. Women and children go on short rations, many a time go actually hungry. For, as in a war, the innocent non-combatants bear most grievous burdens.

Those who really garner in the spoils—professional agitators; financial buzzards eager to seize on bankrupted industries; lawyers with their writs and their injunctions; imported thugs masquerading, for one side or the other as honest mechanics—these might be likened to stay-at-home diplomats and profiteers and hired mercenaries who induce friendly nations to turn enemies so they may gain their own selfish ends.

After it's over, we realize that almost any strike might have been averted had common sense and common justice ruled, rather than greed and entrenched stubbornness and fomented hate. And the same is true of almost any war. For every real benefit to humanity came out of peace and arbitration, not out of battle and destruction.

And here's the final parallel: Ultimately, the supposed victor finds himself the actual loser. Tell me which army won any great strike—or any great war—and I'll tell you who won the San Francisco fire and the Galveston flood.

Crater Lake in Oregon

Crater Lake in Oregon has the most romantic geologic history of any lake in the United States. Its rim was once the base of a volcanic mountain which collapsed and sank into the earth. Later it cooled, springs came out of the sides, snow collected and it filled with water. It is 6 miles in diameter and contains the bluest water known to exist naturally today. There is no outlet and no streams running into it and yet the water is always fresh.

Searchlight Spots 'Em

Distance may hold anything, unsuspected, until the searchlight sweeps through the night and spots it.

Often we wonder why we can't save. We sail along through life, and in the dark something smashes our plans. The big opportunity comes, and we haven't anything saved up for it.

Try shopping from the ads in this newspaper. Soon your experience will be the searchlight that will show you what you have been bumping up against or bumped in the past. Then you'll keep sailing right along our ad course.

THORSBY SCOUTS VISIT THE CHEROKEE NATIONAL FOREST IN TENNESSEE

Leaving Thorsby at 2 o'clock Monday morning, July 19th, Troop one starts for a five day's camp in the great Smoky Mountains, Tennessee. Going through Birmingham, Alabama, Trenton, Georgia, Chattanooga and Cleveland, Tennessee, the Scouts arrived at the Cherokee National Forest at 5 o'clock. Permission to camp in the forest is obtained at the Ranger's Station. The Scouts find that the station has a radio broadcasting and receiving set besides the regular telephone system. The Rangers can talk to each other by radio, which is a great help especially during a forest fire. In case of fire a portable broadcasting set is attached to a truck which goes to the scene of the fire, enabling the Ranger to send out information about the fire. The scouts listens in while the Ranger broadcasts and receives messages to and from a fellow Ranger.

Having obtained camping permission the scouts go to the foot of Haw Knob, which is 6,062 feet high. Here camp is made, and here also, rain begins to fall. A good mountainer invites the scouts to sleep on the porch of his cabin, which suits them fine. During the night they are rewarded with a boxing match between a house cat and a skunk. Needless to say that the cat gets the count of ten, though it is the first to leave the ring. But the cat comes back and insists on sleeping on one of the scout's blanket, which is not very agreeable.

Tuesday morning finds the scouts climbing Haw Knob. After climbing four miles the fog and rain forces them to stop, build a fire and dry their clothes. The rain continues to fall so the boys get into the truck and go back down the mountain, camping on Telicie River Tuesday night.

The clouds and fog are gone next morning and the scouts find a new route up Haw Knob. They get within four miles of the summit and the gasoline runs too low to continue in the truck. So the boys unload, pack a light lunch and strat hiking to the top. There is no fear of becoming thirsty because numerous springs furnishes plenty of ice-cold water. The boys take advantage of the cold water and make lemonade. About a quarter of a mile from the top the timber line ends, leaving only bushes. Then on the very top only grass grows. The dividing line of Tennessee and North Carolina goes over the top of Haw Knob. The Scouts stand in North Carolina while the cameraman stands in Tennessee and takes their pictures.

Two o'clock finds the boys back at Stratton's Gap, where the truck was left, plenty tired. The scouts camp in Stratton's Gap, North Carolina, Wednesday night and find it is too cold for comfort without a fire burning all night. After the evening meal the Barber Shop Quartet furnishes us plenty of music which never fails to put many of the fellows to sleep.

On Thursday the scouts see Bald River Falls on Bald River, which flows into Telico River. Leaving the Cherokee National Forest the scouts start toward home, arriving at Cane Springs, Georgia Thursday night, where they camped.

The scouts get back to Thorsby at 12:30 Friday, having had a fine time, and having seen some picturesque country and full of tall tales.

Those who made the trip are: Mr. R. N. Minor, Rev. Lawrence Stanley, Phares Raybon, Robert Minor, J. W. Sorrell, Carrie Berry, Billy Wagner, H. L. Collins, Carl and John Foss, Williams Hicks and Leonard Bosworth.

COUNTY WIDE CAMP ENJOYED THOROUGHLY BY 4-H CLUB BOYS

The county wide camp was held July 21, through July 23, at Blue Creek Camp. The boys arrived and registered during the morning in time to have a swim before lunch was served.

A menu was worked out on individual basis and each boy brought his food unprepared. It was turned over to the manager of Blue Creek Camp, Mrs. Claude Billingsley, who saw to it that each and every one had three hardy meals every day, well prepared.

At the beginning of camp it was announced there would be three prizes given to the champions of the horse shoe tournament, best stunt on stunt night and the best camper.

Each room got up a stunt of their own ability and presented it Thursday night. These stunts were varied and some of them were quite amusing. At this particular time the boys had an audience composed of the Methodist Sunday School class and they seemed to enjoy the stunts as much or more than the boys. Mrs. Billingsley, who was the judge gave room 4 first place, which was a watermelon eating contest with the boys hands tied behind them. The winner had to eat all the watermelon clear down to the white with no pink spots left with no aid other than his mouth. Carl Parker and Will Porter Rush tied on this. Their entire room was awarded a box of candy.

Other activities that the boys enjoyed very much were boating and swimming, which was done at regular intervals during each day of the camp.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank each and every one who took part in the making of the camp an enjoyable one for the 4-H boys. I want to especially thank Mrs. Claude Billingsley and Mr. Mallie Gulledge for their sincere and hearty cooperation during the camp. Through everyone's cooperation there were no accidents and no hard feelings between any one during the entire camp.

Mrs. Connatser Honors Miss Vines, Bride-Elect—

Mrs. S. M. Connatser entertained Wednesday afternoon, July 21, at a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Clara Vines of Thorsby, whose marriage to Mr. Z. L. Massey of Waynesville, N. C., will take place some time in August.

The honoree's chair was beautifully draped in white under an arch of English ivy, intermingled with dainty white flowers. She was beautiful in a gown of yellow moussiline de sate embroidered in tiny brown dots. Her flowers were yellow snapdragons and maiden-hair fern. The bride's book was presided over by Mrs. Connatser. Mesdames Lena and Dorothy Vines, Agnes Mims, and Eula Mae Parrish, sister-in-law and sisters of the honoree, also Miss Mary Carr Mims, a niece, and Misses Jessie Mims, Mary Connatser, Ruth Cox and Hattie Porter, stood in the receiving line. Little Misses Mary Evelyn Vines and Wilma Parrish, nieces of Miss Vines, waited at the front door to invite the guests in. Guests were served from a beautifully appointed table centered by a large cut-glass punch bowl over which Misses Mary Louise Reinhardt and Willie Connatser presided. The house was beautifully decorated throughout with cut flowers, the living room being decorated in green and white. About 65 guests called during the evening and many others sent gifts. Miss Vines received many beautiful and useful gifts, which signifies the esteem in which she is held.

Thorsby Institute News

Miss Onita Klingelhoefer, teacher of mathematics and Bible at Thorsby Institute, acted as a counselor for girls at a recent missionary conference at Northfield Seminary, Northfield, Mass. —the school founded by the great evangelist, Dwight L. Moody.

Miss Lois Townsley, newly elected member of Thorsby Institute faculty, is working this summer as an extension worker with children and young people in a mining village, Ducktown, Tenn.

Those who are keeping the Thorsby Institute library open this summer are finding that Saturday is not a popular day with patrons of the library. Accordingly they have decided to return to Friday. Beginning with July 30, the library days will be Tuesday and Friday for the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Porch and daughter, Harriet Kate, of Atlanta, Ga., are visiting relatives at Mitchell Dam this week.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and gratitude to our many friends for their help and kindness shown us during the death of our beloved brother, Walker Vance. We too, want to thank everybody for the beautiful flowers.

May the Lord's richest blessing rest upon each and everyone is our prayer.—Mr. D. T. Melton and family.

LAY DAM 8—SYCAMORE 7

Lay Dam beat the fast Sycamore Mills team at Lay Dam Sunday in a game that gave the fans their money's worth in thrills. The Millers took a 2-run lead in the third inning, but Lay Dam tied it in their half. Both teams scored a run in the fourth. The Millers made one in the fifth to forge ahead, and it was not until the seventh that Lay Dam could do anything about it; then the Kilowatts pushed over four runs to lead, 7 to 4. Sycamore took advantage of a bit of loose fielding in the ninth to score three runs and tie it at 7-all. In the last of the ninth, with a man on third and two away, Whitaker hit a high bounder that hung in the air long enough for him to beat it out for a hit, bagging the ball game.

Whitaker with 3 for 5, and Williamson and Lakeman with 2 for 4, led the Dammers, while Limbaugh with 3 for 4, Duke with 2 for 3, and Weeks with 3 for 5, led the Millers.

CEMETERY CLEANING

There will be a cemetery cleaning at the Maplesville cemetery next Thursday and Friday, August 29th and 30th. All persons interested in the cleaning of the cemetery, please come or send a hand with necessary tools to work with.—Rube Bearden.

CANE CREEK

Last Sunday was our regular preaching day. Our crowd was small but our service was good. The revival begins the second Saturday in August. We are going to strat a home coming service on the second Sunday and continue through the week. We take this means to invite all our old members to come back home to one more revival. If your membership is in some other church, we will be glad to have you anyway.

We are praying for this to be one more revival in the old time way. There are so many around here who needs to know God. Be sure and come if we don't do you anygood, we certainly won't do you any harm.

We have Sunday School every Sunday at 10 o'clock, and B. Y. P. U. at 7:30.

Come to our service if you don't find a warm welcome here tell us, and if you do tell others.

MRS. LAURA ANN SIMS

Mrs. Laura Ann Sims, age 77, died at the home of her son, J. L. Sims, Plantersville Route 2, Tuesday night of last week. The funeral was held Wednesday at 11 a. m., at Alpine and burial was in the adjoining cemetery. Rev. J. H. Moore officiated; Spigener directing.

Surviving is one son, J. L. Sims, of Plantersville.

MT. PLEASANT CLUB

The Mt. Pleasant Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday, July 6, at the home of Mrs. Cleve Thomas.

The meeting was called to order at 2:30 o'clock by the president, Mrs. Emmett Smith, and the roll was called and the minutes read by the secretary, Mrs. Stanley Kennedy. After the Bible reading, the 100 Psalm, we had a splendid talk on the Farm Bureau by the Farm Bureau Chairman, Mrs. Emmett Reid, and two others. Everyone then repaired to the kitchen where a completion of the salads and desserts demonstration was carried out by the leaders. Meeting was adjourned by repeating the club pledge.

We were glad to welcome three visitors to our club. We are always glad to have visitors at any time and especially those who may become interested enough in the culb work to join our club or to encourage club work in their own community.

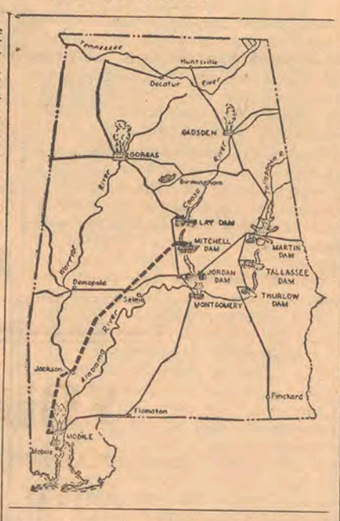
"SERICE IS OUR MOTTO"

NEW HIGH VOLTAGE LINE FOR SOUTHWEST ALABAMA

THOMAS W. MARTIN, President of Alabama Power Company, today authorized the following statement:



"Construction of an additional high-voltage electric transmission line 187 miles long from Mitchell Dam to Mobile, to cost with all equipment over a million, seven hundred thousand dollars, will start as soon as a certificate of convenience and necessity is issued by the Alabama Public Service Commission. The certificate was applied for July 21.

"The new line, which will interconnect with the Company's six hydro electric plants on the Coosa and Tallapoosa Rivers, and with its Gorgas steam plants, will connect at Selma with lines now serving that area, and from there will extend to Mobile. The route will be through Chilton, Autauga, Dallas, Wilcox, Clarke, Washington, and Mobile counties. The line will be a companion to another now serving Mobile at a distance approximately 50 to 60 miles eastward and thus result in a new power 'loop', for South Alabama. In the event of a disturbance on one of the lines, the loop arrangement will permit service to be continued until the localized trouble can be cleared up. This will not only add to the dependability of the Company's service in South Alabama, but will result in a substantial increase in power supply to meet the demand of existing and new industries coming into that section.

"While the new line will operate initially at 110,000 volts, it will be so erected that later it can be changed over to 154,000 volts with a capacity of 60,000 kilowatts at this voltage, which will more than double the present available power in southwest Alabama. The accompanying map indicates the approximate route of the new line, which will be completed about July 1, 1938. The map also shows the present network of Alabama Power Company high voltage lines.

"More than a million dollars will be spent in the construction of the line, and an additional $700,000 for terminal facilities. The Company will follow its policy of using Alabama labor and purchasing from Alabama concerns all materials which can be supplied from local sources, such as poles, timber, steel, cement, etc. These items for the new line will amount to about $500,000 and the payroll will be about $400,000 additional."

In announcing the construction of this new line President Martin said that it was a continuation of the fixed policy of the Company to be ready to meet any call for power that the industrial development of the State demanded and that the Company now has a substantial surplus of power. He also called attention to the fact that in the entire program of the Company no industry had ever been lost to Alabama because of its inability to obtain dependable, adequate and low cost power.

"The Company hopes to continue its efforts to locate new industries in Alabama, and will, to the extent of its ability, finance the necessary construction of lines to serve them.

"On account of the threatened competition of the Government through its agent, TVA, the Company has for several years been unable to raise new capital. It has therefore financed its extensions out of available cash resources, but the larger program now ahead will before long make new financing necessary through the sale of securities. Unless this unfair competitive condition is soon changed the Company will be unable to finance the extension of its system to supply power requirements which will be demanded by new industries in many parts of the State.

"Because of its political nature, the the TVA cannot readily solicit industries from other states to locate in Alabama. Therefore, it seems that for the good of Alabama, nothing should be done which will hamper Alabama Power Company in its efforts toward the further upbuilding of the State.

"There are prospects," Mr. Martin said, "of tremendous industrial developments in Southwest Alabama, as well as many other parts of the State, and we will do everything in our power to provide them with ample power facilities; but these are problems of which the public should take note—if Alabama is to get her share of the industrial migration now in progress."

FAIRVIEW HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Fairview Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Ola Edwards, on July 20th, 1937.

The meeting was called to order by the president.

The roll was called by the secretary, and the minutes were read and approved.

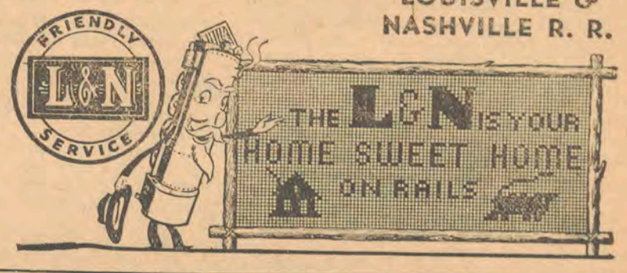
A program on Farm Bureau was given by Mr. J. W. Fant, County Agent, and it was enjoyed very much.

The demonstration was on desserts. Four different kinds of desserts were prepared by the leavers. These were discussed and many others.

We adjourned by saying the Club pledge.

"JUST MAKE YOURSELF AT HOME, NEIGHBOR"

● We're an old Southern family, the L & N. And it's just natural that we have real pride in our home. Guess that's why folks feel so at ease and comfortable traveling with us.



Somehow everything seems familiar—the comfortable seats, so much like your own favorite chairs back home—the breakfasts of Old Southern ham, hot biscuit, fresh golden-center eggs, steaming coffee—the dinners, tender juicy steaks, Southern fried chicken, real cornbread, Pompano or other seafoods fresh from the Gulf Coast—all become memories of haunting goodness.

And then, when that pleasant, yawny tiredness comes—crisp, clean sheets, soft plump pillows—and deep, dreamless, restful sleep.

These and more you'll find in your "Home Sweet Home on Rails"—a home completely air-conditioned (except locals)—a home safer than your own—a home that costs only 1½c to 3c a mile to enjoy. May we have the pleasure of your company soon—the whole family? Any ticket agent will assist you.

● In 19 years, the L & N has carried nearly 200 million passengers and not a single passenger has lost his life in an L & N train accident. No wonder you feel completely at ease in your "Home Sweet Home on Rails!"

WHY LEWIS MOVES FAST

A reader inquires why John L. Lewis moves so rapidly in his efforts to bring industry under the yoke of the C. I. O. "Is it because of the fight with the American Federation of Labor? Would it not be more sensible ordinarily to direct all the C. I. O. force on one industry at a time instead of tackling several? With plenty of sub-chiefs on the job, unauthorized strikes and other symptoms of faulty discipline would not occur."

The urge to destroy William Green and his Federation has something to do with Mr. Lewis' haste, but the real reason is a realization that the whole job must be put over in jig time. The country is waking up and seeing that control of business by Lewis means more demands and more disorder. Even a subservient congress is beginning to growl in spite of the president's refusal or inability to stop what he started when he went behind Lewis. —New York Sun.

TVA CONSUMES MORE TAXES

Another $112,000,000 for TVA. The appetite for the taxpayers' money never ends.

And power can be produced from steam plants at two-thirds of the cost!

This appetite for public funds has been stimulated by a continuous stream of propaganda. A new argument now being advanced in favor of better and larger appropriations is that there is imminent danger of a power shortage. It has been added to the older argument that public power is cheaper.

The contention that government development of water power sites provides cheaper power has been thoroughly refuted. Cost for cost, the steam generating plant can do the job for less money—for two-thirds of the cost.

It is this type of raid on the public pocketbook that is forcing higher prices upon the people. They are paying for it in higher costs of living as public debt and taxes are reflected in all transactions.—Syracuse Post-Standard.

CLASSIFIED

The men who do a town more harm than good may be classed as follows:

1. Those who oppose improvement.
2. Those who run it down to strangers.
3. Those who never advertise their business.
4. Those who distrust public spirited men.
5. Those who show no hospitality to anyone.
6. Those who hate to see others make any money.
7. Those who oppose every movement that doesn't originate with themselves.
8. Those who put on long faces when strangers speak of locating in their town.
9. Those who oppose every public enterprise which does not appear of personal benefit to themselves.—Augusta (Kan.) Gazette.

HE CAN'T DO IT

David Lawrence says that the "president alone can silence third term talk". How can he do it?

When Calvin Coolidge in 1927 said "I do not choose to run for president in 1928," all who knew Coolidge knew that was final.

Should President Roosevelt use the same words in 1937 as to 1940, who could say that it would be final?

He who indorses a party platform 100 per cent in 1932 and repudiates it 100 per cent in 1933 has no possible way of silencing third term talk.—Springfield Union.

The queen crowning fad has spread to the point now where a large fat cow is being acclaimed as Queen Bossie in Los Angeles. About the only creature that may escape is the giraffe. The crowners can't reach that high.—Los Angeles Times.

If John L. Lewis is elected president in 1940, inquires a writer to the Boston Transcript, how about Eleanor Roosevelt for Secretary of Labor? Not a bad suggestion, but our 1rst choice would be Ed Wynn.—Portland Oregonian.

A New York landlord celebrated his golden wedding anniversary by notifying 25 tenants he had forgotten the rent for this month. And all of them hope he'll live to celebrate many more such occasions.—Shreveport Journal.

According to the story of Genesis the first thing that Eve found out after she had eaten the apple was that she was unclothed. Women noticed things like that in those days more than they do now.—Jackson County (Kan.) Signal.

It is true that there isn't so much to see in a small town but it's a lot easier to see it.

THE LAW THAT FAILED

That the Wagner Act has induced labor disputes, rather than prevented them, its avowed purpose, is freely admitted by its author, Sen. Wagner, and by men like Sen. Walsh. The act set up a national labor relations board, but where is it? The Taft commission has superseded it.

The Wagner Act was so obviously prejudiced against the employer and in favor of labor, that its breakdown was inevitable. Administration favoritism encouraged labor to either ignore it when advantageous to do so, or to invoke its services on the slightest pretext where a favorable decision was clearly indicated.—Springfield Union.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

Possibilities for changes in the political line-up due to the fight for and against the president's bill to enlarge the Supreme Court continue to be interesting. There seems little doubt that the fight on the measure caused wounds that will be slow to heal and may bring new and different alignments in some of the 48 states.

For instance, word comes from New Jersey that Rep. Elmer H. Wene will be a candidate for governor of that state, a position which is also coveted by U. S. Senator Harry A. Moore. Here the political line-up begins to assert itself. Wene is an ardent New Dealer and has, so far as possible, supported all of the president's measures in congress. On the other hand, Sen. Moore has from the start been an opponent of the president's court packing bill. Some time ago it was learned that Sen. Moore will make the race for governor of New Jersey with the powerful backing of Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City, the outstanding Democratic leader in the state.

Mr. Wene will be backed by the other U. S. senator from New Jersey, Wm. H. Smathers, who is a New Deal leader at Washington. Although Mayor Hague has made no public statement he is supposed to be out of sympathy with at least a part of the New Deal measures. Moreover, he is a close personal and political friend of Sen. Moore.

The New Dealers are said to be joyous over the announcement of Congressman Wene as a candidate for governor, as they would like to punish Sen. Moore for failing to line up with the president on the Court fight. With Wene and Smathers and the New Deal administration on one side, and Sen. Moore and Mayor Hague, on the other, the primary fight should develop into a beautiful one. Just what the outcome would mean is rather doubtful, especially in view of the fact that New Jersey is normally a Republican state.

At the same time it is reported that New Deal Democrats in Indiana are preparing to punish Sen. Van Nuys for his opposition to the Court measure by refusing him a renomination. Sen. Wheeler of Montana has told the senate of political pressure brought to bear upon him to line him up for the Court measure, and political threats made against him by New Deal leaders because of his failure to line up. Other senators opposing the New Deal Court measure have intimated the same thing.

Mayor Hague dismisses the threatened candidacy of Congressman Wene for the governorship of New Jersey as a dream due to the hot weather. National Chairman Farley predicted the success of the compromise Court bill, and denies that it has caused a rift in the Democratic party. Perhaps in each case the wish was father to the thought. There is ample indication, however, that all is not peace within the Democratic ranks, and that many statesmen are now looking forward to control of the organization in 1940. The political situation is rapidly developing interest. It is altogether possible that the first battle will be waged in the Democratic primaries next year.

While the administration goes ahead, the government goes behind.—Weston Leader.

BLUE DAYS FOR THE C. I. O.

The rapid decline of the CIO is apparent not only in its demoralization but in the manner in which its political friends are turning away from it. A few months ago the Secretary of Labor entered an implied defense of its technique in the automotive strikes by declaring that the legality of the sit-down strikes had not yet been decided. Now, in a letter to a congressman from Pennsylvania, she explains that her widely quoted opinion was a misconception based on an "offhand" remark, and she denies that she ever considered the sit-down strike either "lawful, desirable or appropriate". Coming on the heels of the statement by means of which the president endeavored to regain his lost neutrality by wishing a plague on all extremists, the letter of Miss Perkins hints clearly that the administration, finding its partnership with the CIO an increasing annoyance, is seeking ways to dissolve it.—Hartford Courtant.

One of our friends who spends all his spare cash speculating in Wall Street, said the other day when the mercury climbed to the 100-degree mark, "Well, I see where the weather has hit par again."

The president is reported to be reading the life of Napoleon. He will doubtless be interested to discover that Napoleon always planned his retreat as carefully as his advance.—Springfield Union.

FACTS FROM THE RECORD

FARM TENANCY IN ALABAMA

A recent survey shows that there are 273,455 farms in Alabama. Of this number 176,247, or 64.5 per cent are being operated by tenants. Only five counties have less than 50 per cent tenant farm operators. Three of these — Baldwin, Mobile, and Washington, are in extreme South Alabama, while the other two — Walker and Winston, are in North Alabama. Mobile has the lowest percentage; only 24 per cent of its farmers are tenants. Baldwin has 25 per cent, Washington 35, Walker 43, and Winston 46.

The highest percentage of tenant farmers is in the Black Belt where the land is owned in large tracts by white people and is cultivated by negroes. Dallas leads in the number of tenant farmers with 86 per cent. Greene and Lowndes each ahve 85 per cent, while Bullock has 83, Sumter 81, Wilcox 80. Other Black Belt counties that run high in tenancy are Macon 79, Marengo 78, Hale, Perry and Montgomery 77 each. The highest in North Alabama is found in Madison and Limestone with 72 per cent each, and Lawrence with 70. All other North Alabama counties drop below 70, most of them ranging between 50 and 60 per cent.

Tenant farming in Alabama has been steadily increasing since the beginning of the present century.

In an effort to encourage home ownership the Alabama legislature at its 1936-1937 session passed a law exempting homesteads up to the value of $2,000 from all state ad valorem taxes.

B'HAM-SOUTHERN COLLEGE

Birmingham, July 24. — Recognition of the fine work that high school teachers and principals have done in encouraging scholarship is to be made by Birmingham - Southern College through its College Honor Scholarship Tests which are to be held on the college campus August 20 and which will result in recognition of three students through awards totaling $1,400.

Dean Wyatt W. Hale, in urging every high school boy and girl in the state who can qualify for college admittance, and who has not already attended a college to enter the tests, stated, "Birmingham - Southern has always sought to stimulate students of superior ability to continue their education in college, but the College also believes the men and women who are responsible for those students should be recognized.

"We have decided that the most effective recognition we could give the teachers is to offer their pupils an opportunity to go to college and have their fine scholarship rewarded.

"On August 20 at 9:30 a.m., Birmingham - Southern is inviting all high school students in the South, who can qualify for college entrance and who have not attended college, to come to Munger Hall on the Birmingham-Southern campus, and there participate in a College Honor Test.

STATE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

Montgomery, July 26.—Malaria was responsible for the death of 343 persons in Alabama last year, according to figures prepared by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health. This total represented an increase of 16 over the 1935 total of 327 deaths.

It is estimated that there are 200 cases of malaria for every death from this disease, and, on that basis, there were between 68,000 and 69,000 cases of this disease in the state last year.

Officials of the State Department of Health have expressed the opinion that, year in and year out, malaria probably strikes more residents of Alabama than any other disease known to medical science. The Department is urging local communities to carry out drainage projects to destroy the breeding places of the malaria-carrying mosquito and to employ other methods to reduce the danger inherent in this disease.

The state tax commission has its forces for the collection of the sales tax and other taxes well organized and has recently dropped from its rolls more than 40 employees.

In 1930, 60 per cent of all state and county taxes collected in Alabama were derived from the general ad valorem taxes. Only four states, Vermont, South Carolina, Virginia, and Delaware, derived a smaller percentage of total tax revenues from the general property tax. By the enactment of the homestead exemption law Alabama property owners are placed in a more favorable position than the property taxpayers of any other state

LOCAL SCHOOL REVENUE IS OFF THREE MILLION

Montgomery, July 23. — Local school revenue in 1937-1938 will be approximately $3,000,000 less than it was in 1929-1930, according to a statement released today by the office of the Alabama Education Association in Montgomery.

"This loss in local school revenue is largely the result of a decrease in local school taxes," said Frank L. Grove, the executive secretary of the Association. "Property assessments have decreased approximately $320,000,000, therefore, since the local school levy throughout the state approximates 7 mills, this decrease has cost schools in local revenue approximately $2,240,000, or 77 per cent of the total loss for schools from local sources.

"The extent of this collapse in local support, and its effect upon school administration," Mr. Grove added, "is indicated by the fact that with state appropriations paid in full, the total revenue for public schools in 1937-1938 will have decreased 3 per cent since 1929-1930, while the average daily attendance in the public schools will have increased 20 per cent. Thus, notwithstanding the increase in state funds, school revenue is still below the 1929-1930 level and for the coming year will lag 23 per cent behind the school attendance."

It cost the state $252,487.74 to feed the prisoners confined in the county jails during the past fiscal year.

HELP KIDNEYS

To Get Rid of Acid and Poisonous Waste

Your kidneys help to keep you well by constantly filtering waste matter from the blood. If your kidneys get functionally disordered and fail to remove excess impurities, there may be poisoning of the whole system and body-wide distress.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination may be a warning of some kidney or bladder disturbance.

You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Use Doan's Pills. A multitude of grateful people recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

NAPOLEON J. JONES WRITES

In Acts 2:4-7 we notice the Bible says, "And the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved."

It was about 400 years from the last prophet until Christ came into the world. He came to save His people from their sins—Matt. 1:21. The people had been living in a dark age, growing worse and worse, deceiving and being deceived, worshiping idols of all kinds, thinking these idols, made with hands, could save them. God had warned the prophets again and again, but they did not heed them. But God still loved them and would spare them. God was not pleased with the offerings that would never take away sins—Heb. 10:8. So He sent His only begotten Son into the world that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life—believe that He is a rewarder of them that seek Him, that He will save them to the uttermost who come to God by Him.

But are the shepherds of today telling the people to believe on Him and be saved? I say they are not! They are telling the people to come join the church. They claim they open the church doors, but our Bible plainly says that Christ is the door of His church. No man can open it or shut it. His church is not made with hands but He, Himself, built it without the sound of a hammer, and God adds to this church all such as should be saved. In this church are no unbelievers, no murderers, no drunkards, no adulterers, no sinners, but all are truly saved. God's word says that we should not be unequally yoked together with all these—II Cor. 6:13-18.

The churches that have been built by men have become the habitation of devils and the hold of every foul spirit and a cage of every unclean and hateful bird—Rev. 18:2. But God is calling His people out of them into His marvelous way—Rev. 18:4. I say to every child of God that you have been in bondage in that city which spiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, where also our Lord was crucified long enough—Rev. 11:8.

It is time you are accepting the call of God and come out singing the song of Moses, which was a song of deliverance—Rev. 15:3. And to all the unsaved, repent, confess your sins and believe Jesus Christ, and you will be saved, for the end of time is near, and you will then be in His church—Acts 2:38; Acts 16:31.—Napoleon J. Jones.

Merchant's Ass'n To Meet in B'ham

Birmingham, July 24. — Every detail in the arrangements for the 21st annual convention of the Alabama Merchants Association here August 4-5, is reported in readiness, and a great welcome and special series of entertainment awaits the thousands of merchants expected to be here not only from every part of Alabama, but also from adjoining sections.

On the night of August 4th will be held the finals in the big state-wide radio amateur contest of Station WSGN, beginning at 8 o'clock at the Municipal Auditorium. Winners will receive cash prizes and a week's engagement at the Alabama Theatre. This contest will be followed by the annual merchants' ball, beginning at 9 o'clock and lasting usually until the "wee sma'" hours, with music by Joe Vaughn and his Country Club Orchestra.

The feature of the second day of the convention will be the giant barbecue beginning at noon at the State Fair Grounds. There are many other attractions. All of these entertainments and other privileges extended through the courtesy of city officials and other groups are free to all registered merchants who will be the guests of the Wholesale and Manufacturers Division of the Chamber of Commerce, with James C. Lee as chairman of the executive committee, and with Dr. W. W. Walker as general chairman of convention details.

Official invitation to the merchants of the state has been issued by Birmingham's City Commission, through James M. Jones, its president, and the Chamber of Commerce and other bodies also have joined and will make the stay of the thousands of expected visitors as happy as possible.

J. R. Mullins, of Clanton, President of the Alabama Merchants Association, also has sent out a call, urging merchants to respond in large numbers to this invitation for a good time August 4-5, and he predicts a record breaking attendance.

The Cuban government has invited the government of the United States to attend the second Pan-American Coffee Conference at Havana, statring August 9. The agenda includes studies of production, consumption, and distribution of coffee throughout the world.

Mrs. Day, of Millen, Ga., has returned to her home after a recent visit to her sister, Mrs. O. D. Deloach.

KEEN-WHITE REUNION

On Tuesday, July 20th, a large crowd gathered at Pilgrim Rest church near Pletcher, for the Keen and White reunion. It was a real success from all points of view, because the weather was favorable and everyone seemed to be in high spirits and feeling fine. Although, some of them had to come a long ways to be there. At the noon hour a bountiful dinner was spread on the church ground under the trees. Everyone had plenty to eat and sure did enjoy it.

The crowd began to gather about 9:30. There were people from many counties and states. It sure was a treat to see those people meet again who hadn't seen each other in many years.

The relatives and friends from Chilton County were:

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Keen, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Keen and children, Misses Mable and Mary Nelson, Mrs. Morris Keen, Mrs. John Nelson, Mrs. J. I. Bice, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Kendrick and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Vester Bice and children, Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Kendrick, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Seals, Mr. Onzie Garner, of Maplesville; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Kendrick and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kendrick, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Headley and children, Mrs. Goolo Carter and children, misses Alma Lockhart, Marie and Kate Carter, Beckie Lockhart, Mr. Jess Lockhart, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ousley, Mr. and Mrs. Will Foshee and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Foshee and children, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Foshee, Mrs. Frank Giles and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Chambers, Mr. Doss Billingsley, Mrs. Jim Short, Mr. and Mrs. Earlo Short, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kendrick and children.

From Jones, Alabama: Mr. and Mrs. J. R. White, Mr. and Mrs. Bert White, Mr. and Mrs. Felie White, Mr. Clyde White, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Ousley and children, Mr. and Mrs. Euell Cofee and children, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Vasser and children, Mrs. Kate Ousley and children.

From Sylacauga, Alabama: Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Keen and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Baker.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Davis and children, and Rev. Snoddy, of Vincent, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Rob Moore and children, of Leeds, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie White, Mr. Verlon Williams, of Oaklahoma; Mr. John White, Mr. and Mrs. Jim White, Mr. Bon and Lon White, Mrs. Kansas White, Mr. and Mrs. Goddard and children, and Mr. Tom Carter, all of Georgia; Mrs. W. R. Sims and son, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Sims and Mr. Bob McQuaig, of Florida.

We feel greatly indebted to Mr. R. W. Kendrick and family, and many others of that community for their kindness shown us in letting us use the church and church grounds; for bringing their lunch and spending the day with us.

About 3:30 o'clock the people began to leave, saying they were glad they came and felt like the day had been well spent. It brought together many brothers and sisters, cousins and friends, who hadn't seen each other in over 30 years.

ICE CREAM SUPPER

There will be an ice cream supper at Mt. Pisgah church on next Saturday night, July 31, at 7:30 o'clock. There will also be a pretty girl cake. The public is cordially invited to attend.

BURNING OF FORESTS

Indiscriminate burning of our forest lands can be controlled. Figures released recently by Dr. William A. Hartman, Assistant Regional Director, Resettlement Administration, Region V, Montgomery, indicate that only 308 acres, less than one-fourth of one percent of the 133,294 acres of land in the three Land Utilization projects in Alabama, were burned over during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1937. Previous to acquisition by the government fires swept uncontrolled over practically 100 per cent of these lands annually.

The records show a total of only 19 acres burned out of a total of 10,152 acres on the Tuskegee project, 42½ acres out of a total of 90,000 acres on the Ozark project, and only 246½ out of a total of 88,142 acres on the Greensboro project.

Beneficial results following fire prevention are already apparent on these projects. Restoration of ground cover is aiding in the control of erosion. Valuable commercial timber trees are being given a chance to grow and reseed barren areas, thereby hastening the day when harvesting of timber products will again provide seasonal work for the adjacent rural communities. Of vital interest to sportsmen, fire protection is improving food and cover conditions for wild life with a decided increase in the fish and game population even at this early period of management.

The fire protection records for the entire 13 Land Utilization projects in Region V, as reported by Dr. Hartman, show that out of a total of 1,084,796 acres under protection, only 29,212 acres, or 2.7 per cent of the total, were damaged by forest fires. In addition to the Alabama projects, this record covers four projects in Florida, three in Georgia, and three in South Carolina.

Dairymen should plan to produce one ton of legume hay and two to three tons of ensilage for each cow this winter. The liberal use of palatable roughage will materially reduce the grain requirements and cost of producing milk.

STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ROSTER IS COMPLETED

Montgomery, July 28. — The Alabama State Chamber of Commerce completed its roster of officers and directors at a meeting held in Montgomery Thursday, July 22, when a representative of each of the 67 counties of the state was elected to the Board of Directors of the state-wide organization, fixed membership dues, and perfected plans for the operation of the office recently established at 211 Dexter Ave., Montgomery.

W. A. Steadman, Birmingham telephone executive, was elected member of the executive committee, with F. W. Stanley, Greenville publisher, and Tobe Hamilton, Anniston manufacturer, being added as vice presidents from the state at large. James S. Brown, president of the Junior Chambers of Commerce, and Paul Fuller, president of the Alabama Association of Commercial Organizations, were elected organization directors.

Individual memberships were established at $10, business firm memberships $25, and "sustaining memberships" $100 and up.

President Benjamin Russell stated today that the organization has been completed, offices established, personnel secured, and a program in support of the organization's slogan, "Supplement Farm With Factory", has been adopted and work has already begun on a 4-point objective recently outlined.

Congressional district vice presidents announced at the Montgomery meeting that meetings of county directors will be held at an early date to plan a county-by-county membership drive. County director for Chilton County is John C. Page, Clanton.

Roosevelt At Moscow Now Facing Waterloo

New York politics stood him in good stead; just like the alderman from ward five knows that the time to boost the taxpayers assessments is right after, and not before, election day.

We will not dwell upon the ghastly consequences that would have resulted if Mr. Roosevelt had carried his point. We would have still had a Supreme Court, but in name ouly; Mr. Roosevelt's Supreme Court, not the Supreme Court of the United States. Hearings before it would have been a farce, with the court packed with creatures of the president, their judicial opinions bargained for in advance of appointment. Public confidence and respect for law and justice would have been destroyed. Had the bill passed, it is highly probable that the judges now on the bench would have resigned in a body; they could have hardly done otherwise and kept their self-respect. It is well known that the court-packing bill was odious, to liberal and conservative alike, of the court membership.

Many years ago a sage observed that "Whom the gods would destroy, first they make mad". The very act of seeking to clothe such a cheap pollical maneuver with the garb of respectable statesmanship was an act of madness. The reaction of the American people was prompt and positive. They sensed the deadly menace of the plot, the rule-or-ruin spirit behind it, the underhanded, back-stabbing nature of the whole proposal. Intelligent statesmanship would have heeded the outburst of popular wrath. Instead, the bill was driven on with ruthless fury, a blind desire to gratify the greed for power of one man, bent on removing the last obstacle between himself and his goal. The final madness was the letter written by Mr. Roosevelt in which he charged opposition senators with lack of "decency" because, he claimed, they failed to drop their fight in the interval between Sen. Robinson's death and burial. In this same interval, Mr. Roosevelt was busy writing letters and holding conferences at the White House. According to the president, it was entirely right and proper for him to use any means and any time to achieve his ends; it was "indecent" for anyone to try and stop him. The whole affair plainly showed that while Mr. Roosevelt is a great hand at handing out punishment, in the popular jargon, he "can't take it". He is magnificent when riding the wave of success and favor, lashing out over the radio at the class of citizens who pay taxes and use tooth brushes. Confronted with determined opposition and face to face with defeat, he behaved like a petulant child. The stark egotist stood out in all his unlovely outlines.

Space will not permit a complete review of the historic fight. It must never be forgotten, however, that defeat of the court-packing bill was possible only because of solid Republican opposition. We give all glory to those Democratic senators who, under terrific pressure, stood to their guns and went down the line for our liberties and our institutions. The fact remains, however, that the Democratic leadership, in the senate as well as in the White House, was behind the measure, and a majority of Democratic senators pledged to vote for it. If the United States senate had been 100 per cent Democratic, instead of merely 75 or 80 per cent, the measure would now be law.

Another fact that stands out is that the breach in the Democratic ranks is one that will not be healed in the lifetime of the man who made it. The vindictive spirit of the administration makes reconciliation impossible. On the very day that the bill was defeated, senate Democrats were complaining that their own party machine was laying plans to defeat them. They face the prospect of being hounded and hunted down for the unpardonable sin of daring to disagree, even though only for once, with the party bosses. It is all right, of course, for Roosevelt and Farley to bolt the ticket and support independent candidates anywhere from New York to Nebraska, the business of the rank and file is to obey the orders of Roosevelt and Farley; to harbor ideas and opinions of their own is treason, punishable by political death, if Tammany's twin gifts to the nation can have their way.

With the ebb of the Roosevelt tide, many are already comparing his career, and its breaking point, with that of Woodrow Wilson. President Wilson got off to a good start, and sponsored some useful legislation. In the end, drunk with power, he wrought his own doom. When the time came to ratify the peace treaty, the senate was willing to concede nearly every point, but the war president, like the man now in the White House, was one of these 100 per cent irresistables, satisfied with nothing less than complete and utter subservience from those who were supposed to have an equal voice in determining our destiny. Like Roosevelt, Wilson sent his senate leaders into a hopeless fight that marked the beginning of the end, and was followed by the overwhelming defeat of his party at the polls.

There is something of a similarity with the career of Napoleon Bonaparte, also, with the court rout taking the place of the retreat from Moscow. Napoleon did not collapse at once after Moscow; he tried to conceal his losses, and struggled on against fate. The retreat from Moscow was in 1812; Waterloo was not fought until 1815, and the three years in between saw plenty of fighting. It does not require a prophet to foresee a similar trend from 1937 to 1940, in which year either Mr. Roosevelt in person, or one of his henchmen, will be making his last stand against the forces of a reawakened Americanism.

ANOTHER NRA ATTEMPTED BY NATIONAL ADMINISTRATION

Ten Reasons Why The Black-Connery Labor Standards Bill Should Be Defeated

1. The bill undertakes the impossible. No Federal Board of five can fairly regulate the wages and hours and determine the local conditions in the thousands of different industries under its jurisdiction.

2. The bill contains no guarantees of protection to concerns so situated that they cannot observe the wages and hours applied by some of their competitors and remain in such competition.

3. The bill if enacted will reduce employment. It will place such a premium on mechanization of industries as to reduce materially the amount of manual labor employed in production.

4. The requirement that the Board avoid unnecessary or excessive classifications and that classifications be made only to the extent necessary to accomplish the essential purposes of the Act, and making the Board the sole judge thereof, will result in such broad classification groups as to eliminate consideration of individual cases.

5. The enactment of the bill will bring into existence another NRA except that employers would be deprived of the opportunity to recover increased costs through cooperative adjustment of prices.

6. The restricted provisions for appeal practically deprive industries of the protection of the courts.

7. The bill if enacted will create endless litigation before the Board and in the courts.

8. Inforcement of the industrial regulation imposed by the bill will adversely affect the agricultural industry throughout the country.

9. The bill contains no protection for our export commerce and has inadequate provision for the protection of American labor against cheap foreign labor.

10. The history of the efforts to incite and obtain this legislation shows that it is directly aimed against industries in the South and Middle West and results from efforts to place artificial handicaps upon various classes of industries in such sections.

School Funds For State Are Released

State Treasury Announces Sum of $872,000 Is Available For State's Schools

Release of $872,000 from the state treasury for various educational purposes has been announced by Charles W. Lee, state comptroller, who also revealed that another $100,000 distribution of sales tax funds to counties had been made. The educational money came from the following sources: sales tax $300,000, tobacco tax $250,000, gross receipts tax $22,000, and general fund $300,000. It went for the following purposes:

Public schools $607,371, agricultural schools $6,714, public schools revolving fund $10,115, vocational education $25,549, Alabama Polytechnic Institute $37,496, extension service $24,852, experimental farms $79,224, University of Alabama $23,195, state teachers colleges $7,586, Daphne Normal $1,133, teachers training equalization fund $15,783, physical restoration $4,534, civilian rehabilitation $3,883, service for the blind $436, illiteracy fund $1,395, Alabam School of Trades $3,924.

Counties received the same amount from this distribution of sales tax funds as they did in that of last month when the same amount was allotted. As provided by law, one-half of all county sales tax money set aside is distributed on a basis of population and one-half equally among the counties. In the latest distribution, Chilton County received $1,210.

To disabled World War veterans:

To those who are interested in becoming a member of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, this is an organization for the present and future welfare of disabled World War veterans. It is my intention to form a chapter here in Clanton.

See me Saturday at M. A. Gore's store. I will gladly give you information and a D. A. V. paper and folder, chuck full of news on the affairs of disabled veterans. If you can't see me, drop me a card and I will call to see you. Come on, comrades!—M. D. Clack, Route 6, Clanton, Ala.

FIRST OPEN COTTON BOLL BROUGHT IN MONDAY A. M.

The first open boll of cotton to be reported to The Union-Banner was brought in to our office Monday morning, August 2nd. The bolls came from the farm of C. H. Adams, col., Verbena Route 2. The first open bloom came from the same farm on June 18th this year. The bolls were matured and opened perfectly; they are of the Half and Half variety. They were gathered from the field on July 31st, Adams reported.

The first open boll last year came from the farm of Fonzie Thomas on E. H. Mims place east of Clanton, and was gathered on July 30th.

Another open boll was left with Mr. J. W. Fant, county agent, about nine o'clock Monday morning, this one came from Mr. M. D. Chandler of Maplesville Route 2.

J. P. TRAYWICK BURIED AT NEW SALEM LAST TUESDAY

Body Recovered From Shallow Pond At Siluria Monday; Last Seen Alive Saturday, July 31

J. P. Traywick, age 35, was buried at New Harmony, Lomax, Tuesday morning, Martin and Sons directing.

The body of the young man was recovered from a shallow pond of water in Siluria Monday. The man was last seen alive Saturday. Bruises on the face and throat indicate probable foul play. The body was brought here by Martin Monday, shortly after being found.

It is reported that Mr. Traywick had been in Siluria only about a week, having come there from Sylacauga.

Surviving are the wife, two sons and three daughters. There are three brothers—Arthur, Whit and Enoch. There are nine sisters—Mrs. Henry Miller of Clanton, Mrs. Dewey Caton of Brattville, Mrs. P. L. Garteney, Mrs. Leonard Stackdale, Mrs. J. H. Heard, Mrs. Buck Cooper, Mrs. Bud Morris, Mrs. Sam Williams and Mrs. Sam Murphy, all of Sylacauga.

Conducting the funeral was Rev. Jake Parker, assisted by Rev. Lancaster.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

The Woman's Missionary Society had its regular business session in the ladies parlor Monday afternoon. The session was opened at 4 o'clock, with Mrs. J. C. Jones, the president, presiding. A nice program was held under the direction of Mrs. J. W. Truett. Those taking part were: Mrs. O. D. Deloach, who gave the devotional; a prayer by Mrs. Wilbanks; an article from the World Outlook by Mrs. Searcy; Rural Missions by Madames: Truett, Headley, Stewart and Percy Pitts.

The usual reports of the officers were given; a report of the parsonage committee and a counting of the members of the circles. The circles are having a contest to see which can have the largest attendance during the months of August, September and October. The losing side is to entertain the winners. Circle No. 1 led with an attendance of fourteen, and Circle No. 2 had thirteen present. Circle No. 1 had one new member, Mrs. Dans. In all there were 29 present. Much enthusiasm was felt at the meeting.

Former Chilton Man Is Drowned In Gulf

Maurice S. Foshee Caught In Undertow Sunday Near Panama City, Fla.

Maurice Savage Foshee, 1625 25th St., No., Birmingham, employe of the Glidden Paint Co., drowned in Gulf of Mexico near Panama City, Fla., Sunday, while on vacation with his wife.

Mr. Foshee, who was 37, had lived in Birmingham about 15 years. He was a native of Maplesville. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Margaret Johnson Foshee; a brother, John Alwyn Foshee, Centreville; and his stepmother, Mrs. Anna Foshee, Maplesville.

According to reports reaching Birmingham, Mr. Foshee, who was swimming alone, was caught in an undertow, and drowned in full sight of his wife, who was sitting on the front porch of their beach cottage.

His body was returned to Birmingham for funeral services Tuesday at 10 a.m., at his home. Burial was in Elmwood cemetery, Luquire in charge.

MANNINGS ON TRIP TO EAST

A party composed of Mrs. D. O. Manning, Clifford and Dorothy Manning, and Mrs. Tucker of Birmingham, left Sunday for a two-weeks trip to the east. They will visit Oliver Manning, at Dunn, N. C., and then continue to Washington and New York.

Mrs. Tucker is a daughter of Mrs. Manning, and Oliver Manning is her son.

JOE COX GOT LEG BROKEN

Mr. Joe Cox, worker on State highway, suffered a broken leg Monday while working on the three-way project below Maplesville. He was carried to Gosgas-Baptist hospital and expects to return the last of this week. His leg was broken just above the ankle.

ALABAMA MILLS COMPANY DECLARES DIVIDENDS

It is announced by F. J. Callen, local director of the Alabama Mills, Inc., that the Board of Directors of the company, in meeting held July 29, 1937, declared the following dividends on the Common Stock:

Sixty cents per share payable August 15 to stockholders of record of July 29, and sixty cents per share payable November 1, to stockholders of record of October 15.

This is the first dividend declared by the company since its organization.

COLD WATER AT COURTHOUSE

The Norge cold water system at the courthouse is now in operation. There are three founts, all connected at the same Norge cooling unit. It is being installed a little late for this summer, but it will come in fine for these hot August days, and probably hot September days that are to follow, and for future summers to come.

SENATOR BLACK AND THE FARMER

(AN EDITORIAL)

Senator Hugo Black has stirred up a veritable hornet's nest in his own bailiwick by his authorship of the notorious Black-Connery wages-and-hours bill. In his desire to pose as a national figure, in his zeal to win the plaudits of his radical Eastern friends, Senator Black apparently overlooked the very pertinent fact that his CIO pals in Pennsylvania and Ohio do not vote in Alabama elections. He is apt to be painfully aware of that fact before he is out of the woods.

The Black-Connery bill, fathered by John L. Lewis, has for its goal a 30-hour week and assured minimum wage. It would guarantee the union man a living wage for working in a week but little more than the farmer, guaranteed nothing, works in a couple of days. It makes a federal agency the dictator of hours, wages and conditions of labor. Intelligent laboring men are against the bill, despite its Utopian promises, because they cannot figure out how their purchasing power will be increased if at the same time increased cost of production boosts the price of things they buy.

The bill deals a deadly blow at Southern industry. As matters stand today, the Southern manufacturer is at a disadvantage because of high transportation costs, both for assembly of raw materials and distribution of his products. He is partially able to offset this handicap because of the undeniably lower living costs, and a consequently lower operating cost in the South, as compared with other sections. The Black-Connery bill, if enacted, would ignore this legitimate factor in manufactoring costs and arbitrarily impose on the most remote Southern industry the wage scale prevailing in large industrial centers. Southern manufacturers, lumbermen and others, who in the days of NRA had to contend with wage scales imposed by foreign dictators with no knowledge of local costs or local conditions, may well flinch at the very thought of another such regime of government bossing of private business. Dame Perkins, the misfit Secretary of Labor, has already announced that she opposes differentials in wages between different sections of the country. It is hard to see how the Southern working man can be helped by the destruction of industries that give him work, through this legislation, in favor of New England and the industrial East. Industry and labor in the South have a common cause in defeating the measure which threatens their economic security.

Its pernicious effect upon agriculture is so clear as to hardly need any explanation. Like all laws that artificially hinder the production of manufactured goods, its effect is to increase the cost or reduce the quality of the things the farmer buys, and at the same time to depress the price or reduce the demand for what he sells. Furthermore, the high wages and ridiculously short work week will mean such extra costs to producers, farmers as well as manufacturers, that foreign producers, operating on far lower labor costs, will be able to pour their goods into this country over the tariff wall.

Finally, the Black-Connery bill, in its entire conception, is odious to the American spirit of free enterprise and individual rights. It represents as strong a commitment as ever was embodied in the original NRA to the doctrine of a "totalitarian state"—the doctrine prevailing in the dictator-ridden countries of Europe, where the state is considered everything and individual rights ignored and ruthlessly suppressed.

All in all, it begins to look like Senator Black's vision was right smart out of focus when he undertook to sponsor this rank class legislation. He must have been truly captivated by the pats on the back from the CIO moguls around the swanky Washington hotels, and so failed to keep his ears properly attuned to the echo from down here in the sticks where his constituents reside. Of course, it is really none of our business what the Democrats of Alabama decide in their primaries, and we confess to an appropriate lack of interest therein. Still, we admit it does look sort of curious to see this pet measure of the rabid "left wing" of labor put forward under the name of the senior Senator from conservative, agricultural Alabama. From the side lines, and strictly in the role of spectator, we will observe with interest whether the Senator can explain to the satisfaction of those who placed him where he is.

BIG REVIVAL IN PROGRESS

REV. A. T. HICKMAN

The annual revival is now being held at the Temple church, three miles southeast of Clanton. The Rev. A. T. Hickman of Birmingham, pastor of the church, is conducting the campaign, and is assisted by his wife. Also the Rev. and Mrs. Troy B. Helms are helping in the meeting.

The services begin each night at 7:20. One great feature of the meeting is good singing. The public is invited.

SINGING SCHOOL AT SHILOH

Prof. Audie Brown is teaching a most successful singing school at Shiloh church, from one to five each afternoon. There are five communities represented. It will run two more weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Black, of Birmingham, visited relatives in Chilton County last Sunday.

BACK FROM TEXAS

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Morris of Clanton, and Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Varden of Birmingham, returned Sunday from a week's visit in Texas. They report a most enjoyable trip. They visited Mr. L. J. Morris and family; Mr. W. J. Morris and family.

They left Saturday, July 24th, at 1 o'clock, and arrived in Marlin, Texas, Sunday, July 25th, at 3 o'clock. While there they visited in Waco, Hillsboro, Dallas and many other cities. One of the most interesting scenes was that of the mineral wells. They went through several parks and have brought back some peculiar soveniors.

They also visited the Centennial Exposition in Dallas, which was very interesting. The crops were looking very well throughout the entire State. There were lots of sights to see between here and Texas, but there's no place like "Alabama".

TWIN BOYS

Twin boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Barney Birdett on Friday, July 30. One weighed 7½ pounds and the other 7 pounds. Their names are Burrell Wesley and Durrell West.

Mr. and Mrs. Lande Back From Market

Spent Twelve Days Selecting Merchandise For The Fall Trade At The Leader

Mr. and Mrs. M. Lande of The Leader, and son, Irvin, have just returned home from the markets, where they had been for twelve days. They visited the best markets in the country, their motive being to bring back to Chilton County the latest in fall merchandise.

Mrs. Lande says: "I am thrilled more than ever over our marvelous buys in new fall merchandise and ready-to-wear. The styles are more beautiful, better materials, brighter colors, and very reasonable in price. You have never seen anything like it in Clanton. The trading public is urged to make their selections early."

Mrs. Lande has the reputation of finding great pleasure in helping her customers make selections; she always works for their interest. She adds: "Our coat purchases consist of Julliard fabrics, rough woolens, sterzel back, smooth weaves, fur trimmed width, blue fox, squirrel, lapin, seal and wool. Also the most exclusive sport numbers ever shown in Clanton. Ripple colors, detachable seal capes, new flair shoulders, ballarina backs, skirt models and tailored styles 12 to 60. Fur coats, lapin, seal, kid skin and pony.

"Dresses of silk jersey, satins, velvets and sheers, sizes 12 to 54. Hats of velour, velvet, crepe, French felts, satins. Hose, shoes, purses and gloves to match every item."

Mr. Lande, who buys the men's ready to wear, says that he has purchased men's suits that are absolutely the prettiest he has ever purchased, and in the newest patterns and styles Mr. Lande says "The best is none too good for my customers.

"You will be astonished at the low prices at which these suits will sell. They will begin rolling in a hurry, and if you are wise, you will be among the first to make your selections." Other lines purchased consist of men's shirts, sox, ties, and the latest in men's hats. And men's Star Brand dress and work shoes occupy a prominent place in his purchases, also Jarman Friendly dress shoes, known all over the world as the leader in men's $5.00 dress shoes.

The Landes conclude by saying "You must come in and see for yourself the many advantages of trading with The Leader.

Officials Reply To Supervisor's Letter

Say Unnecessary Expenses Are Too Much; Deny Attempt To Block Program

"Clanton, Ala., July 29, 1937.

"Editor The Union-Banner:

"Having noticed an article in The Chilton County News, July 29, 1937, headed, 'Road Department Issued Letter Giving Facts On Road Funds', the thing we commissioners and our people are most interested in is how the road funds are being spent.

"Mr. Arledge asks in his letter, 'What Are You Going To Do About It?' and he mentioned the fact that this is your county, your roads, and he states it was your vote that placed these men in Commissioners Court. You will notice that he failed to tell whose vote it was that placed him in the office he now holds.

"Mr. Arledge asks the question' 'Are we in Russia, Where the people have no voice in the government?" In 1936 at an extra session of the legislature, when our Representative, Hon. C. B. Cox, passed a local act creating your office as Road Supervisor the people had no voice.

"Reference to the ruling of the Attorney General, we agree that the supervisor has the right to employ all necessary employes, laborers and helpers to properly construct, maintain and repair the roads and bridges of our county. But he has no right to employ unnecessary employes.

And from the following claims filed by the supervisors and commissioners for clerical supervision and the inspection of the roads and bridges of our county compared with the amount For May and June, supervision, as follows:

or May and June, Supervision, inspection and clerical help $2,582.35
Common labor 927.05

These figures do not include machine and equipment operators.

From the above statement you can readily see that we have some unnecessary expense in the supervision, clerical and inspection of our roads and bridges. Therefore, being elected by the people, we feel that it is our duty to take care of the taxpayers' money as far as possible. And if Mr. Arledge thinks we are in Russia because we are trying to look after and take care of the taxpayers' money, then in Russia we stay.

"We do not know to whom Mr. Arledge referred as to 'making false rumors and erroneous statements of those persons who are attempting to spoil a progressive movement', but we do know the statement he made as to the amount of money we were spending and the amount he is spending is not true. The records are the best evidence; they are public records, and subject to inspection. The commissioners have appropriated all the money available for road purposes, and we have no desire to mislead the people.

"We believe that the citizens and taxpayers should have a voice when it comes to electing officials who have authority to spend their money. We were elected by the people and we want them to know that we are willing to carry out their wishes.

"Yours very truly,
"J. LEE SMITH,
Chairman Commissioners Court.

Commissioner 1st District.
H. R. ODEN,
Commissioner 2nd District.
R. L. [illegible]SLEY,

CONCERT AT MT. NEBO ON SATURDAY NIGHT, AUGUST 7

There will be a musical concert at Mt. Nebo Saturday night, August 7th, beginning at 8 o'clock. Prof. W. M. Devaughn's Quartet and the Burkhalter Quartet will assist in the program, which will consist of class singing, probably some comedy, quartets, trios, duets and solos. Admission will be 15c to everybody. This concert is the closing exercise of Prof. Audie Brown's singing school.

TWIN CANTELOUPES

The Union-Banner is indebted to our good friend, J. W. Clackler of Providence, Beat 16, for bringing us a twin canteloupe Monday morning of this week. We wanted to save it to display for a few days but it smelt so good that we had to eat it a short while after it was brought here. We thank you, Mr. Johnnie Clackler.

VISITING IN NORTH-EAST

Miss Ethel Gentry, of Troy and her mother of Mt. Creek, are enjoying an extended visit in the north-east, taking in points of interest in Pennsylvania, New York and Washington. They will visit a niece, Mrs. Lula Day, in Washington, on their return. They have been gone a week, and will be gone about a week more.

BODY CRAFTSMEN'S GUILD

Detroit, July 30. — With the conclusion of the state and regional judging in the model car design competition, Fisher Body Craftsmen's Guild officials today turned their attention to the Napoleonic coach building competition, which closes Monday, August 2, at midnight.

Miniature Napoleonic coaches, constructed by boys of from 12 to 20 for entry in this competition, by that time must be in the hands of an accredited carrier, or delivered personally to the Guild technical headquarters in Detroit, where the judging of all models will be conducted.

As in the competition in creative design, state, regional and national awards are being offered in both age divisions. First place winners in each state and the District of Columbia will receive $100 in cash; second, $75. Those winning sectional honors in the nine geographical regions will attend the seventh Guild convention in Detroit August 31 to September 3, inclusive, besides becoming eligible to compete for the $5,000 university scholarships posted as national awards.

The scholarship winners in both the model car design and the Napoleonic coach building competitions will be selected by the Guild's international board of judges, which includes in its membership Charles F. Kettering, vice president and director of research for General Motors; Harley J. Earl, head of the automotive concern's styling section; and the presidents or deans of 14 leading technical schools and universities.

The names of the four boys whose original motor car models or Napoleonic coaches are chosen as the best of those submitted in the competitions, will be announced at the Guild award dinner, to be held in the auditorium of the General Motors building the opening night of the convention.

PETROLEUM INDUSTRY PAYS HIGHEST WAGE RATES OF ALL

A statement by Earl M. Hearne, Secretary, Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee, at Montgomery, reports that the average hourly earnings in the petroleum industry, traditionally high, now are the highest prevailing in any manufacturing industry according to data of the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, at 95.1c, the average hourly rate paid the refinery worker exceeds by nearly 50 per cent the average paid to employes in 91 other industries covered by the bureau's survey.

"Increases granted during the last year have added nearly one-fifth to average hourly wages of refinery workers and have brought hourly rates approximately to 50 per cent above the boom year of 1929, when the average rate was 64c. At the same time the work week has been shortened. According to the bureau's figures, the average refinery worker in 1929 put in 49 hours a week. Currently he is working only 35.6 hours, a decrease of 27 per cent, and nearly five hours less than the avreage week of 40.4 hours now prevailing in all other manufacturing industries.

"Although the average refinery worker is now required to do only 73 per cent of the work he did in 1929, his weekly earnings, because of higher hourly rates, are at a higher level. Working 49 hours a week in 1929, the average refinery worker earned $31 a week. Now he works only 35.6 hours and receives $33.59, an increase of eight per cent over 1929.

The average weekly wage for all industries is $26.30, approximately 22 per cent below the level obtaining in the petroleum industry. Only two of 91 other industries covered by the bureau's report show higher average weekly earnings."

In respect to purchasing power, Mr. Hearne pointed out, refinery workers are much better off than the dollar earnings indicate. In 1929 the index of the cost of living, a statistical device which measures the retail price level of commodities in every day use, stood at 98.9, thus giving the dollar weekly earnings of refinery workers a purchasing power of $31.40. Currently, the index of the cost of living stands at 88.8, bringing the purchasing power of the $33.59 average weekly earnings to $38, or 21 per cent above 1929 "real" earnings.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

Montgomery, August 2. — Alabama's State Employment Service and the national reemployment service, working in cooperation, found jobs for 5,673 residents of Alabama during June, compared with 7,347 during May, according to comparative statistics released today by J. G. Duncan, Jr., director of the Alabama State Employment Service. Demands for workers in private industry continued to show a big lead over demands for public works projects.

During June placements were made in private industry to the total of 4,043 while jobs were found on public works projects for 1,730. This is compared with 5,540 placed in private jobs in May and 1,787 placed in public works jobs during the same period. The reduction in total placements in June compared with May is attributed to the seasonal reduction in activities that comes each summer.

In June the Alabama State Employment Service, operating in 11 counties, placed 1,143 in private jobs and 664 in public jobs compared with 1,159 in private jobs and 672 in public jobs in May. The national reemployment service, operating in 56 counties, placed 2,900 in private jobs in June and 1,066 in public jobs compared with 4,490 in private jobs and 1,116 in public jobs in May.

Jobs for 795 persons were found by the two services during the week ending July 17. Of this total 202 were placed by the Alabama State Employment Service and 593 by the national reemployment service. Placements in private industry continued to hold its lead over the number in public works jobs during the week. The statistics show that the Alabama State Employment Service placed 142 in private jobs during the period and 58 in public jobs, with two being listed in relief jobs, while the national reemployment service placed 471 in private jobs and 121 in public jobs, with one being listed in a relief job.

Private placements by the Alabama State Employment Service the week of July 17 constituted 70.3 per cent of its total, while private placements by the national reemployment service were 79.4 per cent of its total placements.

A New Appeal To "The Dear People"

(By the Man in the Moon)

The Chilton County News last week carried two articles which were quite amusing, if they had not been so ridiculous. Both pertained to the now well known road squabble, about which there has been so much said and written, and so very little done.

The first was a news item to the effect that road work in Chilton County had been suspended until August 1—for lack of funds. The other was an "appeal" by the road supervisor to "the dear people" regarding the "lack of cooperation" he had been getting from the Commissioners Court.

In the first, The News says that, according to Mr. Arledge, the road supervisor, road work had been suspended until August 1. I believe that bit of information was entirely superfluous. I don't believe the public ever would have known the difference, if he hadn't told them. What with the ditches clogged with young trees big enough for hand sticks, and the numerous gulleys in the roads, we would have been too busy trying to get over these "new system" roads, and "cussin'" the jolts that we would never have missed the road crew or its work—that is, in case anyone has ever noticed them at work anywhere, or has ever seen any worth while work worth noticing that they have done. Of course, The News was not to blame—it was merely giving out the news, and news it certainly must have been to most people that work had been stopped, or even started, for that matter. A bigger news article, however, would have been one which related something that the road department has done besides draw maps, squabble, and shoot bull. In short, people know already that road work has stopped — several months ago. What most people would like to know is when road work that can be noticed will start again.

The second item of interest was Mr. Arledge's letter of "appeal" to the people. This reminds us of "the Kingfish" as he "peals" to Brother Andy" as one of that "great brotherhood". The very presumption of it is most appalling.

To be fair, I really believe that, by the letter of that notorious misconceived new road law, passed by Mr. Cox, the county will be forced, in the end, to pay the warrants that the Court has refused to recognize. That law gave the supervisor control over VERY NEARLY everything connected with the roads—but not quite all. It gave him complete and arbitrary control over all road work and the county's machinery for such work; also the uncontrolled right to "hire and fire" whomsoever he willed. What it did not allow him control over, however, was the cash end of the business—the little matter of paying the bills was left to the Commissioners Court. So, although Mr. Arledge has the right to do the managing of the road department, the Court still holds the paying end, and that seems to have proved a thorn in Mr. Arledge's side.

Mr. Arledge addresses "the dear people" thus:

"What are you going to do about it? This is your county! These are your roads! And if I see aright, all the money in the county is your money! It was your vote that placed these men in the Commissioners Court! Are we in Russia, where the people have no voice in the affairs of their government? Are these men to give their service and spend almost half their earned wages in upkeep of their personally owned cars which are used in carrying on their work for the county, to be denied their wages when they are due?"

If Mr. Arledge will permit, I would like to reply to the above. If I read the minds of the people aright, Mr. Arledge, the people are going to do absolutely nothing whatever about it. If I see right, they are thoroughly disgusted with your system and the "results" you have shown. But is this our county? About 18 months ago, when the road law was being rubbed in on our people, it would have been more fitting to re-name the county—Cox County. These are our roads, it is true, but you are the high and mighty one in whose hands they have been placed, and it is your job to keep them up—a job in which I believe the majority of our people will agree that you have failed miserably.

You say this is the county's money. For once you are right, and the people of the county, I am sure, are right glad that they have a bunch of men in the Commissioners Court who will not throw it to the four winds, but will at least try to get something like value received when it is spent.

The Alabama Power Company pays a great portion of the taxes of the county, and have two roads leading toward each of their two plants, each of which leads out of the county toward the county seats of other counties, yet when our road department officials decided to build a hard surface road, it took off in the direction exactly opposite from both of these roads, leaving the roads of the biggest taxpayers in the county to become a mass of "duck nests" and corrugations.

Certainly the people of the county elected these commissioners—to look after the affairs of the county, and I believe they appreciate them looking after their duties. They also elected Mr. Cox—to represent them, Mr. Arledge, and if he had been as careful in his duties as it appears the Commissioners Court has been, I believe there would have been no road squabble, no fight, but that our county would still be considered one of the leading counties of the state in all departments, including roads, instead of being "on a par" with other counties, as stated by Mr. Cox a few weeks ago. And as far as you are concerned, personally, Mr. Arledge, our people have been given no chance whatever to speak their minds by a vote WHICH WOULD COUNT. A referendum was held in which it was found that the people seemed almost unanimous in opposition to the new set-up, but it made absolutely no difference, as you well know. I believe there is no opposition to you, personally, Mr. Arledge—our people had just as soon you held the job as anyone, if someone MUST hold it—but what our people do not like is the system itself, and all that goes with it.

And as to our living in Russia, there is only a geographical difference, insofar as the road business is concerned. If I am correctly informed (and I believe I am), the Russian dictator does things and passes laws as he desires, and leaves nothing to the will of the people. I would like to turn back the pages of time just about 18 months again, when Mr. Cox disregarded the wishes of the people entirely and choked the new road law down their throats, although there could have been no mistake as to how they felt about it. Again you are right, Mr. Arledge—the people had absolutely no voice in that grand maneuver, and we might well have lived in Russia, judging from the recognition we received from our representative in regard to the road law. You will recall that when Mr. Cox was told that the people didn't want the road law, replied that "the people don't know what they want." Maybe they didn't, but now, at least, there is one thing they know they DON'T want—the new road law, the new supervisor system, or anything connected with it, and are biding their time for a chance to elect a representative who will have that law rendered null and void by its removal from the statute books.

You ask if these men are to be paid. I think they will be, in the long run, but I believe you will have to pay them personally for a good while. When the thing is all worked out, I believe the law and the courts will force the Commissioners Court to pay this money, but it will be a hard, long road for you to travel before that is done, and even then will in no way change the political despotism of the road law nor the tyranny which it incorporates.

I am not well enough acquainted with the road business to know whether we need one overseer or 50, but this I DO know. Before the new road system was put into effect we had roads—good roads—and now we don't have them. Results speak for themselves, and results are what our people are looking at and judging your system by. Not long ago Mr. Cox stated that our county's roads were "on a par" with those in other counties in the state. That may be true, but you must remember that there was a time when Chilton County had the reputation of having the best roads of any county in the state, and that you could tell, blind-fold, when you entered the county by the better condition of the road. You can still come in blind-fold and tell the difference, if you can hold on and keep your mind on your business long enough to decide whether or not your car is still on the so-called road or has taken to a potato patch alongside.

You characterize your road system "a progressive move". Progress toward what, Mr. Arledge? Judging from the condition of our once fine roads, the only progress we are making is back toward a road condition where we will be able to save lots of traveling expenses by being forced to travel in ox carts again as of old.

You say you are working under a handicap, Mr. Arledge. You knew you would be in that predicament, for you were plainly told that such would be the case. You were told that our people didn't like the road law (if you had to be told), and that they didn't like Charlie Cox for ramming it down their throats; also, that it was the general opinion that Cox was responible for your being here. You were bluntly told that it would all boil down to the place where you would have to try to please the people, or to please Charlie Cox. You were told that if you tried to please the people, you would bump squarely into Charlie Cox, and that he had already plainly left the impression that he had no regard whatever for the people's wishes. You were also told that if you tried to please Charlie that you would bump into the people, and that the going might be hard. Apparently you have elected the latter route, Mr. Arledge, and your own letter of last week is proof positive that you ARE finding the going difficult, if not impossible.

Mr. Arledge goes on in his letter to set out the dire results that may come if "the dear people" do not come to his rescue and force the Court to pay his road bills. He believes he will have to suspend operations almost entirely. Again, I say, I don't believe any difference could be noted—it's worth a try, any way. But why come to the people? They had nothing to do with getting the road law passed, but did everything they could to stop it. Why not go to those responsible for the road law—why not ask Charlie Cox to do something about it?

As to the wages of his men being tied up during litigation, if my memory serves me right, Mr. Arledge said not long ago that he would "personally" guarantee these men's wages. Sure, these men should be paid, if they have worked for the county, and inasmuch as Mr. Arledge has guaranteed such wages, and they have done their work under such guarantee, I would suggest that he make good his guarantee and pay them. He says he has gone about as far as he can. In that case, I suggest that he call on Mr. Cox for a solution to his problem. He is the "daddy" of this whole affair, and he should know how to make a go of it.

In conclusion, we think the whole road system has proved a dismal failure—judging from the mighty quarrel it has caused in the county, and the inevitable bad road condition. Our people are not concerned about the fight, for they recognize it generally for what it is—a political fight for power between the heads and would-be heads of the two factions of the Democratic party in the county. They care little for political fights, but they are very much concerned about the condition of their roads, and Mr. Arledge and Mr. Cox may rest assured that their chances of help from our once "forgotten" and suddenly "remembered" people, who jolt over our worn-out roads day after day and are ever reminded by them of the terrible road condition we find ourselves in, is very slight indeed.

Mr. Cox has found it expedient in the past to ignore, entirely, the wishes of our people. Then why turn "cry-baby" at this stage of a hot game, and run to those same people who "didn't know what they wanted" for help? Mr. Cox chose to do as he wished—against the people's wishes. We suggest that he continue to work out his own plans and salvation, and instruct his supervisor that if he will spend more of his time in actual supervision of building good roads and less in a vain attempt to explain away the cause of their bad condition, he will come nearer doing the wishes of the people who are furnishing the money, and has a much better chance of consideration and backing from them. After all, a bird dog is the only thing I ever saw that would take a whipping and then hop all over his persecutor in gratitude. But Chilton County's people are not bird dogs by any wild stretch of imagination—they will not show their gratitude for a whipping, and the sooner the perpetrators of high-handed political maneuvers find it out, the better for all concerned.—Man in the Moon.

BIRMINGHAM STATE FAIR TO BEGIN SEPTEMBER 27

One of the greatest musical and dancing extravaganzas ever staged either outdoors or indoors is to be the scenic spectacle of the Alabama State Fair when it throws open its gates Monday, September 27, for a week's run. Manager P. T. Streider of the state's annual show is authority for the statement that he has just signed a contract to bring to Birmingham for the week Ernie Young's greatest revue, "The Passing Parade", which can boast a cast of 100 and which requires several car loads of scenery for the presentation in front of the grandstand.

Manager Streider feels that with the acquisition of this grandstand attracton, plus the other features already contracted for that he will be able to give to the education and amusement loving public of Alabama the all-time greatest show. Last week he consummated a deal whereby Capt. E. L. Frakes would be brought to Birmingham for one day of the fair, Thursday, when "Thrill Day" would be observed. The famous daredevil, who has been booked through the Barnes Carruthers organization, will stage his famous airplane wrecking feat on the infield immediately in front of the grandstand and will give a thrill show lasting all afternoon. He will be assisted on his state fair appearances by Tommy Delucca, Birmingham girl, who doesn't know what the word "fear" means.

CONSERVATION CLUBS MEET

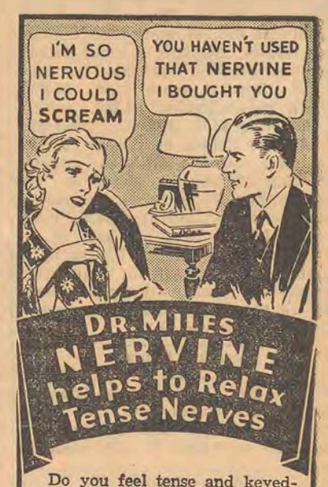
A joint meeting of the Chilton County Game and Fish Conservation Association and Corinth Region Conservation Club was held at the Verbena high school building on Thursday, July 8. Tom Ford, director of the county conservation planning of the State Conservation Department brought a message on conserving game and wild life in Chilton County.

J. B. Atkinson is president of the Chilton County Association, and Wm. H. L. Smith is secretary. E. A. Norris is chairman of the Corinth Club, and Arcue Baker is sercetary.

OLD CHILTON NATIVE WRITES

Editor Union-Banner:

I am taking this opportunity to express my thanks to the people of dear old Chilton County. I spent last week with my aunt, Mrs. Margaret Glasscock, at the old McNeill Mill, which I hadn't seen in 37 years. I found quite a change in that community; good roads, although in need of repair, and lots of new faces I did not know, which gave me a somewhat lonesome, sad feeling. On Sunday, July 25, I attended the homecoming at old Rocky Mount cemetery, church of childhood days. I met many old friends and relatives. I want to thank Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Marlar and family for their kind treatment and fine dinner, which I enjoyed very much. I also enjoyed the fine sermon preached there that afternoon.



Here's hoping we may all be able to meet there next homecoming day. Best wishes to The Union-Banner and all my old friends in Rocky Mt. community. — James H. Vest, Route 2, Box 340-A, Bessemer, Ala.

RUFUS ALPHUS DOWNS

Rufus Alphus Downs, age 44, died at Central Alabama Hospital Thursday, July 29th, at 7 a. m., following an appendix operation. Burial was at Maple Springs Friday, Rev. W. E. Robinson officiating, assisted by Rev. A. T. Davis. Martin and Sons were in charge.

Pallbearers were: Claudie Wyatt, Melvin Lansford, Lloyd Martin, Denson Kelley, Roy Traywick and Barney Miller.

The deceased was a son of Rufus J. Downs, who died three weeks ago. Surviving are his mother, wife, four sons—Roy of Montgomery, Alton of Clanton, Thomas and James of Clanton. Brothers are: Arnold and Evan of Birmingham, Claud of Verbena, Lee of Birmingham and Lester of Clanton. Sisters are: Misses Mayme and Daisy Downs of Clanton and Tuscaloosa, Mrs. Bessie Martin of Clanton and Mrs. Evelyn Wise of Cooper.

HARVEY COFER DIED

Mr. Harvey Cofer, of Free Springs, passed away last Saturday. Death was due to an automobile accident.

He was 60 years old, and is survived by his wife, two daughters, four brothers, and three sisters. He was one of our leading citizens, a true man, public spirited, a man of kindness, a Christian devoted to the Truth, esteeming his Creator and Creator's Word far above all human creeds; his life was a life of love and good will, a man of loyalty.

We have abundant hope for Mr. Cofer that in the sweet beyond eternal life awaits him.

His remains were laid away at Mars Hill, Sunday afternoon in the presence of what was estimated to be the largest congregation ever gathered there. The floral offerings were beautiful. Martin and Sons directed.

JUST FROM SHOULTS

Can I come once more with my little bit? Last Friday we had an 8-inch rain, and a good rain Monday. Crops are looking good. Farmers are well pleased and in good heart. Boll weevils doing their part. VACCINOL

Not Only Kills the Termites But Prevents New Infestation

Vaccinol's highly penetrating qualities insure thorough impregnation of every piece of wood treated.

Vaccinol fumes mean quick death to termites.

Destructive fungi, as well as termites, are destroyed and prevented by Vaccinol, preserving wood against warping and decay. Timbers are frequently treated by Vaccinol, as a seasoning and preserving precaution, before the building is erected.

Have the Vaccinol representative estimate your house for anti-termite treatment immediately. This inspection will be made without cost or obligation. It is the BEST insurance you can have.

COUNTY SURVEYS BEING MADE

Probate judges in Alabama are demonstrating their deep interest in the welfare of their counties by hearty cooperation with the new State Chamber of Commerce even when it means another task, that of providing certain information promptly.

The State Chamber, which has as its objective a prompt and comprehensive survey of each county in the state to ascertain its natural resource of authentic information. Acthe judge of probate, who is "father" of his county would prove a valuable source of authontic information. Accordingly, this week a questionnaire was mailed to each of the 67 probate judges in the state. Despite the time and thought needed in compiling the required information on farm crops, special rescources, existing industries, governmental and civic organizations, a number of the questionnaires, carefully filled in arrived by return mail.

Such cooperation is heartening to the State Chamber just entering upon a progressive program to "Supplement Farm with Factory", a vision that may be achieved only through united Alabama consciousness, a "long pull, a strong pull, and a pull all together".

CANE CREEK

Sunday School and B. Y. P. U. were well attended Sunday and Sunday night. Our lessons were good, but still there are so many more who need to come to church.

Our meeting begins next Saturday, August 7th. On Sunday we are going to have a home-coming service and continue on through the week. Come to your old home church and worship in one more old time meeting. Our pastor ask that all our old members come back to at least one service.

We are praying for this to be a great revival at Cane Creek. Service will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning and at 7 o'clock in the evening. We are expecting a large crowd. Come early if you want a front seat. You will find a warm welcome at Cane Creek.

Robinson Springs

Our revival closed last Friday night, and we sure were sorry it could not go on until Sunday. The people seemed to be enjoying it very much.

We wish to say that the people sure did shout praises unto God and praised his Holy Name. We thank our church friends for their help in our revival, and for their prayers and testimonies. And especially do we thank the singers for their help.

The preachers who helped in the revival were: Rev. Robert Cost, Rev. Earnest Jones and Rev. Hoyt Huckabee, of Georgia. We want our friends to come back and be with us again. Friends, I wish to say to all of the Christian people—don't forget God just because the revivals are closing. We ought to pray more in the next year than we ever have, for through prayer we will enjoy the blessings of God. "Come and go with us and we will do thee good," saith the Word of God. So just follow after Lorene Ader.

Crimson clover seed are more plentiful, are moving faster, and are selling at lower prices this year than they did last year. At the same time, white clover seed production is smaller and grass seed production much larger.

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

Western Hostelries.

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF.—They have mighty fine hotels in this town. I've stayed at several of them and friends of mine have been put out of some of the others.

And once I enjoyed a fire scare here when the alarm, at 3:30 a. m., brought to the lobby a swarm of moving picture actors without any makeup on and not much else. This was in the era of the silent films, but you wouldn't have dreamed it to hear the remarks of an hysterical lady star when she discovered that her chow had been forgotten. The current husband also was temporarily missing but she was comparatively calm about that. She probably figured a husband could be picked up almost any time whereas darling little Ming Poo had a long pedigree and represented quite a financial investment and anyhow was a permanent fixture in her life.

Irvin S. Cobb

Through the strike here, the traveling public seemed to make out. Maybe visitors followed the old southern custom—stop with kinfolks.

Think, though, how great would have been the suffering had the strike occurred during prohibition days when transient guests might have perished of thirst without bright uniformed lads to bring them first-aid packages in the handy hip-pocket sizes! Bellhops qualified as lifesavers those times.

Humans in the Raw.

AS I behold vast numbers of fellow beings strolling the beaches, yes, and the public thoroughfares too, while wearing as few clothes as possible—and it seems to be possible to wear very few indeed—I don't know whether to admire them for their courage or sympathize with them in their suffering or deplore their inability to realize that they'd be easier on the eye if they'd quit trying to emulate the raw oyster—which never has been pretty to look upon and, generally speaking, is an acquired taste anyhow.

For a gentleman who ordinarily bundles himself in heavy garments clear up to his Adam's apple, this warm weather strip-act entails a lot of preliminary torture. At first our gallant exhibitionist resembles a forked stalk of celery bleached out in the cellar. Soon he is one large red blot on the landscape, with fat water blisters spangling his brow until he looks as if he were wearing a chaplet of Malaga grapes. In the next stage he peels like the wallpaper on an Ohio valley parlor after flood time.

Destructive Hired Help.

SOMEBODY found a stained glass window in an English church dating back to 685 A. D., but still intact. And from the ruins of a Roman villa, they've dug out a marble figure of Apollo—the one the mineral water was named after—in a perfect state although 2,000 years old.

These discoveries are especially interesting to this family as tending to show that hired help isn't what it must have been in the ancient time.

We once had a maid of the real old Viking stock who, with the best intentions on earth, broke everything she laid finger on. Moreover, she could stand flatfooted in the middle of a large room and cause treasured articles of virtu, such as souvenirs of the St. Louis World's fair and the china urn I won for superior spelling back in 1904 at the Elks' carnival, to leap to the floor and be smashed to atoms. She didn't have to touch them or even go near them. I think she did it by animal magnetism or capillary attraction or something of that nature.

The first time we saw the Winged Victory, Mrs. Cobb and I decided it must have been an ancestor of Helsa who tried to dust it—with the disastrous results familiar to all lovers of classic statuary.

The Reaping Season.

CERTAIN crops may not have done so well, due to weather conditions, or, as some die-hard Republicans would probably contend, because of New Deal control. But, on the other hand, hasn't it been a splendid ripening season for sit-downs, walk-outs, shut-ups, lock-outs and picket lines?

It makes me think of the little story the late Myra Kelly used to tell of the time when she was a public school teacher on New York's East Side. She was questioning her class of primary-grade pupils, touching on the callings of their respective parents. She came to one tiny sad-eyed little girl, shabby and thin and shy.

"Rosie," she asked, "at what does your father work?"

"Mein poppa he don't never work, Teacher," said Rosie.

"Doesn't he do anything at all?"

"Oh, yessum."

"Well, what does he do?"

"He strikes."

J. P. TRAYWICK BURIED AT NEW HARMONY TUESDAY

J. P. Traywick, age 35, was buried at New Harmony, Lomax, Tuesday morning, Martin and Sons directing.

The body of the young man was recovered from a shallow pond of water in Siluria Monday. The man was last seen alive Saturday. Bruises on the face and throat indicate probable foul play. The body was brought here by Martin Monday, shortly after being found.

It is reported that Mr. Traywick had been in Siluria only about a week, having come there from Sylacauga. He leaves a wife.

MASTER FARMERS

THREE MASTER FARMERS NAMED

Alabama's three new Master Farmers, and their wives. Left, above, are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kaiser, Elberta; right, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Morton, Newton; and, lower, Mr. and Mrs. G. Henry Caperton, Stevenson.

Auburn. — Three Alabama farmers and their wives — Mr. and Mrs. G. Henry Caperton, Stevenson, Jackson County; Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Morton, Newton, Dale County; and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kaiser, Elberta R 1, Baldwin County — were this week named "Master Farmers" by the Alabama Extension Service and Progressive Farmer-Ruralist.

The new master farmers carry out a well rounded crop, livestock, and live-at-home program. They also take a leading part in bettering their communities and in improving their own homes.

Mr. Morton owns and operates 500 acres of land, Mr. Kaiser 480 acres, and Mr. Caperton 1,500 acres. Mr. Morton has lived on his present farm all his life, Mr. Kaiser on his farm for 29 years, and Mr. Caperton for 30 years.

Mr. Kaiser received most of his income from Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, beef cattle, hogs, green corn, and poultry; Mr. Morton's income is derived principally from cotton and cotton seed, beef cattle, hogs, and peanuts; Mr. Caperton gets his income from cotton and cotton seed, beef cattle, hogs, corn, and lespedeza hay and seed.

The farmers were nominated for the master farmer honors by T. S. Morrow, county agent of Jackson County; W. D. Thomason, county agent of Dale County; and E. E. Hale, county agent of Baldwin County. They were finally scored and selected by representatives of the State Extension Service and of the Progressive Farmer-Ruralist.

Each farmer was awarded a gold medal and certificate at a special "Master Farmer" program in Auburn Wednesday night, by P. O. Davis, Auburn, and Dr. Tait Butler, Memphis. About 700 farmers and farm women from throughout the state attended the meeting.

GAME NEWS

Conservation Building Rearing Pond

Completion of the first of a series of fish-rearing ponds in the near future is practically assured by the Muscle Shoals Game and Fish Protectors following a vote of the organization to set aside all funds on hand for this work. One site has been selected, the dam is already constructed and it will require very little cash outlay to complete the project. This pond will be fed by Cox's Creek, which has a good flow of spring water the year round. The pond will be deeper, a retaining wall will be built and it will be ready for the propagation of fish to be released in waters of that section. Other ponds will follow, officials said.

Iwan To Visit State

E. B. Speaker, superintendent of fisheries for the Iowa Conservation Commission at Des Moines, will be a visitor in Alabama next month and will inspect the State fish hatchery at Eastaboga, near Anniston. In a letter to Commissioner I. T. Quinn, the fish expert requested information about North Alabama fishing, and indicated that he and his party would do some angling while in that section. Speaker also wanted to know when cotton would be in bloom, as the Iowan party wanted to see cotton blooming.

Rodeo Guest

A prominent ont-of-state guest at the Alabama Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo August 9, 10 and 11, will be Sam F. Brewster, Tennessee Commissioner of Conservation, who accepted the invitation extended him by Governor Bibb Graves to attend the major sporting event of the summer in lower Mobile Bay. Commissioner Brewster said there would be four in his party.

Scouts Hear Talk

Rural Boy Scouts of the Choccolocco Council in Calhoun County last week heard a talk on conservation and wildlife by J. M. White, Conservation Department Field assistant, and saw moving pictures of interesting subjects along this line.

D. W. WAITE TO ATTEND CONVENTION NEXT FRIDAY

Mr. D. W. Waite, secretary-treasurer of the Chilton County national farm loan association, will attend the North Alabama district meeting of secretary-treasurers at Birmingham next Friday. Sixty-eight national farm loan associations will be represented at the meeting, which is being held for the purpose of discussing plans of operation, the handling of real estate, and collection problems, according to Mr. Waite. The meeting will also be attended by some of the officers and employes of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans.

"Much of value to the associations should be gained at these meetings," Mr. Waite said. "The national farm loan associations are farmer-owned and farmer-operated institutions and assist the farmers to reach the money markets of the nation through federal land bank loans. For several years during the depression it was necessary for the Federal Land Bank to carry on the service direct through field representatives. Two years ago, however, the Federal Land Bank undertook to decentralize this system and return the operation of this cooperative farm mortgage system to the associations. The work of decentralizing has been completed in the three states of the fifth district, which are Alabama, Louisiana, and Mississippi. The associations are now concerned with the improvement and expansion of their service, and these meetings which are being held throughout the three states are part of the development program."

The associations in South Alabama will hold their meeting Thursday, and the two districts of Louisiana will meet next week. The Mississippi meetings were completed week before last.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Next Sunday being the second Sunday, is our regular preaching day; also our revival begins on that day and will continue on through the following week. Rev. A. J. Nickols of Bessemer, will be here on Tuesday to help our pastor, Bro. Carroll in the revival. We extend to all visiting churches a welcome to come and be with us and help us out in this meeting. Services will begin at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, and at 7:30 Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Knighton, of Columbia, Tenn.; Mrs. A. H. Smith and daughter, Miss Mary Gertrude of Anniston, Ala., were the guests of their brother, Mr. J. S. Ogletree and family here last Wednesday and Thursday.

Messrs. Vernon and Curtis Jones of Isabella, were in this community last week end.

Several from here attended the singing at enterprise Sunday.

Last Thursday morning God in His wisdom called from us another friend and loved one, Mr. Alphus Downs, who died at the Central Alabama Hospital, at Clanton, following an operation for appendicitis; only three weeks to the day when he had to say goodby to his father, Mr. R. J. Downs, until we had to say goodby to him. He was laid to rest in the Maple Springs cemetery with Rev. W. E. Robinson and Rev. A. T. Davis officiating. Martin and Sons were in charge.

He is survived by his wife, four boys, a mother, four sisters, five brothers and a host of other relatives and friends. Remember the revival here next week.

LAY DAM 6 — BEMISTON 5

Lay Dam defeated Bemiston, of Talladega at Lay Dam last Sunday in a fast 10-inning game, marred only by the Kilowatts' six bobbles and much quibbling on the part of the Baggers.

Lay Dam held a 1-run lead going into the 9th, but Bemiston tied it at 5-all in their half. The Kilowatts pulled the game out of the fire in the 10th, when Baker opened with a double, went to third on Williamson's sacrifice, and scored standing up on Clint Jones' long fly to right.

Baker, Williamson and Curlee led the Lay Dam team with 2 for 4 each, with Clements leading Bemiston with 2 for 5. Whitaker walked 7, struck out 10 and gave up 5 widely scattered hits. Chappell started for Bemiston, but was peppered for a triple, double and three singles, good for three runs, before he gave way to Franklin, with one away, who held Lay Dam to six hits the rest of the way. Ley Dam faltered six times behind Whitaker, while Bemiston came through with a clean defense for Franklin.

On the previous Thursday these two teams had battled through a 10-inning tie at Talladega.

Indications are that farmers will enjoy a good demand for their products during the next few months, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

THORSBY SECTION

(Mrs. S. E. Norton, Manager)

The annual revival of Thorsby Baptist church wil begin Sunday, August 8. Rev. Robert Edge, pastor of the Capital Heights Baptist church, Montgomery, will be the guest preacher during this series of services. Mr. Emmett Billingsley, our local choir director, will have charge of the music. The people of Thorsby and adjoining communities are cordially invited to attend these services.

Services as usual at the Congregational church next Sunday; Sunday school at 9:45, worship service at 11 o'clock, Christian Endeavor at 7 p.m.

Prayer meeting on Wednesday evening, August 4th, at 7 o'clock.

The Ladies Aid social will be held on Thursday evening, August 5, at 7 o'clock. This social will be in the evening on the hill with Miss Fairbank. Everyone is cordially invited to come. The young people especially invited.

Mr. C. M. Williams and family started on a camping trip of two or three days on Tuesday morning and expect to be home Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mixson and children, Grace, Swanson, and Dwight, start on their vacation Wednesday morning. They will go first to Union Springs, then to Mr. Mixson's home near Dothan, and down into Florida. They expect to be gone two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Rascoe Maddox and son, David, will leave Friday morning for Midland City to be gone two weeks.

The Jemison and Thorsby Masonic Lodges are having a joint picnic on Thursday evening at Pine Grove Camp. Everyone please bring well filled baskets.

Little Aubrey Franklin celebrated his birthday on July 28. The following little guests were entertained: Hattie Jane Sutlive, Vinson Sutlive, David Maddox, John Thomas and Patricia Ann Strand, Dorothy Jean and Jimmie Gibbons, Carol Howard, Barbara Ann Lowery, Imogene Lowery, George Walter Pate, Jon Mac Reinhardt, James Frank Thompson, Joyce and Earl Waites, Peggy and Aubrey Franklin.

Mr. Aaron Vines spent the week end in Montgomery.

Mrs. Earl Henley spent last week in Union Springs and Montgomery.

Mr. Carles Robinson of Campbellton, Fla., is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Robinson.

GRAGG AND THOMPSON FLEW TO MIAMI & BACK

On Sunday morning Dr. V. J. Gragg and Mr. Leo Thompson flew to Miami, Fla., in Dr. Gragg's plane. They went by way of Dothan, Tallahassee, Jacksonville and into Miami; the time required was about seven hours. On the return they left the Florida course at Lake City and flew straight to Dothan.

Dr. Gragg said that the trip both ways was uneventful, other than they had some hazy weather most all the way down. The only ideal flying weather they had was after they left Jacksonville on the return.

A man will be here to test these cookers to see if they are in good condition. We especially want all the new Ball cookers brought in to be tested.—Bertha Dennis, Home Supervisor Resettlement Administration.

The assessed value of Alabama's taxable property in 1936 was $924,802,000. The estimated value given by the Blue Book of Southern Progress was $2,292,000,000. Kentucky, with four-fifths the area of Alabama, had an estimated value of taxable property of $2,672,000,000 and an assessed valuation of $2,496,752,000. It will be noted that while Kentucky's assessed valuation is approximately the same as the estimated value, Alabama's assessed valuation is only a little more than 40 per cent of the estimated value. South Carolina has the lowest valuation of any of the Southern states. Its assessed valuation is less than 17 per cent of the estimated valuation, the assessed valuation being only $360,000,000.

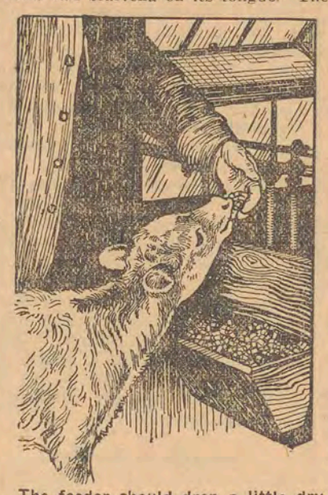
Easy to Teach Baby Calves to Eat Dry Food



Task Is Simple After Calf Gets First Taste.

Dairymen who visit the Purina Experimental Farm always remark on the well developed calves raised at the farm and question the men in the calf barn how calves can be taught to eat dry feed at such an early age.

"Getting the calf started on dry feed is really a simple task and does not require a great deal of time," says W. R. Arends, calf raising authority with Purina Mills. "When the calf is four days old the feeder should allow it to suck his fingers for a few moments to start the flow of saliva in the calf's mouth. While his fingers are moist the feeder should dip them into calf startena and again let the calf suck them. Thus the calf gets his first taste of dry feed

Drop Feed Into Calf's Mouth

"The next step is to hold the calf's head up, open its mouth and put a little calf startena on its tongue. The calf starts chewing immediately and is then well started on dry feed," Arend says. "Finally, the calf's head should be guided into the feeder containing the calf startena, so that thereafter it will know where to find dry feed."

The feeder should drop a little dry feed into the calf's mouth.

What Irvin S. Cobb Thinks about

Comfort in Traveling.

LATELY, on a cross-country prowl, two of us invaded one of the remotest corners of the desert.

Until our car broke down we crawled along some of the roughest backways in creation, then escaped on what by quaint irony was called an accommodation train over a side-spur of a prehistoric railway line.

Irvin S. Cobb

When we hit concrete high roads and air-conditioned fliers, I caught myself saying our forefathers put up with plenty of misery in order to move about. And then I realized that what we had endured did not date back to former generations. So soon have we grown accustomed to luxury with speed we forget that most of America, fifteen years ago, lacked what we now accept as common traveling comfort.

Why, less than two decades ago, for my sins, I rode on a certain jerkwater railroad in the deep South. The last work done on its tracks was in 1864 by General Sherman—he tore 'em up.

I made the mistake of trying to shave while en route. When I got through, I looked like one of those German student duelists.

But, nowadays, even those who use homemade trailers seem almost happy at times.

* * *

Diplomatic Busybodies.

WHO'LL be the next member of our diplomatic corps to open his mouth and put his foot in it clear up to his hip-joint?

It has been nearly two months now since our ambassador to Germany had a bad dream and before nursie could quiet him was proclaiming that a certain billionaire was willing to put up one of his loose billions to buy a dictatorship for this country. He failed to furnish the name and address. Maybe they got left out of the nightmare.

Hardly had paregoric wooed this distinguished sufferer back to hush-a-bye-land when our new representative in the Philippines began demanding that, when it came to drinking official toasts, his name must come higher up on the wine list or he wouldn't be responsible for the consequences. However, the excitement subsided before he could summon the Pacific fleet to bombard Manila. There's a rumor that Washington sent him word he needn't worry about being appropriately saluted—there'd be a nationwide Bronx cheer awaiting him on his return home.

Since then there's been a lull and the American public is getting impatient. We do so love a free show and especially when it's amateur night.

* * *

Hard-Bitten Females.

TOURING about over certain Western states where open gambling either is by law permitted, or by custom winked at, I noticed this:

Generally speaking, the feminine patrons are the steadiest drinkers, the most persistent gamesters, the most reckless betters of all. And frequently their manners are the rudest and their faces the grimmest—determined seemingly to disavow the theory that their sex is the gentler sex.

On the other hand, the men patrons—descended, many of them, from old gun fighters, old prospectors, old path-finders—grow increasingly docile and subdued, absorbing less than their share of the hard liquor—maybe because they fear there won't be enough left for mama and the girls—and risking their dimes where the gallant ladies plunge with dollars.

Sometimes a fellow, watching the modern processional from the protection of the sidelines, gets to longing for the bygone days when, as Kipling might have put it and, in fact, almost did, a woman was only a woman, but a good cigar was ten cents.

* * *

These Candid Cameras.

ONCE a citizen had a right to object to the publication of a flashlight view showing him beating his wife or exhibiting his appendicitis scar or taking out his uppers or something.

That was before they began printing magazines for those who've abandoned the old-fashioned habit of reading and writing. And it's doing glamorous movie queens no real good when these betraying close-ups prove that maybe the glamor is only paint-deep.

Thus the last strongholds of our one-time personal liberty crumble. I used to think a passport picture was about the frankest thing we had in the line of intimate likenesses, excepting, of course, the x-ray.

But this candid camera business which catches you unawares—and often without your underwears either—is the most fiendish attack of all against our practically vanished privacy.

THE RIGHT TO WORK?

CENTER HILL

It has been two or three weeks since there has been any news from this place, but we are still on the map.

Mrs. Golder Gothard has returned to her home from Woodlawn Hospital, and is improving rapidly.

Mrs. Joe Yarbough, who has undergone an operation at West End Baptist hospital has been moved to the home of her sister, Mrs. Eual Price, on South Side.

Mrs. Rufus Scott has been in Woodlawn Hospital for the past week, and will be operated on Tuesday morning of this week.

Mr. Lewis Gillispie spent Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Cobb.

Mrs. Loyd Cobb and daughter, went to Montgomery last wednesday and were joined on Friday by Mr. Cobb and stayed until Sunday with Mrs. Cobb's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dock Glass.

Mrs. Ed Baker, of Welch, West Virginia, has been spending some time with her mother, Mrs. Joe Yarbough, but left for her home Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Comer Lenior and daughter, Louise, are visiting relatives and friends in Birmingham this week.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Cobb were in Birmingham two days the first of last week.

Mrs. Bernice Lowery and three sons spent Sunday with their aunt, Mrs. Joel Childress.

Berney Dean and Imogene Cobb, were visitors to Clanton last Thursday and Friday.

Remember our revival begins next Sunday morning. Rev. J. P. Littleton will do the preaching.

Mrs. Luretta Rashbury has been visiting her son, Joe, a part of the past week.

We have our Sunday school going again and we want everybody to come every Sunday.

Sarah Mae and Dorothy Lee Collum, spent Friday night and Saturday with their grandmother, Mrs. W. G. Atkinson, at Jemison.

Mrs. J. I. Hudman and children left Tuesday morning for a visit to Elmore County with relatives.

REFUGE

The revival that was held at this place the third Sunday and the following week was a great success. There were six additions, four of whom were baptized; the others came by letter and restoration.

There will be a call conference here next Sunday, August 8th, for the purpose of the election of new officers for the next ensuing year. All members are requested to be there. Don't forget the community singing at this place Thursday night of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Connell had as their guests last Sunday her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Harris, of Ashland.

The Rev. M. Lockhart is away in the meeting at Liberty this week in Autauga County.

Don't forget the called conference next Sunday. We have Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

INFANT CHILD BURIED

The infant of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Connell, of Mt, Creek, died Wednesday morning at 3 o'clock. The funeral was held at the home Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Dewey Evans officiating, Martin & Sons in charge. Surviving are the father nad mother, and three brothers—Vernon, Thomas Jackson, and Willie Louis.

PLETCHER-ALPINE CLUB

The Pletcher-Alpine Club met July 27, at the home of Mrs. Gladys Jones, with six members present. The president being absent the roll call and singing was omitted.

New business—one new member was welcomed to the club. Officers and leaders were elected for the new year and it is planned for a bigger and better club with perfect attendance for another year. To let the Pletcher members know that we appreciate their letting Alpine community join their club, we are trying to plan a picnic for all the members and their husbands and "Oh, Boy" what excitement to have Miss Grace meet all our men folk. We will also invite Mr. Ivey as we are proud of the work that he is doing with our 4-H club boys. We feel sure he could intertain the men and we will let all interested know more about this later. Watch the papers.

Our demonstrations was on Food Preservation, and the following products were canned: Carrots, corn and tomato juice.

We also had a dessert demonstration which was later served as refreshments as follows: lemon chiffon pie, angel food cake with peppermint filling and iced tea. Everyone enjoyed being together and the club adjourned to begin a new year's work in September.

MASONIC MEMORIAL

Thorsby, Ala., July 29, 1937.
To the officers and members of the Chilton County Masonic Conference assembled at Thorsby, Alabama.;

We, your committee on memorials, beg leave to make the following report:

That whereas, the Great and Supreme Ruler, of the Universe, has in His infinite wisdom, seen fit to remove from among us our esteemed Brethren and fellow laborers:

Dr. E. H. Downs, Century Lodge No. 567.

Dr. C. A. Marlar, Clanton Lodge No. 423.

J. A. Davis, Amand Lodge No. 200.

N. Duffey, Jemison Lodge No. 411.

J. D. Blankenship, Clanton Lodge No. 423.

W. C. Blalock, Amand Lodge No. 250.

S. B. Powell, Verbena, Lodge No. 754.

H. B. Oliver, Verbena Lodge No. 754.

Dr. E. G. Hyman, Clanton Lodge No. 423.

And whereas, the long and intimate relations, held within faithful discharge of their duties in their respective lodges, make it emmimently befitting that we record our appreciations of them.

Therefore, be it resolved:

1. That the wisdom and ability, which they have exercised in the aid of our organization by service, contributions and counsel, will be held in grateful remembrance.

2. That the removal of such lives from our midst leaves a vacancy that will be realized by the members of their respective lodges.

3. That with deep sympathy with the bereaved relatives of the deceased, that we express a hope that ever so great a loss to us all may be overruled for good by Him Who doeth all things well.

4. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the conference, a copy sent to each of the bereaved families, and a copy sent to each of the local papers for publication.—Committee: R. L. Duffey, Varnie Wyatt, W. L. Smith.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

American housewives are becoming more and more used to the terms "Polish ham" and "Danish bacon". Imported meat products of course are comng to us from other European countries and also from the Latin-American Argentine. The flow of farm products to America has been stimulated by the killing off of cattle and hogs at home, together with other artificia methods fro curtailment of supply, aided considerably by the seasons of drouth which came upon the American farmers. The reciprocal trade agreements, sponsored with other nations by Uncle Sam through the agency of Secretary of State Cordell Hull, have facilitated this flood of alien farm imports to America.

The fact is, according to the Department of Commerce, we are now importing each month about 4,000,000 pounds of frozen hams, shoulders and bacon, and these are valued at approximately $1,500,000. Perhaps the amount does not look so large, when compared with the consuming abilities of the American people, but we must bear in mind that the imports are increasing by leaps and bounds.

And all of our meat imports do not consist of cured pork products. In January, according to the official report, we imported over 147,000 pounds of ordinary beef, 1,796,000 pounds of ordinary pork, over 25,000 pounds of turkey, 60,000 pounds of chicken and other fowl, and 1,173,000 pounds of canned beef, only about a third of which came from the Argentine, another third reaching us from Uruguay, and a considerable supply from Brazil. Most of the ordinary pork came from China, where millions do not have enough to eat, while beef came to us from as far away as New Zealand. These figures are for January only, and, let us repeat, the imports are mounting.

Now the other side of the general farm picture is that our exports of all farm products are shrinking as our imports increase. The proponents of the free trade and "good neighbor" policies will tell us that we are short of supplies here and that when our farmers catch up with the markets, figures can be reversed. But will they be reversed? In the first place we may say that Secretary of Agriculture Wallace wants the American supply of all farm produce kept sharply curtailed, and he predicts disaster if we have another sizeable surplus. Doubtless he is correct so far as this pessimistic prediction is concerned if we keep the doors open to imports.

When the American farmer gets a few good seasons and piles up a surplus in grains and livestock, the foreign produce will keep on coming in because it can be raised more cheaply abroad than in America. At the same time this foreign industry which has been stimulated by the foolish American theory that our farmers can grow rich by producing less, will take up our former export markets abroad just as it absorbs our domestic market under the low tariff agreements.

As a remedy to our grain surpluses in the future, Secretary Wallace proposes the ever-normal granary plan by which our farmers will store their surpluses with the government's aid to tide us over the lean years. The trouble is that we don't know in advance, as Joseph did, just what our surplus and famine crop years are going to be. Nor have we any knowledge about the world supply against which we will have to contend. Until we have knowledge of the weather seven years in advance, and can regiment the foreign as well as the American grain farmer, this granary idea of Mr. Wallace is full of political and economic dynamite. If you don't believe this, just recall what happened to the Farm Board plan to store wheat back in the Hoover administration.

FACTS FROM THE RECORD

BOARD OF ADMINISTRATION

The State Board of Administration under the law is charged with the responsibility of purchasing supplies and materials for all the state departments, the sale of state owned property, the execution of contracts involving the general business of the state, the administration of the State Insurance Fund, and the management and direction of the activities of the prisoners.

The annual report for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1936, shows that purchasing orders issued during the year amounted to $4,609,121.63. More than half of this amount ($2,956,180.67) was for the highway department. Of this amount $1,440,537.54 was used in highway construction. The 3-way paving projects made it necessary for the state to purchase quite a bit of new machinery, materials and supplies.

One of the big problems of the board is handling the convicts and keeping them profitably employed. This report shows that during the year 10,550 prisoners were received and supervised, and that there are now in the various prison camps and prisons 5,798 prisoners.

In order to supply food for these convicts, five prison farms are operated. These farms are located at Atmore, Wetumpka, Spigener, Kilby, and Prison No. 4.

About 1,500 of these convicts are being used by the highway department in the construction and maintenance of roads. Road camps are maintained at Scottsboro, Hackleburg, Lovick, Chelsea, Cropwell, Cleveland, Tuskegee, Whitney, Nanafalia, Camden, and Whistler. Some other small camps have been established since the beginning of the year.

The labor for convicts working on the roads is charged to the highway department at the rate of $25 per convict per month.

Space will not permit a detailed statement of what the convicts are doing. That will be more fully covered in another article.

ZINC SULPHATE WILL CONTROL PECAN ROSETTE

Auburn. — Pecan rosette may be controlled by using zinc sulphate, reports the United States Bureau of Plant Industry, in listing three ways it may be applied:

1. Spraying a solution of zinc sulphate on the trees in the summer.
2. Applying a zinc sulphate directly on the trees in the summer.
3. Inserting zinc sulphate into the tree trunks in the spring.

University News

Dr. Gladstone Yeuell, head of the department of secondary education in the University of Alabama, will deliver the 1937 summer commencement address at the University on August 20.

Several important additions have been made to the University of Alabama faculty for 1937-38. Dr. Jackson R. Sharman of the University of Michigan, a native of Meridian, Miss., will become head of the department of physical education; Prof. William A. Vogel, formerly of the University of Arizona, will be director of the department of music; and Dr. A. B. Thomas of the University of Oklahoma, will become associate professor of Latin American history.

Twenty-two teaching fellows have been appointed in the College of Arts and Sciences. They include Carrie Mae Moore of Bankston; Jewel Spears, Hartford; John Stevenson, Roanoke; and Peyton Williams, in the English department; Thomas Barfield of Lineville, in the history department; Iva Beaty, Boaz and George Campbell of Dadeville, in the mathematics department; Robert Osborne, Jasper, in the department of romance languages. They are all holders of the bachelors degree, and will teach a few hours each week while working for the master's degree.

The second annual encampment for at least 50 outstanding entering freshmen will be held at Camp Horne, September 6 and 7 under the direction of James T. Hardwick, general state secretary for the Y. M. C. A. The camp will help orientate new students and provide leadership training experience. Addresses will be made by President Foster, Dean Newman, Mr. Hardwick, and outstanding members of the coaching staff and the football team.

Arrangements have also been completed for the orientation of new women students. The annual Y. W. C. A. and Woman Student Government Retreat will be held under the direction of Assistant Dean Jennie Morris at which plans for "Freshman Days" will be made.

Foreign trade through the port of Mobile has been steadily increasing during the past two years. The records show that the exports through that port in 1936 were valued at $32,807,000, while the imports amounted to $7,054,000.

The assessed value of property in Alabama is approximately $350 per person. The population was 2,646,249 in 1930 and the assessed valuation of all property, including corporations and public utilities was $924,790,574.

Artificial manure may be produced on most Alabama farms by utilizing waste, such as straw, leaves, cotton stalks, low grade hay, and weeds, reports D. G. Sturkie, agronomist of the Alabama Experiment Station.

A MILLION A YEAR

The year 1937 takes its place as the third successive year in which Chevrolet has produced more than one million units and the sixth time in the history of the company that more than one million cars of any one model have been built.

The millionth 937 model Chevrolet was completed at the company's Flint, Mich., assembly plant two weeks after the production of the 13-millionth car since the founding of the company 25 years ago.

The first year in which chevrolet produced more than a million units was 1927. In 1928 and again in 1929, the company built more than a million cars and trucks. Production passed the million mark again in 1935, repeating the acheivement in 1936. Chevrolet led the entire automobile industry in sales during eight of the past ten years.

During the first half of the coming hog marketing season, beginning October 1, the number of hogs slaughtered will be smaller than in the corresponding period of 1936-1937, and hog prices next fall and winter probably will average as high or probably higher than in the fall of 1936-1937, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Slaughter supplies of sheep and lambs probably will continue larger than a year earlier, until at least September.

County Farm Agent's Notes

STATE AND FEDERAL AGENCIES FIGHTING ARGENTINE WEEVILS

Auburn. — State and federal agricultural agencies have joined in an intensive campaign to keep the Argentine weevil from spreading from Covington County, Ala., and Walton and Okaloosa Counties, Fla., into other parts of the state and nation.

The fight is being conducted in Alabama by the Alabama Department of Agriculture, Montgomery; the Department of Entomology of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn; and the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington. Hundreds of people are at work to control and eradicate the newly discovered pest.

Since establishment in these counties it has damaged peanuts, cotton, corn, velvet beans, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, tomatoes, cabbage, collards, and other garden crops.

Very little is known about the life history of the new weevil or the best way to control it, but state and federal entomologists are at present studying it to learn how best to control it.

In the infested areas they are picking and destroying the adults, and are using various kinds of poisons, and digging trench barriers around infested fields.

"We wish to say that we thoroughly understand the possibilities of danger, and are taking every possible precaution; but, on the other hand, we do not wish to create any feeling of unreasonable fear, because we believe that the problem will be handled to properly protect the people of our state and adjoining areas," says R. J. Goode, commissioner of Agriculture.

VEGETABLES TO PLANT DURING THIS MONTH

Auburn. — By planting various vegetables during August, Alabama farmers can have good fall and winter gardens.

"Irish potatoes, collards, cabbage, beets, carrots, tomatoes, beans, lima beans, okra, corn, peas, kale, mustard, and turnips are some of the vegetables that may be started during this month," says Prof. L. M. Ware, of the Alabama Experiment Station.

A few suggestions for farmers to observe in planting summer vegetables are:

1. Select if possible a moist but well drained productive bottom land.

2. The land must be free from weeds and grass; however, deep preparation must be avoided if undue drying of the soil is to be escaped. Therefore, planting should be done with the least possible disturbance of the soil if the land is free from weeds.

3. Double quantities of most seed should be planted in summer as in spring, and seed should be planted deeper. The soil should be firmly packed about the seed and little loose soil left above the packed soil to prevent excessive loss of moisture and crusting.

4. Seed planted during the summer months should usually be planted on flat beds or in shallow furrows rather than on high beds.

5. A very good fertilizer for most vegetables consists of 800 pounds per acre of a 6-8-4 grade supplemented with a 200-pound side application of nitrate. Fertilizers should be put in a furrow under the seed and well mixed with the soil. Seeds should never come in direct contact with fertilizers.

POULTRY NEEDS WATER, PROTEIN, FAT AND LIME

Auburn. — Plenty of clean, fresh water is essential for egg production, states John E. Ivey, poultryman of the Alabama Extension Service, in reporting that eggs are made up of 60 per cent water, 13 per cent protein, 10 per cent fat, and 11 per cent lime.

The protein is found chiefly in the egg white and is obtained from meat scraps, fish meal, milk, soybean meal, alfalfa, etc. Protein is often the limiting factor in egg production, he says, in advising that "proteins be supplied by using a good supplement of four gallons of milk per 100 hens per day."

Fat is found chiefly in the yolk, and made from grain and starchy foods, while lime is found chiefly in the shell made from oyster shells and minerals in the ration.

POULTRY AND EGG REPORT

The number of young chickens on farm on July 1 was the smallest in 13 years of record for that date, it was reported by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. A 19 per cent reduction this year compared with last was attributed to high feed costs.

On July 1 poultry and egg production report also showed a heavier than usual culling of laying flocks during June, with the result that the number of layers on July 1 was only 1.6 per cent greater than on that date last year, and only about 3 per cent more than the record low numbers of July, 1935.

The present relatively small number of layers and the record small number of young birds from which pullets may be obtained for replacements indicate that the number of layers in next season's flocks will be around the low levels of 1936 and 1935 it was stated.

TRAIN RADIO BROADCAST

A continual broadcast from a moving train from Cincinnati, Ohio, to New Orleans, La., with announcers, musicians, singers and other radio artists on the programs, will be made over six radio stations in cooperations with the Louisville & Nashville Railroad on August 14 and 15. The program is being offered in commemoration of the 4th anniversary of the daily "Pan-American" broadcast.

One of the railroad's air-conditioned dining cars is being converted into a traveling studio for the event. Radio Station WSM, Nashville, Tenn., is installing a shortwave transmitter on the car which is known as Short wave Station WBPA. The transmitter will be used during the entire trip.

Widespread interest is expected in the unique broadcast. WSM states the Federal Communictions Commission advised it, when application was made for a permit for the installation of the special equipment, that no request for such a broadcast had ever before been made.

The number of young chickens in farm flocks on July 1 this year was the smallest for that date in 11 years.

MILLION AND A HALF TREES ANNUAL GOAL OF ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

The above pictures are of the Alabama Power Company Forest Nursery, located on U. S. Highway No. 31 about ¼ mile south of Verbena. The nursery, started in the Spring of 1937, is the outgrowth of experimental plantings by Alabama Power Company during the past three years. According to Gomer Evans, forester for the Company, the nursery is to supply 1½ million seedlings annually to "reforest company lands adjoining its reservoirs, reduce soil erosion and supply pine for Alabama industries".

Although due to weather conditions, and inability to secure a supply of good seed, the planting was late this year, nearly a half million seedlings are already under way. These will be transplanted during the late fall. Present seed beds contain 80,000 long-leaf pine seedlings, 350,000 slash pine seedlings and 50,000 black locust seedlings. Next year's plantings will include some hardwood trees, to be used as cross sectional plantings in reforested lands, to assist in fire protection and control. Ultimate capacity of the nursery will be 1½ millions seedlings annually.

Picture 1 shows the nursery being seeded with a Hudson garden planter; No. 2 is the sign by which travelers on U. S. Highway No. 31 may identify the nursery; No. 3 shows the sprinkler system used in dry weather (water supply is from a nearby branch); No. 4 shows the mulching operation to help retain moisture until the seeds sprout (this is later removed); No. 5 should be a familiar scene to all truck and flower gardeners—the inevitable hand weeding of the seed beds.

HAND FAMILY TO HOLD ITS TWELFTH ANNUAL REUNION

The twelfth annual reunion of the Hand family will be held this year on the second Sunday in August at the Poplar Springs Baptist church. We ask that all our kin by blood and marriage come and bring well filled baskets and spend the entire day with us.

We also offer a special invitation to the churches of the different communities, especially Chestnut, Maple Springs, and Poplar Springs, with all their pastors, choir and song directors to be with us the entire afternoon and let us spend the day in songs and service.

Following is the program for the day:

10-10:30 A. M. — The regular business meeting of the reunion.

10:45 A. M. — The homecoming sermon, by our old pastor and friend, Rev. J. D. Hughes.

11:45 A. M. — Adjourn for lunch. Lunch will be spread in the shade and everybody will be invited.

12:45 P. M. — All who love good music and care to take part or listen will meet back in the house and we will have two hours of good singing.

3:00 P. M. — We will have 10-minute periods for inspirational addresses by every minister who is present. Pastors, please come prepared with a short message that will inspire each of us to a higher and more noble purpose in life. After these addresses we will continue singing until 5:00 p.m.—J. W. Hand, Chairman Program Committee.

PELLAGRA IN ALABAMA

Montgomery, Aug. 2. — Alabama's pellagra death rate increased from 9.0 for 100,000 population in 1935 to 10.8 per 100,000 population in 1936, or 20 per cent, according to provisional figures prepared by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health. The state's pellagra deaths totaled 254 in 1935 and 306 in 1936.

"Pellagra is a particularly serious problem in Barbour, Bullock, Butler, Clarke, Crenshaw, Dale, Dallas, Lee, Greene, Henry, Lowndes, Macon, Marengo, Monroe, Montgomery, Pike, Russell, Sumter, and Wilcox Counties," said Dr. J. N. Baker, state health officer, in commenting upon the distribution of cases of this disease in the state. "In that group of counties the average annual resident death rate for this disease for the 4-year period of 1932-1934, inclusive, was 17.9 per 100,000 population. For the remainder of the state it was only 9.7 per 100,000 population."

Dr. Baker pointed out that pellagra was due to a lack of vitamin G in the diet and urged the consumption of large quantities of green vegetables, eggs and milk as a means of preventing it. Foods which he listed as offering little or no protection against this disease include corn and corn products, wheat flour, rye flour, oatmeal, molasses, sweet potatoes, carrots, rutabaga turnips, Irish potatoes, rice, mature onions, fat salt pork (fat back), lard, cotton seed oil, butter, cod liver oil, and gelatin.

SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL CLOSED AT FRIENDSHIP ON SUNDAY

A most successful revival came to a close at Friendship church last Sunday, in which there were twenty-five additions to the church. Sixteen were baptized at Hugh Mims' pond Sunday morning at 9 o'clock.

Assisting the pastor, Rev. Wm. E. Robinson, was Rev. A. L. Nichols, of Bessemer. Deep and soul-stirring messages were delivered by Rev. Nichols at each and every service.

Regarding the church at that place, the pastor says: "This place is lengthening out its cords and driving down its stakes. We hope to make this church grow more next year than in the past".

Mr. T. E. Heflin and family and May Francis Duke carried Master Curry Jones to Birmingham last Friday. Curry left for Asheville, N. C., Saturday.

Lesson for August 8

GOD FEEDS A PEOPLE.

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 16:11-30; 17:3-6.
GOLDEN TEXT—Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh from the Father. James 1:17.
PRIMARY TOPIC—When God's People Were Hungry.
JUNIOR TOPIC—God Feeding His People.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How God Provides for Our Needs.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—God's Supply Adequate for a Nation's Need.

Israel, led by God, is on a journey to the promised land. But to reach their goal they must pass through the wilderness. Not only are there weary miles to travel, but there are privations to be endured. Life is like that.

"People may be strong and hopeful at the beginning of a project, and most effusively and devoutly thankful at its close, but the difficulty is to go manfully through the process. Israel was in the desert, and never were spoiled children more peevish, suspicious, and altogether ill-behaved. If they could have stepped out of Egypt into Canaan at once, probably they would have been as pious as most of us; but there was the weary interval, the inhospitable wilderness! So it is in our life. Accept it as a solemn and instructive fact that life is a process . . . more than a beginning and an ending" (Joseph Parker).

Note how elemental are man's needs in the final analysis—bread and water. The very things we take almost for granted as we concern ourselves with life's weighty interests and profound problems become, if lacking, the only things that have any real meaning. And who is it that can provide them? No one but God Himself.

I. Bread from Heaven. (Exod. 16:11-20).

Observe first of all that this was a divine provision. There are responsibilities in life which we may bear—and must bear, but in the ultimate meeting of our real needs we must look to God.

Secondly, we note that it was a daily provision. What forehanded folk many of us are, and no doubt rightly so, for God puts no premium on improvidence. But once again we must recognize, as did Israel in receiving the daily manna in the wilderness that ours is indeed a moment by moment existence. We plan bravely for the next decade or the next generation, but as a matter of fact it can only come to pass "if the Lord will." Read James 5:13-17.

Finally, it was a limited provision—enough for the day and no more, except for a double portion on the sixth day, and none at all on the Sabbath. These provisions were made clear to Israel, and yet there were those who attempted to lay up for the morrow, and some even went out to seek manna on the Sabbath day.

We marvel at their stubborn obtuseness, but are we not often just like them. Some there are who are always expecting that the laws of both God and man should be set aside for them, but, mark it well, they ultimately come to grief. The spiritual application is obvious, and most serious. God has provided a way of redemption, and has made clear how man should and must relate himself to it. Folly it is to ignore God's plan.

II. A Rock in the Wilderness. (Exod. 17:3-6).

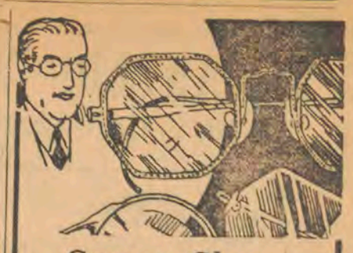
"And the people thirsted"—for the daily manna was not enough—they must have water. Needy, yes, constantly needy are God's children.

God always provides. There is a rock in the wilderness. But what pleasure does a murmuring people find in a rock when they famish for water? It is God's delightful custom to meet our needs in unexpected ways and by means which we do not understand. Even our physical necessities come from unthought of sources.

III. The Bread and the Water of Life.

Let us make certain that we do not miss the spiritual truth of our lesson which is revealed by Scripture itself. Paul speaks in I Corinthians 10:1-4 of this very incident in the experience of Israel, and says that they "did all eat the same spiritual meat and did all drink the same spiritual drink; for they drank of that spiritual Rock that followed them: and that Rock was Christ." See also John 4:14.

Hungry and thirsty soul, you who are still unsatisfied after tasting all that life apart from Christ has to offer, will you not, just now, take him who is the living bread, and come to the Rock which flows with living water?



How to Keep Quiet

Character is revealed by small things; it is also hidden by small things. Speech often hides it, and again distorts it, for those who brand themselves by the pettiness of their conversation have sometimes unsuspected depths within; but the surest revealer of character is silence—intelligent silence.

Progress

No man who feels the worth and solemnity of what is at stake will be careless as to his progress.

Indications point to a more valuable situation for dairy producers in 1937-1938 than in the past year.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

"My business is to preach to honest doubters," a young egotistical bookish preacher said to me when I was a young evangelist. "There are no honest doubters," I replied. I make that statement on the authority of Jesus. Jesus said, "He that willeth to do my will shall know of the doctrine." In other words, if a man wills to do the will of God, God will not leave him in doubt. I am not surprised that the Lord struck down Paul on the road to Damascus. Paul was an honest man. He was living in all good conscience. God knew that Paul would not be untrue to a heavenly vision so He gave him a heavenly vision. Dr. Torrey used to say if any infidel will get down on his knees and say, "Oh, God, if there is a God and if Jesus is Your Son and if He died on the cross to save me and You will reveal it to me, I will trust Him as my Savior"—he will get up a Christian without any doubts. I am confident Dr. Torrey was right.

"Do you see that fine looking man standing at the end of the seat in the middle section to the right" a minister said to the writer one time as they sat together on a platform in a big tabernacle just before I was to deliver a message to men only. "Well, he is the biggest infidel in this state. I never saw him in church before," the minister said. I asked God to help me preach straight to that young man. In my sermon I said several times something like this. "You infidel in this audience, you have the big-head. You need not be strutting. You say you can't believe. You can believe. The trouble is not in your head. There is nothing in it. The trouble is in your heart. It is as black as midnight. You know you are an old sinner. God didn't ask for your head. What does He want with it. If you will give God your heart He will straighten your head out. You are suffering from heart trouble, not head trouble." At the close of the sermon I gave the invitation. The infidel was the first man forward. At the close of the service with tears flowing down his face he said, "Bob, when I lifted up my right foot to make the first step toward the front every doubt I ever had dissolved like mist before the morning sun." Don't let these big-talking infidels bother you. I have seen hundreds of them saved. At the root of every doubt there is a sin of some kind. Pull up the sin and the doubt comes with it.

PLEASANT HILL

Our revival meeting will begin the second Sunday in August. We invite everybody to come and help us out. We want to make this meeting a wonderful success.

Also, we are going to have a working on the cemetery. Everyone who is interested and wants to help, bring necessary tools to work with. The working will be on Friday of this week, August 6. Don't forget to come.

Labor Board, Official Hit In Hot Outburst

Former Huey Long Aide Says Labor Board Members Are Really "Reds"

Stamford, Conn., July 28. — Lester P. Barlow, Stamford inventor and one-time associate of the late U. S. Senator Huey P. Long, startled spectators at a national labor relations board hearing today by asserting that members of the board were "nothing but reds".

His assertion was made as Trial Examiner Paul Davier called a brief recess in the hearing on charges brought by a CIO union against the Yale & Towne Manufacturing Co., Stamford lock and hardware firm.

Barlow, who had been sitting in the audience, approached Davier, and after declaring "defamatory remarks" had been made about him by union representatives, charged that the whole procedure was a "racket" and members of the board were "nothing but reds".

As he turned on his heel to leave the chamber, he added:

"And you can tell the President of the United States for me to go to hell."

Barlow's outburst caused David Moscowitz, attorney for the NLRB, to telephone Elinore M. Herrick, regional director at New York, who, he said, instructed him to arrange a conference with U. S. Attorney Robert P. Butler to determine if a warrant will be issued for the inventor's arrest.

Prosecution can be brought, Moscowitz asserted, under Section 12 of the statutes governing operation of the NLRB.

The board attorney said he and Mrs. Herrick and the U. S. Attorney will confer here tomorrow.

Barlow, who organized a Connecticut section of the "Share the Wealth" movement shortly before Sen. Long's assassination, recently has been actively opposing the CIO, now pressing an organization drive in Stamford.

HONORING BRIDE-ELECT

Mrs. Renfroe Mullins gave a shower Tuesday afternoon in honor of Miss Sarah Colley, bride-elect. The affair was sponsored by the ladies of Clanton Baptist church.

Another similar function is being given by Mrs. W. A. Willis Thursday (today).

CLUB-FOOTED KITTEN

The Union-Banner had the privilege of viewing a club-footed kitten Monday of this week. Mr. Tom Powell of Providence, Beat 16, brought in one with this peculiarty. It is club-footed only on its front feet, and its rear legs and feet are almost normal. The little kitten sits down kindly on its hind legs and folds up its front feet and legs, presenting almost the appearance of a kangaroo. Mr. Powell and his boys are very fond of the feline and say that they are going to do their best to raise it to maturity.

ALL DAY SINGING AT SILURIA FIRST SUNDAY

There will be an all day singing at Siluria school building the first Sunday in August. All Chilton County singers are invited to bring their new books and dinner and spend the day. Some good quartets will be on hand to assist in the program.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wyatt, of Montevallo, were in Clanton Tuesday.

Merchants Credit Bureau Makes Survey of County

Representatives of the Merchants Mercantile Co., of Washington, D. C., have been busy during the past few days making a survey of Chilton County relative to the organization of an up-to-date retail credit system in this trade territory. The local business and professional men have long felt a need for such a service but have not heretofore been able to find a system that they considered suitable for this locality. The results of the survey by the above named organization have been very encouraging, and a large majority of the representative business and professional men have signified their desire to cooperate in securing the credit rating service of the Merchants Mercantile Co.

This service should prove beneficial not only to the creditor, but to the buying public as well. It makes it possible for the man who pays his bills promptly and regularly to strengthen his position with the merchant and professional man. It enables the business man and doctor to tell at a moment's notice the credit standing of the person who is requesting credit, thereby eliminating bad credit risks and making more good credit sales promptly and pleasantly. In other words it will make the man who has a good credit still better, and those who have not been doing the right thing will be exposed.

Retail credit rating has had a rapid growth during the short time it has been used. After the Dun and Bradstreet agencies had demonstrated their usefulness as a rating agency for the use of financial institutions and wholesale establishments, it was apparent that the retail merchant needed the same thing to assist him in extending the courtesy of credit only to those who discharged their obligations as they should.

So rapid has been the growth of these services that today every city of any size and many medium sized and small towns have efficient and profitable credit services. The majority of those who do not have this service are anxious to find something that will fulfill their needs and yet be within the means of those who do a credit business in that district.

It seems to be the general concensus of opinion that the system furnished by the Merchants Mercantile Company is admirably adapted to the conditions in Chilton County. In order that the service may be county-wide the information is placed in a credit rating guide and this guide is placed in the office of each client of the organization. This eliminates the necessity of using a phone to inquire rating and at the same time makes it as easy for the merchant who is in the outlying district to use the service as those who have establishments in the principal business centers.

THE SUPREME COURT VICTORY

(From The Montgomery Advertiser, July 30, 1937)

Editor The Advertiser:

July 4,1776, and July 22, 1937, will be forever remembered as the Dies Irae of Divine Providence for the salvation of a freedom-loving people.

On July 4, 1776, 56 patriots and seers signed the Unanimous Declaration of the Thirteen United States of America, declaring eternal independence from a government of centralized power where one man was executive, legislature and judiciary in his own person—King George III. Far more fundamental than the complaint against unwise and unjust laws, was the capital complaint of the Americans against the usurpation of authority by an obstinate and demented king. In the immortal words of Thomas Jefferson:

> "He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries. He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance."

On July 22, 1937, 70 patriots and seers in the Senate of the United States reaffirmed the faith in freedom of their horse-and-buggy ancestors by defeating overwhelmingly the coat-tailtory senators who sought to enact the royal mandate to pack the Supreme Court by edict of President Roosevelt.

> He sought to make judges dependent on his will alone. He has created a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officeholders to harass our people, and to eat out their substance.
>
> Witness the present stupendous national debt.

1776—London—George III. 1937—Washington—Roosevelt II. George III and July 4, 1776, are one in spirit and truth with July 22, 1937 and Roosevelt II. Time, place and person may change, but the thing is the same.

The 70 wise and noble Whig Senators who defeated the 20 coat-tail-Tory Senators on July 22, 1937, will be forever honored and remembered by a grateful posterity, by a freedom-loving people with the signers of the first Declaration of American Independence.

July 22, 1937, as July 4, 1776, is a memorable Day of Victory for "Free and Independent States".

With the noble Senators from Virginia, Senator John H. Bankhead has written his name on the honor roll of Whig Statesmen in the line of Thomas Jefferson, George Washington and Edmund Burke.

The 70 wise and patriotic Senators who defeated the proposal of President Roosevelt to pack the Supreme Court and make judges dependent on his will alone will be forever remembered and honored with the signers of the Declaration of Independence. With such statesmen, the lives, the liberties, and the property of the American people are secure in an indissoluble union of "free and independent states".—Hopson Owen Murfee, Prattville, Ala., July 26, 1937.

Ab Cox Writes About Roads

"Clanton, Ala., July 31, 1937.

"I do not live in Chilton County at this time. I am living just over the line in Autauga County, but my wife and I still claim Chilton County as our home, and vote at Cooper, in Beat 10.

The road from Enterprise to the Autauga County line is in very bad condition, and it is my best judgment there has not been a scrape on this road or any work done on this road this year. There is nothing to show that a road scrape has ever been on this road.

"There was a ditch across the road about 100 yards this side of the Autauga County line; there was a little bridge over this ditch, which fell; it was allowed to remain in this condition for a period of two weeks or more, making a hole or ditch in the road about 2½ feet wide and some 10 to 14 inches deep. About a week ago some of the road hands came and put a water box in this ditch and left the water box some 6 to 10 inches above the level of the road.

"While the bridge over this ditch was broken in, I came over the road with my car, and knew the ditch was there; in trying to get over it, I broke the cotter key in the end of the drive shaft, allowing the nut and pinion to run off,, and tore the differential out of my car. It had it fixed, which cost me $18.50, and I am expecting the county, or someone who is responsible for this ditch, to pay me my money back.

"I feel that the roads of Chilton County should be in the hands of our commissioners, as it once was; I know that we had better roads while in the hands of the commissioners than we have now, and I, for one, when I get a chance to vote for it to be put back in the hands of the commissioners, shall cast my vote that way. Respectfully,—Ab Cox."

JOHNSON & PATTERSON OPENED FOR BUSINESS

Messrs. Johnnie Johnson and Revis Patterson this week opened up a business on Higgins Ferry road one and one-half miles east of Clanton on top of the hill at Walter Maddox place. They will handle groceries and dispense Texaco gas and other products. Later they expect to install a grist mill and feed grinding outfit.

These gentlemen invite their friends to come to see them and favor them with a part of their gas and grocery business.

Taxpayers Asked To File Claims

Martin Says Blanks Ready To Receive $2,000 Tax Exemptions

Property owners whose property comes under Alabama's new homestead exemption law will soon begin seeing this tax reduced, according to an announcement made last week by Hon. Arthur D. Martin, tax assessor.

Mr. Martin stated that his office is now ready for taxpayers to file their homestead exemption papers under the new law.

This exemption is to the amount of $2,000, or not over 160 acres, and will mean a great saving to the people of Chilton County, according to Rep. C. B. Cox, who went to much effort in getting this law passed in the legislature.

Mr. Martin also stated that already they have handled a large number of these papers, and asked that those who will file these exemptions to come by as soon as possible, so that a last minute rush will be avoided.

UNCLE REMUS LISTENED IN

The Banner's famous correspondent from the pan handle of Chilton county, Uncle Remus, reports that he listened in on the Commissioners Court last week, and incidentally happened to hear some discussion of the road conditions of the county by road supervisor T. J. Arledge.

Uncle Remus says that he withholds much comment on what he heard, but he must say that somebody is broadly mistaken about how much work has been done on some of the roads and about what condition some of the roads are in at the present time. To his personal knowledge, he adds, there are two roads in his vicinity that have not been touched since he worked them himself in April, 1936. Uncle Remus put in his application for the job of road supervisor in Beat 8 again.

MUSICAL CONCERT AT KELLYTON

There will be a musical concert at Kellyton Baptist church on Friday night of this week, August 13th, beginning at 8 o'clock. An admission charge of 10c and 15c will be taken at the door.

This concert marks the closing of a three-weeks singing school taught at Kellyton by Prof. J. Floy Devaughn. The program, lasting for about one and one-half hours, will consist of class singing, quartets, trios, duets, solos and probably some comedy skits. There will be some visiting quartets and other singers.

The public is cordially invited.

BOUGHT LITTLE FRUIT STORE

Last week Mr. Joe Baker purchased from Mr. John H. Gore the fruit stand next to the railroad known as "Little Fruit Store". The cafe next door, also belonging to Mr. Gore, was purchased by Mr. Odis Baker, son of Monroe Baker of Temple community.

FARM UNION MEETING

Chilton County Farm Union will hold a meeting at Mt. Pleasant school building Saturday, August 14, at 1:30 p.m. All locals send delegates, and be on time.—Gresham Smith, Assistant County Secretary.

MARTIN MEMORIAL SERVICES TO BE HELD FIFTH SUNDAY

The annual memorial services for old Bethesda church, memorial to the late Rev. D. S. Martin, will be held at that place near Equarlity in Coosa county the fifth Sunday in August, according to announcement released by J. Mell Martin of Clanton. Services similar to those of the past will be held this year.

YELLOW FRONT STORE HAS ENLARGED ITS QUARTERS

For the past several days work has been in progress enlargening the quarters of Yellow ront Store in Clanton. The wall has been removed between their old location and the building east of it, throwing the two together. The space has been about doubled. The work has not quite all been finished yet, but the entire space is being used, while the painting is being done and other minor re-adjustments being made.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE LOCAL RED CROSS CALLED

The annual meeting of Chilton county chapter American Red Cross is hereby called for Friday afternoon, August 13th, at 3 o'clock, the same to be held at the office of J. Mell Martin in Clanton.

The purpose of the meeting is to elect officers and chairmen for the following year.

Mr. Stone J. Crane, field representative of National Red Cross, will be present and will make a report on Chilton county's activities during the past year.

For the information of the public, the amount of $3,612.50 passed through the local chapter here during the past year; this was both cash and material contributions. This goes to show that the Red Cross has meant a great deal during the past 12 months.

Everyone interested in the Red cross work are urged to attend this meeting. Mr. Crane wishes to contact as many people as possible while he is in Clanton. The county chairman, Dr. C. O. Lawrence, urges a full attendance at this meeting Friday afternoon.

ENTERTAINERS AT UNION GROVE

Freeman Brothers, entertainers from Gadsden, will put on a concert at Union Grove schoolhouse Thursday night, August 12 (tonight). Admission will be 10 cents and 15 cents. Part of proceeds will go to the school.

Program will consist of musical comedy, novelty plays, cross fires, black face comedy, duets, trios, and will last for two hours.

Amateurs will be given a chance to perform, using any kind of instruments tap dancing, or any kind of entertainment; cash prizes will be given the best entertainers. The public is invited.

TWO CASES SETTLED IN CIRCUIT COURT LAST SATURDAY

In last Saturday's special non-jury session of circuit court, two cases were settled. These were the cases of Arthur Marcus and Tom J. Collins. Both were charged with violating the prohibition law and public drunkenness. A plea of guilt of public drunkenness was offered, and each received fines of $5 and cost assessments of $20.40.

Another session will be held on Thursday, August 26.

P.-T. A. WILL HOLD MEETING

The Parent Teachers Association will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Billingsley High School Auditorium Friday night, August 13th, instead of Tuesday night, August 17th. This date was changed to prevent conflict with the revival at the Methodist church here the coming week.

There is some important matters to be brought to our attention, and a treat will probably be in store for those who attend. So be the one that attends.—E. B. Mills, Treasurer.

MISS ALMA ALLEN NOW WITH DR. CHARLES MOORE

Miss Alma Allen is pleased to announce to her friends that she is now in the office with Dr. Charles Moore in Clanton. Miss Allen has had broad experience in this class of work, having worked with Dr. Arthur Johnson for a number of years, and she is feeling much at home again since she is back in the work again. She invites her many friends to come to see her. The location of Dr. Moore is next door east of the city hall.

FARMERS' TRIP TO MUSCLE SHOALS ON AUGUST 14TH

A few days ago we sent out a letter and published an article in the paper in reference to a trip to Muscle Shoals on August 23. We have had a good respond from this letter, however, there is still room for some more farmers and business men to make this trip in case they are interested.

Anyone interested in making the trip to Muscle Shoals should contact the County Agent on or before Saturday, August 14. After this date it will be impossible to arrange transportation.

J. W. Fant, County Agent.

ROOSEVELT AND HIS SECRET SIX

(AN EDITORIAL)

President Roosevelt has asked congress to make the secret spy system of European dictators a part of our American system of government. With the charming frankness, which at times is one of his traits, he has asked for the right to name a bunch of snoopers to spy and pry on various departments of the national government. He desires to subject his underlings to the same secret terror, the same obedience through fear, that prevails in Russia and Germany. This is the admitted meaning of his request for six men, to be called by courtesy "executive secretaries". Even the dignified Associated Press says that the "secret six" will be "virtually invisible and anonymous"; scattered about in the various governmental agencies and reporting to the White House via the side door.

The proposal is one of the many unpleasant little surprises that Mr. Roosevelt has from time flung into the face of an astonished public. It surely represents a new departure in our method of official governmental procedure. We have heard before now of politicians who maintained personal spies within their organizations, to see that the boys remained in line and were duly grateful and slavish in their attitude toward the Big Shot. We have never, however, heard of a politician frankly making a bid for such an organized espionage, sailing under its true colors and paid out of the public treasury.

Our president appears to have taken as his idol, in this as in certain other of his tendencies, Messrs. Stalin, Hitler and Mussolini. These gentlemen have their secret agents, men who ferret things out, acquire and betray confidences, discourage freedom of speech and thought. Correspondents who have visited Russia, Italy and Germany have written of the invisible terror ever haunting citizens of those countries, where even walls have ears, and your best friend may turn out to be a spy. Of course, Mr. Roosevelt cannot go as far as his contemporaries overseas. Government officials who are suspected of having doubts about the New Deal being divinely inspired and executed will be severed from their jobs instead of their heads. The underlying principle is as bad in either case. The Roosevelt regime has already established an all-time record for browbeating and intimidating dissenters within the party ranks. The latest proposal is another long step in the same direction.

The mere fact that such an organization is desired is further proof of the old adage "uneasy lies the head that wears a crown". Particularly is this true of the present occupant of the White House. The political army that Roosevelt commands is not made up of men swayed by common ideals and devotion to a common cause. To the contrary, it is composed of the most diverse and conflicting elements ever mixed together under the guise of a political party. Arrayed under the Roosevelt banner are wild-eyed radicals from the Eastern colleges and the Western marches; Southern Tories who have found that the jingle of the guinea has a soothing effect upon outraged convictions; political bosses and labor agitators from the slums of the big cities. Up to the present time, this motley horde has been held together by greed for plunder, and love or fear of their leader. Well-posted political observers have contended all along that such a nondescript political array cannot long hold together, and must inevitably break up and dissolve into its component parts. Recent strife in the Democratic ranks indicates that the break-up may not be far away. The Roosevelt-Farley machine is in a desperate situation, as evidenced by the drastic step taken to meet it.

We doubt if the machine will profit much even if it succeeds in installing such a system, that must be odious to honest and forthright people everywhere. Then, too, "Who is going to watch the guards, when the guards themselves are on duty?"

Dates Announced For Opening Chilton County Public Schools

NINE WHITE; TWO COLORED SCHOOLS TO OPEN ON SEPT. 6; REMAINDER TO OPEN OCT. 5 FULL 7 AND 9-MONTH TERMS SURE

Dates for the opening of the schools of Chilton County have been announced by the educational department. In the same release, Supt. Luther E. Little gave out lists of teachers who will teach in the schools for the next year.

AUGUST CLEARANCE SALE NOW ON AT THE LEADER

Preparing To Make Space For Big Shipments Of Fall Merchandise

Mr. M. Lande is this week advertising his big August clearance sale of new summer merchandise. Mr. Lande says: "We need space for fall merchandise, and the people of Chilton county are the lucky ones in this huge clearance sale."

A number of outstanding values are offered in a big 80-inch adv. of The Leader in this week's Union-Banner. Prominently illustrated and explained in this adv. are Star Brand shoes, four thousand pairs of which have been received by The Leader within the last few weeks. "Every pair is solid leather," says Mr. Lande, "and you should inspect our new fall patterns before you buy your shoes." The price on everything in the store will be marked in plain figures, you can see for yourself what each article costs.

DANCE AT PRATTVILLE

Invitations have been sent out inviting Chilton county people to attend the Prattville Dragoon's Homecoming Dance at their new armory in Prattville on Friday evening of this week, August 13th. Music will be furnished by the Kilbians. Scrip $1.00; 10 until 2. Proceeds to the benefit of the armory fund.

EVANGELIST WILL RELATE STORY OF LIFE FRIDAY NIGHT

Reports from the tent revival of Mr. J. L. Cooper, which has been running for the past week, say that large crowds are attending each night. Many manifestations of the spirit are in evidence at the meetings. Mr. Cooper, from Grand Rapids, Michigan, is an interesting and inspirational messenger.

On Thursday night of this week a colored choir will render a special musical program.

Friday night Mr. Cooper will relate his life's story, using as his subject "From Penitentiary to the Pulpit." Many thrilling experiences leading to and following his conversion will be related.

Services are held each night at 7:30. The evangelist's subject Sunday afternoon will be: "Heaven," and at 7:30 "The Unpardonable Sin."

Mr. Cecil Butler of Pensacola, Fla., is in charge of the music for the meetings.

A REAL BELIEVE-IT-OR-NOT

Here is a story that is true, no matter how fabricated it appears to be on its face. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mahan recently moved back to Clanton from Dania, Fla., a distance of 850 miles. Mrs. Mahan had a Bantam hen that had begun setting on ten eggs. She took the eggs and the hen and placed them in the car seat beside her, making the entire trip that way. Now, two weeks after getting to Clanton the hen has hatched every one of the eggs and she has ten baby Bantams. And they hatched out two days ahead of time at that, believe it or not.

HILL'S ANNOUNCE IMPROVED FLOUR WITH SPECIAL PRICES

The local Hill Grocery Company store has announced a specially improved flour in their regular lines of the well known Grandma's Wonder and White Tip brands, according to L. J. Stewart, manager of this well known store.

Mr. Stewart stated that he is pleased to make this announcement to the people of this section and that his store is stressing the point to "try a sack of this flour and be convinced."

The Hill Grocery Company, of Clanton, is also announcing special prices on many other items in the grocery line this week. Mr. Stewart stated, and the wise buyer will study their prices before buying.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Did you attend services at the Methodist church Sunday.

If you missed attending Sunday school and/or the preaching service last Sunday you should regret it. The Sunday school was exceptionally good, the music and singing of the choir at the preaching service was excellent, and the message from our pastor stirred the depths of our souls.

Don't miss another Sunday's attendance of all services. You surely won't regret coming, and you might miss something really worth while by not attending.

TRUCKS AT CLANTON MOTORS

Messrs. Tom Littlejohn and Rip Burnett want the people to know that they have trucks galore at their place of business—Clanton Motors. "If the people want trucks, there is no reason why they should not have them. The prices have a broad range—one to suit everybody's purse. We want the people to know what we have got in the way of trucks and the compelling prices attached to them."

OKLAHOMA EDITOR VISITING IN CHILTON THIS WEEK

C. C. Colbert, editor of The Northwest Oklahoman, Shattuck, Okla., together with his son, Dale, and daughter, Madeline, and Mrs. Colbert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark D. Shaw, of Gilmer, Texas, arrived Saturday, and the families of Messrs. Charley and S. P. Shaw at Jemison, as well as Mr. W. H. Shaw, of Birmingham.

The Messrs. Shaw, Mark D., Charley, S. P., and W. H., left Sunday for Atlanta to visit their old original home.

LITTLE POLLY WEBB HAD A BIRTHDAY PARTY FRIDAY

In celebration of her 4th birthday little Polly Webb gave a birthday party last Friday afternoon. Assisting Mrs. Webb entertain the little guests was Mrs. Ira Smith. The following attended:

Allen Billingsley, Ruth Atchison, Billy Smith Jr., Hazel Taylor, Betty Joyce Smith, Mary Lee Gray, John Will Pitts, Jack Elmore, Janet Ross, Crutcher Ross, Bobby and Polly Webb.

Games were played, Micky Mouses and suckers were served.

LEVINES RETURN FROM VACATION AND MARKETS

Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Levine and son, Myron, returned recently from an extended trip up East. Mrs. Levine and son have been up in Connecticut for some weeks. Three weeks ago they were joined by Mr. Levine. On the trip they visited Hartford, New London, Conn., and New York city.

Aside from visiting relatives and enjoying an extended vacation, Mr. and Mrs. Levine went through the markets and bought extensive stocks of goods for their fall and winter shelving.

Mr. Levine, like all others who visit from Clanton, say that the South is the best part of the country, Alabama is the best State in the South and that Chilton is the best county in Alabama. "That makes us the tops," says Mr. and Mrs. Levine, and we all agree with them.

The Union-Banner is glad to have them back at home and to enjoy their cordial hospitality and genuine friendliness.

DeWITT BAILEY PRELIMINARY SET FOR FRIDAY AFTERNOON

The preliminary trial for DeWitt Bailey, from Fairfield, charged with rape in this county recently, will be held at the courthouse in Clanton Friday afternoon of this week at 2 o'clock. The trial will be in Justice of the Peace court presided over by Justice of the Peace M. D. Foshee.

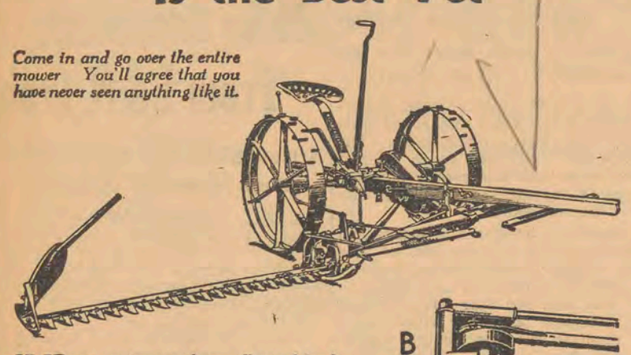
NEGRO BASEBALL GAMES HERE NEXT SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The Clanton Black Sox, local negro baseball team, will meet the Titusville Giants next Saturday afternoon at the high school park in Clanton. This is a double-header, the first game beginning promptly at 2:00 o'clock. Regular admission will be charged.

CONSIDER OTHERS WHEN YOU PLAY YOUR RADIO AT NIGHT

Complaint has been made to Mayor C. Fenn Jones of some people in the city playing their radios so loud and late at night that neighbors are disturbed. Mayor Jones says that no action has been taken by the council regarding the matter; but he urges people to "play their radios for their own enjoyment but not so loud as to disturb neighbors. It is hoped that it will not be necessary for an ordinance to be issued, but unless this stops, something will have to be done about it."

It must be that such is thoughtless on the part of people, but they should consider others as well as their own enjoyment. It is not necessary to play radios so loud that they will be annoying to others.

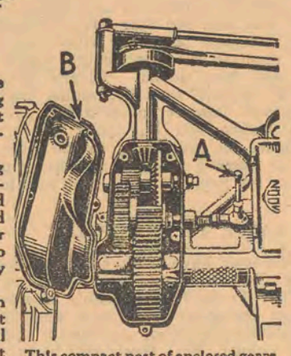


It is hoped that our people will notice this and be careful not to disturb their neighbors in this unnecessary manner. The cooperation of everybody in the city is urged.

THREE COWS ARE KILLED BY LIGHTNING

A bolt of lightning last Friday afternoon killed three cows for Prof. W. M. Devaughn of Poplar Springs community. The cows were under a tree and the bolt struck the tree, killing all three of them instantly.

McCormick-Deering Mowers Have Always Been Good and the No. 7 Enclosed Gear Mower Is the Best Yet



Come in and go over the entire mower You'll agree that you have never seen anything like it.

WE are anxious to have all our friends see the new McCormick-Deering No. 7 Enclosed-Gear Mower. We think it is one of the finest pieces of farm equipment we have ever sold!

For example: The entire operating mechanism, including drive gears, differential, and countershafts, is assembled compactly in an oil-tight gear housing and runs in a bath of oil. There are four high-grade roller bearings. Operation is so smooth and noiseless that you can scarcely hear the light hum of the sickle!

Special oil seals at the ends of the main axle and fly-wheel shaft, and the oil-tight gear box prevent leakage and protect all working parts against the entrance of dirt and other abrasive materials. Floating action of cutter bar provides ample play without disturbing knife registration.

This compact nest of enclosed gears runs in a bath of oil—a full gallon. The cover, B, makes the gear case dust-proof and oil-tight. Clutch is thrown in and out by lever, A.

County Farm Agent's Notes

ORGANIZATION TAKES STAND ON PROBLEMS

Auburn. — A resolution endorsing 1937 AAA bill with "teeth in it" was unanimously passed by voting delegates of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation in annual session here on August 4-5.

They also passed resolutions asking for state legislation prohibiting any charges of more than 6 per cent interest per annum, providing for study by farm bureau of taxes in Alabama and requesting congress to regulate value of money and to give the dollar a constant purchasing and debt-paying power.

The delegates also passed a resolution on rural electrification, stating that the "Alabama Farm Bureau Federation shall work with the TVA, Alabama Power Company, Municipal Power Company, and any other company that can and will render the most efficient service at the most economical cost consistent with good business."

An expanded livestock program in the state was asked for by the delegates as they authorized the farm bureau officials "to protect and look after the interests of livestock producers at all times."

"We wholeheartedly endorse the outstanding work being done by Dr. L. N. Duncan, president; P. O. Davis, director; and Dean M. J. Funchess, director; and pledge them 100 per cent cooperation in their efforts to serve Alabama," said the resolutions, after endorsing "the outstanding work being done by all divisions of hte Alabama Polytechnic Institute, including the college, the Extension Service, and Experiment Station."

GINNERS ARE WORKING TOWARD BETTER GINNING

Auburn. — Officials of the Alabama Ginners' Association, with the help of the Alabama Extension Service and other leaders, are carrying on a campaign in every section of the state to improve cotton ginning in Alabama. They are emphasizing the following five minimum essentials of good ginning:

1. Good cotton, harvested free of trash and without excessive moisture.
2. Good sharp saws with roughness removed.
3. Good sharp ribs with the rough edge removed.
4. Good, well adjusted brushes, or the proper air pressure if the airblast system is used.
5. Loose seed roll.

"If farmers will harvest cotton properly and bring it to the gin in a good, dry condition, there will be no need for expensive machinery for cleaning and drying," says C. D. Patterson, president, Alabama Ginners' Association.

"The farmers must realize that if this extra machinery has to be installed, additional prices will have to be charged for the extra service," he advises. "The ginners are anxious to improve their plants to meet the needs of a better quality of cotton."

FARM WOMEN NAMED FOR ENSUING YEAR

Auburn. — Mrs. John H. Lee, Hamburg, was reelected president of the Alabama Council of Home Demonstration Clubs to serve for the second year during the annual meeting of the council here August 4-5.

Mrs. E. N. McCall, Brewton, was elected first vice president, and Mrs. T. F. Holloway, Falco, second vice president. Other officers are: Mrs. H. G. Corbin, Nauvoo, secretary; Mrs. J. S. Raines, Fyffe, treasurer; and Mrs. E. C. Bledsoe, Armstrong, parliamentarian.

Chairmen of the organization's permanent committees are: Mrs. S. Y. Styles, Cullman, Citizenship; Mrs. H. M. Lane, Auburn, Farm Bureau; and Mrs. J. W. Sellers, Ramer, Scholarships. District directors are: Mrs. W. F. Jeffers, Clencoe; Mrs. J. J. Whiddon, Dothan; and Mrs. J. C. Poole, Eutaw.

FARM BUREAU OFFICERS ELECTED FOR NEXT YEAR

Auburn. — Officers of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation for the ensuing year are:

J. L. Edwards, Selma, Dallas County, president; E. L. Turner, Calhoun County, and W. B. Crawley, Pike County, vice presidents; H. T. Matthews, Lamar County; C. C. Miller, Etowah; James H. Tolley, Limestone; J. I. Ford, Tallapoosa; A. L. Byrd, Lee; E. J. Whiddon, Houston; Frank Earle, Baldwin; W. E. Deere, Monroe; and J. S. Phillips, Marengo County, directors.

FARMERS' WEEK WAS MOST SUCCESSFUL IN HISTORY

Auburn, Ala.—The Alabama farmers' and homemakers' week, August 2-6, was a howling success, the greatest yet held in Alabama, said P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service, following the meeting.

The farmers applauded Senator Bankhead, Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Dr. Tait Butler, vice-president of Progressive Farmer-Ruralist, and other national speakers as they advocated a crop control program, with "teeth in it," to stabilize reasonable prices for farm products.

During their stay in Auburn the farm men and women also studied displays and demonstrations on agronomy, entomology, home economics, horticulture, forestry, agricultural engineering, botany, animal industry, and poultry.

The importance of the splendid work being done by daily, weekly, and farm papers was emphasized in a display on the rapid transmission of news by the press association and other news agencies.

ALABAMA FARM WOMAN TO SPEAK IN CHICAGO

Auburn, Ala.—Mrs. Neil J. Cowles, Montgomery County, won first place in a state-wide public speaking contest held during Farmers' week, August 2-6, and will enter a nation-wide public speaking contest in Chicago in December, this year.

Others entering the contest were: Mrs. Clyde Smith, Etowah; Mrs. E. M. Prater, DeKalb; Mrs. C. C. Fuller, Elmore; Mrs. B. T. Spratlin, Macon; and Mrs. R. C. Chapman, Escambia.

During the year 1935, Alabama's 1,723 manufacturing plants employed 97,999 wage earners, and paid wages to the amount of $64,976,000. The cost of materials, containers, fuel and purchased power amounted to $211,387,000. The value of these manufactured products amounted to $370,840,000, an increase of $221,878,000 during the past 25 years. The South as a whole produced in 1935 one-fifth in value of all the manufactured products in the United States.

REFUGE

Sunday school at this place is progressing nicely. There was a good many out to church Sunday, and everybody seemed to be interested in the lesson. Let's all try to attend Sunday school every Sunday with a well prepared lesson.

There was a call conference at this place last Sunday, August 8th, for the purpose of electing officers for the next coming year. Rev. Lockhart was elected as pastor. Rev. Lockhart is a native of this community and it is his home church. He has preached at this church for four years before this time. Mr. A. N. Mims was re-elected superintendent, T. N. Minor was re-elected secretary and treasurer, Jodie Connell was re-elected clerk, Mrs. T. B. Easterling was re-elected adult teacher, Mrs. Kate Connell was elected teacher for the intermediate class, Mrs. Willie Mims was elected teacher for the junior class, Mrs. R. N. Connell was re-elected teacher for the card class.

Everybody who belongs to the Refuge Sunday school try to do their very best to cooperate with these leaders during the next year. There is a hearty welcome awaiting you at Refuge at any time. God has a welcome for every heart that turns to Him. So, let's be more loyal to Him.

We have Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, and preaching day is the third Sunday and Sunday night.

EMPLOYMENT STATISTICS

Montgomery, Aug. 7. — Statistics released by J. G. Duncan, Jr., Director of the Alabama State Employment Service, today for the first six months of 1937 show that Alabama is making remarkable come-back after the depression years. Jobs were found for 32,047 wage earners by the Alabama State Employment Service and the National Reemployment Service, working in cooperation, during the period. The most interestnig fact is that 20,832 were placed in private employment, while only 11,055 were given jobs on public works projects. Private placements by the Alabama State Employment Service increased 474.7 per cent over the preceding six months while private placements by the National Reemployment Service in the same period increased 350.3 per cent.

While placements in private industry showed this increase, the number of workers sent to public works projects continued to decrease. Placements in public works projects by the National Reemployment Service decreased 53.5 per cent in the period when compared with the preceding six months, while placements by the Alabama State Employment Service decreased 36.2 per cent when compared with the preceding five months. The Alabama State Employment Service, organized last year, had a record of only five months to compare with six months this year.

THANKS FRIENDS OR HELP

John Miner and family of Refugo community ask The Union-Banner to publicly thank their friends and neighbors for all help extended them following their burn-out some weeks ago. People have helped them wonderfully when they needed help most, and they wish to thank everybody for what they have done.

Mr. Charlie Gulledge has returned from Hot Springs, Ark., where he has been for a week. He took some baths while there.

Miss Gladys Roper having returned the first of the week from a delightful visit with friends in Birmingham left August 8 for an extended trip to Jacksonville, Daytona Beach, Miami, and other points of interest in Florida.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Montgomery, Aug. 9. — Pointing out that about one-half of the approximately 165,000 boys and girls who will be in the first grade of Alabama's public schools during the 1937-1938 school term beginning next month will be repeaters, who failed last year or in a previous year, Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer, today urged parents in all parts of the state to have their children examined for physcial defects which might contribute to the new school year's failures.

"School officials tells us that the percentage of failures is far greater in the first grade than in any other," he said. "These officials also tell us that it costs $26 a year to provide a child with a public school education, and, on the basis of this estimate, the first grade repeaters will increase the expense of operating the state's public schools during the next school year by $2,145,000, or more than six times the cost to the State of Alabama of maintaining the State Department of Health during the present fiscal year."

Dr. Baker declared that, while physical defects were not entirely responsible for these failures, health conditions were among the chief contributors to this heavy economic loss.

News from Mrs. H. B. Oliver, who has been at Hot Springs, Ark., for a week, says that she is improving rapidly. She expects to return home in another week.

Dumb animals suffer as much in hot weather as human beings. Keep plenty of clean, cool drinking water before them.

The State Highway Department last year spent for road material and supplies $1,107,398.50. In this was included cement, sand, gravel, slag, stone, explosives, asphalt and tar products, pipe culverts, lumber, road sign markings, and a number of other items used in building and maintaining roads and bridges.

MRS. SCARBOUGH DIED

Mrs. Acenith Scarbough, age 89, widow of B. W. Scarbough, old Confederate veteran, died at the home of Arthur Coker, Mt. Pisgah community, last Saturday night. Burial was Sunday atfernoon at Poplar Springs cemetery, services were conducted by Mr. J. W. Thompson. Martin and Sons were in charge.

Mrs. Beulah Dunlap Duke, of Birmingham, is visiting Mrs. Essie Mae Mims this week.

The Michigan constitution requires that all bills enacted by the legislature must have been printed at least five days before their passage. No other state has such provision.

Mr. Milton Felder of Birmingham was the guest of Miss Gladys Roper for the week end.

THE SOUTH'S PROGRESS

The new Alabama State Chamber of Commerce, organized to encourage the erection of a wide variety of industrial plants in each locality, has already assembled some interesting facts and figures citing notable developments in the state during the past 12 months.

Dr. H. G. Dowling, Acting Managing Director, maintains that industry is on its way to Alabama, that this state is in the path of an industrial advance directed southward, and that Alabama should take inventory of its assets and develop a state of mental readiness to be prepared to share the benefits of this prosperity. Both capital investment and actual construction contracts indicate the unmistakable upward swing.

Quoting from the Blue Book of Southern Progress, "More new industries were established in the South in the past 12 months than in any similar period in its history. Engineering and building operations in the South in 1936 reached a new high mark of $939,264,000."

That Alabama is keeping pace with this progress is shown by a list of new industries established in the Birmingham district alone during the past 12 months, representing a capital investment of $1,350,000. Expansions to existing industries reached the high total of $34,000,000. Principal among these is the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company with a $31,000,000 program.

The Mobile Chamber of Commerce is broadcasting far and wide that within a year 10 per cent has been added to Mobile payrolls by new industries, important among which are an aluminum company representing a $4,000,000 investment, gypsum company $2,000,000, and fibre board plant $500,000.

Miss Nell Ross Mullins returned last week from a visit to relatives in Longview, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mills left Saturday for their home in Miami, Fla., after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Willis.

Mr. Ralph Jones and Miss Sara Daniels of Birmingham spent the week end here with the former's mother, Mrs. Willie P. Jones.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

Will Your Name Be In The Chilton County District CREDIT BOOK?

If so, it will be because our secretary has to report that your account was turned in for service as a delinquent.

If you have a good credit record your trade is valuable, and any business or professional man welcomes your trade. If it is not good, do you have the right to expect him to accommodate you?

When representatives of THE MERCHANTS MERCANTILE COMPANY go over the accounts of the business and professional men, and list those who have not paid their bills as they should they show no favoritism, and if you have not paid YOU WILL BE LISTED IN THE GUIDE.

Credit Is A Matter Of Trust

YOUR HONOR IS INVOLVED

It is granted to you on your promise to pay, and you cannot, for your own sake, break that trust.

Most delinquents affected will receive a letter from the CHILTON COUNTY RETAIL SERVICE, telling them what is expected of them. Do not wait for that notice. If your account is past due you may be listed even though you do not get a direct notice.

The 24 girls are quartered in two cooperative houses for girls at the University. During the course their schedule calls for rising at 6:00 and going to bed at 10:30.

REVIVAL AT WALNUT

Revival services began Sunday at Walnut Creek M. P. church. Meetings will be held all this week, and will close with a special service at the courthouse Sunday afternoon at 2:45. Special music will be provided for this special service, including a quartet from Montgomery. Rev. T. C. Casaday is doing the preaching. Everyone is urged to attend all the services.

A special service for the older people will be held Friday morning at 10:30. If you have a car and know of some old people who might want to attend this service, we will appreciate your bringing them.

Mr. and Mrs. Odell Headley are spending this week in Nashville, Tenn.

Jefferson County leads the list in the number of placements by the free employment service. Jobs were found for 127 in that county during the week ending July 17. Etowah was second with 98, Escambia third with 74, Montgomery fourth with 71, and Mobile fifth with 63.

Lesson for August 15

GOD GIVES LAWS TO A NATION.

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:1-17.

GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind . . . Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thy self. Matt. 22:37, 39.

PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Good Laws.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Before the Mount of God.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why a Nation Needs Laws.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Basic Laws for a Nation's Life.

Basic laws have been laid down by God for the orderly administration of his universe. Men see them clearly in the physical universe, although at times they do not recognize the One who created all things.

Physical laws are of great importance, but of even deeper significance are the moral and spiritual laws which control the human life. There is in the world a moral law—a distinction between right and wrong—which man may ignore only to his own sorrow, and which he cannot abrogate or destroy. All laws of men which are true and right are founded on this underlying moral law, and are in reality simply a development and interpretation of "God's Code of Morals"—the Ten Commandments.

These commandments given to Israel at Mt. Sinai are worthy of careful study on the part of every reader. They may be grouped under two divisions.

I. A True View of God (vv. 1-11). The first and most important question to be asked regarding any law is, "By whom was it established?" Legislation by an unauthorized person or organization has no power over others. Who gave the ten commandments? Verse 1 tells us "God spake all these words."

Men sneer at theology as being out - moded, but the fact is that Christian doctrine is the only safe foundation for Christian character. Unless my view of God is right, my life will be wrong. Until I know him I will not appreciate the authority of his law.

1. Whom to worship (vv. 2-5). There can be but one true God, and he alone is to be worshiped. He is a personal being, ready to enter into communion with each one of us. No image can take his place.

2. How to worship (vv. 6, 7). We are to love him and keep his commandments. There is to be no sham about this, for no matter how sweet and pious may be the praise and prayer of a man, he has taken the Lord's name in vain unless he keeps the Lord's commandments by holy living.

3. When to worship (vv. 8-11). God has ordained that man should not incessantly bear the burden of toil. He is to have a day of rest and a time for worhip, undisturbed by the duties and responsibilities of daily labor. America needs a mighty stirring up about the desecration of the Lord's day.

II. A Right Relationship to Man (vv. 12-17).

To be right with God means that we will also be right with our fellow man.

1. Family life (v. 12). The fifth commandment has to do with the relation between child and parent. There is a plain and direct command that father and mother should be honored. Only in respect and obedience to parents can the child possibly find true and proper development.

2. Physical life (vv. 13, 14). God is interested in our bodies. Already we have noted his provision for a day of rest each week. Now we are reminded of the sanctity of human life. "Thou shalt not kill," and remember there are many other ways to kill a man than by shooting him. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith makes a telling point by reminding us that we may kill others by selling them tainted food, intoxicating liquors, or "dope;" by neglect of duty, by careless driving, by failing to provide employees with sanitary and healthful surroundings.

There is another way that the body may be destroyed—by its misuse in adulterous living.

3. Social life (vv. 15-17). "Thou shalt not steal" — and remember any dishonest appropriation of what does not belong to you is stealing—call it what you will. And "false witness"—how it has honeycombed our very civilization. Not a little of it is found within the church, more shame upon us! Lastly, we come to "covetousness'—which has been called one of "the respectable sins of nice people." It is subtle and often hidden. Let us root it out of our own lives by God's grace.

Enthusiasm in Work

Enthusiasm is the element of success in everything. It is the light that leads and the strength that lifts men on and up in the great struggles of scientific pursuits and of professional labor. It robs endurance of difficulty, and makes a pleasure of duty.—Bishop Doane.

A Translation

Let us learn what death is. It is simply a translation; not a state, but an act; not a condition, but a passage.

DOUBLE WEDDING WAS HELD AT HOME OF REV. DOPSON

Two weddings of much interest to their many friends were that of Mr. Victor Norwood Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Jones, of Isabella community, and Miss Lera Glenn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Glenn, of the Maple Springs community; and Mr. Curtis Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Jones, of Isabella community, and Miss Elsie Glenn, sister of Miss Lera Glenn.

They were married at the home of Rev. J. M. Dopson, of Eastview, about 9:30 o'clock last Sunday morning, August 8, in the presence of several relatives and close friends. Both couples returned to the home of Mr. Lee Jones, where a bountiful wedding dinner was served; 34 guests were present at this dinner.

Both of these young couples will make their homes with the grooms' respective parents for the present.

TO PREACH AT POPLAR SPRINGS

On Saturday night and Sunday, August 14th and 15th, Rev. Paul Burrell, Missionary Baptist preacher, of Adamsville, will preach at Poplar Springs on that date.

The hour will be 7:30 p. m.; Saturday night, and at 11 a. m. Sunday. Everyone has an invitation to come to these services.

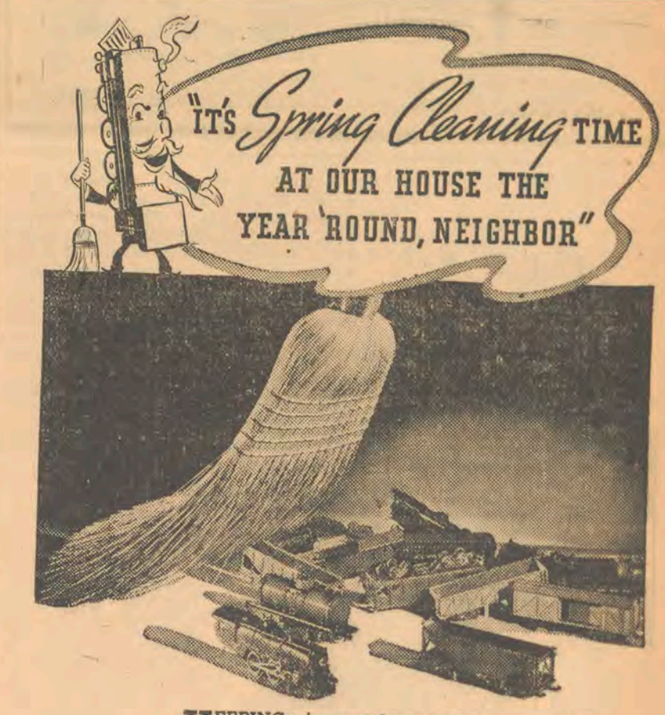
BUSH ARBOR MEETING

Rev. Aaron Parker is going to begin a meeting on the Jemison and Union Grove highway two miles east of Jemison, August 16th. Everybody is invited to attend.

The cholera season is here. Farmers should be on the lookout for cholera outbreaks, unless their hogs have been properly vaccinated.

Turn horses and mules out at night for a bite of grass. Avoid feeding too much heating grain, such as corn, in very hot weather.

During summer days meals served on a porch are delightful. If you plan to remodel your farm home, include a screened-in porch.



Cottage cheese is high in nutritive value. It contains all the constituents of milk, except the cream. Like milk, it is a source of protein, which is used to build and repair body tissue.

Stomach Gas

One dose of ADLERIKA quickly relieves Gas bloating, cleans out BOTH upper and lower bowels, allows you to eat and sleep good. Quick, thorough action, yet entirely gentle and safe.

KEEPING a home right up to the minute, modern and comfortable, is no easy job as you well know—you women particularly. The living room furniture gets out-of-date—new curtains must be purchased—the kitchen needs a new refrigerator. Usually, however, three or four days in the Spring are enough to make everything spic and span.

But here, in your "Home Sweet Home on Rails" it's a different story. In order to give you clean, cool, modern travel comforts—and safe, dependable delivery of your every-day commodities, we can't let a day go by without replacing something.

Right now, we're sweeping out over five thousand freight cars, and buying over six million dollars worth of new ones just to give you better service. And we've just expended well over a million dollars to completely air-condition every main-line L & N train, except locals.

Yes, neighbor, when the home you keep is 5,000 miles long, spread over 13 states and is visited by millions of people who enjoy its genuine southern hospitality, well, Spring cleaning just has to go on right through the year. Yet with it all, it costs only 1½c to 3c a mile to be a guest in your "Home Sweet Home on Rails"—less than 1c a ton-mile on an average to use this safe, dependable freight transportation. Won't you think of the L & N, neighbor, when next you travel or plan a shipment?

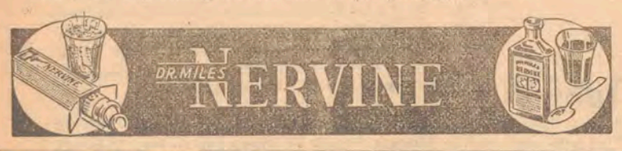
Word is received in Clanton that Mrs. Elnora Phillips is very ill in Birmingham. Mrs. Phillips is a relative of Mrs. Glennie Evans, and the latter is visiting the bedside of the sick woman.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jeff Mims and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bates and children, of Jasper, Ala., are visiting relatives and friends around Clanton for the next few days.



Do you "fly all to pieces" when the children are noisy, or when the vegetables burn, or when the jelly won't "jell?" Some mothers are just naturally cranky. Some mothers are cross and impatient because they are nervous.

If you are a natural crank, DR. MILES NERVINE won't do much for you. If you are irritable because your nerves are overtaxed, DR. MILES NERVINE will do a lot for you.

Do you suffer from Sleeplessness, Restlessness, Nervous Irritability, Nervous Headache, or Nervous Indigestion? Do you worry over trifles, start at sudden noises? Overtaxed nerves will cause all these troubles, and DR. MILES NERVINE will help you to relax those overtaxed nerves.

Why don't you give it a trial on our guarantee of satisfaction or your money back? Your druggist can tell you about DR. MILES NERVINE. He has been selling it ever since he started clerking in a drug store. Dr. Miles Nervine comes in two forms—Liquid and Effervescent Tablets. Both equally effective in quieting overtaxed nerves. Both sell for 25¢ and $1.00 depending on the size of the package.

B'HAM-SOUTHERN COLLEGE NEWS

Birmingham. — Entries for the Birmingham-Southern College Scholarship Honor Tests on the college campus Friday, August 20, at 9.30 a.m., close at midnight August 14.

Scholarship Chairman NewmanYielding is making a last minute appeal to all boys and girls in the state who are interested in going to college this fall to enter the tests.

Birmingham - Southern, Mr. Yielding states, is inaugurating three scholarships to be given high school graduates and they will be given on the basis of marks scored August 20 when the tests are held at Munger Hall.

Any boy or girl who meets requirements for admission to Birmingham-Southern and who has not attended college is eligible to participate, Mr. Yielding states. There are no other requirements.

But to take part in the tests the boy or girl must register either by letter or card not later than midnight, August 14.

All contestants will come to the campus and stand the tests which will be based on current events, English literature and composition.

The college will entertain all contestants at luncheon the day of the tests and a limited number of men can be accommodated without charge August 19 and 20 in the college dormitories, but those wishing these accommodations must arrange in advance for them.

The awards are for $800 (a full 4-year scholarship calling for all tuition and incidental fees), $400 (a 2-year scholarship calling for all tuition and incidental fees), and $200 (a 1-year scholarship calling for all tuition and incidental fees.

These are the first scholarships based solely on scholastic attainments and ability to learn, Mr. Yielding stated, and are part of the college's program of encouraging scholarly attainments.

A special feature of the awards is the Honor Scroll which will be presented to the high schools from which the scholarship winners come. This is offered in recognition of the fine work that high school teachers and principals do in encouraging their students to prepare themselves for life through study.

Full 4-year courses in the liberal arts are offered at Birmingham-Southern under teachers who are graduates of the leading universities of the New and Old World.

The college was founded in 1856 at Greensboro and has a rich heritage of culture as well as a tradition of graduating men and women who have become leaders in the communities and fields that they have chosen for life's work.

The college is under the supervision of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

ALABAMA MOTORISTS ASS'N

Birmingham, Aug. 7. — Announcement of the creation of the Highway Progress Department of the Alabama Motorists Association was mode today by Mr. Frank E. Spain, President of the Alabama Motorists Association.

The new department organized with a view to securing more improved highways in the state, will be under the direction of Andrew W. Smith, a Birmingham newspaper man, who has been handling public relations for the association for five years.

"Creation of this new department under the supervision of a full time director with capable assistants fulfills one of the association's dreams," said Mr. Spain.

"The Alabama Motorists Association has made beter highways one of its prime objectives since its inception 13 years ago and this new department means that we will be able to concentrate more on the highways of the state.

"The Association has for years sought to get the federally designated highways paved throughout the state. Completion of this system and lateral roads means that Alabamians can travel over their highways in comfort and also means that thousands of tourists will flock through the state state en route to Florida and the Gulf.

The director of the new department, in cooperation with the state highway department, will publicize the statewide Rational Planning Survey now being made under the direction of A. Reese Harvey, Jr. The survey includes a rural road inventory, traffic survey, financial survey and a road life study. The new department will urge that these related studies be used as a basis for the development of a sane, economical, farsighted highway program in Alabama.

"We believe the creation of this department will prove to be of great benefit to the motorists of this state and also to the motorists of other states. In addition to concentrating upon the federal system in Alabama the director will also be active in getting the federal roads completed in Alabama's neighboring states so that tourists from the north, south, east and west wil travel highways that take them through Alabama and her neighboring states."

Mr. Spain said the creation of the new department was another of the services that the association is offering its members in this state. He said that plans for an extensive campaign throughout the state with prominent Alabamians, intered in the highways, serving on an advisory committee that will be named.

The new department was authorized by the board of directors of the association, and details were arranged by a directors' committee consisting of Vice President Alex C. Montgomery, Vice President A. Clinton Decker, and Chas. A. Peay.

The new director of the department has served as Public Relations Director of the Motorists Association for five years while a member of the staff of the Birmingham News-Age-Herald. He has served for the last eight years as radio editor of these two papers. Prior to his connection with the News-Age-Herald, Smith served for four years with the Associated Press. He is a native of Alabama and a graduate of Birmingham-Southern College.

F. F. A. NEWS

The Chilsheltoga District of Future Farmers of America is planning a grand year of work. The president has appointed committees to plan and carry out activities of the coming year.

This committee is to plan a program for each district meeting.

The Billingsley chapter is appointed social committee; Oliver Church chairman. This committee is to plan social activities for the district, such as barbecues, banquets and refreshments for the meeting.

The Jemison chapter was appointed the radio committee; C. W. Wells Jr., chairman. This committee will arrange for radio broadcasts.

The Columbiana chapter was appointed publicity committee; Albert Lokey, chairman. This committee must publish news and the work of the district.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our friends for their help and kinds words of sympathy during our recent bereavement. Especially do we thank Mr. Martin for his care and thoughtfulness. May we at some time be able to repay in part for all these kindnesses, and although it would be our desire that no one suffer such loss as has been ours, yet our understanding sympathy shall reach out on every occasion of this kind.—Mrs. R. A. Downs and family.

FIRST VISIT SINCE SHE WAS THIRTEEN YEARS OLD

Mrs. Glennie Evans visited her old girlhood home at Loachapoka, in Lee County, last Sunday. It was her first visit there since she was thirteen years old; she visited the old church where she and her people used to attend services years ago, and went to the cemetery where relatives of hers are buried.

Mrs. Evans says that she thoroughly enjoyed the visit. She was accompanied by her son, Julian, and Mr. Morgan Reynolds.

Tom Tiffin has changed locations for a few days in continuing his year-around vacation. He is in Fort Walton, Fla., for a few days, but will be back to finish out the year at home within a week.

HEADQUARTERS FOURTH CORPS AREA

Major General George Van Horn Moseley, commanding the Fourth Corps Area, announced with a great deal of pleasure that the recent recruiting campaign for securing young southerners for service in the New England States and Hawaii was highly successful. Over 1200 southern boys residing in the eight Southeastern states comprising the Fourth Corps Area were accepted for service in the regular army and are now enroute to their selected stations.

The War Department has again called on General Moseley to secure enlistments totaling 550, to fill vacancies existing in the Panama Canal Department.

KIWANIS CLUB TO MEET AT ENTERPRISE SCHOOL

Will Hold Meeting With The Farmers Thursday Night This Week

The Clanton Kiwanis Club will hold its regular meeting at Enterprise schoolhouse Thursday night of this week, August 12th, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Clifton Kirkpatrick, executive secretary of the Alabama Farm Bureau, will be the principal speaker for the occasion.

The Kiwanis Club wishes to cooperate with the farmers in every way possible, and it is with this in view that this meeting with the farmers of Enterprise community is being held. Several other similar meetings will be held in different communities in the near future.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

IT'S UP TO YOU

It's the man behind the camera that counts. This picture, for example, was snapped with an inexpensive and simply operated camera.

IT'S a joy to own a fine precision camera with a fast lens and shutter. No one will deny that. Such cameras are versatile and open the way for picture taking under many conditions. Extremely fast action holds no terror for them. They laugh at poor light. If you want to specialize on speed photography or indoor shots without special illumination, or shoot under adverse conditions in general, a precision-built, ultra fast lens camera is the thing to own.

If, however, you want a camera to snap pictures under ordinary conditions, a simple, inexpensive one will serve admirably, afford a lot of pleasure and, as far as recording the subject is concerned, will make average snapshots just as well as the more elaborate type. Remember, I am referring to snapshooting under ordinary conditions.

Artistic composition, shooting to capture fascinating and artistic shadows — which always add so much to a picture, interest appeal and lighting are strictly up to you. There isn't a camera made at any price that can tell you how, when or where to make a picture of rare quality and appeal, but experience will teach much.

The fact that an unusual, interest-compelling snapshot was taken with a "tricky" camera does not signify that the same picture could not have been snapped equally as well with a simple camera by the same person. If a certain picture to be taken should be snapped at f.11 with a shutter speed of 1/25 of a second, it might take an expert to determine which of two prints of this subject was taken with a beginner's type of camera and which with one of the type used by the experts.

So much depends on the person behind the camera. If you will make a study of pictures appearing in magazines, newspapers and pictorial books you will learn much about the fundamentals of good picture making. You will find pictures of gardens, buildings, homes, people, animals and pets, close-ups and, in fact, just about every type of picture you will ever want to make. Study these pictures and note carefully the different angles from which some of them are taken. Study the lighting, the shadows and the very natural appearance of people in many of the pictures. You will soon develop an "eye for pictures" and when you do you will find that even your inexpensive camera will produce the kind of pictures you thought were possible only with an expensive instrument.

So you see, much depends on the man or woman behind the camera.

FINANCIAL FAIRY STORY

Franklin D. Roosevelt's fairy story of government finances takes on a new form. Heretofore he has always told about how the budget was going to be balanced by the end of the fiscal year in which he was doing the narrating. He sprang this one so many times and ended the fiscal year with finances in a muddle so much worse than anything that had preceded that he hasn't the face to tell this one all over again.

This time he discloses that he expects to make a saving of 400 million dollars in federal expenditures during the fiscal year that has just gotten under way. He is going to accomplish it, he says, by having all cabinet officers and the heads of executive departments and agencies practice voluntary abstention from spending to the tune of 10 per cent of what congress has authorized them to spend. As he himself puts it, the 10 per cent goal is to be achieved by viewing the problems of each governmental agency in its own light and trusting its executive to find the means of having on hand at the end of the fiscal year 10 per cent of the allowance congress has voted for that period.

In financial matters Roosevelt is a dreamer as he is a dreamer in pretty nearly everything else with which he has to do. He is also an apologist for the financial failures of his admministration in the way of never arriving at budget balancing, whose equal is to be found only in the college boy who explains to father just why he didn't live within his budget during the last college term.

Mr. Roosevelt's treasury paid out $1,376,000,000 more than it took in in taxes during the six months ending June 30, 1937. Part of this expense, as the president noted at the time, was for non-recurrent and special items. Debt retirement took $53,000,000. The bonus took $456,000,000. But with these two items out of the picture there still shows $800,000,000 paid out in the form of current expenses over and above what came in in taxes.—Waterbury Republican.

WAR ON RELIGION IN U. S.

Despite any masking of real aims for temporary purposes, the war on religion in the United States will continue, according to Geo. A. Blasser, who writes interestingly on the subject in the current issue of the National Republic. In part, Mr. Blasser says:

"Communism aims at the destruction of religion. Throughout its history, in all nations of the world, the red revolutionary movement has waged vicious warfare against the church. The victory of bolshevism in Russia meant the suppression of religion and the wholesale massacre of believers. The rise of radicalism in present day Spain brought with it the sacking and pillaging of churches and the persecution and murder of Christians.

"In America, however, for the present at least, the communists are pursuing a different policy toward religion; they are masquerading as 'friends of peace' and 'friends of religious freedom'; they are gaining to their side certain liberal religious leaders. The purpose of this red 'penetration' of religion is plain. The communists are trying to enlist the support or dampening the opposition of religious people in their struggle to put over communism in America. They also wish to bring religious people to the defense of Soviet Russia, in case that nation should become involved in a war with fascist countries.

"In other words, to put it bluntly, the communists wish to 'use' Christians as cannon fodder in the red struggle for world supremacy. In aligning themselves with church peace societies, in getting themselves elected to key positions in pacifist organizations, the communists have one purpose in mind—the advancement of the class war and of world revolution, and the defense of Soviet Russia all in the name of misleading peace propaganda! In discussing 'The Fight For Peace' in his book, 'What Is Communism?' Earl Browder says: 'We communists carry on a consistent struggle for peace in all capitalist countries. The fight for peace strengthens the preparation for the socialist revolution'.

"The purpose in 'fighting for peace', according to Browder, apparently is to help the Soviet Union: 'There can be no effective fight for peace which does not involve as its task the defense of the Soviet Union', he says. Now the defense of the Soviet Union involves, also, the advancement of world revolution—of civil war in all countries of the earth. Browder makes this clear when he says, 'It's (Soviet Russia's) defense aids the revolutionary movement throughout the world'.

"Communists are never content to fight for peace alone. They are not for peace for its own sake. Their work for peace is tied to two main purposes: 1—The defense of the Soviet Union, which implies the advancement of civil war in other countries; and, 2—the crushing of fascism. In Europe, fascism and communism are engaged in mortal combat. Communists fear that fascism will conquer communism. Hence, they organize 'peace' crusades which oppose war and fascism. Their idea of peace is to get into war on the side of communism, in defense of the Soviet Union, and in opposition to fascism!

* * * "When we realize that, to them, this 'fighting for peace' means taking up arms in defense of red revolutionists, we can readily understand why the reds are so strong for peace. We can also understand why they will spend millions of dollars spreading this peculiarly deceptive kind of peace propaganda among our peace loving people."

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

Current developments seem to indicate that the position between the New Deal and the more radical labor unions, represented by the CIO, is decidedly in a state of flux. A few days ago a statement was issued by the executive board of the United Mine Workers, in which organization John L. Lewis is the leading figure, criticizing the federal government for what it called indifference toward "protecting the rights" of the steel workers in the recent labor disturbances. The statement is quoted by the press as saying:

"The federal government through this entire situation has not displayed the slightest interest in protecting the rights of the steel workers on strike, which have been so flagrantly disregarded.

"Violations of the national statutes, such as the National Firearms Act, by the steel corporations, have produced no activity on the part of national officials.

"On the contrary, purported attempts on the part of some of the strike pickets to delay the introduction into the plant of food for strike breakers through the use of the mails has produced extraordinary activity on the part of the federal government securing indictments against the strike pickets."

While this charge on the part of the mine workers committee is open to serious debate, the fact that such a statement was issued has created a great deal of interest in political circles. Some observers believe the statement was made to gloss over the failure of the CIO strikes in the independent steel mills of the country and to build up an explanation of such failure. Others, however, believe that the statement indicates the growth of real feeling between John L. Lewis and the president. Such a development would be little short of remarkable. Mr. Lewis and the mine organization were among the most valiant defenders of President Roosevelt and the New Deal in the 1936 campaign. They contributed more than liberally to the New Deal campaign funds and loaned money to its political organization as well. When the steel strikes started it was generally admitted on both sides of the controversy that the CIO had the sympathy of the national administration, including especially the Secretary of Lamor, Miss Perkins. Later on, however, same the president's statement about the strike, containing the exclamation, "a plague on both your houses," and this was followed by words from the Secretary of Labor indicating at least a change of mental attitude. Just what it all means politically remains to be seen. It may signify a great deal, and on the other hand it may mean nothing.

Again the national capitol was stirred to interest by the recent criticism by Sen. Nye of North Dakota of the National Labor Relations Board, which is supposed to straighten out the labor tangles in the United States but has been somewhat unsuccessful to date. The North Dakota senator charged that "the National Labor Relations Board has such a pronounced CIO bias that the average man regards it as an adjunct," and added that the board "has also taken sides in labor's internal disputes at a time most injurious to the cause of the labor movement," that the organization had "gone out of its way to demonstrate to the public that it is a partisan body rather than a judicial institution." The senator further characterized David J. Saposs, industrial advisor of the board, as a friend of William J. Foster, the communist leader and author of a book entitled "Left Wing Unionism", which endorses Foster's and Stalin's doctrines of "boring from within". Later Congressman Rankin of Mississippi criticized the board bitterly.

Here is another side of the picture. The labor situation politically and otherwise seems decidedly tangled. If anybody benefits, it will probably be the American Federation of Labor.

FACTS FROM THE RECORD

Written By F. G. STEPHENS Publisher of The Southern Democrat, Oneonta

WHAT THE CONVICTS ARE DOING

As stated in a previous article, the average number of convicts in the various prisons and camps during the last fiscal year was 5,736. A little more than one-fourth of these (1,517) were assigned to the road camps. These constitute the most able bodied men in the entire prison population. As stated, they are hired to the State Highway Department at $25 a month. The other convicts are employed on the state prison farms, in the manufacturing plants, and about the various prisons.

The state operates a cotton mill at Kilby and one at Spigener. These mills used the 1,318 bales of cotton produced by convicts on state farms and several thousand bales which had to be purchased to keep the mills in operation. The convict labor charged against operation of these mills was figured at $18 per month per convict. These mills made a net profit last year of $75,040.13.

A knitting mill and tailoring shop are maintained at Wetumpka, where all clothing for the convicts is made. In addition to this they made all the sheets, pillow cases, mattress covers, and towels used by the convicts. They also make the suits that are given the convicts when they are discharged. The operation of the knitting mill in itself shows a loss of fi7,464.18, but the tailoring shop run in connection with it showed a net profit of $35,474.61. Only women prisoners are employed in these departments, and their labor is figured at $15 per month.

The tag plant at Kilby makes all automobile license tags and road signs used by the state, and has provided some road signs for other states. This plant was operated only about 80 days last year and made a net profit for the state of $32,578.67. The labor in this department is figured at $18 per convict per month.

Other manufacturing plants operated by convicts at Kilby are a mattress, pillow and mop factory, grist and feed mills, saw mills, and cotton gins. These are operated only for the purpose of producing these products in sufficient quantities to supply the needs of the convict department.

Canning plants are operated at Kilby and Atmore for the purpose of preserving fruits and vegetables to be consumed by the convicts.

The operation of the prison farms will be dealt with in another article.

Be sure that your work animals have good shade during rest periods and at noon.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Montgomery. — Alabama is getting the maximum grants available for the four activities of the social security law which are supervised by the state with funds allocated by the federal board from federal appropriations. These grants result from the compliance by the state with requirements of the social security board.

A report released by the social security board covers the four phases of the law which come under the direct supervision of the states and shows that Alabama has an unemployment compensation commission law approved by the federal board and laws providing federal and state assistance to the needy aged, blind and children. Old age pensions which will be paid after 1941 do not come under supervision of the states, and this feature of the law is administered by the federal government's agency, the social security board.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

Montgomery. — Scores of residents of Alabama will be deprived of benefits of the unemployment compensation law after January 1, 1938, although their employers are paying the excise tax to the federal government, unless a large number of corporations domiciled in other states elect to come under the provisions of the Alabama law, M. H. Harper, chairman of the Alabama unemployment compensation commission, has announced.

These corporations do not employ as many as eight persons in Alabama and, therefore, are exempt from the provisions of the Alabama law. They do employ more than eight in the United States and must comply with the provisions of the national social security law. They must pay a tax of two per cent of all wages to the federal government this year, which will be increased to three per cent next year. This tax cannot benefit any employes of corporations in Alabama unless the corporations elect to come under the state law. If they do so elect, they will make contributions to the state trust fund up to 90 per cent of the total levied by federal law and will be permitted to deduct these payments from the federal tax. By this process employes of the corporations in Alabama will get the benefit of state laws and the assessment against the corporations will be no greater.

When unemployment benefits become payable in Alabama January 1, 1938, the beneficiary will only be required to accept suitable employment when found by the state employment service. "Suitable employment" as defined in the law "shall mean any work for which the employe in question is reasonably fitted, which is located within a reasonable distance of his residence or the place where he last worked, and which is not detrimental to his health, safety and morals."

IN MEMORY

On August 6th, 1937, the death Angel visited our home and took away the spirit of our dear loving husband and father, Mr. James A. Campbell.

He was born and raised in Chilton county and was respected and loved by everyone who knew him. He was a true husband, a kind and loving father; no words can express how we miss him.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters—Miss Emmie Campbell of Jemison, Mrs. W. D. Niblett of Mobile; five sons — Vester, Marvin, Stanley and J. L. Campbell of Jemison; Hubert Campbell of Bessemer. He also leaves to morn his death, a father, age 87, three brothers and three sisters. The Rev. George W. Elliott, of Tarrant City, officiated.

Pallbearers were: Luther and Clinton Campbell, Edward and Wallace Glasscock, James Marler and Edward Thrash.

The remains were laid to rest in Oak Hill cemetery adjoining the church, of which he was a member for many years.

Trustees Funeral Home was in charge.

ALABAMA MOTORISTS TEST

Birmingham, Aug. 7. — Drunken and reckless automobile drivers will not be tolerated within the ranks of the Alabama Motorists Association according to regulations adopted by the eligibility committee of the association here today.

The eligibility committee instructed membership representatives to obtain satisfactory answers to the following questions before submitting the application of hte applicant for membership:

"Have you ever been charged with drunken driving?"

"Have you had as many as two charges of reckless driving during your driving career?"

"Have you, or has any member of your family, been charged with or convicted of manslaughter as a result of an automobile accident?"

Spokesmen for the eligibility committee stated that the association adopted the requirements in the interest of safer driving on the highways and also to enhance the esteem that motorists now have for the wearers of the AAA emblem. As the association provides bond up to $5,000 for members in connection with automo bile mishaps, and also issues a $1,000 automobile accident insurance policy to all members without examination, members of the committee said it was necessary to have the above information.

Adoption of the new requirements is also in line with the association's campaign for state supervision of scientific tests to determine the state of intoxication of any motorist held in connection with an automobile accident.

NEW MIGRATORY BIRD REGULATIONS LISTED

The shooting of doves in North Alabama counties will begin 15 days later this year, but the open season for South Alabama remains the same, according to federal and state regulations announced August 6. The split season for North Alabama also remains in effect. The daily bag limit on doves was reduced from 20 to 15 per day.

The open season on doves is September 15 to October 15, and December 20 to January 31, north of the southern boundaries of Pickens, Tuscaloosa, Jefferson, Shelby, Talladega, Clay and Randolph Counties. The dove season in the counties south of this line (including Chilton) is November 20 to January 31.

The open season on geese and wild ducks remains practically unchanged. The shooting of water fowl is limited from 7 a.m., to 4 p.m., daily, and the shooting of snipe, woodcock, doves and rail is from 7 a.m., to sunset.

The schedule follows:

Ducks, 10 a day in aggregate of all species; geese, 5 a day in all species; coot, 25 a day in all species, November 27 to December 26.

Doves, 15 a day bag limit, North Alabama counties listed above, September 15 to October 15. and December 20 to January 31.

Doves, all counties south of the line, November 20 to January 31.

Rail and gallinule (except coot), November 20 to January 31.

Woodcock, 4 a day bag limit, December 1 to December 31.

Sora, 15 a day bag limit, September 15 to October 15.

Shotguns holding more than three shells at one loading are prohibited in taking migratory birds, and any gun larger than 10-gauge is banned. Baiting of birds is prohibited, and use of live decoys in hunting waterfowl is prohibited. The federal duck stamp is required of all water fowl hunters above 16 years of age.

MOUNTAIN SPRINGS

Due to circumstances over which he has no control, the acting pastor of Mt. Springs church feels that the revival meeting which had been scheduled for the third Sunday in August must be postponed until the third Sunday in September.

Regular services on the third Sunday in August at 2:30 p.m., and 7:30 p.m. Further discussion of the proposed revival will be taken up at that time.

IN MEMORY

Grandmother Scarbrough

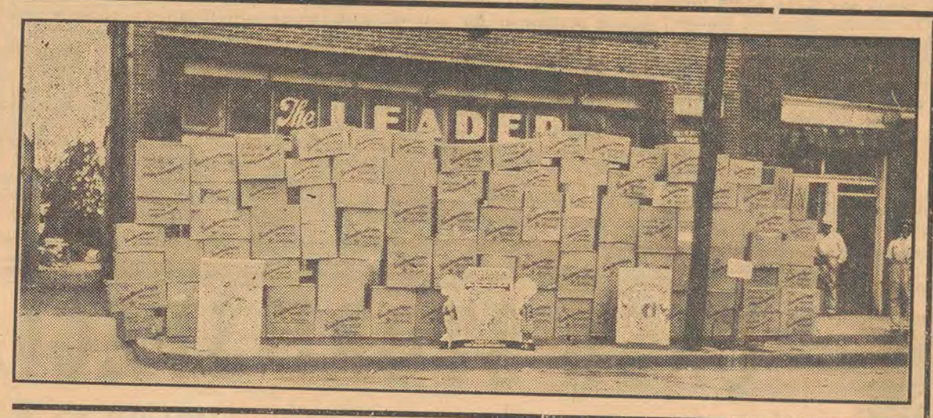
Please allow me space in your paper to express our thanks for the service and kindness we received during the sickness and death of our aunt and grandmother, Mrs. A. J. Scarbrough. We also thank Bro. Thompson for his words of truth at the grave, as taught by the Scriptures.

She was dear to us and it was hard to give her up. She is dead and knows not anything, but she has only a little while to sleep. The resurrection and the end of Satan's rule is near; she will come forth from the grave a sound, healthy person. Through obedience to God we can live happily together here on earth forever under God's righteous Kingdom, with Christ Jesus the rightful King and Ruler.

Grandmother was familiarly known as "Aunt Jane". She was 89 years of age.

Jack Coker, from Goodman Watch factory, Montgomery, was in Clanton for a few days recently. Jack's many friends here will be glad to learn that he is liking his work and is progressing with it right along.

In Louisiana the constitution limits the number of days the legislature may be in session to 60, and requires that all bills must be introduced during the first 20 days of the session.



Alabama's state employment service is free to all residents. No fee is paid by an applicant or employer for any investigation, report or placement. The cost of the service is financed jointly by the state and federal governments.

Ironing on a screened porch is far more comfortable on a summer day than at close quarters on a cook stove.

RETAIL CREDIT SERVICE

Growing enthusiasm is being evinced by the laity as well as the business and professional men in the Retail Service newly organized in this territory by the Merchants Mercantile Co., of Washington, D. C.

The increasing demands for credit that prosperity brings in its wake makes it more necessary than ever that an efficient means of eliminating losses due to bad credit risks should be an integral part of every trade territory. The necessity for credit for the proper functioning of commerce is an accepted fact. Anything that assists in making credit more flexible and accessible is a direct asset to the district that it serves.

For these reasons the people of Chilton County are availing themselves of a time tried system that has proven its efficiency in every test.

Any credit service to be as effective as it should be must be simple and require of the clients a minimum of effort to secure the full benefits it supplies. Such is the service of the Merchants Mercantile Company.

The guide that is placed in the office of each member of this organization gives the actual ledger experience of all the business and professional men with those people who make up the losses in extending credit. It is submitted to the subscribers as a report of the secretary of the organization as to those people who have had this service as delinquents and the results are given dollar for dollar.

No one is listed in the guide who has their account paid up to date. Only those who owe accounts that they have neglected or ignored will be listed.

Each overdue account is listed and the amount of the account is placed opposite the person's name who owes the account. Should John Doe owe four accounts his name will appear in the guide four times and the amount of each of the four accounts will be placed alongside his name. The names are arranged alphabetically. This does not necessitate any creditor passing judgment on a debtor. The evidence is there and the representatives of the company have no choice when the accounts are audited. They are either overdue or they are not.—Merchants Mercantile Company.

It is never right to employ an immoral method to put over a good cause. A governor of a state has no moral right to buy legislators and debauch character in order to put over even a good social program. We are commanded to go into the world and preach the Gospel to every creature. I am a minister. I go to a city and find a vacant hall and ask the man to rent me the hall so I can carry out the divine commission of preaching the Gospel. He rents me the hall. I refuse to pay him. I use an immoral method to carry out a divine commission. That is wrong. It is never necessary to do wrong to achieve a good end.

We Christian people get in a hurry to accomplish good results and sometimes we resort to wrong methods to help God carry out His plans. I am a prohibitionist. When I was a boy prohibition speakers used to say, "It is wrong to sell whiskey. It is wrong to break up homes and make little children cry for bread." Prohibition was gaining ground. We prohibitionists got in a hurry to dry up America, so instead of continuing to say, "It is wrong to sell liquor," we said, "It will help business to get rid of saloons." We won by appealing to the selfish instincts of Americans. Later times got hard and the whiskey people said, "Liquor is being drunk in America any way. Let's legalize it and get some taxes so we won't have to pay so much taxes." So whiskey came back. It is wrong to sell liquor. Liquor does not help business, but even if selling liquor should stimulate business, it would still be wrong to sell it. No reform will ever be permanent that is based on any idea except the idea of right. Do right because it is right to do right. It does pay to do right, but if we do right just because it pays to do right, then we are really doing wrong. We are living selfish lives.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our thanks and appreciation to our many friends who helped in so many kind ways during the departure of our loving husband and father. We also appreciate very highly the help of Mr. Jones and Mr. Harbison and the Thorsby Quartet.

May God's richest blessings rest on each and every one is our prayer.—Mrs. James A. Campbell and children.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Circle No. 2 of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church met Monday afternoon, August 9th, with Mrs. P. M. Pitts.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by Mrs. J. M. Truett. Mrs. M. F. Jones gave the last two chapters of the "Life of Christ," which was very educational and enjoyed by all.

After the business meeting the hostess served refreshments to Madames: M. F. Jones, Glennie Evans, M. L. White, M. A. Gore, L. H. Reynolds, J. D. Armstrong, C. A. Sherred, O. D. Deloach, J. M. Truett, A. S. Prince, J. D. Broadhead, M. R. Lancaster, W. W. Fox and hostess P. M. Pitts.

Arledge Fires Blast In Road Squabble

Charges Judge Smith and the Court With Malicious Intent to Block Work of Road Department

Offers $100 Reward to Anyone Who Can Prove Statements of Road Department Are False

The following letter has been received from Mr. T. J. Arledge, the road supervisor, for publication in The Union-Banner:

There is quite a little dispute over various rumors and published statements as to what was spent by the Road Department during the months of May and June, 1937. Judge Smith and the very honorable members of his Court show that a total sum of $2,582.35 was spent for "clerical inspection and supervision" by the Road Department during the two months stated, in their statement published in last week's issue of The Chilton County News. The writer gives the following as the correct figure of such costs, which is taken from a copy of his Monthly Progress Report for those months, a report which is required by law to be filed with the Commissioners Court, and through the courtesy of the Road Supervisor each Commissioner has been provided with a certified copy for their individual information. And I might state that the figures shown are a summation of the various sums indicated on all claims filed with the Court for payment during the two months in question. Therefore, those claims, which are now recorded in the Claim Book of the Commissioners Court, stand as certified evidence of the fact:

Labor, May 1 to 31, 1937—
Supervision and inspection	$ 441.50
Transportation expense, Supervisor	88.00
Supervisor's clerk	75.00
Skilled labor, 110 days	275.00
Common labor, 366½ days	457.95
Total for the month	$1,337.45
Labor, June 1 to 30, 1937—
Supervision and inspection	$ 441.50
Transportation expense, Supervisor	76.60
Supervisor's clerk	75.00
Skilled labor, 107 days	267.50
Common labor, 375 days	469.10
Total for the month	$1,329.70
Grand total	$2,667.15

From this it is evident that $883 was spent for actual inspection and supervision; $164.60 for transportation expense of the Supervisor only; $150 for clerical aid; making a total of $1,197.60. Adding in all skilled labor, which in this case are men working with tools the same as common labor though they are called foremen or "overseers", they work under the direction of the district foremen or supervisors, in the sum of $542.50, gives a grand total of $1,740.10, a sum considerably less than the amount shown by the Commissioners Court. And, the above is all that can legally be charged to the work on the public roads and bridges by the Road Department over that period because no other work of this nature was performed under authority of the Road Supervisor.

Judge Smith has challenged the people of Chilton County to see and examine the records for themselves, implying that his figures are true and correct and that the figures of the Road Supervisor are false. As an inducement for the people to accept his challenge and "see the records for themselves" the Road Supervisor will pay to any person, firm or corporation the sum of $100 in cash, who can show that his figures are false as charged by the Judge. See the claims filed by the Road Department; they are stamped with the approval of the Road Supervisor and carbon copies of all are on file in his office.

Since the beginning of this office of the Road Department, Judge Smith, in the name of his Court, has done everything in his power to hinder and obstruct the progress of the organization. At the beginning he confined himself to little petty slurs and adverse criticisms, mostly directed at the impeachment of the integrity of the Supervisor; later by open antagonism and slurring remarks about the Supervisor; again by three separate attempts to seek the removal of the Supervisor through impeachment proceedings and action by the Circuit Court. Failing in all this to force the Supervisor to resign or to have him thrown out on fictitious charges promulgated by Judge Smith through malice and a malicious desire to injure, this same Judge of Probate, in the name of the Commissioners Court, wantonly attempted to cripple the road organization by the discharge of all supervisory employes. Again, failing to cause a suspension or shut down of the road work by this means, the Supervisor's clerk was discharged in a further and malicious attempt to so cripple the organization that they would be unable to properly perform. The wages of these men are still withheld from payment by Judge Smith and his Court on the ground that they are "unnecessary employes".

The same body that names these men "unnecessary employes" and refuse to allow them pay for wages earned in the service of Chilton County, are fully agreed that it is very necessary that their Clerk be paid out of county funds for doing work which the county is also paying Judge Smith to perform, according to testimony given in a recent hearing before Judge Wilson in the suit against the Supervisor filed by this same Judge Smith and his Court. Yet, the road workers must not have pay for serving the people on the roads.

Judge Smith and his Court say "we have no desire to mislead the people"; that they "should have a voice when it comes to electing officials who have authority to spend their money." The Road Supervisor has no authority to spend your money; if he did he most certainly would pay those wages now held up by the so honorable gentlemen, The Commissioners Court is the only authority in power who has the right to spend the county's money.

Judge Smith is constantly repeating "we are trying to save the people's money". All right, Judge Smith! How about the two tractors bought last March from J. D. Pittman Tractor Company? Was it "saving the the people's money" when you deliberately donated $1,750 of their money when you could have bought two other tractors just as good or better had you bought according to the law of bidding and bought from the lowest bidder? How about the purchase of those new trucks? Had you bought according to the law of bidding and bought from the low bidder, who in this case was the Clanton Motor Co., you could have saved more than $300? How about paying $1.75 each for shovels when you could have gotten a more desirable shovel for $1.20? How about paying 16c per pound for grease when you could have gotten the same or better from the local dealers at a price of 6c and 7c? How about the 72 sets of grader blades bought last August, on which you donated close to $140 above the price they could have been bought had they been properly advertised and bids taken?

"Saving the people's money!" How about it, folks? Remember, the Honorable Judge says: "The records are the best evidence". And I am offering $100 as an inducement for you to see "the records". Accept his challenge and look them over, and if I am wrong you win the $100.

And remember this! When it becomes necessary for Tom Arledge to lie or attempt to beguile the people in an effort to gain their confidence, friendship and support of his activities, then Tom Arledge does not want that kind of friendship, and the support that goes with such friendship would be to him absolutely worthless and undesirable. Tom Arledge is not playing politics or for political gain. He is trying to accomplish the purpose for which he was appointed to this office, and that is to build a better road system for the people of Chilton County. To date, he has had very little opportunity to do anything but devote almost two-thirds of his time in efforts to defend himself against an uncalled-for antagonism directed at his every effort by members of the honorable Commissioners Court. He now has two cases in Circuit Court and is being forced to file other suits in an effort to secure payment of wages due members of the road workers. All of this is at his personal expense as well as the expense of seeing that those men under his office are sufficiently provided with funds that they may continue in their duties. It costs the Judge and his Court nothing to take matters into court; they have the full resources of the County Treasurer to draw upon and they have the county paid attorneys to carry on the fight. Yet, they are "saving the people's money." We will carry on.—THOMAS J. ARLEDGE, Supervisor.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

There was a man in our town,
The chump thought he was wise.
He swore (it was his policy)
He'd never advertise;
But, one day, he advertised,
And thereby hangs a tale—
His ad was set in 6-point type
And headed "Sheriff's Sale".

"By liming and fertilizing old permanent pastures, some of my neighbors get about 40 days of extra grazing a year."

VOLUME 45.—EIGHT PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 19, 1937 NUMBER 18

Name Ala. Favorite Son To High Court

Senate Confirms Hugo Black's Appointment By A Vote Of 63 To 16 Tuesday

The appointment of Sen. Black to the Supreme Court will meet with general approval in Alabama and elsewhere in the deep South. However much one may disagree with the senator's political philosophy, it is comforting to again have a native son of this section, after so many years, on the highest tribunal in the land. Sen. Black's radical views, as disclosed by his past record, afford little comfort to friends of the Constitution, but after all he is no worse in this respect than anyone else whom Roosevelt was likely to appoint.

Incidentally, this is the first major appointment to go to an Alabamian since President Cleveland appointed Hilary Herbert Secretary of the Navy more than 40 years ago. Wilson gave Alabama nothing, and Roosevelt prior to this time had tossed the state only a few inconsequential bones, in the way of appointments. This is one of the disadvantages of being part of the "Solid South". If Alabamians voted according to their convictions instead of their traditions, and made Alabama a doubtful state, it would not be 40 years between drinks.

The appointment affords Sen. Black a graceful and easy means of fading out of the political picture and escaping the wrath of his aroused constituents, who did not approve his championing of the radical wages-and-hours bill.

A wild scramble is in order for the vacant senate seat. Gov. Graves makes an appointment, but it is to hold only pending an election, and whoever is named will not have the prestige of years of senate service, so that it will really be a free-for-all. Sen. J. Miller Bonner of Camden, who has said that he would run, is a conservative in politics, and an ardent dry. He had planned to run against Black, before the Supreme Court appointment was announced. Lister Hill, congressman from the second district, extending from Montgomery to Baldwin County, is likewise expected to run. Hill should appeal strongly to those who believe in the Divine Right of Roosevelt, and that the Congress of the United States is sent up there merely to say amen to executive decrees.

Donald Comer, of Sylacauga, prominent industrialist, has been prominently mentioned for appointment by Gov. Graves to Black's seat. Comer is a friend of Gov. Graves, and widely admired for his business ability and public spirit as a citizen. However, it is understood that Gov. Graves will appoint only someone who is pleasing to President Roosevelt. It is difficult to see how Mr. Comer, the successful business man, can suit our president, whose chief pastime is jumping on successful business men with both feet.

A suggestion that Mrs. Bibb Graves be named temporarily to succeed Sen. Black seemed to take like wildfire around the capitol recently, the idea being that her appointment, coupled with the call for a special election, would give an open field for senatorial candidates with none having the advantage of being in office while the race is in progress.

Gov. Graves told capitol reporters that he would not, of course, consider the appointment of a senator until there was a vacancy, and there will be no vacancy until after the senate confirms the nomination of Sen. Black to be an associate member of the Supreme Court of the United States. His confirmation is expected Thursday, and it will probably be August 22 or 23 before notice of Sen. Black's resignation reaches the desk of the governor.

CARL BAKER SUFFERED BROKEN LEG AT BILLINGSLEY MONDAY

Carl Baker, 32, son of Charlie C. Baker, former Chilton County farmer, now living near White City, Autauga County, suffered a broken left leg last Monday, while unloading a load of lumber at Billingsley.

He was rushed to Central Alabama Hospital, where it was found that he had suffered a complete fracture of both bones of the leg, just below the knee. Mr. Baker stated that he was in no pain, and hospital attaches believed he would soon be in good condition again.

DONALD COMER FOR THE SENATE VACANCY

Being prominently mentioned for the U. S. Senate from Alabama, to fill the vacancy caused by Senator Hugo Black's promotion, is the name of Donald Comer. The Union-Banner is Republican and Mr. Comer is Democratic, but we believe he is the type of man who should fill such important places as our seat in the national Senate. Donald Comer is a sound business man, a man of principle, public spirited, and a man who understands the common man as well as those people on up the line at all stations in life. He knows how to deal with people and get along with them—he understands their problems.

There will not be a Republican appointed to this place by Governor Graves, and among the Democratic party we do not know of a man better suited for the place than Donald Comer. The Union-Banner would indeed like for him to get the appointment.

LAY DAM BASEBALL CLUB PLAYS TWO GAMES THIS WEEK

The Lay Dam baseball club is to play two games during this week, one of them in Clanton, and the other at Lay Dam.

On Thursday, August 19 (today), McDade, of Montgomery, comes up to Clanton, and will meet Lay Dam on the high school ground here.

On Sunday, August 22, Lay Dam takes on the International Harvester Company team, from Birmingham, at the park at Lay Dam.

A report from Lay Dam says the Kilowatts lost to Acme Lunch at Lay Dam last Sunday, 3 to 1, but we have received no itemized account of this game, and can not give any particulars on it.

HEALTH REPORT

Montgomery, Aug. 14. — Deaths reported from Chilton County in June totaled 11, as compared with 20 for May, according to the monthly report of the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health. The county's births reported during June number 71, as compared with 34 reported in May.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

We hope you visitors, each and every one, to our church last Sunday enjoyed being there as much as we enjoyed having you. We hope you will hurry back to visit us again, or, if not already members of another cogregation, we shall be happy to welcome you as members on our own.

We hope the splendid choir of the last two Sundays is but the beginning of a choir constantly increasing in voices rendering music teeming with religious fervor. Our pastor pleads for a good choir, because it gives him support which a good preacher desires and deserves, and if you heard Dr. Truett last Sunday, you know he is a mighty good preacher. Let's all be at church at our places whether in the audience or in the choir next Sunday.

Our Sunday School is going along more splendidly than some of us perhaps realize, and doing fine work required of a good Sunday School, due to the diligence of the officers and the cooperation given them, but can always do better with more cooperation. Are we all doing our very best and being perfect cooperators?

The Men's Bible Class has been reorganized with a good teacher and a new president and seems to have taken on new life. May every member work with all his might to build this class to just what it should be.

Don't forget Sunday, August 22, 1937. Be at Sunday School at 9:45 and at the preaching service at 11 o'clock, praying.

The Hill store in Clanton has on another flour special for this week. The well known brands, Grandma's Wonder ad White Tip, new improved, are being pushed during this flour special, this week.

Hill Grocery Company would like for you to try a sack of one of these famous flours, and at a special price. If you are not already, using it, try a sack.

Also they have a special on that good coffee, Royal Blend, and many other attractive bargains in groceries. Mr. Stewart, manager at the Hill store here, says: "I want my friends in Chilton county to take advantage of these specials we are offering this week. If they do not, they will be the losers, and I do not want my friends to be the losers."

"THE SHAKE-DOWN"

(AN EDITORIAL)

We all know that the professional New Dealer has an intense and pious hatred and aversion for men of wealth, corporations, in fact for anything that savors of success in private enterprise. It comes, therefore, as a profound shock to us to learn that the holy and sanctimonious "Friends of the People" who now hold the reins in Washington have been shaking down the hated "economic royalists" by methods as crude as those of the avowed highwayman.

Briefly, the Democratic National Committee has printed and sold "souvenir campaign books", autographed by Franklin Delano's own hand, for a mere $250 apiece, for a sum total of $700,000. Purchasers include corporations, which are not allowed to contribute to campaign funds, directly, and were accordingly held up in this unique and effective fashion. Big business men who have been denounced, hounded and persecuted by the New Dealers were approached and asked to buy, with no doubt the plain implication "or else". Some of them bought—heavily. One New York broker bought 60 of the precious propaganda volumes for a total of $15,000. When a man has a gun pointed at you, it pays to be pleasant and agreeable.

This crude and brutal plundering of the pocketbooks of the very men detested by our reformers is a matter hardly requiring comment. Small wonder that the resolution by Republican Leader Snell, calling for an investigation of the whole odoriferous business, remains pigeonholed by the rules committee, of whose ten members seven are Democrats.

RED CROSS MEETING HELD LAST FRIDAY

As per announcement the Chilton county chapter of the American Red Cross met in annual session at the office of J. Mell Martin in Clanton last Friday afternoon. The principal business was the election of officers for the ensuing year, resulting as follows: Dr. C. O. Lawrence, chairman; Luther E. Little, vice chairman; John C. Page, treasurer; Dr. J. M. Kimmey, first aid chairman; J. Mell Martin, secretary aid roll call chairman. Mr. Martin is already serving as disaster chairman under the national organization.

TWO YEARS' WORK OF SOCIAL SECURITY BOARD REVIEWED

An important date in the history of Social Security is that of August 14, 1935, for on that date the Social Security Act was passed by the Congress of the United States.

A review of the work accomplished by the Social Security Board since Congress passed the Social Security Act two years ago shows that nearly two million needy men, women and children in the United States are receiving financial assistance, under provisions of the Act. More than 31 million wage earners have obtained social seourity accounts numbers and are now participating in the old age benefits program which went into effect last January. All States and Territories of the United States now have laws to protect workers against the loss of income during periods of unemployment, with about 21 million working people covered by this job insurance.

Nearly 13 million dollars have been allotted to the various states to pay the cost of administrating State unemployment compensation laws. The unemployment trust fund accumulated in the treasury of the United States, representing deposits and accrued interest of 38 States, amounts to more than 334 million dollars.

SINGING AT FRIENDSHIP

There will be singing at Friendship church next Friday night, August 20. Everyone has an invitation. Come and bring your new books.

MISS GRACE TO HAVE CHARGE OF KIWANIS MEET

The regular meeting of the Clanton Kiwanis Club will be held at Thomason Hotel Thursday night of this week at 7:30 o'clock. Itt will be in charge of Miss Meta Grace, county home demonstration agent. The secretary, Mr. J. Mell Martin, urges a full attendance at this meeting.

FIRST BALE OF COTTON GINNED HERE WEDNESDAY

Clanton's first bale of cotton came in bright and early Wednesday morning, August 18, from the farm of Joe A. Maddox, west of Clanton. It was ginned at Hugh Thompson's gin. The bale was sold to J. R. Mullins & Sons at 15c per pound. It weighed 513 pounds and brought a total of $76.95. In the seed it weighed 1,440 pounds.

The first bale last year came from the farm of O. C. Rushing, Verbena Route 1, and was ginned by J. N. Dennis. It sold at 12.75.

HOME OF LESTER MIMS BURNED LAST TUESDAY NIGHT

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Mims, about two miles southeast of Clanton, in the Temple community, burned last Tuesday night about 10 o'clock, with all its contents.

Mr. and Mrs. Mims were away at the time, attending the tent meeting in Clanton. A young man passing on a nearby road saw the blaze and gave the alarm, but nothing could be saved.

Besides the household goods and the family wearing apparel, Mr. Mims said he had $50 in a pair of trousers, which was also burned.

Reports were that there had been no fire about the place for several hours, although the young man who first saw the blaze said it was burning on the kitchen side of the house when he first saw it. The house was wired with BX cable, and it was considered unlikely that the fire caught from the electric wiring. There was no insurance.

BETHSALEM

The annual all day singing held here each year is called off on account of rebuilding the church. Announcement will be given later.—R. M. Brigance.

UNION-BANNER NOT IN COUNTY ROAD SCRAP

For the past several weeks The Union-Banner has been carrying letters from county officials and others regarding the road situation in Chilton County.

The Union-Banner wishes to say that it was not directly or indirectly responsible for any of the acts that have resulted in the Democratic road muddle, and we, ourselves, are not taking any part in this racket now. This paper is not a clearing house for the various and sundry factions and crevasses of the Democratic party of Chilton County; neither do we propose to take and air the dirty linen of either side.

On the back page of this issue we are publishing a letter from each, Judge Smith and Supervisor Ardledge.

As we see it personally, there has been quite enough said about the road matter; what we have needed for some time is road work and not road loquacity. Therefore, henceforth, our columns will be for sale only at the regular advertising rate for letters about the road racket.

FIVE-FOOT RATTLER KILLED

Refuge community must be the rattle snake of Chilton county. The Union-Banner is continually receiving reports that one or more of the big reptiles have been killed out there. The latest was on last Friday, the 13th, when R. G. Marlar killed one five feet long which had 15 rattles and a button. No one was bitten. The rattles are at The Union-Banner office.

T. W. BRYAN'S WATCH IS RUNNING

Judge T. W. Bryan has got his old watch to running. The report was carried in The Union-Banner last March or April that he had come into possession of the old relic and that an attempt was being made to make it run. Well, Ernest Arant has the credit of making it go; it is running and keeping almost perfect time.

The watch was said to have been carried by an uncle of Mr. Bryan when he was wounded in a battle during the Civil War. It had not run since that time, until recently.

Judge Bryan says that although he cherishes the old watch very much, he would sell it, if someone wants it worse than he does. It was made in Liverpool and has to be wound and set with a key. The case is closed on the front and back.

BAILEY BOUND OVER WITHOUT BAIL

In the justice court of M. D. Foshee last Friday, Dewitt Bailey, from Fairfield, was bound over without bail. The defendant was charged with rape, the preliminary for which was heard by Judge Foshee.

The revival services will begin at Mt. Creek baptist church, Sunday night at 7:45. The Rev. G. C. Walker will deliver the messages.—Pastor

DOLLAR STORE GETTING READY FOR A RUSHING FALL BUSINESS

The Dollar Store is this week advertising a clearance sale on all summer goods. Mr. H. Pinkerson, the proprietor, says: "We must make room for our large stock of fall goods, hence the sacrifice of all summer goods."

Mr. Pinkerson, who has had twenty years experience in handling dry goods, clothing, shoes and hats for men, women and children, last week returned from the market, where he purchased his fall and winter goods, which are already arriving. He must make room for them. He is especially proud of his buy on men's hats and shoes, which he is able to sell as low as $1.98. This store is full of such bargains.

And Mrs. Pinkerson wishes something mentioned about her department, which consists of children's and women's dresses, shoes, hats, Etc. She will take great pleasure in showing these goods to the ladies and little ones of this section.

J. TOY WILLIAMS HERE

Dr. J. Toy Williams, returned missionary from China, was in Clanton a few days this week, after having spent several weeks at Ridgecrest, N. C. He was accompanied by his family. They were to participate in a Williams family reunion here, as well as one in Georgia of his wife's people, thence to Dallas, Texas, on that much of the return trip to China. But war clouds in the Orient have caused the Baptist board to postpone the sailing of the missionary. It is not known whether the Williamses will be in Clanton awaiting further instructions, or will stay some other place. We know the delay has upset them, but we do hope they conclude to stay in Clanton until the Board calls them again.

Mr. Shux (Dovard) Clackler, printer, of Lanett, Ala., was here for a few days on account of the serious illness of his father, John W. Clackler, of Providence community.

U. S. Chamber Hits The Wage-Hour Bill

Says Labor Legislation Should Be Handled By The Various States

Washington, Aug. 14—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States urged today that pending wage and hour legislation be junked.

In a special committee report, the chamber said that any wage and hour abuses should be corrected by state legislation, with Congress enacting some Federal law to give support to state programs.

"We believe the method of Federal legislation such as is now proposed is erroneous," the report said, "These are matters which so far as they are appropriate for legislative action belong to the states.

"The only Federal legislation which should be attempted is a form (which) prevents the use of interstate commerce for defeat of proper state legislation.

"There can thus be developed an appropriate and efficient system of Federal and State cooperation, the Federal government using its own powers and the states using their constitutional powers for a common purpose."

The chamber said that "anything like impartial administration and adequate enforcement would not seem possible of acheivement" under the bill, adding that "any action respecting minimum wages for a widely separated industry would probably impose severe handicaps upon small enterprises."

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY BROKEN UP BY NIGHT OFFICIALS

Night Policemen Plyler and Willis apprehended a burglar Monday night about 9 o'clock, after he had pried several bars off the back window of Peoples Cash Store and had broken the glass in the window. The officers saw the burglar dodging behind bushes and corners of buildings, but did not catch him. It is said that the officers know the man.

Also a Ford car, 1934 coupe, from the used car lot of Clanton Motors, was found parked near the scene of the attempted burglary. It is thought probable that the man had taken the car from the lot and had parked it near by, and was going to put his loot in the car and make his getaway.

"CARMEN" AT BIRMINGHAM

Birmingham, Ala.—A Spanish Open Air Fiesta, built around Bizet's opera, "Carmen", will be staged in Birmingham's Legion Field Stadium on September 21, under the direction of the Birmingham Civic Opera Association and all Alabama is invited to attend the performance. This will be the first open air opera to be presented in this section of the South and it will be patterned after the performances staged annually in St. Louis and Cincinnati.

Metropolitan opera stars will be brought to Birmingham to sing the leading roles in the opera and the best talent in this city will sing the minor roles and choruses, according to Miss Mary Fabian, founder and director of the association.

HOMEMAKERS CLASS

The Homemaker's Sunday School class of the Baptist Church will meet at the home of Mrs. John Deramus, next Friday afternoon, at 3:30. All members of the class are invited to attend.

DETECTIVE FROM FLORIDA WAS IN CHILTON COUNTY TUESDAY

Mr. W. H. Gasque, head of the Gasque International Detective Service, at Jacksonville, Fla., was in Chilton County last Tuesday in connection with a murder case he is working on in Florida. The full story of the detective's visit to our county is quite interesting, but too long for publication.

He had high words of praise for the treatment he has received from officers of Alabama, and particularly of Chilton County.

Mr. Gasque's firm is one of the leading international detective agencies, and has representatives throughout the world.

BACK FROM VACATION

Miss Etta Baker has recently returned from a two-weeks vacation, spent in Birmingham, Chattanooga, and other places. She reports a very nice time, and is glad to be back at work at Rockett's Dry Goods Store.

MUSICAL CONCERT AT SHILOH

There will be a musical concert at Shiloh church Friday night of this week, beginning at 8 o'clock. The program will consist of quartets, trios, duets, solos, class singing, and spirituals. This is the closing exercise of a most successful singing school taught by Prof. Audie L. Brown. The public is cordially invited to attend.

NOTICE

The Sixth District Farmers' Union will hold its first anniversary celebration at Ashby, in Bibb county, on Saturday, August 28th, beginning at 10 a. m. Our program has not been completed but are expecting to have speakers from several different crafts of organized labor present. So bring your basket lunch and let's enjoy the day together. The public is invited.—M. R. Douglas, District Secretary.

CLANTON, ALA.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

INDICATED ACRE YIELD IS HIGHEST ON RECORD

Auburn. — Present indications are that Alabama farmers will this year produce 245 pounds of cotton per acre, the highest per-acre yield ever recorded in the state, reports J. C. Garrett, state and federal agricultural statistician. The estimated yield last year was 236 pounds per acre and the average yield for the 10-year period (1927-1936) was 194 pounds per acre.

Alabama's cotton crop is estimated at 1,302,000 bales, the largest production in the state since 1931, when 1,415,000 bales were harvested. The largest cotton crop ever produced in the states was in 1914 when 1,748,000 bales were harvested. That was the year before the boll weevil hit the state.

The August 1 crop report places Alabama fourth in the list of leading cotton producing states. Texas is leading with an estimated production of 4,314,000 bales, Mississippi second with 1,917,000 bales, and Arkansas is third with 1,493,000 bales. Alabama is fourth with 1,302,000 bales, Georgia a close fifth with 1,282,000 bales.

Cotton production on August 1 was fairly uniform over Alabama, being reported at 85 per cent in the northwest district, 81 per cent in the Tennessee Valley, 83 per cent in the mineral district, 85 per cent in the northeast district, 81 per cent in the west Black Belt, 84 per cent in the east Black Belt, 82 per cent in the Piedmont district, 82 per cent in the southwest district, 80 per cent in the south central, and 78 per cent in the southeast.

The U. S. crop is forecast at 15,593,000 bales. This compares with 12,399,000 bales produced in 1936 and the 5-year (1932-1936) overage production of 11,745,000 bales.

FARMERS URGED SAVE SUMMER LEGUME SEED

Auburn. — The importance of Alabama farmers harvesting cowpeas and other summer legume seed this fall is emphasized by the fact that they may be used in improving the soil and in protecting the land from erosion, in supplying food for the farm home, in making a good hay crop, and in producing a seed crop that farmers can sell for cash.

"Farmers seldom have enough cowpeas and other valuable legume seed when planting time comes," said J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist, in calling attention of farmers to the importance of saving legume seed this fall for planting next year.

ALABAMA CLUB MEMBERS VISITING MUSCLE SHOALS

Auburn. — Approximately 3,000 4-H club boys of 31 Alabama counties are making tours of the Muscle Shoals area, August 11-28. Headquarters for the club boys has been established at Tuscumbia fair grounds, and guides have been appointed to direct the county groups to Wilson Dam, through soil erosion demonstrations, to Wheeler Dam, and other interesting places in the Tennessee Valley.

The trips are giving club boys first hand information on the soil conservation and soil building program being carried on by the TVA and the Alabama Extension Service, says L. L. Self, state boys 4-H club leader.

7,000 BOYS AND GIRLS ATTEND 4-H CLUB CAMPS

Auburn. — Over 7,000 Alabama 4-H club boys and girls have attended about 100 county club camps during June, July and August, reports T. A. Sims, state 4-H club leader.

The camps were well organized for leadership training, fun and recreation, says Mr. Sims. Swimming, soft ball, singing, baseball, club stunts, treasure hunts, horse shoe pitching contests, and many other interesting activities were enjoyed.

County far mand home agents were assisted by state and local club leaders. Visitors' days brought to the camps fathers and mothers who enjoyed seeing their boys and girls enter into the spirit of and get the most possible training from their camps. County governing bodies and civic clubs cooperated in making the camps successful and enjoyable.

SIMPLE ATTACHMENT HELPS CUT KUDZU HAY

Auburn. — E. G. Diseker, assistant agricultural engineer of the Alabama Experiment Station, has developed a mower attachment which thoroughly separates the long kudzu vines and enables one man to do a good job of cutting kudzu hay without assistance.

The attachment is very simple and can be made by most farmers or any blacksmith. Mr. Diseker used these materials in making the attachment:

1. An iron bar 3|8-inch thick, 2 inches wide, and 3½ feet long.

2. An iron bar ½-inch thick, 1½ inches wide, and 13 inches long.

3. A small rod ½-inch in diameter and 19 inches long.

Any farmer desiring to make an attachment may obtain full nistructions free by writing Mr. Diseker, at Auburn, Ala.

SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE

The value of combining vegetative and mechanical methods to provide more complete erosion control has been frequently observed during heavy rains this year in the Soil Conservation Service area near Clanton, according to Mr. James H. Wood, Camp Superintendent.

Strips of close growing vegetation and stubble which spread run-off water and prevent its concentration have been especially effective in instances where terace breaks have occurred after heavy rains. By preventing concentration of water from broken terraces above, the strips have provided protection for terraces below.

Strip cropping reduces the cost of terrace maintenance by preventing terrace breaks and also by causing run-off water to drop its load of silt in the strip rather than depositing it in the terrace channel as would be the case if this vegetative protection were not afforded.

Strip cropping alone, however, has not been sufficient to control erosion except on very gently sloping fields, Mr. Wood pointed out. By breaking long slopes into shorter slopes, terraces prevent run-off water from attaining high velocity and increase the effectiveness of strips of close growing vegetation in filterng out the soil load which the water is carrying.

The advantage of combining strip cropping and terracing is just one indication of how a complete program of mechanical, vegetative, and cultural practices are required to provide complete protection against erosion, Mr. Wood said.

MAN IN THE MOON

WHERE WILL IT ALL END?

During the last few days, the writer of this article has found time to ask a few questions about our grand road mess, in an effort to find out the bare truth about the thing. I must confess that the more I find out about it, the more confusing it becomes, until I find myself believing that there is no real solution to the problem, with human emotions being what they are and with our laws existing as they do. In this attempt to clear up, for myself at least, the real trouble, I have been particular to keep in the background any personal feeling toward either side, and to judge findings on their true merit alone.

I find that Mr. Arledge, in his contentions, stays entirely within his own quota in making up his own statements. In his reports, he gives out only sums that are chargeable to his road allowance, and, no doubt, are correct as far as they go.

On the other hand, Mr. Smith, in giving out figures for the Commissioners Court, includes other sums which, by law, are chargeable against roads, but not against the fund set aside for Mr. Arledge for road construction and maintenance. Some of these, I am told, include the pay of the commissioners, and various purchases of certain types of road building materials.

Looked at in this way, it is very likely that Mr. Arledge's statement that "these are the only sums which can legally be charged against the road department" is entirely true. Also, it is possible that Mr. Smith's contention that anything used in connection with the roads should be charged out against roads, is likewise true. In a way, we may say that the two gentlemen are merely taking an altogether different view of the whole affair. And, to be fair and blunt to both, I believe both are right in some degree, yet both are wrong in some degree, and, after all, it all narrows down to a difference of personal opinion, and there is not a whole lot that can be done with differences in opinions.

Now, figures don't lie, I am told, yet figures can be made to do wonderful tricks, when one has a mind to handle them in various ways. It may be that both of the contestants in this matter have been guilty of a bit of "stressing" on one part and "soft pedaling" on the other, or, again, it may be that they just honestly see the whole thing in the manner they profess.

From my own angle, I see the whole matter like this, and I believe anyone who carefully examines both sides will come to a like conclusion:

Just as I have believed from the beginning, I still believe the whole system is cock-eyed from the start. It was not conceived by popular demand, and certainly was not made into law and put into effect according to the standards usually used in democratic government. Yet, if some way can be found to get around the objectionable features of the program in order that we may have some good roads, I believe no amount of study and work would be superfluous. I believe the whole system will be thrown out entirely if the people ever get a chance at it, but for the time being, something should be done to get us out of the stalemate condition our road business has gotten into, and, above all, give us roads.

It is my opinion, based on what I have learned from questioning both sides, and from a re-reading of the road law, itself, that, first of all, this law was badly drawn in the first place, and is as full of loopholes and breaks as a sieve. For instance, it gives full supervision of the roads to the supervisor, yet nowhere in this bill does it retract the commission of the former road law which says that members of the Commissioners Court shall inspect the roads, and shall draw compensation therefor. That is only one instance.

Another slip-up comes where the new law says that the salary of the supervisor cannot be charged against the road fund. Now, in both of these instances, if these services are rendered in the interest of the roads, they certainly should be chargeable to the road fund. This is the basic idea of the budget system, upon which our road business is supposed to be carried on. In the case of the salary of commissioners being charged against the roads, this is plainly a case of duplication brought about entirely by poor drawing of the new law, which makes it easily susceptible to any number of different constructions. Let's use a little common sense—If the supervisor is to have the last word as to when and where work is to be done on the roads, then where is the use of the commissioners inspecting roads, when they have no way of getting anything done unless the supervisor first goes and inspects the roads again and decides it must be done? That is child's play—pure and simple. I can't blame the commissioners for not wanting their rights infringed on, but again, why waste more of the county's money in their inspection when they cannot possibly benefit the roads any by it under the existing road law?

If the road department is to be run on a budget, why not make that budget sum take care of ALL road costs? Why charge one item of road costs against the budget, and charge another to some regular county fund? In no other instance is this true. For instance, all charges relating to the courts are paid from the fine and forfeiture fund, I am told. At times it becomes necessary to appropriate certain sums from other funds in order to replenish the fine and forfeiture fund, but after all, the court fund then works within itself, and it is at all times easy to tell just what the legal business of the county is costing by a mere comparison of the receipts and disbursements of the fine and forfeiture fund.

This is not true of the road department's budget. According to the present law and system, some materials are chargeable against the road budget, while others are not. There is one of the roots of the whole trouble, and when a political pressure twist is given these two resultant sets of figures, it is quite easy to get a picture that is the zenith in puzzles.

Another important root of trouble is the power given the supervisor, to hire and fire as he sees fit. Without stating that such has actually happened, (although it is my opinion that it has), I know that here is a golden opportunity for political maneuvering. That should not be! I can think of no way of getting around this bad spot, however, unless it would be the suggestion that the supervisor and the members of the Commissioners Court collaborate in selection of the personnel of the road department. This might not be altogether satisfactory, but it would, at least, allow them some chance to get together, rather than to remain as distant as the poles, as is the case at present.

Until such time as the people may have a chance to speak their minds on the question, (a privilege they have never had), why not let the supervisor and the Commissioners Court "go into a huddle" and at least try to do something to get some road work done? Why not decide on a budget for the roads for each month, and PAY ALL ROAD CHARGES FROM THAT BUDGET SUM? Then there could be no possible way for the figures to fail to balance. Further, why not work together in selecting the road personnel? After all, road work is what we want, isn't it? Do we care how a man votes, so long as he does his work right? Why not make a give-and-take arrangement of it? The Commissioners Court is now holding the money end, while the supervisor holds all the other ends in the road business. Why not try working together for a change? It is true that the people want their money saved, but they want enough of it spent to build some roads, and they are not in the least interested in the political scrap that this whole road business has turned into. Rather, they are becoming most impatient with the childish quibblings which have been the order for a year and a half.

I have been told many times that this is a ticklish question and is best left alone, lest it might cause undue antagonism between one of these factions and The Union-Banner. In that connection, may I say that I consider an open and frank discussion of any matter the best way—in fact the only way—to a final solution. Hence, in any discussion, we choose to discuss it openly, frankly, even bluntly, at times, rather than dodge issues. If it gets on anyone's toes, we can always be sure that we have been honest, and most of the time a fair, honest treatment of any subject is generally respected. So, let the chips fall where they may, we have but one final conclusion to put on this road mess. It is purely and simply an old time political scrap. There are many things which lead me to believe that a satisfactory solution could be reached if this political slant could be forgotten. However, that is a bit hard for politicians and would-be politicians to do—forget their politics for the common good. Therefore, we predict that this old political merry-go-'round will keep on going 'round and 'round, and meanwhile our Chilton County roads break down and go from bad to worse, while our people find themselves the victims of a fight as vicious, as unrelenting as we have ever seen, and with absolutely no regard for the people the principals are professing to serve. But this is only a repetition of the age-old history of politics and politicians. Truly, poor old Chilton could use a Solomon!—Man in the Moon.

The State of Alabama owns 4,221 buildings. The appraised value of these buildings, including contents, is $36,079,850. This property is insured for $27,777,245, against loss by fire. The state itself is carying $18,566,815 of this insurance, and the balance is reinsured in old line companies. The state also carries tornado insurance on this property to the amount of $26,942,690. The total fire losses paid last year were $227,863.74, and the total tornado losses amounted to $8,833.61.

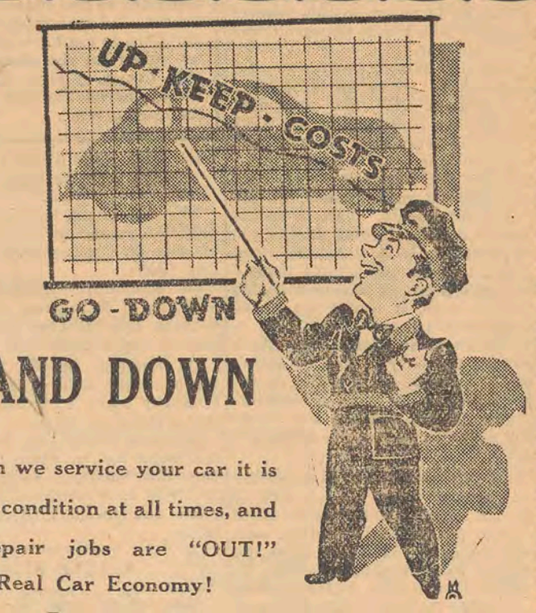
Rev. W. W. Robinson, of Beat 16, was in town on business Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Varnedore of Coral Gables, Fla., are here visiting Mrs. Varnedore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Boockholdt.

According to the Blue Book of Southern Progress the number of manufacturing establishments in the South increased approximately 21 per cent from 1933 through 1935.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!



Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

EXAMINATIONS IN THE ALABAMA UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION COMMISSION

Montgomery, Ala., August 16.—Reglations governing merit examinations in the Alabama unemployment compensation commission announced today by M. H. Harper, chairman, provide that all persons who have resided in Alabama at least two years may take examinations which will be conducted by the advisory committee on personnel under the direct supervision of a supervisor, who will be appointed by the committee.

Dates for the examinations will be fixed by the committee and will be held, according to present plans, in time for the qualification of employes by January 1, when first payment of benefits under the unemployment compensation law will be made.

ICE CREAM SUPPER AT CENTER HILL

On Saturday night, August 28th, there will be an ice cream supper and entertainments of various kinds here. The proceeds will go on the piano fund.

HONOR SCHOLARSHIP TESTS

Birmingham. — With already more than 200 high school graduates having filed their applications to participate in the Honor Scholarship Tests to be given at Birmingham - Southern College, receipt of applications closed last Saturday, August 14, at midnight.

The tests, first of their kind to be given in Alabama, will provide tuition and incidental fees at Birmingham-Southern for the three students who score the highest marks on the tests.

Valued at $1,400, the tests themselves will be based on surrent events, English literature and composition, and are slated to be held at 9:30 August 20, in Munger Hall at Birmingham-Southern.

The student scoring highest will be given a 4-year scholarship to cover tuition and incidental fees for four years.

The student ranking second will receive a 2-year scholarship to cover tuition and incidental fees for two years.

The student scoring third will be awarded a 1-year scholarship to cover tuition and incidental fees for one year.

To enter the tests, an applicant must meet the admission requirements of Birmingham-Southern and must not have completed any college work.

This offer, according to Norman Yielding, chairman of the scholarship committee, is being made to encourage superior high school boys and girls to continue their education at a time when a broader education is so necessary.

CENTER HILL SINGING

We want to begin our afternoon singings again on next Sunday afternoon, August 22. Everybody come and bring someone with you. Also, bring your new books. Feel like you have a personal invitation and be here.

Room and board provided by employers count as wages under the Alabama unemployment compensation law and contributions to the trust fund must be paid on the amount of this item. Prior to January 1, 1938, the unemployment compensation commission will fix the minimum value of room and board. Contributions must be based on the actual value, but in no event can be less than the minimum amount set by the commission.

HURRAH! FOR HUGO BLACK

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper for an expression of thanks and highest appreciation of one of Chilton County's colored youth for the high honor conferred upon Alabama's favorite son and distinguished citizen, by the president of the United States of America, a nation that occupies a front seat upon the platform of enlightenment for the nations of the world. We refer to the appointment of the Hon. Hugo Lafayette Black to the Supreme Court of the United States, which occurred with bare mention of his name for the position.

This tells us that Senator Black, had so distinguished himself as a worthy and able statesman, that he needed no boosting but his characteristics stood out as an isolated peak for the place.

This should be a stimulus to every citizen of Alabama to put forth the most strenuous effort to attain to a degree of highest eminence and proficiency.

It should stimulate new interest in the true education of all our citizenry.

Hurrah! for Senator Black.

Hurrah! for Clay County.

Hurrah! for Alabama.—Julius C. Adams, colored, Verbena, Ala., Rt. 2.

THREE-WAY ROAD PROJECTS

Birmingham, Aug. 14. — Detours have been or will be lifted on 516.4 miles of highway in Alabama during 1937.

These figures were made public by the Highway Progress Department of the Alabama Motorists Association upon the authority of Chief State Highway Engineer H. H. Houk.

Mr. Houk said that the roads were to be given a double bituminous surface. In most cases the roads are located on principal highways in the state. Participation by counties and state provided for 306.8 miles; three-way participation (county, state and federal government) provided for 85.6 miles, while WPA built 10.6 miles; federal aid participation resulted in 76 miles and state construction netted 37 more miles.

Among the highways that have been opened this year appears: Chilton County — 15 miles, between Clanton and Plantersville.

"STAY OUT OF MY CORN!"

This is a warning to people to please quit pulling my corn. I have put up lawful notices, and this has not stopped it. If I catch the one going to my corn field and stealing my corn, they can take what follows. This is the last time I am going to warn the thief who is stealing my corn. Take warning.—J. W. Kelly, Highland community.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Black, of Birmingham, were in Clanton last week end.

If you are one of less than eight employes in Alabama of a foreign corporation you should urge your employer to elect to come under the Alabama unemployment compensation law. In this way only can you get benefits if you lose your job.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION COMMISSION

Montgomery, Ala., August 16.—Alabama's compliance with provisions of the social security law resulted in the expenditure of $2,019,499.45 of federal funds in health, welfare and kindred activities in this state between the time the federal law was enacted late in 1935 and May 31, 1937, according to statistics of the social security board received by the Alabama unemployment compensation commission today.

Old age assistance, under the plan whereby the state and federal governments cooperate in providing funds for aged who are unable to care for themselves, was allocated the largest amount, $789, 533.70, while aid to dependent children, another cooperative program, was given $394,100.26. Public health came third with $340,006.83 and an allocation for administration expenses of the unemployment compensation commission was fourth with $221,794.97. Maternal and child health protection received $146,427.71. Allocations for other activities during the period covered by the report were: Child welfare services, $60,534.66; aid to crippled children, $55,283.82, and aid to the blind, $11,812.50.

Present prospects are that there will be less damage from boll worms and leaf worms during 1937 than during 1936 or 1935. Boll weevils are more numerous in some sections.

FEDERAL TAXES COSTING MOTORISTS MORE IN 1937

Federal taxes on motor fuels and lubricants cost motorists of Alabama a total of $1,063,000 in the first six months of 1937, an increase of 16.8 per cent in cost over the $910,000 federal gasoline and oil tax bill for the first half of 1936, it was reported by Earl M. Hearne, Secretary of the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committees.

"I am reporting these figures so that the motorists of Alabama will know how much federal taxes are costing them in addition to the gasoline sales taxes, registration fees, and other special additional levies they pay the state," said Mr. Hearne. "About 90 per cent of this federal tax bill of $1,063,000 represents federal receipts from the tax on gasoline, which duplicates the gasoline tax levied by this state.

"This is the same tax which was imposed 'temporarily' to help balance the budget about five years ago. This is the tax which the legislatures of about half the states have asked congress to repeal. This is the tax which several congressional committees recommended should be repealed. And this is the tax which was recently extended by the present congress for two more years!

Every gallon of gasoline our people buy is 1 cent more expensive because of this federal gasoline tax. Every gallon of oil they buy is 4c more expensive because of the federal tax on lubricating oil. And where the state gasoline tax is levied to pay for roads, these federal taxes, paid only by highway users, merely feed funds into the federal treasury to be spent generally. These federal taxes are taking money out of this state that better could be used right here at home, and it is time this injustice was ended by the repeal of both of them."

ALABAMA FARMERS WANT SIMPLIFIED AAA PROGRAM

Alabama farmers want a simplified agricultural program that will limit the United States cotton crop to 30,000,000 acres in 1938, according to the opinions expressed at a program-planning meeting held inAuburn August 12-13.

Bases for acreage, yield, and production for 1938 should be the average for the period 1933-37, which should apply to the states, counties, and individual farms, said another recommendation sent by the farmers to AAA officials in Washington.

The farmers also recommend that land drainage be given the same classification as terracing and that proper terrace maintenance be considered a soil-building practice. "Land terracing should be classed as soil conserving for the year in which the terraces are built and for each subsequent year in which the terraces are properly maintained and in which there are no soil-depleting crops planted on the land," said the recommendations.

The feeling among the farmer representatives appeared to be unanimously for simplification of the program for 1938. One proposal considered was for a uniform system for the United States that would set a payment to be earned by an individual farmer by balancing his crop plan along specified limits. Another proposal given consideration was based on an experimental plan now in use in Pulaski County, Arkansas, whereby certain farmers may earn a payment by matching the land diverted from cash crops with conserving crops of practices while other farmers may earn a payment entirely by adoptisg soil conserving practices.

The report carrying all the recommendations has been sent to Washington fro AAA officials to consider in formulating the 1938 program.

"Efforts are being made for details of the 1938 program to be announced by September 15," the AAA representatives told the conference.

The meeting was called by Walter L. Randolph, administrative officer in charge of the Agricultural Conservation Program in Alabama and was attended by 27 farmers from all sections of Alabama.

Soil building practices were carried out on 27,356 acres by Chilton county farmers in complying for soil building practice payments under the 1936 agricultural conservation program, announces J. W. Fant, county agent.

The soil building practice includes the seeding of alfalfa, serecia and kudzu on 12 acres; seeding clover and lespedeza on 139 acres; seeding winter legumes on 4,958 acres; leaving summer legumes on 19,351 acres; plowing summer legumes under green on 233 acres; turning under small grass green on 66 acres plowing under sorghum, sudan grass or millet on 13 acres; establishing pastures on 38 acres of crop land; terracing 499 acres; applying phosphates on 22 acres; applying basic slag on 73 acres; turning under green grasses following vegetables on 29 acres.

In Alabama approved soil building practices were carried out on 1,747,477 acres, says Walter L. Randolph, administrative officer in charge AAA program, Auburn, in reporting as follows:

Winter legumes seeded 209,782 acres, winter legumes turned 135,418 acres; summer legumes left on land 1,018,566 acres; summer legumes plowed under green 34,844 acres; clover and lespedeza seeded on 135,664 acres; alfalfa, serecia and kudzu seeded on 3,334 acres; small grains turned green on 4,585 acres; land terraced 130,982 acres; pastures established on 20,978 acres; forest trees planted 520 acres; limestone applied on 4,460 acres; phosphates applied on 15,532 acres; basic slag applied on 30,944 acres; manganese sulphate applied on 524 acres, green manure crops turned on 493 acres.

In the United States payments were made for soil building practices carried out on approximately 53,000,000 acres of land under the 1936 program, reports H. R. Tolley, administrator in Washington.

RESOLUTION

The Sixth District of the F. E. and C. U. of A. now assembled at Ashby, Ala., Bibb County, July 31, 1937.

Whereas the farmers of this district experienced the working of the former Triple A Bill, which was very unsatisfactory and detrimental to the average farmer; whereas we deem this new Wallace Triple A Bill now pending before Congress as more dangerous than the former Bill, and is a wide stride toward "Dictatorship" in agriculture. Therefore, be it resolved that this convention go on record as opposed to any legislation pertaining to any crop control whatever.—A. E. Frederick, E. P. Frost, Newt Gresham Smith, Resolution Committee, M. R. Douglas, District Secreary.

MRS. RUBY GREEN DIED

On August 1, 1937, God gave a beautiful blue eyed boy to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green. On August 3, God saw fit to take it's mother to that country from whose bourne no travelers return.

At the time of her death she was 17 years of age. She was a member of Friendship Baptist church, and was loved by all who knew her. It was so sad to give her up here on earth, but not as sad as those who have no hope. She was prepared to meet God in peace.

She leaves to mourn her death: Mr. Robert Green, her husband; father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Seals, seven half brothers, one half sister, Mrs. Edwin Lovelady. Her brothers are: Jess, Sid, Lester, Dock and Bud Seals.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. E. H. Littlejohn. She was laid to rest in Mount Olive cemetery. Matthews and Jones were in charge.

Pallbearers were: Harmon Green, Edwin Lovelady, Charlie, Dock, Jess and Erm Seals.

A great array of beautiful flowers bore testimony of the esteem in which she was held. The funeral was attended by many of her sorrowing friends.—Mrs. Sadie Watson.

Mrs. Hugh Simpson, Bill Simpson and Mrs. John Browder spent the week end at Perdido Beach.

Mrs. Vester Curtis (Madelyn Orr) and daughter, Margaret, from Gulfport, Miss., are spending several days with the former's mother, Mrs. M. R Orr.

Paul Marcus, of Mitchell Dam, is reported to be suffering with an attack of fever, either typhoid or malaria He has been brought to the home of his father, P. G. Marcus, in Clanton.

MRS. W. A. WILLIS COMPLIMENTS MISS SARA COLLEY

One of the prettiest affairs of the summer season was a lovely miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. W. A. Willis last Thursday afternoon between the hours of 4 and 6. Mrs. Willis complimented Miss Sara Colley of Troy, who will be married Sunday afternoon to Mr. Reese Mullins of Clanton.

For this occasion the spacious living room was decorated in baskets of pink roses and fern. The color scheme was carried out in the dining room in white, green and orchid flowers. The dining table, which was covered with a pretty white lace cloth, was centered with a crystal bowl of white rosebuds, orchid lilies and fern. At either side white tapers burned in crytal candelabra. Green and white mints in crystal swans tied with white satin ribbons were placed at intervals on the table. Festoons of white tulle were draped from the crystal chandeliers to each corner of the table, where it was caught with corsages of valley lilies. Showered from the chandeliers were satin ribbons tied with valley lilies and fern.

The guests were met at the door by Mrs. J. E. Gowan, who wore a becoming gown of blue crepe romaine. In the receiving line stood the hostess, who was lovely in rochid organza with corsage of orchids and fern.

The bride elect wore a dainty flesh chiffon over taffeta, embroidered in bunches of violets. Her corsage was pink rosebuds.

Mrs. C. Reese Mullins was becomingly gowned in navy sheer with a corsage of violets.

Miss Mary Ellis, who was introduced as a bride elect of the fall, was lovely in a chiffon gown of Windsor blue, trimmed in pink. She wore a shoulder corsage of pink rosebuds.

Miss Elizabeth Fudge, former room mate of the bride elect, wore a gown of blue and white flowered chiffon.

The bride's book was presided over by Mrs. W. B. Mills of Miami, Fla. A crystal bowl of orchid sweet peas with tulle and white ribbons decorated the table where the guests registered in the lovely book.

Assisting in the living room were Mrs. J. W. Hayes, Mrs. Grady Heflin, Mrs. John Mullins, Mrs. Reid Mullins, and Mrs. J. M. Hightower of Sylacauga.

In the hall were Mrs. Horace Davis and Miss Ethel Walker.

Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. J. T. Searcy, Mrs. J. E. Edgar, Misses Margaret Floyd, Ruth Sessions, Evelyn Barrett, Edith Green, and Virginia Cook.

The lovely gifts were displayed in the study, which was effectively decorated in summer flowers. Mrs. H. F. Downs, Mrs. Patterson Hicks, and Mrs. J. M. Shepherd presided here.

During the afternoon beautiful love lyrics were sung by Miss Lois Thompson, Miss Jane McClure, and Mrs. H. T. Stanley. Their accompanists at the piano were Mrs. Percy Pitts, Mrs. Barney Roberts, and Miss Jane Roberts. Mrs. W. L. Longshore of Birmingham rendered several violin solos.

The guests were served block cream and cake, carrying out the color scheme of green and white.

During the afternoon 150 guests registered.

CREEL RE-UNION SUCCESS

The Creel re-union on the first Wednesday in August at Majestic schoolhouse, in Jefferson County, was a complete success. There were nearly 400 kinfolks present, and possibly 1,000 visitors. There were kinfolks there from Kentucky to California. Officers were elected for another year and the meeting next year will be held at the Corner High School, 27 miles north of Birmingham.—J. E. Creel, Secretary-Treasurer.

STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Col. Karl Landgrebe, vice president of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Rail-Road Company, explained the purposes of the newly organized State Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of county directors of the Second Congressional District called by N. Floyd McGowin, vice president of the district at Chapman Thursday morning.

Col. Landgrebe and a number of Birmingham leaders have been making a good will tour of north Alabama, interpreting objectives of the State Chamber to business and professional men in the Tennessee Valley district. They report an enthusiastic response to the plan outlined to bring a better balanced economic life to Alabama.

Other speakers are representing the Alabama Chamber of Commerce in civic meetings planned and being held at Montgomery, Mobile, Selma, Brewton, Talladega, Birmingham, Eufaula, Auburn, Brookwood, Chapman, and Tuscaloosa.

The State Chamber is noting with interest the organizing of new local Chambers of Commerce. The Muscle Shoals Industrial Chamber of Commerce, a local unit at Brewton, the Florala Chamber are new bodies recently beginning operations. Talladega is considering an early start.

The Alabama Press Association began a growing movement when the editors organized several months ago for a campaign to tell the world about Alabama. Their resolutions calling for a central body to lead the effort by collecting and disseminating Alabama facts resulted in the organization of a State Chamber of Commerce, which is being well received in all sections.

With the basic resources Alabama has always had and with a new spirit of organization and state planning better times are ahead, according to Dr. H. G. Dowling, Acting Managing Director of the State Chamber.

Montgomery is becoming a leading livestock market. More than $250,000 worth of cattle and calves, and $30,000 worth of hogs were sold at the Union Stock Yards in Montgomery during July.

LITTLE EVELYN LOWE HONORED AT BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. R. W. Lowe was hostess Monday afternoon, complimenting her little daughter, Evelyn June, on her 7th birthday. Games and contests were enjoyed on the lawn. Then the little guests were taken into the dining room, which was decorated with pink and white flowers. Tiny pink and white streamers hung from the chandelier over the table, in the center of which was a large pink and white cake holding seven candles. Balloons were given as favors. Mickey Mouse cups and cakes were sevred by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. T. M. Dennis, to the following:

Barbara Ann Miller, Mary Lee Gray, Mary Clyde and Billie Mims, Joe Mullins, Jr., Nell Popwell, Connie Mack Connell, Janet Ross, Pauline and Bettie Jo Scarbrough, Melba Popwell, Ina Saxon McCreary, Sally Gowan, Ann Maddox, Donna Blackketter, Ruth and Donald Atchison, Don Dennis, Allen Billingsley, Bobby Joe Chancellor, Edna Jean Thompson, the honoree, and others.

BETHEL NEWS

There will be an all day singing at Bethel church, five miles east of Jones, Ala., on the fifth Sunday, August 29. Everyone is invited to attend this singing, especially quartets.—W. H. Ousley.

IN MEMORY

The death angel visited our community Tuesday night, August 3, and took from our midst one whom we all loved, Mrs. Ruby Annette (Seale) Greene. Her young life meant much to us, and we feel a great loss, but God, in His great will and goodness, needed her in His heavenly kingdom, so He called her home to rest.

Dear loved ones, let's not grieve, but live for the day when we shall all meet again in that eternal home. We miss her here, but we have the memory of her sweet life to beckon us on to the great beyond. God, in His goodness, doeth all things well.—A friend, L. O. Littlejohn.

Mrs. A. S. Prince and Mrs. Irene Rasberry spent Sunday afternoon in Maplesville.

THORSBY SECTION

(Mrs. S. E. Norton, Manager)

Rev. L. L. Stanley and family left Tuesday morning for their vacation.

There will be prayer meeting at the Congregational Church Wednesday evening in the fellowship room of the church.

Services as usual on Sunday. Sunday School at 9:45, worship service at 11 o'clock. This service will be carried on by the young people who attended the conference at Grandview. The different ones will tell what was done at Grandview while there.

On the fifth Sunday while Rev. Stanley is away, Miss Marguerite Davison will occupy the pulpit.

The Boy Scouts will meet on Friday, at the City Hall with Phares Raybon.

The P.-T. A. will meet on Friday afternoon, August 20th, at 3 o'clock, at the public school building. It is urged that all members be present for the election of new officers.

The Lutheran social will be held on Thursday of this week, August 19th, at the home of Mrs. Frank Nelson. It is hoped that all who can will be present.

The Home Demonstration Club will meet on Friday, August 20th, in the evening, at 7:30, at the home of Mrs. T. W. Robinson. One of the principal interests of the evening will be a parcel post office. Sales of things will be five cents for children and ten cents for adults. Articles for both men and women. Refreshments will be served and games will be played. A cordial invitation is given to all. Those who wish to do so, please bring some article for the parcel post.

The Ladies Guild social will be held on Thursday evening, August 26th, on Thorsby Institute campus near the pool. This will be an interesting time. All are invited to attend and enjoy themselves.

Miss Marian Fairbank will leave on Friday for her future home in Pleasant Grove, Tenn. We are very sorry to lose Miss Fairbank from our church and school.

Word comes from Miss Lois Leech of the wonderful trip they have been having in the northwest, going to Portland, Ore.

The trip to Washington which consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Moody, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Howard and Mrs. Anna Phalin, returned to Thorsby last Thursday evening after a 10 days trip to Washington and vicinity. They visited many interesting places, such as Mount Vernon and the Lee home, the Smithsonian Institute where they saw the Lindbergh plane. At the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Henderson, they enjoyed a very pleasant time meeting many old Thorsby friends among whom were: Mr. and Mrs. Walden, nee Mabel Swann, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, nee Harriet Swann, and Harry Swann, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morgan, nee Olga Soberg, the Misses Agnes and Mary Ella Gerald. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Moody, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Howard, Mrs. Anna Phalin and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Cobb were all present at this gathering.

What Irvin S. Cobb Thinks about

This Business of Golf.

OAKLAND, CALIF.—As I sit writing this, I look out where elderly gentlemen, intent on relaxing, may be seen tensing themselves up tighter than a cocked wolf-trap, and then staggering toward the clubhouse with every nerve standing on end and screaming for help and highballs.

I smile at them, for I am one who has given up golf. You might even go so far as to say golf gave me up. I tried and tried, but I never broke a typhoid patient's temperature chart—never got below 102. I spent so much time climbing into sand-traps and out again that people began thinking I was a new kind of hermit, living by preference in bunkers—the old man of the link beds, they'd be calling me next.

Irvin S. Cobb

And I used to slice so far into the rough that, looking for my ball, I penetrated jungles where the foot of man hadn't trod since the early mound builders. That's how I added many rare specimens to my collection of Indian relics.

But the last straw was when a Scotch professional, after morbidly watching my form, told me that at any rate there was one thing about me which was correct—I did have on golf stockings!

Congressional Boldness.

WARNING to pet lovers: If you own guinea pigs or tame rabbits or trained seals or such-like gentle creatures, try to keep the word from them that some of the majority members of the lower branch of congress actually threatened to defy their master's voice.

The senate always has been known as the world's greatest deliberative body—and, week by week and month by month don't those elder statesmen know how to deliberate! But these last few years the house has earned the reputation of being the most docile legislative outfit since Aesop's King Stork ruled over the synod of the frogs.

So should the news ever spread among the lesser creatures, hitherto so placid and biddable, that an example had been set at Washington, there's no telling when the Belgian hares will start rampaging and the singing mice will begin acting up rough and the grubworms will gang against the big old woodpecker.

* * *

Professional Orators.

WE HAVE in Southern California a professional orator who long ago discovered that the most dulcet music on earth was the sound of his own voice. He'll speak anywhere at the drop of the hat and provide the hat.

What's worse, this coast-defender of ours labors under the delusion that, if he shouts at the top of his voice, his eloquence will be all the more forceful. The only way to avoid meeting him at dinner is to eat at an owl wagon. But the other night, at an important banquet, he strangely was missing from the array of speakers at the head table. One guest turned in amazement to his neighbor:

"Where's Blank?" he inquired, naming the absentee.

"Didn't you hear?" answered the other. "He busted a couple of ear drums."

"Whose?" said the first fellow.

Foes of Nazidom.

THE veteran Rabbi Stephen Wise of New York has been reasonably outspoken in his views on Nazi treatment of his own co-religionists and the practitioners of other faiths as well. And one of the most venerable prelates of the Catholic church in Europe, while discussing the same subject, hasn't exactly pulled his punches, either.

So what? A friend just back from abroad tells me that in Berlin he heard a high government officer fiercely denounce these two distinguished men. About the mildest thing the speaker said about them was that both were senile. Somehow or other, the speech wasn't printed in the German papers—maybe by orders from on high.

Well, far be it from this innocent bystander to get into religious arguments and besides I have no first-hand knowledge as to the Christian clergyman's state of health, although, judging by his utterances, there's nothing particularly wrong with his mind. But I do know Rabbi Wise, and, if he's in his dotage, so is Shirley Temple. And I risk the assertion that he would be perfectly willing to have one foot in the grave if he could have the other on Herr Hitler's neck.

and son, Paul, of Summerville, S. C., are visiting Mr. Lefstead and son, Lawrence Jr., of Birmingham, also Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Lefstead and daughter, Patricia, of Columbus, Ga., joined them in their visit on Sunday with the family.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Congregational church met at the church Sunday evening and had a very interesting program, conducted by Miss Ruth Primm. The title of the program was "What's the harm of it?". A Christian Endeavor social was held at Miss Gail Gletty's home last Tuesday night. Everybody had a nice time. A puppet show was conducted by Gail which was enjoyed very much by every one.

Mrs. S. M. Connaster had as her guests last week her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. George Massey and little daughter, Martha Anne, of Hendersonville, N. C., and Z. L. Massey, of Waynesville, N. C.

Mrs. S. M. Connatser and daughters, Cora, Willie, Mary, Louise and her two sons Henry and Ralph, spent Sunday in Birmingham with Mr. and Mrs. William Each and Ruby Connatser. They also attended church while there.

Vines-Massey—

A wedding of much interest to many admiring friends in Thorsby and Clanton and surrounding country was that of Miss Clara Vines of Thorsby and Mr. Z. L. Massey of Waynesville, N. C., which was solemnized on Thursday, August 12, at 9:15 a.m., at the home of the bride's father, Mr. J. L. Vines.

The bridesmaids were Misses Jessie Mims and Mary Carr Mims, friend and niece of the bride. Groomsmen were Mr. Luther Vines of Montgomery, brother of the bride, and Mr. Alton Connatser of Thorsby, cousin of the groom.

Miss Jessie Mims was beautiful in a navy crepe with a corsage of sweet peas and maiden hair fern. Miss Mary Carr Mims was very charming in a crepe with all-over lace, and wore a corsage of orchid sweet peas and fern.

The bride never looked more beautiful and attractive. She wore a lovely costume of navy blue embroidered chiffon over blue taffeta, with accessories to match. Her corsage was of sweet peas and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Daniels and children were the guests of relatives in Clayton last week end. Mrs. Daniels and children remained over for a visit of several weeks with her aunt, Mrs. J. W. Robertson.

Miss Cecile Todd is the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Bowen Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Jones.

Miss Kittye Clyde Austin of Montgomery was a recent guest of friends here.

the nuptial music, and Miss Cora Con-

Miss Mary Louise Reinhardt played natser sang "O Promise Me". She was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. David Vines. Mr. Massey was attended by his brother, Mr. George Massey of Hendersonville, N. C., as best man. A very impressive ring ceremony was performed by Rev. M. I. McLeod, pastor of the Thorsby Baptist church. The living room was beautifully and appropriately decorated for the occasion with cut and pot flowers. The altar was made of fern and pot flowers artistically arranged just back of an arch of English ivy and white altheas.

Miss Vines is a musician, and much accomplished in home making, as well as a very popular teacher, and is favorably known and loved by many of the school children over the county. She is loved by everyone who knew her for her lovely disposition and personality, who are wishing for her a long, happy life.

Mr. Massey is a highly respected citizen and is favorably known as a successful business man. He owns and operates a trailer shop, and is also a contractor.

Those in attendance were the members of the immediate family; Mrs. Lillian Deason and little daughter, Virginia; Mrs. Lum Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Smith; and the Connatser family. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Massey and little daughter, Martha [redacted], Mr. and Mrs. Luther Vines and sons; Miss Rosa Brown o Montgomery; Miss Ruby Connatser of Birmingham; and Mrs. H. T. Scott and sons of Jacksonville, Fla.

The happy couple left immediately after the ceremony, and will visit many places of interest on their way, and will be at home to their friends in their lovely home on Dellwood Road, Waynesville, N. C.

OUR PER CAPITA DEBT

Interesting figures on the per capita of the public debt burden of the United States were cited recently in a statement made public by the National Industrial Conference Board. The statement shows that the gross public debt of the United States on June 30, 1937, the end of the fiscal year, was $436.39 per capita. This figure is based on a total public debt of slightly over 56 billion dollars. As recently as June 30, 1929, the per capita public debt was only $277.23.

Per capita federal debt amounted to $281.63 on June 30, 1937, which may be compared with $129.66 on December 31, 1930, when the lowest point of the post-war period was reached. In the period from 1930 to 1937, when federal debt more than doubled, state and local debt showed only minor changes.

The tremendous deficit incurred by the federal government accounts almost exclusively for the increase in per lapita debt. For the period from January 1, 1931, when the treasury began running a deficit, to June 30, 1937, the net deficit, or gross defict less public debt retirements, exceeded 19½ billion dollars. For the same period the gross deficit was more than 22 billion dollars.

Here are figures worthy of the study of every serious minded citizen of the United States. They indicate that practically all of our tremendous increase in per capita debt during the past six years has been rolled up by the federal government. The experimentation of the New Deal has therefore been an important factor in the upsurge of the public debt. The state and local government in the United States have done fairly well considering the conditions. All of which is interesting in view of the advice local ocicials received early in the first New Deal administration, urging them to follow the example of the federal government, eliminate waste, stress economy, and curtail the public expenditures in the interest of the taxp-paying citizen.

Pedestrians are learning they have some rights in court. The next step will be to get some on the streets.—Omaha World-Herald.

THE PUBLIC DECIDES

When it becomes a question of who wins the labor strikes there may be more than one opinion but there is only one answer as to the deciding factor in such struggles. The public is that factor. The CIO lost its argument with the independent steel companies because it had the opinion of John Q. Public against it. The CIO forces are in retreat for the moment. This does not mean that they are routed, because the leaders of the radical labor organization are planning new battles on other fronts. They are going to have their work cut out for them, however, unless they can swing public opinion to their side of the struggle.

When the strike difficulties started the public was more or less apathetic. It was assumed that if the Supreme Court validated the Wagner Act that much advertised piece of legislation would settle everything. But the struggle got more and more bitter and the Wagner Act failed miserably. CIO leaders made several mistakes in strategy. Among these were interference with the mails, sit-down strikes to prevent those from working who wanted to work, and physical violence.

Officials who tended to favor the CIO did not help the cause of either. In calling out the troops to keep a Pennsylvania factory closed and prevent men from working, Gov. Earle damaged the cause of Mr. Lewis' organization and didn't do any good to his own political future.

When it became apparent that a goodly portion of the independent steel workers wanted to work and were kept out of their jobs by leaders who were more interested in organization politics than in steadier jobs and higher wages, public opinion swung sharply against the over anxious CIO. As a result the position of the steel operators was greatly strengthened and the strikes were finally broken.

This emphasizes the fact that no strike can be won without the support of public opinion. The CIO forces cannot win permanent victory unless they have the people of the country with them. And to line up public good will on their side the CIO leaders will have to make a complete change in tactics. The American people are not opposed to the right to strike when working conditions are such that they justify a collective protest. But they certainly do not favor violence in any form, nor do they believe that men should be deprived of the right to work because a minority of labor leaders desire to strengthen or build up a new organization which can be used for political purposes.

Dumb Dora says the wicked packers have grabbed off about everything, but she is glad they didn't get the Supreme Court.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

Not in a long time has the partisan political situation seemed so chaotic as at present. Prominent Democratic leaders fought and defeated the president in the fight over the Supreme Court in the U. S. Senate. In the solidly Jeffersonian South there is bitter criticism and open hostility to the New Deal. On the other hand in the traditionally Republican West and in rock-ribbed Pennsylvania the "forward lookers" seemed to have gained an edge. Many people are predicting a new alignment, expressing the belief that the old Republican and Democratic parties are no more and that two new organizations will arise.

Such predictions, however, seem a little premature. There may be a new political alignment, but the fact remains that other hurdles are to be crossed before this situation comes about. A congressional election comes next year. If the Republicans lose more seats or at the best barely hold their own, then the move toward a new party will have been accelerated. If, however, the G. O. P. makes sizeable gains in congress, picks up some new senators and governors, then the leaders of the party will doubtless try to stage a real national comeback in 1940. The case of the Democracy is somewhat similar. The New Dealers are in the saddle. But the Jeffersonians are going to make a desperate effort to gain control of the Democratic organization. If they fail then the move toward an amalgamation with the right wing Republicans will be speeded up. But if the Grover Cleveland Democrats win, they will be disposed to go forward on their old political ship, rather than to try a new craft. A great deal, therefore, depends on political developments within the parties themselves during the next two or three years.

The political chaos at this time can be illustrated by the New York mayoralty situation. Party lines in New York City are usually elastic but this year they are stretchier than ever. Take the case of Tammany. It is the regular metropolitan Democratic organization, now out of power and threatened with factional troubles. Sen. Copeland is the candidate for mayor of the old line leaders like Gov. Al Smith. Those favoring Farley control are for Judge J. T. Mahoney for the nomination. Copeland is said to be planning to run in both Democratic and Republican primaries. Over in the Republican camp we have to consider Mayor LaGuardia, nominally regarded as a member of the G. O. P. but in reality a more ardent New Dealer than Judge Mahoney himself. The mayor, it is said, will run on several tickets in which he hopes to get the aid and support of Republicans, New Dealers, Socialists, and labor leaders of various hues and descriptions.

It is evident, therefore, the race for mayor has already gotten out of partisan bounds. Just what will happen before November rolls around nobody can tell. There are interesting possibilities. Suppose, for example, that Sen. Copeland should lose the Democratic nomination, but, in the primary, become the Republican nominee. The mix-up would be a real one. On the other hand, if Mahoney wins the Democratic nomination and runs against LaGuardia, the situation will nat be entirely a pleasant one for Mr. Roosevelt. Judge Mahoney will naturally have the call on his support. Yet he has had no greater supporter in the past four years than Mayor LaGuardia and many of the New Dealers are going to line up for the present mayor regardless of politics. The situation is loaded with dynamite. In New York it generally is.

We've said it before, and we'll say it again—that there is no summertime pleasure surpassing that of sitting down in your yard after a hard day and cooling your bare feet in thick green grass. And what's more, the New Deal hasn't found any way of putting a tax on it, either.—Kansas City Star.

FARMS OPERATED BY CONVICTS

The state has five farms that it is operating with convicts. They are designated as Kilby Prison, Number Four Prison, Spigener Prison, Wetumpka Prison, and Atmore Prison.

These farms last year produced 1,318 bales of cotton, 609 tons of cotton seed, 8 tons of broom corn, 155,000 bushels of corn, 10,600 bushels of cucumbers, 1,465 tons of hay, 35,000 pounds of lima beans, 25,673 bushels of oats, 2,000 pounds of onions, 5,150 bushels of peas, 54,977 bushels of Irish potatoes, 19,200 bushels of sweet potatoes, 84,000 pounds of peanuts, 18,000 pounds of pecans, 10,545 bushels of peaches, 345,000 pounds of rice, 300 bushels of rye, 14,588 bushels of radishes, 58,500 gallons of syrup, and 100 tons of velvet beans.

On these farms beef and hogs are being raised for prison consumption.

Dairy herds are kept at Kilby and Atmore prisons to produce milk for the five main prisons, hotels, hospitals, and the tuberculosis hospital at Wetumpka.

A poultry yard is maintained at Kilby which produces eggs for the prison hotels and hospitals as well as the tuberculosis hospital at Wetumpka.

These farms can hardly be expected to produce a profit when you figure the convict labor at $15 per person per month, even though many of the convicts are aged, crippled or diseased and otherwise incapacitated to do heavy work. However, the Kilby farm showed a net profit of $15,655.91; the Spigener farm showed a net profit of $44,231.45; Atmore farm showed a net expense of $11,018.28; Wetumpka was operated at a net loss of $9,194.48; No. 4 farm, where most of the county convicts are kept, operated at a net loss of $40,311.28.

The farms as a whole were operated at a net loss of $636.64. It will be noted that the heavy loss was at the farm where county convicts were employed.

There are 1,213 cotton goods manufacturing establishments in the United States. Of this number 709 are in the South and 75 are in Alabama. Those in Alabama employed an average of 31,431 wage earners who were paid in 1935, $18,339,000. The value of the products of these Alabama establishments is given at $84,815,000.

A further advance in farm wage rates during the next 12 months is expected by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

JUST FROM SHOULTS

On last Tuesday the writer had the pleasure of being at the home of Charley Smith to enjoy the celebration of the birthday anniversary of our friend, Mr. J. M. Barnett, of Perry County.

Mr. Barnett was 76 years old that day; he is the father of Mrs. Smith. At 11 o'clock all present enjoyed a watermelon cutting. At 12 o'clock a bountiful dinner was spread under a chestnut tree that gave a shade over a space of 444 square yards.

Now here comes the funny part. An old widower 68 years old found the "pullie bone" of a chicken. The question came up as to who was going to pull the bone. Mr. Barnett called his 200-pound widowed daughter around and introduced her to this old 68-year-old widower, who only weighed 120 pounds. After the laughter was over the crowd enjoyed all the good things to eat, the cold drinks and hot coffee. The crowd began swapping jokes and spent the afternoon peaceful and quiet.

The following persons enjoyed the day with this old man: Tom Wallace and family of Randolph, Felix Wallace and family of Lawley, Madison Young and family of Lawley, Joe Cochran and wife of Ashby, Mrs. Ferguson and family of Brent, Wesley Wallace and wife of Randolph, Obie Stewart and wife of Brent, Doley Chatman and family of Lawley, Jim Langford and family of Lawley, Mrs. Reby Hopper and family of Lawley, Mrs. Marcella McFarland and family of Selma, Mrs. Aljene Ferguson of Minter, Mack Moore and family of Plantersville, Mrs. Euell Barnett and children of Sprott, Dewey Langford of Bessemer, Vance Hicks of Lawley, Margie Smith of Plantersville, Charley Smith and family of Lawley, C. T. Walker of Lawley.

Uncle Remus would be glad if all his friends would give a birthday, so he could fatten before he goes to Florida on November 1.—Uncle Remus.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

There was a happy day spent at the home of our father, Mr. E. W. Boyd, August 8th. He was 82 years of age. There were seven children—Mr. G. L. Boyd and family, Mr. A. W. Boyd and family, Mr. W. H. Boyd and family, Mrs. Nettie Dennis and family, Mrs. Mamie Dennis and family, Mrs. Bell Howard and family and Mrs. Patton and family; there were 34 grandchildren, and seven great grand children and a host of friends.

At noon there were a bountiful dinner spread in the yard. The afternoon was spent with jolly conversation and wonderful wishes that he would see another happy birthday as this one.

There are two counties in Alabama that have never had an almshouse. They are Monroe and Winston.

Livingston, Ala. — Four students represent Chilton County at the summer session of Livingston State Teachers College, according to G. N. Sisk, registrar of the college. One of these will be graduated from the two-year normal course at the summer commencement, August 20. A total of 94 students will be graduated at the summer commencement, 76 of which will receive normal diplomas, and 18 will receive the B. S. degree. Commencement exercises will be held at 11 o'clock Friday morning, August 20. A special feature of the graduation exercises will be music by the college glee club and orchestra under the direction of Mrs. L. I. McGriff, head of the music department.

Students from Chilton County are: Mildred Durbin, Tina Hyman, Herman LeCroy, and Mrs. Thomasine D. LeCroy. Mrs. LeCroy will receive a normal diploma.

Some highlights of the summer session are appointment of five new instructors, two of which are Ph. D.'s and department heads; approval by U. S. Weather Bureau of a cooperative weather station under supervision of geography department, State Teachers College; appearance of Sigmund Spaeth, noted "tune detective", and Anton Lang, son of the man who played Christus in Oberammergau Passion Play, on summer entertainment program; Organization of summer dramatic and glee clubs and orchestra; production of Prof. L. A. Osgood's own play, "His Second Marriage"; and appointment of Miss Elizabeth Hoover as Dean of Women.

MUSICAL CONCERT AT SHILOH

There will be a musical concert at Shiloh Baptist church, near Kincheon, on Friday night of this week, August 20th, beginning at 8 o'clock. There will be a free will offering taken.

This concert marks the closing of a three-week's singing school taught at Shiloh by Prof. Audie Brown. The program will consist of class singing, quartets, trios, duets, and solos.

The public is cordially invited.

GAME CONSERVATION NEWS

275,000 Fish Rescued

When Wheeler reservoir on the Tennessee River was lowered nearly eight feet recently so a coffer dam could be constructed at Pickwick Landing, thousands of fish were left stranded in sink holes, sloughs, railroad and highway burrowed pits. It became necessary to rescue these fish and place them back in the reservoir, and the task was accomplished by the TVA biological readjustment unit, State Conservation Department, local sportsmen's clubs, and the TVA health division. A total of 275,000 fish were reclaimed and transferred to the lake. Included were large and small mouth bass, bluegill, rock bass, green sunfish, white crappie, pickerel, dogfish, small mouth buffalo, and black bullhead. Most of the fish ranged in length from two to five inches. A large number of Gambusia minnows were rescued, but no record was kept of these.

Birmingham Wins Cup

The silver challenge cup of the Alabama Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo was won this year by Birmingham for sending the largest number of anglers to the rodeo. The magic city was represented by 25 registered fishermen. Helena, Ark., won the cup for the city outside of Alabama sending the largest number, with 11 contestants.

Montgomery has won the cup twice and Birmingham has won it twice. A three-times winner may keep the cup permanently. The rodeo was held on August 9, 10 and 11 off Dauphin Island in Mobile Bay, and 575 fishermen from Alabama and 19 other states wrestled with the mighty tarpon and other game fish. Seven tarpon were caught, the largest weighing 109 pounds.

Your Credit Rating...

Depends NOT on your social position, but on the manner in which you pay your bills.

Your Social Standing May Be Gilt Edged...

But that is no excuse for abusing the courtesy of credit. You may be well fixed financially, but goods bought on credit carry an obligation and you must meet your obligations when due.

She Was Indignant...

She had received a statement saying, "Past Due — Please Remit!" Of course she had let her account run a little over, she had been out of town for a while, but she was the prominent "Mrs. So and So" of the socially prominent "So and So's". She thought the credit man didn't know this, but the credit man did — it is his business to know. THE BILL WAS OVERDUE — quite a sufficient reason for sending a reminder.

The Credit Rating Guide keeps business and professional men informed at all times as to how you pay your bills. THE PLACE OF RELIGION IN A NATION'S LIFE.

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 25:1, 2, 8, 9; 29:43-46; 40:34-38.

GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord. Ps. 33:12.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Meeting House.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The House of the Lord.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why a Nation Needs Religion.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Place of Religion in a Nation's Life.

The nation of Israel was under the direct government of God—a theocracy as distinguished from a monarchy, or a democracy. God spoke to them through his servant Moses, but his relationship to the people was far more intimate than that of a distant power delivering laws through a representative. God dwelt in the midst of his people, and today we consider how he made provision for a place in which to meet with them, for a holy priesthood to minister before him, and made known his personal presence by a manifestation of his glory.

I. A Place to Meet God (Exod. 25:1, 2, 8, 9; 29:43-46).

Every place of worship, whether the tabernacle in the wilderness, or a church on a busy city street, testifies to the fact that man is indeed "incurably religious." He is a spiritual being, made by God for fellowship with himself. He is never satisfied until he meets God.

The pattern or plan for the tabernacle was given by God (v. 9), and was to be followed in every detail. But note that the people were to make a willing offering of all that was needed for its construction. God gives man the glorious privilege of partnership with him. Shortsighted and foolish is the man who grumbles because the church needs money. A father might just as well grieve because his children outgrow their clothing. Thank God if your church is alive and growing, and be glad for the opportunity to buy it some "new clothes."

Sacrificial gifts and faithful building according to God's plan, brought to completion a place of meeting which God sanctified and accepted.

II. Priests to Minister to God (vv. 44,45).

Note, first, that they were men called of God. Those who stand to minister to him for the people dare not appoint themselves, or seek an appointment by men. They must be "God-called."

They were also sanctified, or ordained, by God. Only as men act in true recognition of God's selection and setting apart of his chosen servants does ordination have real meaning.

Finally, notice that the priests were "to minister to" God. His servants are to serve him, and thus to meet the need of the people for whom they speak. They are "put in trust with the gospel," and therefore to "so . . . speak; not as pleasing men, but God" (I Thess. 2:4). If you have that kind of a pastor, praise God for him, and give him your earnest support and encouragement.

III. The Presence of God (Exod. 29:45, 46; 40:34-38).

He dwelt in the midst of his people. Christians also know what it means to have "God with us," for such is the very meaning of the name "Immanuel" (Isa. 7:14; Matt. 1:23). He it was who as the living Word "became flesh and dwelt among us" (John 1:14).

For our further instruction and blessing let us observe that when God dwelt with his people his glory "filled the tabernacle" (v. 34). Is that true of our churches? Have we so loved God and so fully yielded ourselves and our churches to him that he is free to fill the place with his glory?

The word "abode" in v. 35 is significant. What blessed peace and assurance must have come to Israel when they knew that God had come to abide with them. In this world of transitory things we need such an anchor for the soul—God's abiding presence.

But God's people must move on. There are victories to be won, a promised land to take. So we read that the cloud arose when they were to move forward, and when it was "not taken up, then they journeyed not until the day that it was taken up."

The Psalmist tells us that "the steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord" (Ps. 37:23). I believe it was George Mueller of blessed memory who inserted three words —"and the stops." The man, or the church, or the nation, that trust God, will have both "steps" and "stops" "ordered by the Lord."

Beginning of Eternal Life

Eternal life does not just mean that when our bodies die our souls last on. It means a kind of life which we can begin to live here and now, and which cannot be destroyed by death because it is united with God.—A Day Book of Prayer.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

At Three Hills, a little community in Alberta, Canada, is located the Praire Bible Institute which is one of the most remarkable institutions in the world. The institution was founded October 9, 1922. It is not a large institution and, measured by the standards of the world, it would not be considered "a success," but measured according to God's standards, the Prairie Bible Institute has "accomplished wonders." At this time there are approximately one hundred missionaries in many parts of the world who were trained within the walls of this little instituion. Many institutions in America have great wealth and worldly prestige, but few of them have spiritual power. The institutions that stand for the Word of God and evangelical orthodoxy and the old time religion should have the support and prayers of Christian people throughout the world. As the president of a college that believes in the old time religion and the Gospel of Christ, I congratulate the Prairie Bible Institution and every other institution upon which rests the blessing of Almighty God.

Not many men, even Christians, have real appreciation of true value. It is so easy in this materialistic world to think of values in the terms of the material. We talk of fine buildings, of stocks and bonds, and banks and real estate. These things have little value in comparison with the Gospel and Christian faith. In fact, the material universe has no value apart from the spiritual. That which is material cannot satisfy the soul. All the gold on earth cannot comfort a broken heart. It isn't gold, it is God the world needs. "He is doing fine. He is making a good salary," someone said not long ago about a friend. Men can make good salaries and live lives of failure. "How are the boys?" I asked an old man one day. "My sons are doing well in a business way. I think all of them are saved. I am not especially interested in their financial welfare, but I am greatly interested in their spiritual growth," the old man said. He had the proper idea and the right appreciation of values.

MT CARMEL

The revival closed after a week of real soul stirring messages, and we are thankful to the Lord for this meeting. Six were added to the church; four for baptizsm, which were held Sunday morning.

Prof. Boswell and family of Coopers, were visitors at the B. Y. P. U. Sunday night, August 8th.

There has been so many visitors from other places this week the writer can't name them all. Among them were: Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Foshee and children, of Mars Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rollins, of North Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Seymore, of Billingsley, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Sewell, of Montgomery, and a host of others; its watermelon time you see.

Mrs. S. C. Sewell has returned from a two weeks visit with relatives and friends at the Capital City.

Messrs. Cecil Numany and J. B. Thomas, of Billingsley, were callers at the home of J. D. Sanders the past week end.

Miss Ruby Mae Higgins is spending this week in Montgomery.

Miss Gladys Oden spent the past week end with Miss Lona Cummings, of Isabella.

Mr. Tom Foshee was carried back to the Hospital Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lum Scott spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Silas Oden.

Mr. Marvin Oden and Mr. Charles Shoults, of Shoults, were visitors here Saturday night.

Mrs. Rita Watley and children, were the Sunday visitors of Mr. Crayton Lenoir and family.

STATE EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

Montgomery, Aug. 14. — Business and professional firms interested in employing skilled labor or professional men and women may find suitable employes through the Alabama State Employment Service and the National Reemployment Service, according to J. G. Duncan, Jr., director of the Alabama State Employment Service.

"The prevailing belief that our State Employment offices furnish only common labor and domestic help is erroneous," Duncan said in explaining that each office in the state has in its files applications for employment from many highly skilled workers.

"We have on our lists, ready to be placed with employers who use our service, professional engineers, accountants, stenographers, law clerks, building tradesmen — a wide range of crafts and professions represented among our job seekers.

MRS. MARY A. POPWELL HAD BIRTHDAY RECENTLY

Mrs. Mary Anne Popwell has just celebrated another birthday, making 87 years of joyous life for her interspersed now and then with a bit of the bitter that must come to all of us, of course.

There were nearly 100 relatives and friends who met together at her home Sunday to wish her a happy birthday, as has been the custom for some years.

A very pretty and bountiful dinner was spread on tables under a big oak tree, and the guests served themselves with most anything they might wish to eat.

The following is a list of those present whose names were registered; we hope none were missed: Mrs. Mary A. Popwell, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Popwell and Buddy and Onzelle, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Farley, Leonard Farley, Jr., Willis R. Lowe, Betty Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Miller and Barbara Ann, Janet and Jeanine, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Miller, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Teel and John Durwood, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Crowson, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Teel and Luther, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Henley, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Thompson and Edna Jean, Alfred Baker, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Johnson and Annie Ruth and Edna Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Mims and Ruby, Lois, Josephine, Belvin and Derald, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Lowe and Bernice, Juanita, Edna Ruth and Evelyn, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Jackson and Gladis, Manfor, Juanita and Donald, Raymond Cooper, Miss Lena Popwell, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Teel and Myrtle and Billie, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Popwell and Mary, Ida Mae and William, Mrs. E. A. Thomas, Mrs. G. A. Sharbutt, Mrs. W. A. Crowson and Marie, Richard and Yvonne, Mrs. H. E. Willis, Jesse Teel, Mrs. Beatrice Headley and Hoyt, Mrs. Alfred Popwell and Buddy, Lois and Annie Mae, Juanita Newell, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Henley and family and Mrs. Henley's father, and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Teel and Joe.

Mrs. Popwell said she was sure the Lord was keeping her for some purpose, since she was being privileged to enjoy life so long. We also are sure of that, for she is a blessing, and brings cheer to those about her.

Mr. Briggs Crumpton and family were here last Sunday. Briggs is now working in Bessemer for Drennen Motor Co. He has been in Centreville for the past two years.

Smith Accepts $100 Challenge Of Arledge

Cites Claims Rendered; Asks That Reward Be Placed In Bank, and Promises to Produce Proof

Editor Union-Banner:

The following letter was addressed to T. J. Arledge, Road Supervisor.

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 12, 1937.

Hon. T. J. Arledge,
Road Supervisor,
Clanton, Ala.

Dear Sir:

I wish to file my cleaim for the $100 reward you are offering. Please advise me as to whom I shall present the records in order to collect the money.

Yours very truly,
J. LEE SMITH,
Judge of Probate.

On June 4, 1936, just one month and four days after Mr. Arledge assumed his duties as Road Supervisor of Chilton County, he published an article trying to mislead and prejudice the people against the commissioners. He made the following erroneous statement in The Union-Banner, that "we have a net savings of $49 on each day of operation under the new set-up on the supervision and equipment operators alone, and under the following plan of direct supervision of machine and equipment operations we can expect further savings and more efficient work done for every dollar spent."

On June 11, 1936, I made the following statement through the local papers taken from the records in the probate office which showed instead of the net saving as per Mr. Arledge's statement that it cost the county $295.70 more per month than the last month cost under the old system on above two items. Mr. Arledge has since that date published several articles in the local papers in attempt to mislead the people, to which the commissioners and I have answered in order that the people might be properly informed. I regret that Mr. Arledge has seen fit to slur me and your commissioners and misrepresent the records of the Commissioners Court through the local papers.

On August 5, 1937, the commissioners made the following statement from "the following claims filed by the supervisor and commissioners for clerical, supervision, and inspection of the roads and bridges of our county compared with the amount of common labor which amounts are as follows: For May and June, Supervision, Inspection and Clerical help, $2,582.35. Common labor, $927.05." In order to show you that the above statement is correct I am listing below the claims filed in the Commissioners Court.

Claims Filed For May

Total for May and June ..$2,582.35
Common labor, May & June .$ 927.05

Mr. Arledge would have you believe that the officials you elected are liars, thieves, and are wasting your money, while their honesty and integrity is beyond question.

Mr. Arledge stated that I had made three separate attempts seeking the removal of the supervisor in and through impeachment proceedings. That statement is false. However, after evidence had been presented to the Commissioners Court that the Supervisor had disposed of one of the county's Caterpillar tractors without the authority or knowledge of the Commissioners Court, and contrary to law, and a claim had been filed through his office and the name of J. L. Easterling being forged to same and money drawn out of the treasury of your county for road work when this party had rendered no services on the road as per the claim filed, the Commissioners Court passed a resolution petitioning Hon. Arthur Glover, Judge of Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, to call a special session of the Grand Jury to investigate the above and other matters.

With reference to the two tractors which Mr. Arledge charged the Commissioners Court to deliberately donating $1,750. This statement is not true. These tractors were bought on competitive bids and all bids were recorded in the Minutes of the Commissioners Court and the original bids are on file in the Probrate Office, and are public records. Do you think you can mislead our people and have them believe that the Commissioners are so ignorant as to openly violate the law? Don't you know if your statements were correct that the commissioners or their bonding company would have to pay this $1,750 which you speak of and the other items you referred to? The difference would be charged direct to the commissioners and their bonds.

With reference to the two cases in Circuit Court, I regret it was necessary for the commissioners to file suit against you in order to recover the value of the tractor which you are charged with disposing of and illegal claims filed by your office. Now, Mr. Arledge, with reference to your $100 reward, if you will place this money in the bank you will have the pleasure of paying this reward, as the records will be produced.

Yours very truly,
J. LEE SMITH,
Judge of Probate.

CANE CREEK

Our revival last week was good. The preaching was done by Rev. Thomas, of Birmingham, and our pastor, Rev. Norris. If the sinner doesn't turn to God and be saved it is his own fault, for we have heard the Gospel preached to us. We had three new members to join during the meeting.

Sunday School and B. Y. P. U., are doing fine, but still we have room for an improvement.

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day. At 9 o'clock, we will meet at the pond at Mt. Springs, for the baptising. Then back to the church for Sunday School and preaching; B. Y. P. U. at 7:15.

We are going to have a singing the 5th Sunday afternoon in August, in the new song books. We want to organize a singing society to meet once a month on that day. We have the promise of some good singers to be with us. So come, you are always welcome here.

Rev. Tommie Billingsley will preach for us the 3rd Sunday in September. Come and hear him. We are always glad for visiting preachers to be with us.

Remember our service and come. You are welcome here.

WILLIAMS FAMILY REUNION HELD HERE TUESDAY, 17th

The seven sons and two daughters of Mrs. Leila A. Williams met at the home of T. L. Williams in Clanton Tuesday for a family reunion. Besides T. L., the boys present were: Rev. J. Toy, of China and elsewhere, Rev. J. O. of Nashville, Tenn., T. E. of Athens, J. H. of Montgomery, Rev. H. G. of Tuscaloosa, and J. D. of Tuscaloosa. The girls present were: Mrs. Grace Wood of Lay Dam, and Mrs. Joe Parrish of Norris, Tenn. The families of all the children were present at the gathering. Others present were Mrs. Mattie Williams, and Rev. and Mrs. Gilbert Guffin of New Jersey.

A most enjoyable day was spent. Besides enjoying a bountiful dinner together, a nice program was carried out, appropriate to the occasion and enjoyable to all those present.

RETURNED FROM GEORGIA TRIP

Miss Mary Pearl Griffin has returned after joining her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas, and little son, James Harold, in Birmingham last Wednesday for a week's visit in different parts of Georgia.

Miss Griffin reported that the most interesting of all her sight seeing was at Warm Springs, where she viewed President Roosevelt's "Little White House". She also enjoyed many swimming parties in Warm Springs swimming pool, where the president was cured of infantile paralysis.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Denson of Bessemer were the week end guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Hayes.

Road Supervisor Forced To Stop Work on Roads

Due solely to the acts of Judge Smith and his Court, deliberately directed at the destruction and defeat of an operating unit of our local County government, the Road Supervisor is forced to suspend all road and bridge maintenance work on which he is unable to supervise and direct. This means that the Supervisor can only direct and properly supervise the work of one or two units at the time as it is impossible for one man, himself, alone, to see and direct the work of all units remotely operating in the County.

For the past fifteen months Judge Smith and his Court have made every effort to defeat the purpose of the Road Supervisor Act; he has tried every means in his power to "run" the Supervisor out of office—tried to trade him out by offering to clear up the much-discussed "Tractor Deal" if he would resign; tried to get the Grand Jury to indict the Supervisor; attempted to impeach the Supervisor in his Court; petitioned the Honorable Judge Glover to call a special session of the Grand Jury to seek an indictment and impeachment proceedings against the Supervisor; failing in these efforts his Court attempted the discharge of field supervisory employees who are so essential to the proper performance of work on both bridges and machine operations, and further attempted to discharge the Clerk of the Supervisor, all wantonly directed at the destruction and defeat of the road program coming under the office of the Road Supervisor, or, to so cripple that organization that it would be impossible to properly functtion. They have succeeded to the point that the Supervisor is forced to suspend most of the road operations because of insufficient supervision and no aid in cost-keeping and reporting of such costs and expenditures as required by law.

As everyone knows, the Attorney General ruled, backed by two seperate decisions of the State Supreme Court, that the Commissioner's Court had no authority to either employ or discharge the road employees. Yet, and regardless of this fact, Judge Smith and his Court have withheld and refused payment of wages due these employees for their services rendered to Chilton County in their respective positions. Some of these wages have been due since May 1, 1937. Why is this payment refused? His Court say these are "unnecessary employees." If that is true why has the County been paying the Commissioners, four of them, for doing the same work all of these years? Also, if so "unnecessary," why have they done everything in their power, and gone to every means to force the Supervisor to employ these same Commissioners as supervisory aids? All of you know these Commissioners are not experienced and qualified construction men! They have never been trained one iota in such practices of work. You have only to look at the waste which has accompanied their efforts on the roads, or work done under their direction. Yes, I mean WASTE. What about all that corrugated iron culvert pipe that has been bought throughout these years, Thousands upon thousands of feet have been bought at around an average price of $1.50 per foot. What has happened to it? Go on any road in the County—into any district and you will find this valuable pipe cut, mashed and twisted, all out of shape, scattered throughout the County. Why? All because of improper training in the placement of such pipe must be sufficiently buried and covered to prevent it coming in contact with hard tired wheels of the traffic it was supposed to carry. What is the normal life of such pipe? About a huundred years when properly placed and protected by those in charge of such work. What about the kind of bridges that were built under such supervision? Excepting a few that were errected by contract, by those experienced in such erecting work, there was not a bridge in Chilton County safe for more than five tons. And as you all know there was no method in building such bridges; they were just thrown together, the type mostly used being that obsolete "hump" or "turtle-back" you are all so familiar with, and I expect, have had the very life jarred out of you when you hit them too fast or faster than a walk. Note the type now being used under the Supervisor! Do you find anymore of the "turtle-backs" among the hundreds he has errected? Do you know of one that will not take the load of the heaviest tractor in the County? When he came here tractors and graders had to go around practically every bridge and there are still several left which will not take such loads. Yet, some people are asking that the work be given back to the Commissioners; these Commissioners have themselves, made every effort to get the place of district foremen and with that aim in mind have refused to pay the road foremen now employed and as a result of this denial of wages earned, these men are forced to leave the service of the County in which they are living and paying part of the taxes that maintain our County Government.

The law says: "The Road Supervisor shall not employ any person related to himself or any official of Chilton County, Alabama, by blood or marriage within the second degree." This is very evident he cannot employ the official himself even though that official was the most qualified person in the County. So that ends that.

Therefore, and until the supervisory employees of the road department and the supervisor's clerk have received their wages earned in their respective positions, and some definite assurance is had that such employees will be able to receive payment for any future service to the County, all road and bridge maintenance operations will be suspended except those which can be carried on under the personal direction of the Road Supervisor. Everyone knows that work cannot proceed in any sort of efficient manner without adequate direction. The Supervisor will be found in his office only in the evenings after seven p. m.—Signed: J. Thomas Arledge.

MARTIN MEMORIAL SERVICES TO BE HELD FIFTH SUNDAY

The annual memorial services for old Bethesda church, memorial to the late Rev. D. S. Martin, will be held at that place near Equarlity in Coosa county the fifth Sunday in August, according to announcement released by J. Mell Martin of Clanton. Services similar to those of the past will be held this year.

VISITING FROM COLORADO

Mrs. J. J. Pickens (Ruby Downs), daughter, Rosemary, and son, Mike, of Denver, Colo., are spending a month with the former's mother and father, Mrs. and Mr. J. B. Downs. Friends in Clanton and Chilton County will be glad to learn that the Pickenses, including J. J., who did not make the trip back home, are all doing fine.

SIT-DOWN STRIKE

At this time Doctor Keller, State Superintendent of Education, is proudly mounting rostrums throughout the state and in substance threatening a teachers sit-down strike unless more money is coughed up for schools. This, notwithstanding multiplied millions beyond the wildest dreams of any administration previous have poured into the state treasury.

It seems there is no way of satisfying this tax eating oligarchy, and that there is no point beyond which they cease gouging the last penny from an already over tax ridden people. Should not common sense thinking direct their course to the bulging treasury of Goat Hill? Most of the new taxes were levied in the name of education. But this is not their plan.

Obviosly the stage is being set, the propaganda disseminated, the predicate laid, and all things made ready for another onslaught and tax ingathering when the next legislature convenes. This planned raid may come in this administration, but if not, certainly the first act of the next.

Because efforts of all the conservative elements were whipped by this administration through means fair or foul, and a sales tax and a lot of other vicious taxes levied despite promises to the contrary, some of our good citizens have become discouraged, thrown their hands up, saying, what's the use? But what of the spirit of our sturdy forefathers? They fought, and let us continue to fight for our just cause. Right is mighty, and must ultimately prevail.

The patriotic Citizens - Taxpayers Association of Alabama, with Hon. Jeff P. Beeland as president, has been set up for the purpose of thwarting the designs of greedy tax-wasting politicians. This organization has great possibilities for accomplishing a lasting good. It is a necessity just as opposing parties are a necessity for more efficient government.

This association is now carrying on in the interest of taxpayers. It will become just as strong and just as effective as the citizens of Alabama choose to make it. Members, money in moderation as a matter of course, and service are indispensable to its functioning. The organization is yours, the challenge is to you; the call has been made.

Lord Nelson to his soldiers before the battle of Trafalgar, said: "England this day expects every man to do his duty." Paraphrasing: Beeland and his board of 100 directors are at this time expecting every patriotic Alabamian to do his duty.—By N. Lawson Walner, President of Alabama Independent Merchants Association.

VISITED AT WASHINGTON D. C.

Miss Ethel Gentry, of Troy, Ala., and her mother, Mrs. Emma Gentry, of Mt. Creek, have just returned from a pleasant visit to their cousins, Mrs. Lucian Day, of Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Herbst, of Yeadon, Penn.

The most interesting places they visited were the Museum and Liberty Hall at Philadelphia, Penn., and Mt. Vernon, and the east room of the White House at Washington D. C.

VOLUME 45.—TEN PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 26, 1937 NUMBER 19

Big Subscription Drive Launched

Hundreds Of Dollars In Cash And Automobile To Be Given Away By The Union - Banner

Chevrolet Coach As First Prize; Everybody Wins, An Auto, A Cash Prize or Commission In "Union-Banner In Every Home" Drive; Costs Nothing To Enter

"A Union-Banner in every home in Clanton and surrounding territory." Rather ambitious, we'll admit, but read on.

Next Saturday, August 28, we will officially open the big Union-Banner circulation campaign, presenting a dazzling array of an automobiie and cash prizes in return for a little honest effort and enterprise ni securing subscriptions for your home-town newspaper.

Elsewhere in this issue you will find a page of interesting announcement, which describes in detail the purpose of this campaign and the prizes, rules and regulations, and the methods of making the awards.

Positively the most stupendous automobile and cash gift campaign ever conducted in this section of Chilton County, and as stated above, the purpose of this whole gigantic gift distribution is the placing of The Union-Banner in every home in this territory.

Valuable Prizes

The winner of the grand capital prize will be awarded a Chevrolet coach valued at $730, and the winner of the second grand prize will be awarded $200 in cash. To attempt to describe this wonderful automobile would be futile, but sufficient to say, it is the very latest thing in motor car design, and backed by one of the best companies engaged in the manufacture of automobiles today.

To the winner of the third prize will be given $100 in cash; fourth, $75 in cash, and fifth, $50. All other candidates who have remained active according to the rules of the campaign will receive 20 per cent cash commission on each dollar they have turned in.

There will be no red tape, and the prizes will be distributed just as announced.

Any reputable man, woman or child, boy or girl, married or single, living in this vicinity is eligible to enter and win one of the gifts. It is not necessary that the entrants in the contest be subscribers to The Union-Banner. An active contestant is assured of at least the cash commission.

There is no cost of entering the campaign and anybody except a paid employe of the paper or a blood relation can enter. Children under 16 years of age will be allowed to enter if they have the consent of their parents.

Interest Should Be Great

The liberality of this offer is expected to create interest and there should be many entrants. The fact that all contestants will profit, and the ease with which anyone can win the biggest prize—just a little earnest effort in vote getting during the spare moments of the day will do it. The car selected is expected to attract workers from every section of the territory which The Union-Banner serves. Anyone should be proud to own this car. Anyone certainly can use the sums of cash that will be distributed to those who do not win one of the prizes.

To be a candidate is easy, and to win even the biggest prize is just as easy, if you apply yourself during your spare time. Elsewhere in this issue will be found an entry blank, which, properly filled out and mailed or brought to campaign headquarters at The Union-Banner office will start you with 10,000 votes. Additional votes can be obtained in two ways, by clipping the free vote coupons which will appear in The Union-Banner, and by getting new or renewal subscriptions to the paper.

Votes are issued in large amounts at the beginning for subscriptions according to the length, whether old or new. Further information can be found in the announcement appearing in this issue and it makes no difference where a worker resides as far as his or her chances of winning the biggest gift are concerned.

The campaign is to be a very short one considering the number and the value of the prizes which are to be distributed, and under no condition will the contest continue after the date advertised. At the close of the campaign the judges will gather and tabulate the votes and announce the winners. At that time someone who has applied his or her spare time profitably will drive away in a luxurious car and the other winners will also receive the cash prizes and awards that their work has merited.

Friends Help Candidates

Persons who have never taken part in a campaign of this magnitude are unable to realize how rapidly the start is made. Votes pile up like magic in the beginning. It is not expected that workers will depend entirely upon their own efforts, as friends will help them to gather votes, and what a merry pastime it will be with bountiful rewards in the end. Remember, there is a prize for every active participant. The plan is a compettitive one and will be on a strictly business basis. The bigger your efforts, the bigger your prize.

Turn now to the announcement in this issue and see for yourself the unprecedented opportunity that is being placed before you, and get an early start for one of the big prizes by sending in your nomination or that of a friend. Do it today. Turn your spare time into the merry pastime of making money.

Campaign office of The Union-Banner will be open each evening until 6:00 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Heflin and family returned last week from their vacation spent in Washington and other points up east. Mr. Heflin is on crutches, having sustained a sprained ankle in the nation's capital.

Mayor Jones Writes About City Affairs

It is doubtful now we will get assistance from the government to pave our streets and extend the water mains to the new additions. Our applications have been approved by all departments at Washington, and it is yet possible the money will be allotted to us. I could go into detail and explain the entire situation, but that is unnecessary. I would like however for the people to understand that it cost, I think, nearly 30 per cent more to do work under government supervision, and this amount of money donated by the government is lost so far as direct benefit to the city. Any amount given by the government in excess of 30 per cent is a saving to the city in the cost. In other words, I can take $2 of our own money without government control and accomplish as much, or more work, than can be done with $3 of government money used under government regulation.

We must increase our water supply, and when the water problem is solved and we have ample water for all our needs, then I shall ask the city council and the people to cooperate with me in a plan to pave our streets without government aid unless the government finally gives us the 45 per cent of the cost as promised.

There is not a person within the corporate limits of Clanton, whether property is owned or not, that will not be benefited by paved streets. It is perfectly true that paved streets increases the value of property and places it more in demand for rent, and one who wishes to build a home prefers to buy a lot on a paved street. You who doubt this statement just drive out on 4th avenue, or better known as Selma Highway.

But why should a property owner furnish the entire public a paved street to use without cost to the public? I say it is not fair for the owner of the property to pay all the cost, and at the proper time I shall ask the council and the people to approve my proposition to pave the streets on a three-way plan. Let the city pay one third of the cost and the owners of property pay one third each.

In fact it might be nearer right to charge half to the city and one fourth to each property owner. Under this plan every person who pays a fine for any law violation, or pays any money to the city for any reason, will help pay the cost of paving the streets which they use continuously. Another worthy consideration connected with this plan is that it does not place a large debt against widows, or other people who are not able to pay the entire cost of paving. I am opposed to the law or the rule which allows an assessment so large to be placed against property for public improvement that the owner cannot possibly pay, and is forced to sacrifice the property. Later I shall submit to you the approximate cost of the paving, but I do not consider it wise to begin this work during the winter months. Any way the water problem must be taken care of first after which, we hope to pave the streets.

EVANGELIST COOPER IS DOING FINE PREACHING

Mr. L. J. Cooper, the evangelist from Grand Rapids, Mirh., is doing some real, old-time preaching at the tent west of the railroad. His preaching is not so popular among the people from some quarters, but no one has yet accused him of not preaching the plain gospel and proclaiming the truth.

This country needs more fearless men like Mr. Cooper, and Clanton needs a double portion of such preaching as he is doing. The Christians here need a re-awakening and the ungodly need to be shown the light. If you have not heard him, make it a point to visit the tent before the meeting closes next Sunday or Sunday night.

DR. SMALLEY DIED

Dr. W. J. Smalley, age 60 years, died Monday morning at his home on Deatsville Route 1, near Marbury. Burial was Wednesday in Montgomery, Martin and Sons of Clanton in charge. Dr. Smalley was a native of the State of Kentucky.

FIFTH GENERATION REACHED

On Monday, August 22nd, a baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Marshal Mims of Providence, Beat 16. Mrs. Mims, before her marriage, was Miss Vera Bates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Bates, also of Providence community. Archie Bates is a grand son of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Robinson of the same community.

The little new comer, if we figure it correctly, is the great-great-grandchild of Uncle Riley and Aunt Vil, and makes the fifth generation—all living.

BABY BOY BORN

On last Friday night a baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Martin. Mrs. Martin is said to be recovering nicely, but it is feared that the little one will not be able to survive.

SEASON'S LAST NEGRO BASEBALL GAME HERE NEXT TUESDAY

The Clanton negro team, known as the Clanton Black Sox, will play its last game of the season here at the high school park next Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The opposition will be the team from Woodward Iron Works, Birmingham. The Clanton management expects his to be one of the best games of the season.

METHODIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Methodist Missionary Society begins its fall mission study class on Monday, August 30, at 3:30 p.m., in the ladies' parlor of the Methodist church. The book to be studied is "Out Africa", by Ross. The women are working for council credits. There will be three other sesions of the class—September 13, Septermber 20, and September 27.

The circle chairmen who will assist Mrs. Truett in the study are Mesdames Searcy, Macy Jones, and Joe Mullins.

Did you know that there is something new always coming out of Africa? Will you come and help this to be the biggest and best study that Clanton has ever had?

WEEK'S SCHEDULE FOR LAY DAM BASEBALL CLUB

Lay Dam's Kilowatts were to play four games during this week:

The schedule called for a game with Tallassee at Tallassee on Wednesday.

Tallassee comes to Clanton for a return game on Thursday (today) to be played here in Clanton at the high school park.

On Saturday the Kilowatts meet the West End (Birmingham) team here at Clanton.

On Sunday a game will be played, as usual, at Lay Dam. The Kilowatt management was negotiating with two teams, Homewood and Birmingham Paper Co., and neither had closed for a game, although the Lay Dam manager was assured that he would have one of he two teams on deck.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. D. M. Weathers; one brother, John Mims; and 15 grandchildren.

PREACHING AT A. BUSSEY'S HOME

Friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bussey are invited to their home on next Sunday, August 29, for preaching service. We expect to have Bro. Maurice Hodgens, Bro. Dewey Robinson and others there. So come prepared to spend the whole day, and let's try to make it an enjoyable day for these good old people. They are both feeble and not able to attend church, so the church should come to visit them.—Ernest Jones.

HOME-COMING

Last Sunday, August 22, there was a home coming at Verbena Methodist Church. Rev. J. E. McCann, who preached at Verbena 35 years ago, delivered a fine sermon to a large audience. His famous daughter, Christine McCann, played two violin solos with her own accompanist from the Women's College in Montgomery. A bountiful dinner was spread on the ground.

SHAW-WATSON REUNION

The annual reunion of the Shaw and Watson families will be held on September 5, 1937, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Cobb, Jemison R 1. All relatives and descendants of the families are urged to bring a basket lunch and attend, and help make it a day of pleasure. Refreshments will be served throughout the day, and a number of quartets will be heard.

FARLEYS VISITED NASHVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Farley and son, Leonard Jr., of Birmingham, made a week end trip to Nashville, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bob Randall. They were accompanied by their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Farley, of Clanton.

Mr. Farley reports mighty fine corn crops along the route in Tennessee. In some places it isn't so good, but the largest part of it is.

The Farleys had a very pleasant trip.

KINDERGARTEN TO OPEN SOON

Mrs. L. C. Ross will open her kindergarten on September 10th. Those wishing to enroll in either the first grade or the kindergarten will please get in touch with her.

CONNELL BABY DIED

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jodie R. Connell, of Refuge community, died Tuesday night, after an illness of several days.

Burial was at Refuge at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

CORN THIRTEEN FEET HIGH

There was brought in to The Union-Banner office one day last week two stalks of corn thirteen feet high. Both the stalks held seventeen ears of corn. It was brought in by Mr. E. E. Plier on Route 1, Higgins Ferry Road, and was raised on his farm. Mr. Plier stated that he had lots of corn of about the same proportion as the samples left with The Banner.

T. L. HUGHES IS BACK ON THE THE JOB AS WATCH MAN

The many friends of Mr. T. L. Hughes will be pleased to learn that he is back on the job at the same location—at the rear of A. & P. grocery store, on the highway. Mr. Hughes has purchased all of the equipment in the place and will operate the business all by himself in the future.

In an advertisement in this week's Union-Banner Mr. Hughes says: "I use genuine material in all of my work, and guarantee it. I will tell you the truth and treat you honestly in all my dealings. I want to do your watch repairing."

Mr. Hughes has been repairing watches for the past ten or twelve years. He has been in Clanton for more than a year, and he has made a success of his trade all the while. He wants to keep all of his old friends and make new ones if possible.

SPANISH OPEN AIR FIESTA IN BIRMINGHAM SEPTEMBER 21

"The Spanish Open Air Fiesta," to be presented at Legion Field, Birmingham, September 21, will be a gala event and the entire city is cooperating with the Birmingham Civic Opera Association to launch an open air season, which has proven so successful in ohter cities, including Cincinnati, Chicago, and St. Louis.

A colorful parade will be held on the morning of the festive day in which the cast of the opera "Carmen" will participate. More than 100 members of the Mystic Order of tne Shrine, 75 members of the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps will form the band and escort to the carriage drawn by white horses in which Carmen will be seated. Several of the best bands of the city will take part in the parade as well as many gaily decorated automobiles and carriages, bearing beautiful senoritas, costumed ballets, and other members of the cast.

NEW SALEM

There will be a call conference on the fifth Sunday in August for the purpose of going into the choice of a pastor for the coming year. We insist that all members of the church be present on that day, as there are important matters to be attended to.—New Salem Baptist church.

DEVAUGHN HAVING A SPLENDID SINGING SCHOOL AT SYLACAUGA

Word from Prof. W. M. Devaughn, at Sylacauga, says that he is having a real singing school at Sylacauga. He has been over there for three and a half weeks, and has contracted for another week. He originally went there to teach two weeks, but the school was so good that he has been retained for a longer period.

Prof. Devaughn teachers two sessions each day in the city of Sylacauga—one at 8:00 a.m., and one at 2:30 p.m. Also, he goes out in the country six miles and teaches a class from 7:30 until 9:30. Prof. Devaughn adds: "So you see. I am a very busy man right now."

This is Prof. Devaughn's fifth year to teach at Sylacauga, and he says that it is the best school he has ever taught. He concludes his letter by saying: "Am receiving my Banner, and am glad to get it—I mean I am."

Clanton and Chilton County are proud of W. M. Devaughn. He is a most talented singer, teacher, and composer, and he is a good man with it.

SNAKE FAMILY OF 44

Mr. H. J. Taylor of Coopers comes forth with the prize snake story of the year, so far. Mr. Taylor says he wouldn't even tell this one if he didn't have several witnesses to prove it by. The story runs like this:

Last Friday an employe at Mr. Taylor's gin was standing on the cotton platform when he noticed a large water moccasin waddling along near by. He killed the snake, and out of curiosity as to what caused its great size, began mashing it. He mashed out a total of 44 little 10-inch moccasins just big enough to strike, according to Mr. Taylor.

Now, if you have a better snake story—let's have it!

MR. STEWART WELL PLEASED WITH FLOUR SALE AT HILL'S

Mr. L. J. Stewart, manager of the Hill store in Clanton, says that he had good response to the flour introductory sale which he has been conducting for the past several days. Mr. Stewart wishes to thank his friends and customers for helping him put the proposition over, which he is thoroughly satisfied with. He assures all that he will appreciate their patronage when they need groceries.

Woman Is Fatally Injured By Truck

Howard Melton Held For Questioning In Hit-And-Run Case

Mrs. Lillian Holsemback, of Thorsby, age 30, was instantly killed Tuesday night about 9:30, when struck by a lumber truck on the Birmingham highway about four miles north of Clanton.

State Highway Patrolman Wallace Waites said he was holding Howard Melton, son of Gip Melton, pending the outcome of an investigation he and officers Earl Leary and Arthur Willis were making.

Mrs. Holsemback and a companion, Clary Burnett, were walking along the highway, Waites said, when they met two trucks approaching them abreast. One of the trucks hit the woman, throwing her from the road, and continued without stopping, according to Waites.

Martins & Sons sent an ambulance to the scene and brought the body to Clanton and prepared it for burial.

Melton was questioned in Clanton a short time later by officers, and Patrolman Waites said Melton told them he remembered seeing the couple on the highway, and dodged them. He denied knowing anyone had been hit, the officer declared.

Melton's truck had one light, Waites said. According to the officers, the truck front passed the couple, but the woman was killed by the load of lumber which crashed into her head.

CHILTON COUNTY IS GOING TO HAVE A FAIR THIS FALL

Date Has Been Set For September 28th To October 2nd. Many Prizes Offered

Much has been said during the past year or more about a country fair for the farmers and citizens of Chilton County. Well, we are going to have it.

The Clanton Kiwanis Club, through its public affairs committee, in conjunction with the county agent and home agent, have made all the initial arrangements for the exhibitions, tents to house the same, free attractions—in fact, everything that goes to make up a country fair.

The Littlejohn Fair Circuit, Mr. Thomas P. Littlejohn, of Troy, manager, will co-operate with the local sponsors in putting over the fair. Mr. Littlejohn has had several years experience in this kind of work, and he can be depended upon to take ample care of his end of the game.

A definite site has not been selected, but one will be chosen within a few days. It will be some place close in to the city and easily accessible.

Mr. J. W. Fant, county agent, has been selected as fair chairman of the Kiwanis Club, and Mr. J. Mell Martin is fair secretary. All interested parties should get in touch with one of these gentlemen regarding exhibits, displays, Etc. Prizes will be offered for exhibits and displays ranging as high as fifty dollars.

There will be regular midway attractions every day and night, free exhibitions, Etc.

One day will be devoted to school children, there will be a wedding night, American Legion day and Farmers' day. There will be home demonstration work displays, live stock shows, community booths, Etc.

The full co-operation of the farmers of Chilton county is urged for this fair. Its success depends on the co-operation the sponsors are accorded by the farmers of the county. It can be made of immense value to the agricultural interests of the county, and it is hoped that no one will withhold his or her influence in making the undertaking a stupendous success.

STOP IT WITH
Alka-Seltzer

Does Headache "slow you down?" You are a rare exception it it does not.

One or two tablets of ALKA-SELTZER in a glass of water makes a pleasant alkalizing solution that usually brings relief in just a few minutes.

ALKA-SELTZER is also recommended for Gas on Stomach, "Morning After", Acid Indigestion, Colds, and Muscular Pains.

You will like the tangy flavor and the results when you take Alka-Seltzer. Alka-Seltzer, when dissolved in water, contains an analgesic, (Sodium Acetyl-Salicylate). In addition, the alkalizing agents in Alka-Seltzer help to relieve those everyday disorders associated with hyperacidity.

University News

"There can be no greater challenge to mankind, there can be nothing more sublime than a dedication of ourselves to the cause of humanity and to the bringing in of an ideal social order," Dr. Gladstone Yeuell, head of the department of secondary education in the University of Alabama, told the 1937 summer graduating classes at the Capstone Friday evening.

More than 175 students received bachelor's and master's degrees conferred by President Richard Clarke Foster. The Rev. Mr. Horace Williams of Calvary Baptist church, Tuscaloosa, conducted hte devotionals. John B. White, Brooklyn, N. Y., rendered violin numbers, accompanied by Paul Newell of Tuscaloosa.

Discussing the tools by which the ultimate plan of the world may be fashioned, Dr. Yeuell sait that in his opinion history and experience point the way.

"On the one hand there is the thing we have called mind. Man may, or may not, be a duality, but social orders and civilizations as we know them are the resultants of human cerebration. It is the one and only realm in which we humans are supreme. The brute creation taken as a whole can surpass us in every other respect.

"The second tool of which we speak is that of good will toward men. A lack of this in the final analysis probably caused the downfall of most civilizations in the past and may lead easily to the destruction of our own. Can we learn enough and love enough in time to save our own social order and help usher in a better one? In the pursuit of those two objectives, it seems to me, we shall find uorselves and our lives will have meaning. If you have not already grasped the idea, the time will come, I think, when you will realize that it is not enough just to live. Real living means dedication to something greater than ourselves."

The degree of Bachelor of Laws was conferred upon 12 students who completed all requirements for the degree at the end of the regular summer session of the law school several weeks ago. Because of the fact that state bar examinations are now being given later than usual in the summer, no special graduation exercises were held as in a number of summers past.

The new barristers at law include: Edward R. Carter, Jr., Florence; Geo. Downing, Gordo; Tullis Easterling, Clio; George Gallion, Birmingham; Mortimer Jordan, Birmingham; George Kaplan, Tuscaloosa; William McGowin, Chapman; Richard Riley, Birminged); Henry Wallack, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Willard Hodges, Jr., Odenville; and Thomas McMillan, Brewton.

All candidates for degrees with the exception of the law graduates were announced earlier this week.

The list of candidates for degrees included:

Master of Arts degree: Oliver Bratton, Jemison.

Bachelor of Arts degree: Joseph Moore, Clanton.

B. S. in Education: Mary Thomas, Clanton.

MAN IN THE MOON

JIM FARLEY'S SPEECH

I heard "Baldy Jim" Farley last Friday night, by radio, when he made his pep speech to the Young Democrats in national convention in Indianapolis. Jim is not the arrogant, presumptive, prophesying, offensive campaigner that he was a year ago, but has switched to the defensive in an attempt to defend the actions of his lord and master, Mr. Roosevelt, against the unpleasant reaction that has come over the people of the nation, inevitably, as a result of the dictatorial acts of the president. Jim is second only to the president in the line of speaking; he is a past master on the stump, and a spellbinder extraordinary, and his talents merit a higher objective. But some of his statements strayed so far from the bare truth that it must have been quite apparent to even members of his audience, any of whom, no doubt, would have been glad to believe every word of it, if they hadn't known better.

Jim made the welkin ring in praise of "Boss" Roosevelt. Nothing he has ever done, according to Farley, was wrong in any degree—everything was perfect. He even praised the Republican congressmen for sticking to their guns and bucking the president in his high-handed actions, stating that they had cause for such action, and to try to "obstruct" the president's program, but how he did rake over the coals those Democratic members of congress who dared cling to their own conviction, speak their own minds and refuse to be dictated to. Jim has not been able to manage his underlings so well of late, you know, and it has gotten under his hide a bit.

Jim booed the report that there is a split in the national Democratic party. Here is where his listeners must have looked at the floor and hunted for a knot hole to go through. Day by day reports come in from all quarters, including some of the best informed Democrats, that there will be "reprisals", that is, the president will punish those congressmen for opposing his measures, when they come up for election next year, and that this will cause many political sores that will be slow in healing, with very little likelihood of the factions getting together in time to close the split. The Democrats, themselves, are saying all this, yet Mr. Farley says it is all the bunk. He said Friday night that the president is as solid with the people and as dearly beloved by them as he was in 1936, when he carried 46 of the 48 states. Mr. Farley made that statement, yet he failed to mention the recent dog fight over the Supreme Court measure; he did not mention the misgivings many Democratic senators voiced when they passed the Black-Connery wages and hours bill; he did not mention the antagonism that he has brought about by his partial backing of John L. Lewis and his CIO radicals, nor the scoring he got from Lewis when the president read the trend of public sentiment and would not follow Lewis to the bitter end, fearing for his political fortunes. Yes, he commended the bunch of Young Democrats assembled in national convention, but he took especial care not to mention that wing of that same organization of Young Democrats, with representatives in almost every state in the Union, who have rebelled against what they, themselves, call the president's "radical and dictatorial attitude and measures against the Jeffersonian idea of democracy and the time-tried Constitution of the United States." Oh no, he didn't mention any of that. No doubt he smiled benignly as he said, "the president is as solid with, and as dearly beloved by the American people as he was in 1936, and they will follow him through thick and thin". But deep down in his old calloused heart, gizzard, or whatever he uses for a heart, Jim Farley knew he was misstating the facts, but the biggest thing of it all was, his listeners in the hall where he spoke, as well as all those in radio land, knew the statement was false, and that Jim knew it was false when he made it.

ALABAMA'S NEW SENATOR

Last week Gov. Bibb Graves appointed his wife, Mrs. Dixie Bibb Graves, to fill the vacancy in the senate caused by the appointment of Sen. Hugo Black to the Supreme Court. The appointment of Mrs. Graves made various impressions on people of the state. Some seemed surprised, others not so much so, while others had called the turn from the start. Gov. Graves, in making this appointment has only further carried out his policy of getting every nickel out of his position that is possible. He has taxed Alabamians in every way he could think of, knowing this is last chance—and don't think for a minute that the one and only Bibb hasn't been lining his pockets with the long green while the cash was being passed around.

We hope the people of Alabama will get their fill of such diabolical action as this last of Gov. Graves. It is much as one U. S. senator said, in sarcasm, relative to the appointment of Mrs. Graves: "I hope it will not be necessary for the lady to go outside her own immediate family for any clerical help she may need," meaning, of course, that it is universally recognized that the Graves family is out to gather in every dollar possible. In short, that they are "gittin' while the gittin' is good". This is some kind of black mark against the dignity of our state for high dignitaries to so consider the family of our governor and senator, but little does "Bibbsy" care, just so long as the shekels come in.

So far as Mrs. Graves being able to fill the place, she is amply capable. Anyone, from the lowliest illiterate on up, would be just as capable, for whoever Gov. Graves might have sent up would have known that he had to do just as he was told by the high and mighty New Deal captains. Therefore, we had as soon Mrs. Graves had the place as anyone we know of, inasmuch as it is not a question of the people of Alabama being represented, but rather just another nod to Franklin D. any way, just as it has been for years, ever since the high and mighty one took office; however, Alabama is not by herself in this respect—there are several other yes-men up there. Too the $10,000 Mrs. Graves will receive will help the Graves family coffers, which never have bulged. The statement has often been made—by Democrats, too—that Gov. Graves has always been a grand "bust" so far as the practical job of making a living is concerned, and all the while has more or less "lived off his wife's estate". I don't know how true this statement is, but I have never heard any of his warm admirers deny it. One thing I do know—during his last campaign he had occasion to open an account with a business firm right here in Clanton, and several months later that bill had never been paid, although the governor had been billed several times—even "dunned" for it. We hear lots of the "senatorial dignity and honor," but we must remember that too, especially in Bibb's case, the money is not to be sneezed at, either.

THE "BULL-METER"

There has just been perfected a very delicate and much-needed instrument which is sure to come in handy as its use becomes more widespread, if it does. This is a "Bull-Meter"—designed to search out the pure and unmitigated "bull" in any speech, radio talk, news item or editorial to which it is applied. When used, it blanks out the bull, and leaves the bare facts, is such there be, standing out in bold relief.

For instance, I have applied it to various political harangues in print, and at once big blank spots appear on the paper, with here and there a scattered phrase standing out by itself, looking very lonesome indeed. Some books, when this instrument is used on them, have whole blank pages in them.

When used at a political speaking, this little gadget cuts out the noise made by the speaker when he branches out on a lot of bull, and one hears nothing, although you can see the speaker's lips working overtime. But if and when he gets back to talking facts, all he says can be heard. The radio goes blank sometimes, too, when connected with the "Bull-Meter."

It's a fine little trick, and should save people a lot of worry trying to separate the bull from the facts. We have tried it on several articles, with wonderful results. When put on some of the road articles that have appeared lately, great blank patches appeared. We tried it on some of Sid Gibson's "enlightening" letters to the editor of The Chilton County News, and for the most part it all went away except the signature and address of the writer; the one about the airport dedication almost clogged the delicate little device, but it finally cleared up and kept going. But Sid wasn't the only one—there were others.

Another thing—if a statement is true, the type turns blue; if false, it turns red; if plain old bull, with absolutely nothing but bull to it, the whole thing simply disappears. When a page is scanned by this machine, it sometimes looks like a section of Joseph's coat.

Now we could use a few of those machines here in Chilton County; the state needs lots of them; but our national government at Washington can take the entire output of the factory and still not have enough to go around if its use is adopted there.

We expect to put this "Bull-Meter" to much use in the future, especially in political campaigns, and we expect to see some interesting results. Perhaps, some time, we will publish an article as written by the author, and alongside publish it as it looks after the "Bull-Meter" gets through with it. You'd be surprised!

No doubt someone will come back and tell me I ought to put my own articles through this machine before they are published, but then my critics must have something to do—I'll leave that job to them. Get a "Bull-Meter"! It's lots of fun taking the bull from the things you read.

Everybody Wins --- Come In and Let Us Explain This Great Contest

Rules and Regulations of The Union-Banner's Campaign

1. Any reputable woman, man or child living in Chilton County or surrounding territory who is not a salaried employe or blood relation of any employe (this does not include correspondents) of The Union-Banner, is eligible to enter and compete for a prize. Nominations may be made at any time during the campaign. The management reserves the right to reject any and all nominations.

2. The winners of prizes will be decided by their accredited votes, said votes being represented by ballots issued on subscriptions, opportunity coupons, clipped from papers.

3. Candidates are not confined to their particular town or community in which to secure votes and subscriptions but may take orders anywhere in this section; or for that matter in the state or United States.

4. Cash must accompany all orders where votes are desired. There will be no exception to this rule. Candidates are allowed to collect renewals as well as entirely new subscriptions and votes will be issued on both.

5. Votes are free. It costs the subscriber nothing extra to vote for his favorite. Subscribers should ask for votes when paying their subscription. Votes cannot be purchased. Every cent accepted through the campaign department must represent subscriptions.

6. Votes are not transferable. Candidates cannot withdraw in favor of another candidate. Votes on such transferred subscriptions will be subject to disqualification at the discretion of the management.

7. Any collusion on the part of the candidates to nullify competition or any other combination or effort to detriment of candidate or this newspaper will not be tolerated. Any candidate entering into or taking part in such an agreement or effort, will forfeit all right to a prize or commission.

8. Any ballots issued on subscriptions may be held in reserve and voted at the discretion of the candidates or this newspaper. The printed coupons appearing in the paper must be voted on or before the expiration of the date thereon.

9. In the event of a tie for any one of the prizes a prize identical in value will be given each tying contestant.

10. In case of a typographical error it is understood that neither the publisher nor the campaign manager will be responsible except for the necessary corrections upon the same.

11. No statement, assertion, or promise, either written or verbal, made by any of the solicitors, agents, or candidates will be recognized by the publisher or campaign manager.

12. Every candidate is an authorized agent of The Union-Banner, and may collect subscription payments from the present as well as new subscribers.

13. Extension of subscriptions will receive votes according to vote schedule in effect when the first subscription was given, except that no extension votes will be given in the final period.

14. It is distinctly understood and agreed that candidates will be responsible for all money collected and that they will remit such amounts in full at frequent intervals or on demand to the campaign department.

15. There will be several big prizes awarded besides 20 per cent cash commission to all ACTIVE non-prize winners, but it is distinctly understood that in the event ANY candidate becomes INACTIVE, failing to make a semi-weekly cash report, he or she will, at the discretion of the management, become disqualified, and thereby forfeit all rights to a prize or commission.

16. To insure absolute fairness in awarding the prizes, the race will be brought to a close under a "sealed ballot box," and will be under the personal supervision of two or more of the judges. The last few days of the campaign, the box, locked and sealed, will repose in the vault of a local bank, where candidates and their friends will deposit their final collections and reserve votes. And not until the race has been declared closed will the seals be broken, the box unlocked, and the judges begin the final count. In this way no one, not even the campaign manager, can possibly know the voting strength of the respective candidates, which precludes any possibility of favoritism and insures fairness to the minutest degree.

17. The right is reserved to increase or add to the list of prizes.

18. The Union-Banner guarantees fair and impartial treatment to all candidates, but should any questions arise, the decision of the management shall be absolute and final.

19. 40,000 extra votes will be given on each new yearly subscription during the first period of the campaign; 30,000 during the second period; 20,000 during the third period; and 10,000 during the final period; 200,000 extra votes will be accredited to every candidate who turns in ten one-year subscriptions or their equivalent during the first week after candidate accepts nomination.

20. Campaign officially opens with the first published list of names and closes on October 23rd.

In accepting nominations candidates agree to abide by above conditions.

THE CAMPAIGN PLAN IN BRIEF

HOW TO BECOME A CANDIDATE

The first step in order to become a candidate and participate in this Profit Sharing Circulation and Free Gift Campaign is to clip the NOMINATION BLANK appearing in this announcement. Fill in your name or that of a friend whom you wish to nominate and bring or mail to the campaign department of The Union-Banner. This coupon entitles you or the person whom you wish to nominate to 10,000 FREE VOTES. These votes are given you as a starter and speeds you on your way to win. Only one of these coupons will be accepted from any one candidate.

Upon receipt of your nomination you will be supplied with the necessary working outfit, consisting of a receipt book and all other necessary supplies and information as will be helpful in making your campaign a complete success.

Let it be fully understood that this is not a beauty contest and will be conducted on a strictly competitive basis from start to finish.

EVERYONE HAS AN EQUAL CHANCE

Everyone, regardless of where they may reside, has an equal chance at all the prizes. There will be no handicap for one that will not exist for all. There are no required number of subscriptions that any candidate must secure to be eligible for any of the prizes. Should one find subscriptions hard to secure then he may rest assured that others will find them the same way. Then, too, double votes are allowed for all new subscriptions.

Read every word of this announcement carefully and then cut out the Nomination Blank, fill in your name or that of some friend or relative and bring or send to the campaign department of The Union-Banner today. If not convenient for you to call at the campaign department personally, write a card and a representative will gladly call at your home and explain just how easy you may go about winning the prize of your choice. This will not place you under any obligations—you are to be the sole judge.

DOES MONEY MEAN ANYTHING TO YOU?

The Union-Banner extends an invitation to the residents of Clanton and surrounding territory to enter and participate in the Mammoth Profit-Sharing Free Gift Campaign. This is entirely different from anything ever attempted in this vicinty before.

Just a few spare minutes a day is all that is necessary. It costs nothing to enter, and you are guaranteed a prize or cash commission.

ADVISORY BOARD

It is the sincere aim of this newspaper to conduct this campaign from start to finish in a fair, honorable and impartial manner to all concerned. Every precaution has been taken to safeguard the interests of all participants and absolute honesty in all dealings is assured. However, not all wisdom lies with any one man or institution, and for that reason an advisory board has been decided upon, whose functions shall be to decide any question of sufficient moment that might happen to arise during the competition and from which a committee shall be selected to act as judges and count the votes the last night of the campaign. The names will be supplied later.

HOW THE PRIZES WILL BE AWARDED

The Grand Extraordinary, the CHEVROLET COACH, valued at $730.00, or the cash cost equivalent will be awarded the candidate having the highest vote score over all.

The candidate having the second highest vote score will be awarded ..... $200.00 in Cash
The Third highest candidate will receive .... $100.00 in Cash
The Fourth highest candidate will receive .. $ 75.00 in Cash
The Fifth highest candidate will receive ... $ 50.00 in Cash

ALL OTHER CANDIDATES who have remained active according to the rules of the campaign, who fail to win one of the prizes will be paid a 20 per cent commission on each dollar they have turned in during the entire campaign. EVERYBODY WINS—THERE WILL BE NO LOSERS.

T. J. Arledge Replies To Judge Lee Smith

Says Judge's Letter Insults Intelligence Of People; Bars Smith From Reward Offered

The Union-Banner has been requested to publish the following by Mr. T. J. Arledge, Road Supervisor, which is a copy of a letter addressed to Judge J. Lee Smith:

Aug. 24, 1937.

Hon. J. Lee Smith,
Judge of Probate,
City.
Dear Sir:

The writer notes with interest your wonderful letter published in last week's issue of the local papers relative to things in connection with the activities of the Road Department, especially funds spent for "clerical, supervision and inspection," during the months of May and June, 1937.

The writer has often wondered why the records of his office could never be reconciled with those of your office; it never entered his mind that you were including the costs of the Commissioners Court in the road costs. But the writer will not be further surprised at the things you may do, and and is really not surprised to note that the full salaries of the commissioners and their clerk, as well as the postage stamps, have been included by you as costs of supervision and inspection of county road maintenance operations. But, the writer is really surprised that you failed to show your own as well as the salaries of the other officials as part of the road costs.

Your letter, within itself, is an infringement on the intelligence of the free thinking people of Chilton County—a slap at their ability in sound and sane reasoning. You are well aware of the fact that these people know that the entire time of the Commissioners Court is not devoted to nor consumed in duties incident to the upkeep of the public roads and bridges of Chilton County. These people know the same as you do that at least a portion of the Commissioners' time is devoted to other matters connected with county affairs. Yet, in your letter you show that the entire compensation paid these commissioners and their clerk was a charge against the maintenance and repairs to the public roads, during the months of May and June.

The Road Supervisor requires that all foremen and machine crews report fully all visits to their respective site of operation, giving the name, date, and actual duration of such visits, weekly. This is part of their reports to this office, and, from these records it is very evident that the Commissioners' visits of inspection have been very short and very far between, and none of them ever stops to report a bad place or a damaged bridge; this information usually comes from the U. S. Mail men. We have a complete record of each day's activity of one of the commissioners during the month of June, and this shows that he was never far from the Woco Service Station during the entire period.

The people of Chilton County are not dumb! They are endowed with a sound mind and reasoning ability of their own. I am in contact with them every day and find that they are more fully enlightened than you may think. In your mad effort to hinder, cripple, block and destroy a county organization which is doing everything in its power to serve the people, you forget yourself and your sworn duties to these people who elected you to the office you now hold; you refuse to correctly inform them as to what is wrong with the proper functioning of the road department; you are too busy trying to find some point of attack whereby you may be able to so cripple the road organization that it will be forced to stop functioning. All for what? Malice, and a personal desire to dominate and run things as you may see fit.

What qualifications have you in the practice of road construction and maintenance? You must have some kind of knowledge in this connection else you would never make the critical statements you do. What would I look like to you should I go into the banks and begin to tell the bankers how to perform their duties? Or go to the dentist, the doctor, the blacksmith, the agriculturist, the machine shop, the printing shop, or any other place of business or vocation of which I have no knowledge of practice? Would I be considered very intelligent? How many of these places would tolerate such intereference? I would not be so unwise as to entertain such a thought.

You know, yourself, what my training has been! You know positively that my entire life has been devoted to those things connected with engineering, building, construction of all kinds! You were one of the sponsors or references I used when I went with the Public Works Administration, and you know what that job was! You know that this job as Road Supervisor is very small in comparison. What has your experience been? Since I first knew you more than 30 years ago you have been connected with the mercantile business, never in any way connected with building construction or road development. So where, may I ask, do you get the authority and qualifications to villify my ability? Think this over.

My reward for the $100 still stands unclaimed, and you, as a party to the controversy over the disputed figures, are ethically barred from claiming such.

Yours very truly,
T. J. ARLEDGE,
Supervisor.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

We are happy to have had a better attendance at the Men's Bible Class last Sunday. Suppose we try to have a bigger attendance next Sunday? An increase in attendance and membership would be a help to all concerned. Man, do your best!

You ladies of the Philathea Class who did not hear Mrs. Truett teach the class last Sunday missed a real blessing. All who did hear her, we hope, will carry the message to the others and may this class, which has a good regular teacher, also, increase in attendance and membership.

Do you have children who are not coming to Sunday School? If so, don't allow them to be deprived of the benefits of the Sunday School any longer. We are quite proud of the Children's Department, and if your child is that age and not in Sunday School bring him or her along at 9:45 next Sunday morning and let your child enjoy Sunday School together with the one's who now enjoy it. The leaders of the Children's Division are doing excellent work and that division is "booming".

We would not forget the splendid work each division is doing, but space prevents the mention of all of them at this time. To whatever division you belong, come on and do your best, and let's have a record Sunday School. Remember, the best could be better with your help.

The pipe organ has been repaired and sounds mighty like new. Members of the choir, you are urged not to fail to back our preacher with all your might.

Our one hope was shown to us in a stirring message from our pastor at the 11 o'clock services last Sunday. Let's show our pastor that we appreciate him and his messages by attending next Sunday. It would be truly wonderful if every Methodist in Clanton would attend these services. Unalloyed blessings are bestowed with the hearing of these messages. Will you be there at 11 o'clock?

CENTER HILL SINGING

The singing a this place Sunday afternoon did fine considering it being the first afternoon singing after having all the all-day singings.

The session was opened with a song by the president, Mr. B. L. Cobb, followed by prayer, led by Mr. J. B. Price.

Directors were: Mr. Marion Cofer, Chester Maddox, Burble Price, A. H. Glasscock, Valpo Mims, Mrs. Ferrell Northcutt, Jon. W. Collum, Flora Martin and Berney Dean Cobb.

Pianists were: Mrs. Howard Roper, Rena Mims, and Miss Rubye Smith. A duet was rendered by Mr. Valpo Mims and Mrs. Howard Roper. Also, a number by four girls, Berney Dean and Imogene Cobb, Sarah Mae and Dorothy Lee Collum.

The singing was closed with prayer by Mr. Howard Roper.

There will be no singing here the fourth Sunday in September on account of the all-day singing at Jemison High School. If nothing happens, there will be another singing the fourth Sunday afternoon in October.

We thank everyone for their help and ask you to come again.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Circles No. 1 and 2 of the Woman's Missionary Society, of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. Celestia Williams with Mrs. M. R. Lancaster as co-hostess Monday afternoon, August 23.

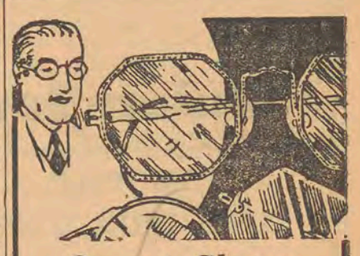
The meeting was opened with a prayer by Mrs. J. M. Truett. Mrs. Macy Jones gave a review of "The Life of Christ," and Mrs. Joe Mullins gave "The Resurrection of Christ." Both were very interesting and enjoyed by all present.

After the business refreshments were served to Mesdames Dan Waite, Glennie Evans, L. H. Reynolds, J. Stewart, C. Headley, R. J. Jones, C. A. Sherrod, Joe Mullins, Macy Jones, W. A. Reynolds, H. Taylor, O. D. Deloach, J. D. Armstrong, G. P. Wilbanks, O. Roper, M. Carter, J. M. Truett, L. E. Diefenderfer, Celestia Williams and M. R. Lancaster.

PETROLEUM INDUSTRIES COMMITTEE TO MEET

Mr. W. E. Huddleston, chairman of the Chilton Petroleum Industries Committee has announced that the organization will hold its annual county meeting at the courthouse in Clanton next Friday night, August 27, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of electing officers and discussin its program for the next two years. It will also make plans for the State Convention of the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee and the other 66 County Petroleum Industries Committees, which will be held in Montgomery during March or April, 1938.

Earl M. Hearne, Secretary, Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee, of Montgomery, will be present and will install the new officers to be elected for the coming year.



All service station and other automotive dealers in the county, everyone whose business is in connection with serving the motoring public is invited to attend and become members. Motor vehicle owners and truck operators are also invited. There are no dues, and the policies and purposes of the organization, as provided in the by-laws, are outlined as folows:

To work for a uniform gasoline rate in Alabama, reasonable business licenses and taxes, application of gasoline and other vehicle tax revenues to highway purposes only, and reduction of unreasonable restrictions on motor vehicles; also to oppose all additional taxation on the sale of petroleum products, or on motor vehicles, and to oppose gasoline or motor oil bootlegging, tax evasion or adulteratiton.

One of the important phases of the meeting will be laying of plans for the voting of the Constitutional Amendment to be voted upon at the general election, November, 1938, prohibiting the use of special motor vehicle tax revenues for purposes other than the construction and maintenance of roads, streets and bridges.

CONCRETE HIGHWAYS PAY FOR THEMSELVES

Three reasons why concrete is the most economical pavement:

1. Long life and low upkeep—funds which would otherwise be spent for repairs may be used to complete your highway system.
2. Scientific investigation has proved that it costs motorists less to drive on concrete than on inferior surfaces. The saving is in gas, tires and car repairs.
3. Concrete builds business, promotes travel. A town on concrete is moved closer to all markets.

And in addition to these money-reasons concrete pavements give motorists relaxation . . . comfort . . . and swift travel with SAFETY!

Concrete IS THE REAL LOW-COST ROAD

HOOVER SAYS REPUBLICANS SHOULD CALL CONVENTION

Urges "New and Flaming Avowal of G. O. P. Principles"

The following message was released recently by Herbert Hoover, former president:

The Republican party should meet officially in convention during the next year. This meeting should be representative; it should comprise youth as well as maturity, women as well as men. It should not confuse its vision with candidates or attempts to solve group or sectional problems the character of which can be known only three years hence. It should, with adequate prior preparation by able and open minds, fully debate and then declare a conviction on constructive national principles. It should declare this with intellectual and moral integrity, with human sympathy, with idealism and emotion.

Should its declaration rise to the national need, it would infuse a renewed fighting courage in the party's own ranks; it would inspire an organization with which free men could join in coalition; it would lift the hearts of free men and women.

Lest some suspicious person see a sea serpent in this article, let me say at once that most public men fight for re-election only because they are not quitters. If the voters are good enough to relieve them, there comes in time a great sense of gratitude for freedom and a determination to hold on to that blessed state. And ths state develops objectivity, but objectivity in these hours does not imply neutrality.

My concern with political parties today is that they perform their prime responsibility. That is, they should align themselves with intellectual honesty and present to the people the opportunity to express their will as to the real issues of our times—possibly the greatest issue of 160 years. The essence of the real political contest of today is personal liberty, which includes the rights of minorities. Today that issue is confused in both parties. It is obscured by indecision, phrases, denials, contradictions, and evasions.

America needs a new and flaming declaration of the rights and responsibilities of free men. All discussions of new parties, changes of name, or coalition are at best merely political strategies. The real question is: What do the parties represent?

The special weakness in the Republican party is its failure to crystallize an affirmative and consistent body of principle in the face of a new situation. The nation needs a party which will clearly, courageously and constructively set out the affirmative alternative to the coercive direction of the New Deal.

If we explore the present situation in the Republican party we find a good deal of latent strength. Numerically, it constitutes the strongest minority party the country has ever seen. It has an organization in more than 150,000 precincts, 3,000 counties, and the 48 states, with innumerable clubs, the vast majority of which are led by sincere, loyal, and determined men and women. It holds elective office in many more counties than its state defeats would indicate. It thus has a moving mechanism.

One weakness of the party is that it has not stood up for its substantial record of service and repelled the flood of calumny. Another is that it has not incorporated enough youth.

But all discussions of new parties, changes of name, or coalition are at best merely political strategies. They place too much emphasis on politics. There is something far bigger in this situation.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

Recently the writer was preaching on the subject of the Judgement to a large open-air audience in a New Jersey city. The text was, "So then every one of you shall give an account of himself to God." I was emphasizing the solemn fact that some day every man must give an account of himself to God. "What are you as God sees you? What is your character? Not what is your reputation. Could you sit there in the pew and let me write your record on a blackboard and hold it up before this crowd? Some day every secret sin will be brought to light." These were some of the things we were trying to emphasize. It suddenly occurred to me that according to the Bible every man on earth is guilty of all the sins. The Bible says that he that offends in one point is guilty of all. In other words, we have been rebels against God. Some men steal, some lie, some murder, some commit adultery, some covet, and some take God's name in vain, but all have sinned. All have broken the law. All are guilty. "The soul that sinneth, it shall die."

God is just. He demands a settlement with sin. He must punish sin because He is an infinitely just God. According to the Bible it was necessary for Jesus Christ to die that God might be just and the Justifier of guilty sinners who trust Christ. Jesus Christ on the cross paid our debt. According to the Word of God He bore our sins in His body when He died on the cross. The man who accepts Christ and trusts His atoning blood will stand guiltless before God. No mere man was able to pay the debt. Christ was the only One who could pay it. He settled the account with His blood. A person who accepts Christ as his Savior stands in the presence of God in the righteousness of Jesus Christ and is just as pure in the sight of God as if he had never committed a sin. What a wonderful Gospel! How we should preach it to lost men!

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

Advertising's Value.

VERNALIS, CALIF.—On the train a charming young woman said: "I always read the advertisements whether I want to buy anything or not. Do you think I'm crazy?"

I told her she was the smartest young woman I knew. If I were asked to describe the race in any bygone period since printer's ink came into common use, I'd turn to the advertising in the papers and periodicals of that particular age. For then I'd know what people wore and what they ate and what their sports were and their follies and their tastes and their habits; know what they did when they were healthy and what they took when they were sick and of what they died and how they were buried and where they expected to go after they left here—in short, I'd get a picture of humanity as it was and not as some prejudiced historian, writing then or later, would have me believe it conceivably might have been.

I'd rather be able to decipher the want ad on the back side of a Chaldean brick than the king's edict on the front—that is, if I craved to get an authentic glimpse at ancient Chaldea.

Running a Hotel.

I'VE just been a guest at one of the best small-town hotels in America. I should know about good hotels because, in bygone days, I stopped at all the bad ones.

The worst was one back East—built over a jungle of side tracks. I wrote a piece about that hotel. It had hot and cold running cockroaches on every floor and all-night switch-engine service; the room towels only needed buttons on them to be peekaboo waists, but the roller towel in the public washroom had, through the years, so solidified that if the house burned down it surely would have been left standing. The cook labored under the delusion that a fly was something to cook with.

Everybody who'd ever registered there recognized the establishment. So the citizens raised funds and tore down their old hotel, thereby making homeless wanderers of half a million resident bedbugs; and they put up a fine new hotel which paid a profit, whereas the old one had been losing money ever since the fall of Richmond.

A good hotel is the best advertisement any town can have, but a bad one is just the same as an extra pesthouse where the patients have to pay.

Poor Lo's Knowledge.

SOMETIMES I wonder whether we, the perfected flower of civilization—and if you don't believe we are, just ask us—can really be as smart as we let on.

Lately, out on the high seas, I met an educated Hopi, who said to me:

"White people get wrong and stay wrong when right before their eyes is proof to show how wrong they are. For instance, take your delusion that there are only four direction points—an error which you've persisted in ever since you invented the compass, a thing our people never needed. Every Indian knows better than that."

"Well then," I said, "how many are there, since you know so much?"

"Seven," he said, "seven in all."

"Name 'em," I demanded.

"With pleasure," he said. "Here they are: north, east, south, west, up, down and here."

Of course, there's a catch in it somewhere, but, to date, I haven't figured it out.

The Russian Puzzle.

UNDER the present beneficent regime, no prominent figure in Russia's government, whether military or civil, is pestered by the cankering fear which besets an official in some less favored land, namely, that he'll wear out in harness and wither in obscurity.

All General So-and-Soski or Commissar Whatyoumaycallovitch has to do is let suspicion get about that he's not in entire accord with administration policies and promptly he commits suicide—by request; or is invited out to be shot at sunrise.

To be sure, the notion isn't new. The late Emperor Nero had numerous well-wishers, including family relatives, that he felt he could spare and he just up and spared them. And, in our own time, Al Capone built quite an organization for taking care of such associates as seemed lacking in the faith. 'Twas a great boon to the floral design business, too, while it lasted.

But in Russia where they really do things—there no job-holder need ever worry about old age. Brer Stalin's boys will attend to all necessary details, except the one, formerly so popular in Chicago, of sending flowers to the funeral.

A LETTER FROM C. REESE MULLINS ABOUT ROADS

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me a small space in your paper this week to express to you and to the people of Chilton County my profound disgust for the controversy which has been going on now in both of our county papers for some time between our road supervisor and our probate judge and commissioners.

I would suggest this: That if our supervisor has the authority under the law to work our roads, that in my opinion he should have the support of not only our probate judge and commissioners, but every citizen of our county as well. Now if our commissioners are to work our roads and build the necessary bridges, then let them go to it, for there is plenty of work that is needed to be done, and the people, in my opinion, will soon demand action. I cannot think that any of our officers are liars, or that any of them would attempt to wilfully misrepresent anything at all, but if this controversy goes on much longer, what will people think? I think that real men, as I estimate all of these men to be, should be willing to give and take and get together on any matter, and especially one of as much importance to the people of our county as the working of our roads, and the keeping up of our bridges.

Newspaper controversies I don't think will any longer be satisfactory—work is what we want.

I would like to see our Democratic administration be a success. Nothing could give me more pleasure. I do not want to turn our county back over to the Republican party at all, but if we can't beat what we are doing, and cooperate together, I think we had better turn it back over to the Indians.

I think we should go ahead with our road work under the existing law, and if it should prove out unsatisfactory, then at the proper time, repeal it.

United we stand—divided we fall!—C. Reese Mullins. 1-p

A BAD HABIT

The plain fact stands out boldly that Mr. Roosevelt during his whole career as an elected public official in executive capacity has never established a reputation for economy. On the contrary, he has been a prodigal spender. That was so when he was governor of New York, and of course it has been painfully true since he has been president. His executive fiscal record, coupled with the character of the present program for his administration, naturally stimulaes doubts as to his ability to reduce federal expenses in any amount whatsoever.—Baltimore Sun.

MIXED PARTIES

We shall doubtless have to keep the existing parties, since any attempt to establish two new and more logical parties might, instead, lead to the even more logical but disastrous break-up into a dozen parties.

Yet we are continuously reminded of the incongruity of using the Democratic party as the organ of the New Deal. The revolt of Southern representatives and senators against the president's wage and hour bill is in point.

The South is the permanent nucleus of the Democratic party. It is committed to a policy of low wages, and especially to a wage scale lower than that of the North. Thus it can increase the prosperity of its business and landowning classes at the expense of its negroes and "poor whites". The purpose of this New Deal measure is to increase wages. These Southerners refuse to support it unless it keeps their wages lower than those of the North. If President Roosevelt had surrendered this point, he would have surrendered the New Deal to the Democratic party. They are very far from the same thing, but as the intellectual leader of one and the political head of the other, he has to try to ride both at once. When they insist on going in opposite directions, he has to fall off of one or the other. This time, it may be the New Deal horse that finds itself riderless.—San Francisco Chronicle.

HECTIC POLITICS

The last days of July disclosed some tangled political scenes that seemed as wierd as an Oriental nightmare to the average man who is seeking to keep his economic and social balance. The situation in New York City is a case in point. Sen. Royal G. Copeland is reported to be about to seek the nomination for mayor of the metropolis on both the Democratic and Republican tickets. Mayor LaGuardia, the present city executive, is said to be contemplating the spurning of both partisan nominations with the intention of running this fall as a labor candidate and an independent.

Over in Philadelphia the mayor of the City of Brotherly Love, a New Deal Republican, who was formerly regarded a Democrat, is in a bitter verbal fight with Pennsylvania's governor who is a New Deal Democrat and a former Republican.

In Washington the Supreme Court bill had been sent back to committee apparently well scotched, and Democratic Chairman Farley had lost his first laurels as a prophet—he had predicted that the Supreme Court bill was "in the bag". And President Roosevelt took Progressive Sen. LaFollette and Gov. Phil LaFollette for a ride in his yacht.

Another phase of the situation was a blistering letter by Amos Pinchot, the former liberal leader, to President Roosevelt, charging that three proposals to congress made since the election by the chief executive would, if placed on the statute books and "sustained by a packed Supreme Court, transfer our life into a bureaucratic collectivism", and in short, "wholly change the character of government and industry and put both under the personal domination of one man, namely, yourself".

And, in closing, Mr. Pinchot gave vent to this fine, if surprising, bit of irony: "Mr. President, sometimes I wonder at the state of mind of reformers—at their shining dreams and their sordid methods, at the recklessness with which they gamble with other people's lives and happiness. And above all, the fortitude with which they bear other people's distress."

Truly July with its Supreme Court fight, its charges and counter charges, and its crossed wires, has been a month of hectic politics. Perhaps we ought to blame it all on the heat. Is it possible that with the coming of October's bracing breezes and killing frosts, things will get back to normal again?

COURT-PACKING AIM

Time and again it has been admitted and clearly shown that the real purpose back of the court bill has been to obtain certain interpretations of the Constitution which will fit in with the legislation demanded by the president. Once that kind of judicial functioning has been in operation there is no limit to the distance it may go.

The public now looks upon the compromise bill either as a face-saving device to protect the president or as the president's bill merely in another form, with the packing power intact. The administration will insist that the new measure is no face-saving proposition, merely. Obviously it regards the compromise as calculated to achieve the very end for which the original bill was intended. Senators who have opposed the original bill as a matter of principle cannot support the compromise without compromising with principle. — Washington Star.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

Sen. Copeland seems to have gone "out on a limb," or if you don't like this expression, it may be said that he has declared open war on President Roosevelt. Sen. Copeland is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Mayor of New York City. There are two other candidates, Judge J. T. Mahoney, a New Deal Democrat, and Mayor LaGuardia, a New Deal Republican.

There are indications that the president and the organization members of the New Deal are opposed to Sen. Copeland. Evidently realizing that he has the opposition of the president in any event, Sen. Copeland several days ago came out with a statement accusing the president of "interfering" in the mayoralty fight when he is not a resident of the big town, and, at all events, as chief executive of the nation, should keep hands off. Mr. Roosevelt, of course, authorized a denial of this charge of interference. There is little doubt, however, that he is opposed to the nomination of Sen. Copeland. In his public statement, the New York senator said, in part:

"Franklin D. Roosevelt is not a voter in New York. We are not interested in what his private views may be. But why should President Roosevelt attempt to dictate to the Democrats of my city what they should do?

"Our contest there is in the primary, a democratic institution, set up to permit every enrolled voter to express his personal preference for mayor.

"But government in the United States is no longer democratic with a big 'D' or with a small 'd'. It is largely personal, dictated by the White House. At least we have in the United States personal dictatorship if not political dictatorship.

"The president does more in five minutes to destroy Democratic harmony than can be re-established in a generation by Jefferson Island picnics and peace dinners. His newspaper interference in New York, if the newspaper report is correct, is gratuitious and undemocratic."

The language in the statement is caustic. Whether the words are justified or not, of course, will depend on the personal viewpoint of the individual Democrat. But there is considerable significance in the situation. About 10 months ago President Roosevelt won the biggest political victory in modern party history. He carried every state excepting Maine and Vermont and it seemed that he had a strangle hold on the government and on public opinion. We were told that we had entered another era of good feeling similar to that which greeted President Monroe. The president's stock could not rise higher. Perhaps there was no way it could go but down. At any rate since that time things have happened.

With an almost solid backing in the House and Senate previously assured, President Roosevelt launched himself into a bitter intra-party struggle with his attacks on the Supreme Court. Then followed acrimonious debates, unfortunate public statements, and threats of reprisals. Whether or not these will come remains to be seen. Sen. Copeland charges "it is no secret that the president will take reprisals against every senator who had the temerity to oppose his will on the court measure." If there are such reprisals there will be much bitterness.

In the meantime it cannot be denied that the president has slipped a long way from the top of the political pedestal on which he rested on the day after the election. Here is the significant fact.

IN REVIEW

The cause of Mr. Roosevelt's troubles is not far to seek. That overwhelming victory of last November he regarded not as a continental divide in political affairs—so far up from sea level on one side and, inevitably, so far down to sea level on the other. Rather, he regarded it as a boundless plateau on which he was free to range at will.

In hindsight, it seems a mistake incredible in its misconceptions. For that matter, it was a mistake incredible in the foresight of a good many persons. There was no lack of men in Mr. Roosevelt's own following who last November observed that in political power he could go no higher and there was only one ultimate course for him, which was downward. And certainly it was incredible that a man of Mr. Roosevelt's formal education and practical training should not have remembered the great conspicuous object lessons of American history and, indeed, of all democratic government.

But the plain fact is that he did not preserve that sense fo proportion which was his first necessity. And perhaps that in itself is a lesson which the American people might learn, while Mr. Roosevelt is learning his. Perhaps it is impossible for any man to maintain his poise against the adulation which the people of this country temporarily grant a popular occupant of the White House. If a man of as many and as varied human contacts as Mr. Roosevelt's loses the common touch, who can preserve it?—Baltimore Sun.

KILLING THE GOOSE

The suspension of the Fall River Line is a perfect answer to a labor policy which assumes that all ebployers are chiselers. Here was an old and famous steamship service which had fallen on evil days. A plan to abandon it at the end of summer had already been announced. Did it occur to its employes that with forbearance and cooperation they might nurse it over the crisis and keep it alive for the sake of the hundreds of jobs it supplied? Not at all. Thanks to the inspiration of the CIO, they either ignored the financial condition of the company or refused to give it credence. In any event they staged a sit-down strike on its two vessels with the result that their meal ticket, which seemed good at least until the close of the season, has been cut off in midsummer. The Commonwealth tied up at Fall River, the Priscilla at Newport, and from each, according to report, there filed ashore about 200 men, some of whom had served on Fall River line for from 25 to 30 years. They were discharged. Their quest for the pot of gold at the end of the Lewis rainbow was over. — New York Herald-Tribune.

THE LAW IS AT FAULT

When the National Labor Relations Board cannot win the approval of so steadfast a liberal as Sen. Nye, it is about time for all hands to admit there is something wrong with it. In the senator's judgment, members of the board have shown that they are not only partisans of labor but have taken so pronounced a CIO bias that the average man regards them as an adjunct of the Lewis group.

Although the board as a whole is clearly sympathetic to labor and its hearings have been marked by unfairness to the employer, the basic trouble is quite as much with the law itself as it is with individuals. So long as the Wagner Act is wholly one-sided, administration of it by any body of men must of necessity be of the same character. The remedy is to revise the law in the direction of equality of responsibility for both parties to our industrial disputes.—Boston Transcript.

FOR A FORTNIGHT

Says the Baltimore Sun:

"The disclosure that the federal government took in $612,000,000 in liquor taxes during the calendar year 1936 underscores the extent to which repeal of the 18th Amendment has contributed to the solution of the nation's fiscal problem."

Yeah! This amount ought to keep the New Deal in pin money for a couple of weeks.

ALABAMA'S PAROLE BUREAU

The Alabama Parole Bureau has been in operation for a little less than two years. It operates in connection with the State Convict Department, and the head of that department is chairman of the bureau. He has an assistant who is in active charge of the parole bureau. A secretary, probation officer and stenographer are also provided. These four persons are the only ones employed by the bureau.

The purpose of the bureau is to make an independent study of prisoners confined in the prisons of Alabama, and recommend those selected to the governor for test paroles. Its primary purpose is to look after the "forgotten convict," the convict who has no money, no relatives or friends who are interested in his welfare.

It is the duty of this bureau to investigate the records of every convict, his previous life, environments, etc. All of this without the assistance of an attorney and without any formal application being filed.

In every case a prisoner must not only be assured real employment but must have a sponsor who will vouch for him and will see that he complies with the conditions of the test parole. He is required to make a monthly report to the bureau showing his activities for every day of the month. The correctness of these reports must be attested by the sponsor, who must know the facts. The probation officer or some member of the bureau visits the parolee at irregular intervals and interviews him to see that he is being restored to his proper place in society. The sponsor is also interviewed as well as other people in the community. After this has been kept up for a year or more, if in the opinion of the bureau his conduct and record justifies it, he is permitted to ask the Board of Pardons for a permanent parole, but he still remains under the supervision of the bureau in a general way.

During the fiscal year ending September 30, 1936, 1,030 cases were investigated by the parole bureau and 151 test paroles were recommended and granted. Only 6 of this 161 failed to bake good. The parole of these was revoked and they were returned to prison.

More than a third of these test paroles to October 1, 1936, were granted to prisoners who were convicted of second degree murder. To be exact there were 52 of them; 6 had been convicted of first degree murder; 17 for assault to murder; 16 for manslaughter; and 11 for robbery; the other 51 were charged with various offenses.

The majority of these parolees were engaged on farms, but nearly every class of labor is represented, including sawmill workers, truck drivers, cement workers, cotton mill workers, steel mill workers, and one is listed as a bookkeeper.

This bureau also makes special investigation for the pardon board and for the governor when called upon to do so.

VENEZUELAN STUDYING OUR ALABAMA HEALTH DIVISION

Montgomery, Aug. 21. — The death rate in Venezuela is nearly twice as high as that in Alabama, according to Dr. Jose Quintini, who has been in charge of public health work in the State of Trujillo, Venezuela, for some time and is now in Alabama observing the work of the State Department of Health and county health departments under a grant from the International Health Division of the Rockefeller Foundation.

"In Venezuela, malaria is the most serious health problem," he said in discussing health conditions in his country. "Next in order come hookworm, tuberculosis, diarrhea, and enteritis (under two years), and typhoid fever. Many of the diseases which are such serious problems in this country, such as heart disease, nephritis, and cerebral hemorrhage, play only a minor part in the health picture of Venezuela. The communicable diseases, which the United States has largely conquered, are the ones that are responsible for most of the deaths there. However, the Venezuelan government is greatly enlarging its campaign against these diseases, and it is hoped that they will soon be largely curbed."

PHILIPS RITES HELD

Funeral services were held at 9 a. m. Saturday for Mrs. William H. Phillips, 78, formerly of Clanton, who for the last few years had resided with relatives in Birmingham, who died Friday.

Services were held from the residence, 1027 South Twenty-Eighth St., Birmingham, the Rev. R. Bland Mitchell officiating. The body was sent to Clanton for burial.

Mrs. Phillips was a member of St. Mary's-on-the-Highlands, the Daughters of the Confederacy and the Colonial Dames and Daughters of 1812, of which she was president.

Surviving are three nephews, Charles Jackson and J. Kirkman Jackson, of Birmingham, and William Jackson, of New Orleans; and two nieces, Mrs. Thomas C. Lamar, Jr., of Birmingham, and Mrs. C. Burrows, of New York City.

During the month of October the collections from this source amounted ot $1,158,428.71.

According to the last census report Alabama cows on farms produced 134, 423,790 gallons of milk and 36,872,376 pounds of butter in 1934; 10 per cent of this milk and butter was produced in the three counties of Jefferson, Cullman, and DeKalb. The report shows that there were 387,651 cows being milked at the time the census was taken.

Feeding Fish

Owners of the hundreds of private fish ponds in Alabama may profit from the experience of Woodson Emes, of Livingston, Ala. The water in his pond was very low and he realized that the bass and bream needed more food than they could find in the pond. Therefore, he queried the Conservation Department about what to feed the fish and where to get it. He was advised that the fish could be fed without much expense by using stale bakery bread until the water returned to its normal level, when the aquatic vegetation and natural animal life in the pond would be resored.

Lake Jackson Improvement

An effort to halt the destruction of fish in Lake Jackson, in Covington County, that takes place every year when rains flood the lake and leave fish stranded in shallow pools, has been launched by the Florala Chamber of Commerce, through Secretary W. H. Blue. Millions of young fish annually are washed out of the lake into isolated pools where they perish, says Mr. Blue. The people of that section desire a project included in the relief program set-up, and to that end have applied to the state WPA administrator, and enlist the support of Sen. Bankhead, of Alabama, and Sen. Pepper, of Florida. Part of the lake lies in Florida.

Museum Attracts Many

The museum of the Conservation Department continues to attract many people. During the summer months thousands of tourists from all parts of the nation have viewed the collection of birds, animals and reptiles on the second floor of the historic capitol building. The natural history collection is said to be one of the best and most complete in the country. It contains 327 specimens, including more than 200 native Alabama birds, 54 animals, and 25 reptiles. The specimens are mounted in their natural state and reflect credit on the master taxidermist who prepared them.

NITRATE OF SODA ADDS MORE BOLLS TO COTTON

The Isabella Chapter of F. F. A., is sponsoring a Chilean Nitrate Demonstration. The demonstration consists of two and one half acres of cotton. All the cotton received the same fertilizer at planting. The two acres received, as side-dressing, 200 pounds Chilean Nitrate per acre at the first working. The one-half acre did not receive any nitrate. The cotton on the two acres averages 47 bolls per 12 stalks. Twelve stalks on the one-half acre averages 27 bolls. The stalks on the two acres averages six inches higher and it is enough broader that it laps in the middles. The other cotton does not lap.

In addition to the nitrate cotton being taller, broader, having more bolls and having a much better color, and its bolls are noticeably larger. From observation you would say that they are at least one third larger. Of course the yield on the two acres will be more than on the one-half acre. It would be interesting to know just how much. At an early date a field meeting will be held at the demonstration for the purpose of giving you a chance to guess the difference. The demonstration is located on the farm of Mr. E. S. (Span) Jones, which is on the road leading from Pep's store on the Clanton-Selma highway to the Isabella High School.

Twenty million cubic yards of sand were used in building of Treasure Island, San Francisco Bay site of the 1939 World's Fair.

Four thousand trees, 70,000 shrubs, and 700,000 flowering plants will be planted on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay for the 1939 World's Fair.

HUETT FAMILY REUNION

On last Sunday the children, grandchildren and great grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Huett met at the home of I. D. Huett, of the Enterprise community, for the annual family reunion.

The morning was spent in exchanging greetings and talking and laughing together. At the noon hour a bountiful dinner was spread under the large shade trees. This was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

Those enjoying this affair were: Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Huett and four children, of Elmore, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Patterson and five children, of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Huett and four children, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Eiland and four children, of Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cagle, of Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Wyatt and daughter, of Clanton, Rev. and Mrs. H. D. Durbin and daughter, of Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Huett, of Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Billingsley and two children, of Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Morris and five children, of Verbena, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Huett, of Clanton.

There were eight grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Huett who did not attend the reunion this time. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bishop, of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Jones, of Sylacauga, Forest Huett, of Church Road, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Judson Huett, of Linden, Ala., and Mr. Rudolph Eiland, of Montgomery.

There were five visitors present. They were: Emily Kemp, of Coosada, Ray Moody, of Montgomery, Jerry Corbon, of Birmingham, Mrs. J. R. Saterson, of Verbena, and Miss Ettie Charles Wilkins, of Verbena.

There was a total of 49 members of the family and five visitors present.

Everyone enjoyed the day very much. Late in the afternoon all departed to their respective homes, hoping that every member of the family may attend the reunion next year.

What Irvin S. Cobb Thinks about

Japs Killing Chinamen

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—The formula still holds good. A Jap kills a Chinaman. That's another dead Chinaman. A Chinaman kills a Jap. That's a war.

But before we get too busy deploring Japan's little way of disregarding pledges so as to gobble more Chinese territory let us look at some records closer home. Since the republic was formed we have deliberately broken 264 separate treaties with the original Red owners of this land.

Irvin S. Cobb

From these violations of our solemn promises border wars frequently ensued. When the Indians started fighting we called it an uprising. When we sent troops forth to slaughter the Indians it was a punitive expedition to restore law and order. If the white soldiers wiped out the Indians that was a battle. If the Indians wiped out the soldiers that was a massacre.

Those who make history rarely get a square deal from those who write history.

Keeping Undercover.

THIS is the land where, in self-protection, you hide your place of residence and have your telephone privately listed. The result is, if your aged grandmother happens along and doesn't know your address, she can never reach you, but any smart stranger may approach the right party—let us call him a 'phone-legger—and, by payment of a small fee, get the number instantly.

So, in about two calls out of three, you answer the ring to find at the other end of the line somebody with a neat little scheme, because here in movieland neat little schemes grow on every bush and gentlemen promoting them are equally numerous.

Through long suffering, I've become hardened to this, but today over the wire came a winning voice saying the speaker desired to give me, as he put it, "a checking over for white termites."

I admit to a touch of dandruff and there have been times when I suspected fleas—we excel in fleas on this coast—but I resent the idea of also being infested with white termites.

I've about decided that, to modern civilization, telephones are what cooties are to a war—nobody likes 'em, but everybody has 'em.

Camera Sniping.

SNAPSHOOTING of famous folks from ambush may be upsetting to the victims of the sniping, but the subscribing public certainly gets an illuminating eyeful every time one of the photographic magazines appears.

I've just laid aside the current copy of a periodical which could be called either "The Weekly Expose" or "Stop, Look and Laugh." Among other fascinating, not to say illusioning, illustrations, I note the following:

A reigning movie queen with her mouth so wide open that her face looked like a "gates ajar" design. If I had tonsils like hers, I'd have 'em right out.

A political idol taken in a brief one-piece bathing suit. Next time they snap him, he would be well advised to wear more than a mere g-string. A Mother Hubbard would be better. Or, anyhow, a toga. A statesman is greatly handicapped when he suggests a barrel of leaflard with the staves knocked out.

A close-up of Mr. John L. Lewis with the lips pouting out and a congested expression. Would not this tend to confirm the impression that lately Mr. Lewis bit off more than he could chew?

This candid camera stuff is translating into the pictorial fact the nightmare all of us have had—that horrid dream of being caught outdoors with practically nothing on.

Field Days for Reds.

UNDER the warming suns of tolerance and indifference and even tacit encouragement in certain quarters, many of our hot-house communists are changing from the pallid, timorous flowerlets of discontent into full-blown advocates of the glad new age when Lenin will take over Lincoln's niche in the gallery of the immortals and government everywhere will be of the Trotskys, but the Trotskys, for the Trotskys.

True, there still remain some wavering souls who are so pink they'd be red if they weren't so yellow!

But these quivering aspens shrink in number as their bolder comrades openly profess the blessed doctrine which is doing so much for the undertaking business in Russia.

SOCIETY

Colley-Mullins—

Troy, Ala., Aug. 17. — The marriage of Miss Sara Colley and Mr. Reese Mullins, of Clanton, was beautifully solemnized Sunday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock at the First Baptist church, which was beautifully decorated with ferns, palms and smilax, forming a background for baskets holding lovely tube roses, clematis and white crepe myrtle. Seven-branched candelabra held white burning tapers, making a lovely setting for the wedding scene.

Dr. J. O. Colley, father of the bride, officiated in the presence of a large assemblage.

A program of nuptial music was rendered with Mrs. Frank Whaley, organist, and Mr. Herman Moll, violinist. Violin solo, "Just A Song At Twilight," was played while the ushers lighted the candles. Vocal solo, "Still As The Night," by Bohm, was rendered by Woodrow Boone. "At Dawning," by Cadman, was sung by Mrs. George Rainer. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was used as a processional, and the Bridal Chorus by Whener, was recessional. "Call Me Thine Own" was softly played during the ceremony.

The ushers, Mr. Judson Colley and Mr. Jess Hall Colley, brothers of the bride, entered first, followed by the maid of honor, Miss Bertha Gibbs Colley, only sister of the bride. Next came the matron of honor, Mrs. J. O. Colley, Jr. They were gowned alike in Schapparelli blue net trimmed with bands of matching velvet ribbon and bolero jackets.

Their hats were net wth twsts of velvet, off-the-face models. They carried arm bouquets of talisman roses.

The bride entered with her brother, Dr. J. O. Colley, Jr., by whom she was given in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom, Mr. Reese Mullins, and the best man, Mr. Burton Mullins, of Eufaula.

The bride was lovely in a white mousseline-de-soie with which she wore a short veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

She is the elder daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James O. Colley and is possessed of much charm.

She graduated from the Troy State Teachers College and the Judson College. She taught the past few years at Clanton and met with marked success.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Reese Mullins of Clanton. He attended school at Auburn and later attended the University of Alabama. He holds a position with the government at Clanton.

Immediately after the marriage Mr. Mullins and his bride left for a wedding trip to points in Florida, after which they will go to Clanton to make their home.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. Reese Mullins, Miss Margaret Floyd, Miss Ruth Sessions, Mr. Ed Mullins, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Edgar, Mrs. J. C. Jones, Mrs. J. W. Shepherd, Joe Rumble, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Little, Miss Edith Green, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Downs, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Willis, of Clanton; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mills of Miami, Fla.; and Mr. and Mrs. Burton Mullins of Eufaula.

Study Club Members Enjoy Luncheon at Gulledge Camp—

Members of the Clanton Study Club and their guests enjoyed a delightful outing at Gulledge Camp last Friday.

After a tempting lunch, served by Mrs. Billingsley, games were enjoyed. In the match contest, Mrs. Renfro Mullins won high score and was awarded a prize.

The outing was given in honor of Mrs. M. F. Jones, who for the past two years has been the Club's most efficient president.

Enjoying the day were following Club members: Mesdames J. P. Hayes, Renfro Mullins, Joe Mullins, Watts Moore, J. W. Hayes, M. L. White, Horton Walker, J. E. Gowan, M. F. Jones, and John Kimmey.

IN MEMORY

Wednesday night, at 11:30 o'clock, the death angel visited the home of Mr. Aub Barnett and took away his wife, Mrs. Nannie Barnett. She was ill for some time. She was a member of the church and lived a devoted life.

She leaves to morn her death her husband, two sons, one daughter, and nine grandchildren; one daughter-in-law, her mother, two sisters, four brothers, and a host of friends.

Weap not, dear children, she is only gone to rest. God called her out of her suffering and pain here on earth. She will be waiting for all of you at heaven's golden gates. So, just say goodby, God help I meet her.—A Friend.

State Capitol News

Montgomery, Aug. 22. — Fires kindled under dozens of political pots had been fanned into brisk blazes today as proponents of candidates to succeed Hugo L. Black in the United States senate bestirred themselves into off-year election activity.

From the high seas, returning to America from England, whence he had gone with a veterans' commission, Congressman Lister Hill of Montgomery, radioed that he was definitely a candidate.

Congressman Sam Hobbs, of Selma, is reported making a thorough check on sentiment before announcing.

There has been a lull in the senatorial boom for Congressman Henry B. Steagall of Ozark, since he recently demurred to making such a campaign.

Congressman Frank Boykin, of Mobie, was reported canvassing the situation, while from the Guntersville district came reports of an active campaign started in behalf of the energetic Joe Starnes.

J. Thomas Heflin, of LaFayette, with a background of 20 years in both houses of congress, was one of the first to declare himself a candidate. Mr. Heflin, a colorful figure, even in the anti-Smith war of 1928, which retired Heflin from the U. S. Senate, retains a strong following over the state and his friends are claiming he will be one of the two high men in the run-off primary.

J. Miller Bonner, of Camden, dean of the senate in the Alabama legislature, and an ardent prohibitionist, is considering making the race.

Many have attempted, thus far without success, to obtain a formal announcement from Donald Comer, Birmingham industrialist and adviser to President Roosevelt on textile matters.

Tyler Goodwin, Montgomery attorney, and veteran legislator, has been proposed, without his acquiescence, as a candidate.

Alabamians in Washington, headed by Gov. Graves, Rep. Joe Starnes of Guntersville, and others "looking after the state's interests", gave the New Deal plum tree a severe jolt during the week, with residents of rural sections the principal beneficiaries. President Roosevelt signed the Hobbs bill, releasing to the state $3,000,000 as "reward" for freeing its 16 toll bridges.

A state-wide appeal for more careful observance of traffic safety laws was issued from the executive office this week with the disclosure that records kept to date from 1925 show 3,504 persons killed on Alabama highways in some form of traffic accident.

The data for 1936 through July 31, 1937, shows 644 persons killed, with many casualties as yet unreported. The number of injured in the state was in excess of 10,000, with the list growing daily. Speeding and reckless driving were given as the principal cause of the accidents.

The troublesome water question in further development of Monte Sano state park near Huntsville has been solved through leasing the water rights to a giant spring located on adjacent property owned by the Mills Estate, Page S. Bunker, state forester, has announced. The water will be pumped the short distance to a 75,000-gallon reservoir, from where it will go out over the park's distribution system.

The Autauga County Chapter of the American Red Cross announces establishment of a full time first aid station at Prattmont, busy intersection on the Birmingham - Montgomery highway 12 miles from Montgomery. The station is being established in cooperattion with the National Red Cross Highway Safety Campaign.

A SURPRISE PARTY

The many friends of Miss Mary Sue Porter entertained her with a surprise party at her home in Thorsby on Thursday evening, August 19, in honor of her birthday. Several interesting games were played among which was a chewing-gum modeling contest. Many comical designs were made. Miss Porter proved her modeling ability by designing a surprisingly well proportioned tortoise. After the games, Mrs. E. C. Cox presented a beautiful cake to Miss Porter. Ice cream and cake were served which everyone greatly enjoyed.

Three of the scores of buildings to be constructed on Treasure Island will not be razed when the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition is ended. They are the two giant hangars and the airport terminal building, for the site of the Exposition will revert to an air field at the conclusion of the Pageant of the Pacific.

Gen. William E. Gilmore, now an official of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, was one of nine men in the West Point class of 1900 who attained rank of general in the United States army.

So long as the land continues to wash away, opportunity for young Americans is being lost with it.

FOLKS call me "Old Reliable" —guess that's because I've been on the job serving the South so long—eighty-seven years in fact.

We have so much in common, Neighbor, I'd like to get better acquainted with you, but with 5,000 miles of road spread over 13 states and millions of dollars worth of equipment to look after and all—it seems hard to find time to visit with all our friends.

But here's what I really want to say. The biggest job we both have is home-making. Yours, for the care, protection and happiness of your family and community. Ours, for the comfort and pleasure of thousands of families using our railroad—and the dependable moving of everyday commodities. We have much the same problems; food to buy, furniture to replace, taxes to pay, civic duties to perform.

So, if you just think of the L & N as the "Friendly Railroad"—as a home owner, like yourself—a respectable, useful citizen who for nearly a century has had a hand in building towns and cities and industries, helping support schools and churches and highways, giving employment to thousands, well, you'll have a true picture of American Railroads. You'll understand why we proudly call the L & N "Your Home Sweet Home on Rails"—and with your friendship and help we're going to keep right on making that Home safer, more comfortable, more enjoyable.

And Neighbor, here's our hand on it.

aerogene WAVE..

COOL . . . LIGHT . . . SAFE . . . COMFORTABLE

It's impossible to over-heat your scalp or your hair during an Aerogene wave. And it "takes a load off your shoulders" . . . for no heavy metal heaters are used to bow down your head.

An entirely new modern principle is used in giving this wave. After the light little Aerogene Sachets are folded on your hair, a toy-train current (only 4 volts) flows through them. A minimum amount of waving heat is created. Your hair will be actually softer and in better condition after an Aerogene . . . and the wave definitely lasts longer.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

STORE FRESH FRUITS NOW TO BE USED THIS WINTER

Auburn. — Most farmers can or dry some fruits each year but few attempt to store the fruit fresh for winter use. "Thousands of bushels of apples and pears could be wisely stored on Alabama farms each year for use during winter months," advises Hubert Harris of the horticultural department of the Alabama Experiment Station.

Mr. Harris says that there are four important essentials for the proper storage of apples and pears—(1) fairly low and uniform temperature; (2) rather high humidity; (3) proper ventilation; (4) sanitation.

An underground cellar, properly constructed, makes a very good farm stoarge house. By opening the ventilators all the way during nights and partly closing them during the day the temperature can be kept fairly low. Humidity can be kept high during the day by sprinkling the floor or by placing wet sacks on it. The storage house can be kept sanitary by thorough cleaning, spraying with Bordeaux mixture, and by storing only clean fruit.

Fruit should be picked by hand when "hard ripe". It should never be shaken or frailed to the ground. Likewise, it should be handled very carefully to prevent bruising. Baskets or boxes make good containers for handling the fruit. Do not use sacks. The fruit should be graded carefully, wrapped in paper, and packed in baskets or boxes which are placed on shelves in the storage house.

Some varieties of fruits are better adapted for storage than others. The Yates apple ripens late, develops good quality, keeps in storage for a long time, and is the best apple for home storage in Alabama. Stayman Winesap, Winesap, Ben Davis, and others store well. Kieffer and Carpenter pears keep well if properly stored.

OATS EXCELLENT FEED FOR SPRING MONTHS

Auburn. — Alabama farmers can grow large quantities of spring feed by planting oats during the fall months.

Oats should be planted on good land in September and the first of October, advises J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist. They should be planted at the rate of two bushels per acre and the seed should be treated for smut.

Farmers desiring latest information on how to succeed with oats are advised by Mr. Lowery to see their county agents or vocational teachers who have recently been sent the latest findings of the Alabama Experiment Station.

STATE FARMERS ADVISED PLANT WINTER GARDENS

Auburn. — Farmers throughout Alabama are being advised to plant vegetables during August and Steptember for use this winter.

Some of the vegetables that can still be planted are turnips, mustard, lettuce, kale, spinach, tendergreens, and onions, advises Prof. L. M. Ware, head of the horticulture department, Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

"Planting of these vegetables may continue in North Alabama until September 10, in Central Alabama until September 20, and in South Alabama throughout October," he says.

Full information on how to succeed with winter gardens may be obtained from farm and home agents and vocational teachers. They have been sent bulletins on gardening in Alabama.

FARMERS ADVISED TO BUY REAL ABRUZZI RYE

Auburn. — Be certain to obtain real Abruzzi rye seed when purchasing that variety, warns L. N. Allen, seed analyst of the State Department of Agriculture who has found that other varieties are often substituted for Abruzzi.

"Farmers should buy Abruzzi seed from a territory where Abruzzi is commonly grown and refuse seed not completely labeled," he advises. "When seed are offered at abnormally low prices it is well to make careful inquiry and keep rceords showing the representations made by the seller."

Farmers obtaining seed they suspect of being misbranded should report it to Mr. Allen in the State Department of Agriculture in Montgomery, who cooperates with the U. S. Department in prosecuting sellers violating the Federal Seed Act.

HELP KIDNEYS

To Get Rid of Acid and Poisonous Waste

Your kidneys help to keep you well by constantly filtering waste matter from the blood. If your kidneys get functionally disordered and fail to remove excess impurities, there may be poisoning of the whole system and body-wide distress.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination may be a warning of some kidney or bladder disturbance.

You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Use Doan's Pills. A multitude of grateful people recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for August 29

GOD CONDEMNS INTEMPERANCE.

LESSON TEXT—Leviticus 10:1, 2, 8-11; Proverbs 31:4, 5; Isaiah 28:1-8; Romans 14:21.

GOLDEN TEXT—Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise. Prov. 20:1.

PRIMARY TOPIC.—What a Wise King said.

JUNIOR TOPIC—When a Man Drinks.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Drinking Harms Others.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Why Beverage Alcohol Is a Social Foe.

The use of intoxicating liquors is financially unprofitable to the nation, scientifically unwise and destructive, socially degrading, and morally wrong.

I. The Problem.

The selected Old Testament scriptures which comprise our lesson present the use of intoxicants as causing four socially undesirable results.

1. Religious disobedience (Lev. 10:1,2; Isa. 28:7). Two things we may rightfully expect of those who serve the nation in its religious life: (1) a vision of God and obedience to that vision in life and service, and (2) the exercise of sound God-guided judgment in the affairs of the people. But note what happens when the prophet and the priest turn to wine and strong drink. "They err in vision" (Isa. 28:7). That is, they have no clear concepts of divine truth, and lead the people into error. Further, we see that "they stumble in judgment." To every true servant of God comes repeatedly the opportunity and the need of rendering judgment, that is, of advising and counselling those to whom he ministers. If his mind is befuddled by the use of alcohol (or, for that matter, of any other kind of worldly indulgence) he will "stumble," and cause his people to stumble.

A sad incident is related in Lev. 10:1,2 of the sons of Aaron, appointed to the priesthood and instructed in its privileges and duties, but coming with strange fire to be offered before the Lord. Swift and terrible was the judgment they received. We are not told directly that they were intoxicated, but it is implied in the fact that there is an immediate injunction against the use of wine by the priests.

Lest someone think that such a thing could not happen in our day the writer mentions word which recently came to him that a leading seminary has professors on its staff who defend the so-called moderate use of alcoholic drink.

2. Political disorder (Prov. 1:5). While political leaders make sanctimonious protestations that government agencies are not influenced by the liquor interests, it is common knowledge to even those who are slightly informed that the two are closely associated. The result of that unholy alliance is rightly described in Prov. 31:5—"They forget the law, and pervert the judgment of any of the afflicted." Much of the sad disorder in the body politic is traceable directly to the door of the makers and sellers of alcoholic beverages.

3. National decay (Isa. 28:1-6). "Overcome with wine"—stricken down, useless in life, without true ambition, such is the picture of the man who gives himself to drink. Poverty, with all its attendant social problems, follows on the heels of the sale and use of intoxicants. Some liquor dealers are beginning to sense a rising tide of opposition to their business, and are advertising, "We do not want bread money," but the fact is that it is all too often bread money that goes for liquor, and the vile stuff is still on sale where the poor man may readily spend his "bread money" for it.

4. Personal degradation (Isa. 28:8). "Vomit and filthiness" are not very nice words, but they describe accurately the ultimate condition of the drinker and his surroundings. The writer knows a young man who boasts that he never gets drunk because the "booze" makes him so sick that he vomits it up. Imagine a supposedly intelligent man drinking stuff so vile that his stomach (evidently having more sense than his head) sends it back—and then boasting of his ability to drink more!

II. The Solution, a Divine Principle (Rom. 14:21).

Thousands of Christian people have solved not only the drink problem, but practically every question of conduct and social life by applying this principle. Surely no true follower of Christ will be guilty of doing anything that will cause any brother to be offended, to stumble, or to be made weak.

Foundations

The foundation of domestic happiness is faith in the virtue of woman; the foundation of political happiness is confidence in the integrity of man; the foundation of happiness, temporal and eternal, is reliance on the goodness of God.—Landor.

LEGUMES VALUABLE IN CONTROLLING EROSION

Auburn, Aug. 22.—Austrian winter peas, hairy vet and crimson clover can be used by farmers in controlling erosion on their farms.

Tests by the Aabama Experiment Station gave the following results:

On land with a 5 per cent slope the soil losses on an acre planted to vetch were only 3,784 pounds compared with 27,564 pounds per acre without vetch. On land with a 10 per cent slope the losses were 6,392 pounds following vetch compared with 90,218 without vetch. On land with a 15 per cent slope the losses were 14,767 pounds following vetch compared with 135,179 without vetch. On land with a 20 per cent slope the losses totaled 19,675 following vetch compared with 182,562 pounds without vetch.

PASTURES

It takes more than a few strands of rusty barbed wire stretched around a worn out field to make a pasture, according to James H. Wood, Superintendent of the Soil Conservation Service area near Clanton.

Many of the old pastures in the area are severely eroded, Mr. Wood says, largely because the land was severely eroded before it was put in pasture. When a good sod is established it controls erosion and provides an almost immediate return in low cost feed.

In establishing new pastures on eroded land, contour furrows help to control erosion and also conserve the moisture which aids in getting a good sod established. Plowing in small gullies before constructing the furrows is usually recommended.

Large gullies sometimes require the diverting of water that flows into them before they can be stabilized by vegetative growth. Small galled spots can be revegetated more readily by broadcasting manure over them or mulching these areas.

After contour furrows have been constructed the next step in providing a good sod is to seed to a good pasture mixture the disturbed area and other portions of the pasture where vegetation is insufficient.

County Agent J. W. Fant or officials of the Soil Conservation Service will be glad to furnish information on contour furrowing and seeding pastures to control erosion and provide a maximum amount of grazing during the year.

Gold in paying quantities can be "panned" on San Francisco's 1939 Exposition site, miners explaining this by saying river currents have washed the gold bearing sand into a pocket at the site.

Scale models of western fruit drying yards, which process 97 per cent of the nation's evaporated fruit, will be displayed at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

More than 200 hydrants are being installed on the grounds of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition for fire protection.

The $16,000,000 construction project of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition has one of the lowest accident rates of any building program of comparable size ever attempted.

An exhibit of the new process of quick freezing fruits and vegetables for market will be one of the features of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

A new type of safety device employed by workmen on the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition locks the safety rope only in case of a fall or sudden descent.

Sheet erosion, not revealed by the tell-tale gullies, is amazingly destructive.

LIBERTY HILL

There will be a special conference here the first Sunday in September, (the 5th), to elect church officers, and to attend to any other business of the church. All members are requested to be present.—D. W. Ward, chairman.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

On last Sunday, August 22, a birthday dinner was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hand of Highland community, in honor of the latter's father, Mr. S. L. Hawk, of Wetumpka, celebrating his 68th birhtday. All his children and grandchildren were present except one grandson. Those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hand and nine children of Highland community, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Clark and five children of Floyd, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Hawk and four children of Wetumpka, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Paterson and three children of Highland, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hand and daughter of Clanton, Mrs. Gaddis Martin and five children of Wetumpka, and Mrs. A. L. Collins and son of Montgomery. Others beside the family were Jim Edwards of Floyd, Miss Verma Collins of Highand, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Patterson and son of Clanton, Mrs. R. C. Hand of Clanton.

Dinner was spread in the beautiful oak grove in the yard. In the afternoon several groups of pictures were made. All enjoyed the day until time to say goodbye and depart for their homes.

We hope to spend many more happy birthdays together in years to come.—Mrs. W. H. Hand.

MT CARMEL

Mrs. Curtis Sewell and children are spending this week with relatives.

Mr. Tom Foshee is still in the Hospital, but is improving some.

A lot of the Sunday School members were visiting sick ones Sunday. We hope all members can be present the first Sunday in next month, as we want to reorganize.

Mrs. Hattie Lenoir and daughter, Willie Mae, were callers of Mrs. H. S. Sewell last Friday afternoon.

Miss Gladys Oden spent part of last week at Shoults.

Mrs. Raymond Oden and baby visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gaydon Sunday.

Mr. Bill Haigler, of Maplesville, spent Saturday night with J. D. Sanders and family.

Miss Eula Sanders is visiting at Billingsley.

Mr. and Mrs. Crit Oden and Mr. W. M. Oden, of Shoults, spent Wednesday afternoon of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Silas Oden.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Higgins and family and Mrs. Paul Burton, of Montgomery, visited relatives here this week end.

Mr. Lucion Higgins and son, Albert, of Sylacauga, visited Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Higgins Saturday night.

Miss Rubie Mae Higgins returned from a visit in Montgomery a week, and reported a nice time.

Mr. Phil Childress visited Mr. G. B. Higgins Monday.

Game birds and animals are finding a new friend these days in the Soil Conservation Service. The reason for this new friendship is because Service technicians see to it that some of the vegetation used to control soil erosion also provides food and cover for wild life.

The soap industry is by far the largest of the industrial consumers of fats and oils in the United States, using about 1½ billion pounds annually.

A freight train 200 miles long would be required to transport material required in building of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

A Tour of Mexico

Mexico as a land of mystery—at least where the motorist is concerned—will soon be no more. As a country of glamour and romance, of unsurpassed natural beauty, of inspiring contrast between a civilization that was and one that is to be, and of new challenge to the exploring traveler, Mexico as a tourist mecca soon will have new appeal as a result of the mapping of the country's roadways by James D. McClure, American map-maker.

Commissioned by the Mexican government and working in close cooperation with departmnets of education, interior, forestry, fish and game, communications and highways, McClure and his bride recently completed a 14-months' tour of the country, an extension of what was to have been a 6-months' honeymoon jaunt.

After covering more than 22,500 miles in their survey of Mexican highway facilities, the McClures returned recently to this country with this report:

"It is absolutely safe to motor in Mexico."

That is the one fact motorists to Mexico should know, said McClure, a National Automobile Road Scout and authorized investigator for the Mexican Automobile Association, as well as the national tourist department.

According to McClure, Mexico has performed miracles in carrying out her tremendous program of highway construction. The first completed link in her network, and the first division of the proposed Pan-American highway to the Panama Canal, is the excellent road between Laredo, Tex., and Mexico City, D. F., the nation's capital.

Mexican engineers have spanned the desert barrier just south of the Rio Grande, pierced the jungle lowlands of the "tierra caliente", and crossed the lofty peaks of the Sierra Occidente onto the high plateau where lies Mexico City. Excepting a short stretch now being paved, the McClures report, this entire route may be traveled in comfort and safety—the section under construction is rough but passable.

For the first time, the American motorist may drive his own car from any part of temperate America directly into the tropics, if he continues south from Mexico City 300 miles, over good, safe roads, to Acapulco, a city set in tropic surroundings which might have been lifted bodily from some South Seas paradise.

"Picking orchids in the morning and having a snowball battle in the afternoon," stated McClure, "are comparisons which show the nature of the country through which we traveled, but they also testify to the diversified conditions under which our Chevrolet was operated.

"From sea level to volcano summit; from the extreme heat and humidity of the lowlands to the cold rarefied atmosphere of the mountain top, without carburetor adjustment, our car made an excellent showing, without noticeable depreciation in power or performance."

Obviously looking for the most adverse traveling conditions, the McClures drove over burro trails that never had felt the imprint of auto tires; on crude roads built for primitive native vehicles; through swamp land and mountain passes never before undertaken by auto.

The honeymooning couple, who drove a standard half-ton panel Chevrolet truck, reported a mileage record of 18.3 miles per gallon, and economical oil consumption. This showing was made in spite of the fact that the engine was tuned but once on the entire jaunt, and in spite of the fact it was necessary to omit changing oil in one period when they covered 8,000 miles of rugged travel.

"One five-week trip of ours can best be visualized by thinking of a continuous—and mighty bad—detour from Seattle to San Diego," said McClure, "and I mean a detour that would have been called bad 50 years ago!"

The McClure itinerary took in the four principal roads of Mexico as well as the uncharted by-paths. These main highways are from Laredo to Mexico City, Mexico City to Acapulco, Mexico City to Vera Cruz, and Mexico City to Guadalajara. Those roads are logged mile for mile by the American map-maker, and thoroughly photographed. The work of the McClures has been lauded by the Mexican government, while their maps have been certified as official by all interested government departments.

"It is safe to say," stated McClure, "that in our travels from sea level in the tropics to an elevation of 15,000 feet, we encountered every conceivable type of road and operating condition under which a car could perform. And we have nothing but praise for the performance of our Chevrolet. Rugged and dependable, combining thrift and power, that car took the worst Mexico had to offer—and came through with flying colors every mile of the way."

VOLUME 45.—TEN PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1937 NUMBER 20

Union-Banner To Give Chevrolet Coach As First Grand Prize Of The Big Circulation Campaign

Several Hundred Dollars To Be Given Away In Automobile, Cash Prizes and Commissions To Be Distributed To Workers Who Can Produce

The Union-Banner will distribute upward of $2,000 in an automobile, cash, and commissions in the next few weeks to those in Chilton County and surrounding territory who are willing to devote a part of their spare time in securing subsciptions among their friends and acquaintances, both new and renewals.

The work is easy and will pay you more for your spare time than you can hope to make at anything else devoting your entire time. Every one who enters is assured a prize or a cash commission.

Heading the list of prizes is one of the new Chevrolet Coaches, fully equiped and valued at $730.00. Think of being able to be the proud owner of a brand new automobile in return for a small amount of your spare time devoted among your friends and acquaintances in work that is educational and dignified.

Then there are the four cash prizes that anyone should be proud to receive, besides a 20 per cent commission to every non prize winner.

Equal Chance For All

Candidates, regardless of where they reside, have an equal chance with all at each prize. There is no required number of subscriptions or number of dollars that anyone must turn in to be eligible for any prize. All the prizes are awarded on votes, which are obtainable in two ways.

The very same thing that you meet and have to contend with must be met and overcome by others. Therefore there will be no handicaps for one that will not exist for all.

It costs nothing to enter and win the very largest prize. You have nothing invested but the time that you devote and have assurance that you must win one of the prizes or paid a cash commission for every dollar turned in. Can you really think of anything more liberal where you stand to earn up to almost $75 a week for your spare time during the next few weeks?

Some may hesitate about entering feeling that they can't devote their entire time. This is a spare time proposition and you can devote as much or as little as you desire. It is not so much a question of time as it is the way we utilize the time we do have to devote.

We all have our circle of friends and acquaintances who will assist us when perhaps they would not assist anyone else, therefore you can sell subscriptions that no one else can get.

This campaign is something new to this section of Alabama and is not to be confused with the old ordinary campaigns that perhaps you have observed in the past. It will be conducted in a fair and impartial manner to everyone concerned from start to finish. Every precaution has been taken to safeguard the interest of all candidates. Come in today and have this unusual money-making plan explained to you fully. This will not place you under any obligations, as you are the sole judge as to the merits.

Candidates Wanted

Candidates are wanted from every section that is served by The Union-Banner. This campaign is not restricted to Chilton county. The more candidates entered, the easier it will be for anyone to win. You see it is just like this: Say there were two men running for office in Chilton County. One would need more than fifty per cent of the votes to win while if there were ten running for the same office, one could win with a little over ten per cent of the votes. Don't you get the idea?

This is worthy of anyone's serious consideration. Here you have the opportunity staring you in the face to make your spare time the most valuable perhaps you have ever spent. This too, without any investment whatever.

It does not place you under any obligations whatever to find out the plans of this unusual campaign.

If not convenient for you to call at the office personally, write a card today and a representative will gladly call at your convenience and explain.

In this issue of The Union-Banner you will find a nomination blank, which when filled out with your name and address, will credit you with 10,000 free votes to start with. Turn to this today and make the start that you will always be proud of.

The campaign office of The Union-Banner will be open each evening until six o'clock to receive nominations and votes. Decide now and make your start for that new Chevrolet.

SPECIAL SERVICES SUNDAY AT CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Dr. S. J. Ezell Begins Sixteenth Year As Pastor Of This Place

There will be special services at Clanton Baptist church next Sunday, when Dr. S. J. Ezell will preach his anniversary sermon, beginning his sixteenth year as pastor of the church. Coming here in 1922, he has rounded fifteen years of service in Clanton.

Dr. S. J. Ezell hopes that all members of the church, who possibly can, will be present next Sunday. All are invited to come and invite their friends to do likewise.

THE WEIGHTOGRAPH AT PLANTERS GIN

Mr. John Deramus, of Planters Gin, is boasting of a new device in his warehouse here known as the weightograph. The Banner man went down and looked over the device, and so far as we were able to ascertain, it is everything that John claims it to be.

It is an electric affair placed on the business end of the regular yard scales. When something is placed on the scales, big figures in electric lights appear with an arrow pointing to the exact weight to a fraction of a pound.

Mr. Deramus says that this device assures correct weight of the ginned bale of cotton, and no weigher has occasion to misread the figures. It is absolutely fool proof, and is the only one anywhere in this part of the state, except Selma has one. There is one in Montgomery. Mr. Deramus is proud of the weightograph, and we believe he is justly so.

High Schools To Open Next Monday Morning

The High Schools of Chilton county will open ther doors for a nine-months session next Monday morning, September 6th. Those to open are: Chilton county high school, Jemison, Isabella, Maplesville, Verbena. Four grade schools will open on the same date, namely: Clanton Elementary, Ala. Mills, Lay Dam, and Mitchell Dam. Two colored schools will open on the same date—County Training and Clanton Elementary.

Enterprise Junior High School will open on next Monday, September 6th. The elementary classes will not open until October 5th.

All the other schools of the county will open on Tuesday, October 5th, after the county institute is held on Monday, October 4th.

Mrs. L. C. Ross will open her kindergarten on September 10th. Those wishing to enroll in either the first grade or the kindergarten will please get in touch with her.

Tax Collector Explains About Homestead Laws

T. L. McKee Writes Urging All Taxpayers To Obtain Exemption Blanks

To the taxpayers of Chilton County:

As you all know, the legislature passed an Act to give you Homestead Exemption, which we all very much appreciate. I would like to insist that it is every taxpayer's duty to apply for this before October 1st, as you know that is the beginning of another tax year and it will be compulsory for you to have this certificate before you pay your taxes. I do not know of any greater loss than that which is caused by neglect of doing your duty, and it is a duty that you owe to yourself and your family to get your certificate before October 1st.—T. L. McKee, Tax Collector.

MISS MILDRED MAHAN MARRIED TO JACK ARMSTRONG

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Mildred Mahan to Mr. Jack Armstrong. They will make thefr home in Birmingham, where he is working for an oil company.

Mildred is the daughter of Mrs. George Mahan of Clanton. Jack is the son of Mrs. Annie Armstrong. The Banner extends congratulations.

Mrs. J. E. Evans and Julian Evans visited Montgomery Sunday.

YELLOW FRONT STORE IS NOW REMODELED AND READY TO GO

Mr. D. L. Blackketter, manager of Yellow Front Store in Clanton, announces that his store is in complete readiness for the trade of this section, it having undergone a complete renovation after the space was doubled a few weeks ago.

This week a kind of introductory sale is being held at that store, the main purpose of which is to acquaint the public of the many advantages which will be afforded then by trading at the new Yellow Front. Many attractive bargains are offered, the main ones of which are mentioned in a large advertisement in this week's Union-Banner.

The arrangement at the Yellow Front since the remodeling is most attractive and handy. Everything is placed out in plain view and may be seen by the customers. The price on most of the stuff is displayed in big figures so that all may see. The items are all grouped, so that whatever a customer wants may be easily located. All piece goods are in one section, shirts in one, hosiery in one, groceries in one, Etc. Mr. Blackketter especially mentions his two new coffee grinders, and says that no one will have to wait for his coffee. An invitation is extended the people of this county to come in and look over the new Yellow Front and its nice line of goods.

Dr. V. J. Gragg Writes About County Fair

Well, we are going to have it. Yes sir, we are going to have a county fair right here in Clanton. Yes, it is going to be a real agricultural fair.

Of course, it might have been larger, had some better agricultural and live stock exhibits, etc., if we had settled the matter the first of the year like I tried to get done, and given our farmers a chance ot do their best all the year in preparing and getting ready to "show their stuff" when the time came.

But that is water over the dam, and should not be mentioned.

Let everybody put a shoulder to the wheel, push forward and make a determined effort, and we will carry it over with roaring success.

Now folks — farmers, their wives, sons and daughters — get busy at once, right now, not tomorrow, and let's put it over. This will be a try-out, then we can start right next time with a full year ahead to do the thing in grand style and in a big way. But right now we have the present fair on our hands, and have only a short time to go.

The Kiwanis Club is sponsoring this for the benefit of our farmers and business men, and you know the Kiwanians do things. But why let them do it alone? It is for the benefit of all. Let's all get in and help put it over.—V. J. GRAGG.

LOCAL BASEBALL SEASON IS CLOSING THIS WEEK END

A letter from R. D. Woodson, business manager of the Lay Dam Baseball Club says:

"Lay Dam will play Buck Creek in Clanton Thursday, September 2, at 3:15 p.m. This will probably be our last game this year in Clanton. We are trying to get one for Sunday (at Lay Dam) — a season final."

So if you want to give the old 1937 baseball season a last look, take in the game here Thursday (today). If the Lay Dam management succeeds in getting a game for Sunday, due advertisement will be made of it. Look for it, and attend the last game of the season!

LITTLE DONALD LEWIS MARTIN IS NOW DOING WELL

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Martin, born August 20th, has been named Donald Lewis. At the time we went to press last week, the infant was very ill, but the many friends of the family will be pleased to learn that it has very definitely improved and seems to be on the upward road now.

DANCE AT PRATTVILLE

The Union-Banner has been requested to publish the following:

"Dance on Prattville's best dance floor to the tuneful melodies of The Kilbians — Prattville Armory, Friday evening, September 3, 9:00 'til —? Benefit Armory fund. Scrip $1. You and your friends have a cordial invitation."

REV. L. J. COOPER CLOSED A SUCCESSFUL CAMPAIGN IN CITY

The L. J. Cooper revival at the tent in Clanton came to a successful close, right at the height of its interest, last Sunday night, after having run for 24 days. The evangelist pulled stakes, loaded up the benches, and left for Morton, Miss., Monday morning, where he will be engaged in a three-weeks meeting.

Rev. Cooper brought to Clanton some of the plainest and soundest preaching of the gospel that has ever been delivered here. He did the kind of preaching the effects of which are plainly visible, and which endure. It has stirred the whole city as well as a great portion of the county. Beyond any doubt, much good has been accomplished for the city by Evangelist Cooper having come here and preached for these 24-days.

At the close of services Sunday night, at which a crowded tent attended in a downpour of rain, a unanimous vote was cast by the audience asking Rev. Cooper to return to Clanton for another meeting next year or some time soon.

Negro Slays Wife Here Last Sunday Afternoon

Bud Kendrick, age about 30 years, is in jail in Clanton, having admitted the killing of his wife at their home in Mullins section last Sunday afternoon about three o'clock. The negro man used a single barrel shotgun, and emptied the load in his wife's shoulder and neck. She died within a few minutes. City and county officers went to the scene, and Kendrick offered no resistance to being arrested; he stated that he was shooting at another negro man and his wife stepped in the path of the shot. But not much credence was placed in this statement. A young baby was also shot, it being in the arms of its mother at the time she was shot it is said.

There was no evidence of drinking, according to officers making the investigation.

JOHN W. CLECKLER SUCCUMBED TO ORGANIC AILMENT

Prominent Citizen of Beat 16 Buried at Providence Wednesday Morning

John William Cleckler, age 60 years, died at South Highland Infirmary, Birmingham, Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Funeral and burial were Wednesday morning at Providence, Martin and Sons in charge. Services were conducted by Revs. G. G. Williams and W. W. Robinson.

Besides his second wife, surviving are six sons and five daughters. Among the sons are: Doyard, Russell, Frank, Irvin, and two smaller ones. Marjorine and Irene are the two older girls, there being three smaller ones.

John Cleckler will be missed in Beat 16 and in Chilton County. He was a likable sort of fellow, making friends wherever he went. He was a useful citizen to his neighborhood and a good neighbor in his community, always taking an active interest in the affairs of his church, school and other civic activities. His family will miss him and so will his community, but as per holy writ, "All things work out for good to them that love the Lord."

Mr. J. Ross Phillips, of Birmingham, spent the week end here with friends.

IN MAYOR'S COURT

Jink Pearson, public drunkenness; 5 days on city streets.

C. L. Goodman, public drunkenness; fine and costs $8.25.

SMALLPOX AND DIPHTHERIA WARNING ISSUED BY BAKER

Montgomery, August 28. — Parents of children entering school this fall were urged today by Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer, to see that they are properly protected against smallpox and diphtheria.

"Both of these diseases are serious, but fortunately, also preventable," he said. "Although the death and mortality rates for them have been greatly reduced within the past few decades, a child who has not received protection against them is running a great risk. Smallpox vaccination and diphtheria immunization may be obtained at slight inconvenience from the parents' family physician or from the county health officer."

Dr. Baker called attention to the fact that 120 diphtheria deaths occurred in Alabama last year.

LIST OF THE CONTESTANTS IN THE UNION-BANNER SUBSCRIPTION DRIVE

Publication of names does not mean nominations are closed. Far from it. Live, energetic, earnest workers can enter and walk away from the slow moving entries.

Big offer attracts very few workers. The harvest is ripe, the workers are few, and the Golden Opportunity of winning a New Chevrolet Coach is too good to pass by.

Attractive Premiums Offered At Chilton County Fair This Fall

Kiwanis Club Sponsoring Event To Be Held Here In Clanton September 28 Through October 2. Farmers Are Urged To Take Part In Program

Plans are being worked out nearer to completion for the Chilton county fair to be held in Clanton the last of this month and the first of October. Arrangements have been made for a number of interesting prizes on exhibits, displays, Etc. A prize of $50 is offered for the best display of agricultural exhibits; second prize $40, third prize $30, fourth prize $20. If there are more than four booths in this department, all those grading 65 points will be given $10 for their co-operation.

The total amount of $50 will be offered for home demonstration club work, this amount to be awarded by the home agent of Chilton County. Arrangements for the live stock show are not yet completed. There will be prizes offered for school displays, to be distributed by the county department of education; entries can be made from 1936-'37 year's work.

Those wishing to enter exhibits and compete for the prizes should get in touch with Mr. J. W. Fant, Miss Meta Grace, Dr. V. J. Gragg or J. Mell Martin, who will have charge of this phase of the work.

This fair is to be known as the "Chilton County Bigger and Better Fair," and all indications are that it will be a real interesting affair for the farmers and citizens of Clanton and Chilton County.

An interesting feature will be on Thursday night, which has been designated as Wedding Night. The fair management is offering $10 in cash, will buy the wedding ring and pay for the marriage license to the couple that will be married on Thursday night. The ceremony will be performed on the fair's midway. It is probable that business firms of Clanton will donate merchandise to the couple.

There will be a school day, when the schools of the county will be closed and the buses will bring the children to the fair and special concessions will be made to them on entrance prices, rides, Etc. Teachers and bus drivers will be admitted free on school day. It is likely that school day will be Wednesday. More information will be furnished by the local papers next week and the following week before the date of opening.

PATROLMEN'S REPORT

State Highway Patrolmen Wallace Waites and Earl Henley report 11 arrests during the period beginnig Monday, August 23, and ending Sunday, August 29. These were as follows:

Fred Bentley, violating flag and flare law; fine and costs $11.50.

Howard Melton, no clearance lights; fine and costs $7.50.

A. W. Wilson, reckless driving; bond.

Grady Sanders, speeding; fine and costs $7.50.

Newton Duff, violating rules of the road (hogging the road); fine and costs $7.50.

Clarence Smith, public drunkenness; bond.

H. B. Esco, no driver's license; fine and costs $7.50.

L. N. Noah, reckless driving; in jail.

J. T. Pruitt, public drunkenness; bond.

James C. Dorough, violating flag and flare law; fine and costs $11.50.

Leon Jackson, speeding; fine and costs $10.50.

Patrolmen Henley and Waites state that they have been informed by Chief McAdory, head of the state highway law enforcement department, that within 30 days short wave radio sets will be installed in the patrol car, as well as in the headquarters of the patrolmen, Thorsby Garage, at Thorsby. By day, the patrolmen will then be able to pick up "look-out" flashes from the stations at Birmingham, Montgomery and Mobile with their auto short wave set. At night, the messages will be picked up at the patrol headquarters at Thorsby and relayed to the patrolmen at their homes at Thorsby by telephone. Thus is provided an up-to-date day and night radio service for protection of the section of National Highway No. 31 lying in Chilton County.

Patrolmen Henley and Waites also advise that any person traveling the highway in Chilton County, day or night, and witnessing any crime, or any incident which requires the attention of the highway patrolmen, may call highway patrol headquarters at Montgomery and make their report direct to that office. Within a few seconds, the news will be flashed by short wave to the patrolmen themselves, and the officers can be on the job of rounding up any criminals in much shorter time than if an attempt should be made to find them directly.

This is a new safety feature which has been installed for the protection of the motoring public, and they are urged to avail themselves of it.

BANKS AND STORES TO CLOSE NEXT MONDAY — LABOR DAY

The banks of Clanton and many of the business houses will be closed all day next Monday, September 6, in observance of Labor Day.

The following firms of Clanton have signed a petition, agreeing to take a holiday, and will be closed:

Big Four Hardware Co., Tiffin Furniture Co., Clanton Cash Store, Bean & Taylor, Taylor Produce Co., Teel Shoe Shop, Murray-Bell Hardware Co., Taylor Grocery & Market, E. L. Klinner Furniture Co., Peoples Cash Store.

Southern Seed & Plant Co., Chilton County Exchange, The Yellow Front Store, Levine Bros., Kemp Dry Goods Co., Mazer's, Ben's, A. & P. Food Store, Clanton Shoe Shop, Wingard Bros., The Dollar Store, Hill Grocery Co., The Leader, John Schmith.

CHILTON COUNTY FARMERS UNION TO HOLD MEETING AT MINOOKA SEPTEMBER 11

The farmers union of Chilton County will meet at Minooka church on Saturday afternoon, September 11. All locals are asked to please send delegates. — Gresham Smith, assistant county secretary.

HIGH SCHOOL BEGINS WORK

The Chilton County High School opens for the 1937-38 session Monday morning, September 6th, at nine o'clock. While no formal program has been planned for this occasion, the public is cordially invited to attend the opening.

The school opens with the brightest prospects in several years. A full term of nine months is assured, a department of Commercial Arts has been added, and a well balanced corps of teachers have been employed to teach those subjects in which they have had special training.

MR. ASHFORD NOW CLERKING AT YELLOW FRONT STORE

Mr. Henry Ashford is now working as a regular clerk at Yellow Front Store in Clanton. Mr. Ashford comes here from Livingston, where he has been connected with a similar business. He has had several years experience in such work, and displays much skill in his chosen profession. Mr. Ashford will be pleased to get acquainted with the people of this trade community, and invites you to come in and see him.

Farmers Warned To Let Cotton Dry In The Fields

Letter To Ginners Explains The Necessity Of Keeping Cotton Dry

The following letter was brought in to The Union-Banner by Mr. J. N. Dennis, local ginner. It is of interest to all farmers, and a copy has been sent to all ginners. The letter reads as follows and is self-explanatory:

"August 30, 1937.

"To all ginners:

"On account of the continuous rains during the past few days, it seems desirable to call your attention to the great loss which will occur in the ginning of wet seed cotton, both to the quality of the lint and the seed.

"We have discussed the matter with Mr. P. O. Davis, Director of the Extension Service, and it seems desirable to recommend to you that you not only do not gin any wet cotton, but that you advise all of the farmers in your territory to refrain from picking cotton until it is dry.

"Cotton will dry quicker on the stalk than any other place, and you would be doing your customers a favor to suggest to them that they let the cotton dry in the field before picking. Also, suggest to them that they keep cotton which has been picked before the rains separate from that damaged by the rains.

"It is impossible to gin wet cotton without damaging the lint, and the quality of the seed is also greatly impaired. You could hardly do a greater service at the present time to your customers than to suggest gathering their cotton dry and ginning it dry.—R. J. Goode, Commissioner, Agriculture and Industries."

MEN'S CLASS HAD FINE PICNIC AT MITCHELL DAM THURSDAY

Mr. H. S. Shaw's class of the Clanton Baptist Sunday School, known as the men's class, held another enjoyable picnic at the guest house, Mitchell Dam, last Thursday afternoon. This is the second one to be held at the same place, one having been held there about one year ago.

Attending the picnic were 36 members of the class. A number were prevented from attending on account of threatening weather. A guest of the class was Dr. J. M. Truett, pastor of Clanton Methodist church.

Mr. Johnnie Hollis, Mr. J. G. Newton and other workers at the Dam are to be complimented on their hospitality in caring for the occasion. They really know how to take care of a bunch of men like that, and it seems to afford them great pleasure to entertain such guests. A unanimous vote of thanks was extended Mr. Hollis and the others for their splendid hospitality.

UNION GROVE

Friday night, September 3, at 7:30 o'clock is your chance to hear Bro. James B. Cambren, of Bessemer. Bro. Cambren is one of Alabama's outstanding expositors of the Bible. People who live in the country rarely ever have the opportunity of hearing men of his ability. His sermon subject will be "What Baptists Believe." We have promise of a quartet and violinist from Bessemer. Everybody invited.—B. A. Vanderburg, Sr.

United States farmers will receive a cash income of $9,000,000,000 from marketings of farm products and from government payments during the calendar year 1937, the highest for any year since 1929 when income from farm marketings totaled $10,479,000,000, estimated the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

MAPLESVILLE BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Earle Trent, a Sunday school expert from Montgomery, will speak at the Maplesville Baptist church on Sunday, September 5, at 11 a.m., and 7:45 p.m. Rev. A. Y. Napier plans to be present at both services. All are cordially invited to hear Rev. Earle Trent.

State Capitol News

Capitol corridors are buzzing over reports of an impending reorganization of Gov. Graves' secretarial staff. The gossip includes that Pitt Tyson Maner, private secretary to the governor, and recently elected president of Young Democratic Leagues of America, would resign to devote full time to his two-year national office.

Attorney General Albert A. Carmichael has announced that a Montgomery circuit court decision restoring $1,000 a year to salaries of Alabama public service commissioners would be appealed to the supreme court at once.

Gov. Graves beamed his satisfaction upon learning that orders for free text books have been or are being received from all counties, with shipments going out as fast as facilities of the state department of education permit.

Despite a record prison population of in excess of 7,000, Dr. H. G. Camp, chief state prison physician-inspector announced that general health conditions in all state penal institutions were better than in many years.

"The major prisons at Kilby, Atmore and Spigener, as well as farm and road camps, are free of serious disease," Dr. Camp said. "Contagious diseases are isolated immediately upon discovery to prevent spread. This has been brought about by having a competent staff of resident prison physicians and inspectors."

Capitol officialdom took time out last week to pay homage to Mrs. Mae "Mother" Clark, 93-year-old Confederate widow, of Kansas City, Mo., who said, without a falter in her voice, that "between trains I wanted to see the sights."

Attorney General A. H. Carmichael went down the line for clerks employed in compiling new registered voters' lists. He held in an opinion to Comptroller Charles W. Lee that such clerks are entitled to five cents per name added on the list, the fee going direct to the clerks instead of the probate judges who hired them. Probate judges' fee for compiling such lists is fixed at 2½ cents per name, with copies to be supplied annually to the secretary of state.

Funds for five additional projects representing an outlay of $204,997 have been announced by H. S. Geismer, state director of the public works administration.

Political weather vanes told the voter but little other than what has been known for weeks, insofar as candidacies are concerned, following last Saturday's called meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Special primary dates set and rules and regulations laid down for candidates in the short time senatorial election, the 72-member committee adjourned. Thus far only two candidates have definitely announced for the short term vacancy. They are Congressman Lister Hill of Montgomery, and former U. S. Senator J. Thomas Heflin of Lafayette.

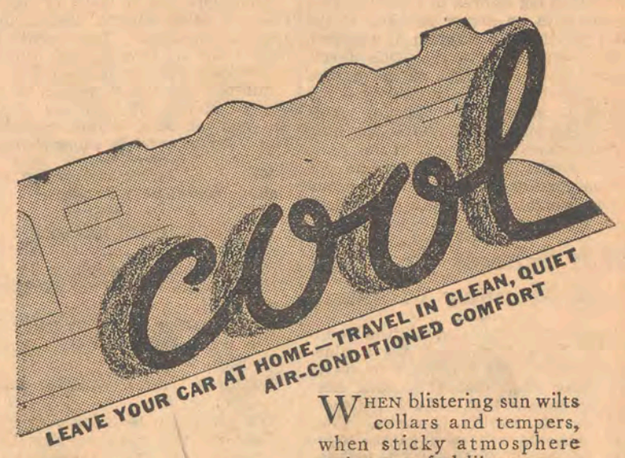
Three others prominently mentioned for the race were reported awaiting developments before issuing definite committals. They are Congressman Sam Hobbs of Selma, Frank Boykin of Mobile, and Joe Starnes of Guntersville.

STATE HIGHWAY NEWS

Birmingham, Aug. 28. — Alabama has good prospects of a completely surfaced arterial highway system by the end of 1938, according to a report recently made to the highway progress committee of the Alabama Motorists Association by Andrew W. Smith, director of the newly formed highway progress department.

Organized early in the summer to secure better and more rationally planned highways in Alabama, the new department is expected to gain a wide following throughout the state when plans are completed and publicly announced.

"Chief Alabama Highway Engineer H. H. Houk has announced that during 1937 a total of 516 miles of double bituminous surfaced roads have been or will be completed," Smith said. "In most cases the new construction is located on the state's principal highways."



Poultrymen and hatcherymen lose 40 million dollars a year because about one-third of their hatching eggs never hatch, estimates T. C. Byerly, of the Bureau of Animal Industry. This can be improved by giving hens plenty of sunshine and green feed and by doing breed improvement work.

ANDREW W. MELLON

Andrew W. Mellon either was born too late, or he lived too long to find a world that would appreciate him most.

A rich man whose wealth was so abundant that none probably ever will be able to count it, a shy man to whom luxuries meant so little and activity meant so much, he pushed his peculiar talent for modern empire building in an aloof manner that made him appear at times to be cold and hard and without imagination.

Yet how could a man without imagination conceive the gigantic corporations that Mellon founded and directed? How could a man without imagination become involved in the affairs of his nation so that he became a target for those who differed with his theories and practice of politics, diplomacy and economics?

But what person with imagination can be a ruthless gatherer of fortunes, without a thought for his fellow men?

With the passing of Andrew Mellon most of us are prone to wonder if there is not a passing of the last of the great personal fortunes, the last of the financial giants.

Mellon's fortune is estimated to have been in the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Like Rockefeller, Mellon made millions in oil.

Like Morgan, he made millions in private banking.

Like Carnegie, he made millions in steel.

Like Frick, he made millions in coal.

Like Gould, he made millions in railroads.

Like the du Ponts, he made millions in manufacturing.

And like no other man, living or dead, he made millions from aluminum.

As far as the world is concerned, Mellon's greatness must be measured by his wealth.

It was his wealth that sent him into the cabinet under three presidents of the United States. It was his familiarity with money, how it is made, how it is spent, that made him an able if not popular secretary of the treasury.

But the same thing that forced the shy Mellon into the public eye, was perhaps the same thing that caused many people to refuse to feel warmly toward him—his wealth, and the impersonal force that helped him to get it.

Mellon gave away much of his money. He was not ungenerous in the amounts he gave, but because he was not generous with his smiles, his words, or his time, he must have met even in his giving of worldly goods, a face of the world that made him wonder if the world was not ungrateful.

Andrew W. Mellon is gone from the world of living. He was a hard worker and a good citizen.

But, despite his fortunes, his talents, and whatever good there was in his heart, he seemed to have lacked that priceless understanding of people that is repaid by that highest of fortunes—having people understand him.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Alabama's cement production has increased from 605,000 barrels in 1921 to 1,243,000 barrels in 1936.

JUST FROM SHOULTS

Three weeks ago the farmers of Shoults were well pleased with their cotton crops, but today they are dishartened. We have not had but one fair day in a week. The cotton seed are sprouting in the burr just partly open, which will make a bad sample. The seed will not be fit for planting that are saved out of this year's cotton. Its like the negro preacher said: "Seek other good things and all good things woud be added to you."

Cotton is like little biddies, you can't count them before they hatch. Charles Walker says it has rained enough to keep him busy fishing, he is by fishing like he is by killing squirrels, he is telling he killed 22 squirrels in one tree—"Believe it or Not." I will say this much, he can kill as many as any one man, ask Tom Littlejohn or Harvey Foshee.

If it quits raining I will come again.—Uncle Remus.

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

The State of the World.

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—Up in Montreal a veteran showman says he talks with chimpanzees in their own language. I wish he'd ask one of his chimpanzee pals what he thinks about the present setup of civilization.

Because I can't find any humans who agree as to where we all are going and what the chances are of getting there. In fact, the only two who appear to be certain about it are young Mr. Corcoran and young Mr. Cohen, and they seem to hesitate at times—not much, but just a teeny-weeny bit—which is disconcerting to the lay mind. We are likely to lose confidence even in a comet, once it starts wobbling on us.

Irvin S. Cobb

I'm also upset by a statement from England's greatest star-gazer—they call him the astronomer royal, which, by coupling it with the royal family, naturally gives astronomy a great social boost in England and admits it to the best circles. He says the moon is clear off its mathematically prescribed course.

Cash Versus I. O. U.'s.

ONLY a few weeks ago the front pages were carrying dispatches saying the adjustment of Great Britain's defaulted debt was just around the corner. Economists and financiers had discussed terms of settlement. Figures were quoted—mainly figures calling for big reductions on our part, but never mind that. They were figures anyhow.

Lately the papers have been strangely silent on the subject. Perhaps you remember the old story told on the late John Sharp Williams, who frequented a game at Washington where sportive statesmen played poker for heavy stakes—mostly with those quaint little fictional products called I. O. U.'s as mediums of exchange.

Early one morning a fellow senator met the famous Mississippian coming from an all-night session.

"I certainly mopped up," he proclaimed. "I won $3,000—and what's more, $8.75 of it was in cash."

Autumn Millinery.

JUST as the poor, bewildered males are becoming reconciled to the prevalent styles in women's hats, up bobs a style creator in New York warning us that what we've thus far endured is merely a foretaste of what's coming. In other words, we ain't seen nothin'!

For autumn, he predicts a quaint number with a slanted peak fifteen inches high, which, I take it, will make the wearer look like a refugee trying to escape from under a collapsing pagoda.

Another is a turban entirely composed of rooster feathers.

A matching coat of rooster feathers goes with this design. But in the old days they used hot tar.

A third model features for its toptamper a series of kalsomine brushes sticking straight up. Naturally, the hat itself will imitate a barrel of whitewash.

But the gem of all is a dainty globular structure of Scotch plaid. Can you imagine anything more becoming to your lady wife than an effect suggesting that she's balancing a hot-water bag on her brow?

"McGuffeyisms."

THE lieutenant-governor of Ohio urges a return to "McGuffeyism" for settling modern problems.

'Twas in a McGuffey reader that I met those prize half-wits of literature—the Spartan boy who let the fox gnaw his vitals; the chuckleheaded youth who stood on the burning deck; the congenial idiot who climbed an alp in midwinter while wearing nothing but a night shirt and carrying a banner labeled "Excelsior" in order to freeze to death; the skipper who, when the ship was sinking, undertook to calm the passengers by—but wait, read the immortal lines:

"We are lost!" the captain shouted,
As he staggered down the stair.

And then the champion of all—the Dutch lad who discovered a leak in the dyke so he stuck his wrist in the crevice and all night stayed there. In the morning, when an early riser came along and asked what was the general idea, the heroic urchin said—but let me quote the exact language of the book:

" 'I am hindering the sea from running in,' was the simple reply of the child."

Simple? I'll tell the world! Nothing could be simpler except an authority on hydraulics who figures that, when the Atlantic ocean starts boring through a crack in a mud wall, you can hold it back by using one small Dutch boy's arm for a stopper.

CENTER HILL

The ice cream supper at this place Saturday night, was a success considering the weather. The little program given for entertainment was amusing. Mrs. Bernice Lowery was responsible for it. Music was furnished by Mrs. Valpo Mims at the piano, Grover Gothard with violin, and Cobern Cofer with guitar. A few numbers were enjoyed by Roland Duran. We thank each and every one for their patronage.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Carden spent two days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Price.

Mr. and Mrs. Buster Scott and children, enjoyed the day Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Golder Gothard.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Lowery and thee sons, were happy visitors to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowery, at Providence Sunday and Sunday night.

Kathleen Horton and Peggy Sue Cobb were the spend the day guests of Sarah Mae and Dorothy Lee Collum. They were joined in the afternoon by Miss Imogene Cobb.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Thrash and children, were visitors to relatives here on last Thursday and Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Seay and little daughter, Nola Mae, spent Sunday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Merchant in Thorsby.

Mrs. Sam Yarbough has returned home and is doing nicely.

Mrs. Rufus Scott has been carried to her home and is still improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Claudie Scott and Gerald, were visitors to Jemison Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie McGraw.

UNEMPLOYMENT TRUST FUND

Montgomery, Aug. 30. — Alabama's unemployment trust fund, from which benefits will be paid to eligible unemployed workers on and after January 1, 1938, has reached $6,704,303.81, and will run beyond $8,000,000—possibly to $9,000,000—by the time the first benefit check is written.

M. H. Harper, chairman of the unemployment compensation commission, today made public statistics showing the condition of the trust fund and the number of employers and wage earners protected by the law.

More than 300,000 workers are covered by the trust fund and can draw benefits if they become unemployed, while 4,987 business establishments are making contributions to the fund. Mr. Harper said the exact number of employes cannot be given for the reason that the total is changing each day. Reports of field agents and remittals by covered employers increase the total each day, while reductions result from elimination of duplication in names.

The Alabama commission has on deposit in the United States treasury a total of $6,135,739.77. This includes earned interest of $23,392.47, which was credited to the fund on June 30. Another credit of interest will be made at the end of the quarter September 30. In addition, the state treasury held a total of $568,564.04 on August 19, and this amount will be deposited in the United States treasury in a few days.

Of the 3,249 persons convicted in the county courts of Alabama last year and sent to the state penitentiary, 756 were convicted of violating the prohibition law. The second largest number for any one crime was for petit larceny, the number being 690. Public drunkenness comes third in the list with 305. Assault and battery with a weapon accounts for 248, and simple assault and battery for 207.

SEASONS AND BAG LIMITS FOR NEW SEASON ARE ANNOUNCED

Following are the seasons and bag limits for protected birds and animals for the 1937-1938 season. In all cases both dates given are included in the open season.

For the benefit of local hunters who might become confused in instances where the dates are different for the north and south sections of Alabama, it is stated that Chilton County is in what is considered South Alabama.

Deer (antlered bucks only, 1 a day, 3 a season); November 20 to December 31.; except Jefferson, Walker and Tuscaloosa Counties, where season is closed until 1941; and in Morgan, Winston, Lawrence, Franklin, Cullman Counties, where the season is determined each year by U. S. Forest Service and Alabama Conservation Department.

Squirrels, 10 a day; October 15 to January 15.

Bears, foxes, o'possums and raccoons (hunted as game); October 1 to January 31.

Bears, foxes, o'possums, muskrats, raccoons, minks, weasels, skunks, civet cats, beavers and otters (caught for furs for sale); December 1 to January 31.

Quail, 12 a day; November 20 to February 20.

Turkeys (gobblers only), 1 a day, 5 a season; November 20 to December 31, and March 15 to April 15.

Pheasants, 2 a day; November 20 to December 31.

Rabbits (hunted as game); no closed season.

Grouse; no open season.

Migratory birds (state regulations conform to federal regulations).

Doves, 15 a day, North Alabama (north of the southern boundaries of Pickens, Tuscaloosa, Jefferson, Shelby, Talladega, Clay and Randolph Counties; September 15 to October 15, and December 20 to January 31.

Doves, 15 a day, South Alabama (south of the northern boundaries of Sumter, Greene, Hale, Chilton, Coosa, Tallapoosa, and Chambers Counties); November 20 to January 31.

Ducks, 10 a day in the aggregate of all species; Geese and Brant, 5 a day in the aggregate; Snipe, 15 a day; Coot, 25 a day; November 27 to December 26.

Rails, Gallinules (except Coot), Sora, 15 a day, others 15 a day in aggregate; November 20 to January 31.

Woodcock, 4 a day; December 1 to December 31.

No open season on does and turkey hens.

SUPERVISOR ADVISES COURT ON ROAD DEP'T CHANGES

Only One Road Crew To Be Kept On The Job; Office Clerk And Road Foremen Quit

The following, a letter addressed to the Commissioners Court, is published at the order of T. J. Arledge, Road Supervisor:

"August 31, 1937.

"Hon. Commissioners Court,
"Hon. J. Lee Smith, Chairman,
"City.
"Gentlemen:

"Through the resignation of his clerk, A. D. Maddox, who has been working without payment of wages earned for such services during the months of July and August, 1937, after an order by resolution of your Court that his services were unnecessary, the office of the Road Supervisor will be closed effective September 1, 1937, as the Supervisor finds it impossible to maintain such an office and the work of cost-keeping, recording and reporting of such information to your Court as required by law without such clerical aid.

"Also, due to the resignation of J. T. Thompson, T. C. Sims, and H. D. Traywick, district road foremen, in charge of field operations and direction of all machine and other maintenance operations, such resignations being forced upon them by the Court's refusal to pay their wages earned in their respective positions during the months of May, June, July and August, 1937, after an order by resolution of your Court, dated April, 29 1937, to the effect that their services were unnecessary, the Road Supervisor is forced to suspend all construction, maintenance and repairs to the roads and bridges of the county over which he cannot personally supervise and direct such operations.

"The Supervisor finds it impossible to cover activities in all districts alone, and due to the lack of adequate and competent supervisory direction of such remote activities he is forced to confine the work to one district at the time, working one week of each month in each of the four Commission Districts. This is a very poor set-up at this time of year, when all machines should be going, but it is the best any one man can possibly do alone.

"Therefore, effective September 1, 1937, only one unit of machinery will be operated until such time as adequate and competent supervisory force is provided and some assurance is had that the wages of all road employes will be paid when such employment has been obligated by this office. Respectfully, Thomas J. Arledge, Road Supervisor. Copy to all Commissioners, all road employes, all local press." 1t- pd.

COMING TO ISABELLA!

The following notice has been received for publication, and is published, word for word, just as received:

"The Comical Country Cousins" will be given at Isabella High School on Friday night, September 3, at 7:30. They are the "comicalest" cousins out of captivity. It's a scream, folks, and if you think you need a tonic see this play, or if you're feeling O. K. you should see it just the same.

It's gonna be "bargain" night; more entertainment for 10c and 20c than ever offered before. The side splitting play plus the latest in song hits, readings, and children's performance; and just listen, girls—there will be a beau-ti-ful quilt for the prettiest girl there.

This entertainment is sponsored by the Y. W. A. girls, and the proceeds will go to the building fund of the church.—Y. W. A. girls of Mulberry.

NOTICE

There will be a meeting of the Corinth Region Conservation Club, September 3rd, at 7:30 p. m., at the High School Building, Verbena, Alabama.

All people in Beat 5 that want to conserve the game, increase the fish and prevent forest fires, are requested to come. We need your cooperation. All members who have land listed with us are especially requested to attend, as we have some important matters to attend to.—E. A. Norris, President, A. Q. Baker, Secretary.

FIVE HUNDRED NEW PUPILS WILL ENTER FIRST GRADES

Approximately 500 new pupils will enter the first grades of Chilton county schools this year, according to County Superintendent, Luther E. Little. This means that 500 boys and girls will begin upon a new stage of their lives; a stage in which they will leave to some extent the constant care they have had at home for the first six years of their lives, and will begin learning to "make their own way," which is such an important part of their education. How very much greater will be their chances of success if they are free from physical defects? A little money invested in a pair of glasses, or in having decayed teeth repaired, or having tonsils removed, may mean the difference between success and failure in their school life. Many parents realize this and are having necessary physical defects corrected. All parents should.

Attention is called to the resolution recently passed by the County Board of Education requiring proof of a child's age upon eitering the first grade. This proof can be furnished in either of two ways. The Birth Registration Notification sent out by the State Bureau of Vital Statistics when a child is about six months old is acceptable, and if the parents have this notification it should be sent or carried to the teacher. Information from it will be copied and the certificate returned. If the certificate is not available, application may be made on a blank furnished by the County Health Unit, or by the teacher, and a School Age Card will be issued by the State Bureau of Vital Statistics.

CARD OF THANKS

May we extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to those in Clanton who have been so active toward the cripple children's clinic; also to Dr. Marcus Skinner of Selma. Thanks to them, our baby's foot is straight. Especially do we wish to thank Miss Nolen Meroney, Mr. Luther Little, Miss Edith Greene, Dr. Kimmey, and Miss Irene Smitherman for the interest they have shown toward our baby.—Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Jones.

Commissioner Quinn Heads American Fisheries Society

A signal honor came to an Alabamian in Mexico City on August 25, when Commissioner I. T. Quinn, of the Department of Conservation, was elected President of the American Fisheries Society, an organization with membership in Canada, the United States, and Mexico. The 67th annual convention of the society was held in the Mexican capital in conjunction with the International Association of Game, Fish, and Conservation Commissioners.

Succeeding A. G. Huntsman, of the University of Toronto, Canada, Commissioner Quinn was elevated from the first vice presidency, to which he was elected in 1936 at the Grand Rapids, Mich., convention. His term of office is one year. Distinguished conservationists from the three countries attended the Mexico City sessions and discussed problems of mutual interest. Commissioner Quinn was scheduled to return about September 1.

Dove Open Season

Numerous inquiries about the dove season in Alabama have been received, and for the benefit of sportsmen, the dates, as fixed by the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey, are given again. In North Alabama the split season is from Sept 1 to October 15, and from December 20 to January 31 north of the southern boundaries of Pickens, Tuscaloosa, Jefferson, Shelby, Talladega, Clay and Randolph Counties. For the counties south of this line (including Chilton) the open season is November 20 to January 31. The bag limit this year is 15 birds.

Game Increasing

Monroe and Escambia Counties have a good crop of quail, doves, turkeys, and squirrels, according to game warden C. V. Hines. In his trips through the woods, the warden observed and reported the best beech mass crop in several years. Hickory nuts and dogwood berries also are plentiful, but acorns are scarce, he reports.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics predicts that feed and market conditions will be better for dairymen the last of this year than they were a year ago. Butter prices probably will average higher and the relation between the cost of feed and prices of dairy products show promise of being more favorable.

Forty sound pylons are to be installed at various points on Treasure Island, site of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, as part of the Exposition's public address system.

As many as 10 radio programs will be broadcost simultaneously from Treasure Island, site of the 1939 Golden Gate Internatoinal Exposition, through facilities to be installed in the Exposition's radio building.

AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION

The seed crop harvested this year must be depended upon to a greater extent than would ordinarily be the case in providing grass and legume seed needed for the 1938 program, says J. W. Fant, county agent, because of the small carry-over and the fact that the Agricultural Conservation Program has greatly increased the demand for seed for legumes, grasses, and green manure crops.

Surveys made of the seed situation show that demand for seed of soil conserving crops in 1937 and the 1938 drought, reduced the commercial reserves of seed of domestic clover, alfalfa, sweet clover, lespedeza, soy beans, cow peas, velvet beans, and of grass seed in general, to much lower levels than normally prevail. In general, seed that has been grown locally for a period of years is likely to be well adapted, and if properly harvested, stored, and cleaned, may be expected to give excellent results, according to county agent, J. W. Fant.

Two-toned lighting effects, amber and blue, will be used in the flood lights illuminating the Palace of House and Gardens on Treasure Island, San Francisco Bay site of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

What's RIGHT With Alabama?

A person engaging in critical self-analysis so that he may improve himself, occasionally becomes so intent upon reviewing his shortcomings that he loses sight of his virtues. Sometimes a similar thing happens to communities and you find them asking, perhaps too frequently, "What's wrong with us?" and in time seeing much ill, but little good, in most that is about them.

Now, an occasional bit of self-searching and constructive criticism can be helpful to any of us. No doubt there are things and conditions in Alabama which can be, and should be, improved. That is perhaps the case with any individual, community or organization. Many are in the course of improvement. I know that is so with our company.

Great forward strides have been made in Alabama within relatively few years—socially, industrially, agriculturally. Many things are RIGHT with Alabama—things that are getting "righter" as time passes. The biggest thing RIGHT about Alabama is the determination to move forward!

We have recently reviewed the progress made by Alabama during the past 10 to 25 years. It was inspiring to us—we believe that you, too, will find it so.

Therefore, we hope to publish in this newspaper soon a series of advertisements based on this review so that you may have a picture of some of the many things that are RIGHT about Alabama.

A DEPUTY WITH A PERMANENT

The beauty shop business is definitely coming into its own, according to a report emanating from deputy sheriff quarters recently.

A deputy, it seems, was in Birmingham, and saw a car, which he recognized, parked in front of a beauty shop. Sheer curiosity prompted him to enter, and he found a brother deputy from his own section of Chilton County sitting under a machine with a wad of stuff on his head somewhat resembling a typewriter. The deputy making the investigation did not understand it all, until at court here on Monday morning this other deputy entered the court house with a beautifully placed and arranged permanent wave. Putting two and two together, it was all very clear then, which is probably good advertising for the beauty shop business if not for the deputy sheriff business.

Further information will be gladly furnished by any of the Chilton County deputies—they all know the story.

Mrs. J. H. Goddard will leave Friday, September 3, for a visit with relatives and friends in Ohio.

COMER ELIMINATES HIMSELF FROM RACE OF STATE SENATE

Birmingham, August 31.—Donald Comer, Birmingham industrialist and civic leader, has definitely eliminated himself as a possible candidate for the United State senate, according to the Birmingham Post.

In a letter replying to one written by Rep. Harry Walker, editor of the Limestone Democrat, urging Mr. Comer to make the race, the textile manufacturer stated that he would have accepted the governor's appointment.

In such case, he said, "I had intended to ask for the earliest possible primary because I did not want to go to Washington just with the governor's appointment. I wanted to go as a result of a primary election and I felt that in the next congress there would be some opportunities for lots of hard work in the interest of Alabama and our southern section. When I say that I don't want you to think I am narrow because when I say something good for the south, I mean that what is good for the south would be good for the nation."

IN MEMORY

On Tuesday night of August 24th, 1937, a death angel visited the home of Mr. D. I. Smith and carried away our loving grandfather. All was done that loving hands could do, but God saw fit in His wisdom to call him home.

We shall miss him, but if we live the life he set before us we shall meet him in the land where there will be no parting nor sorrow.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. D. I. Smith, five children—Mrs. J. R. Roseberry, Leonard, Curtis, William and Euell; ten grandchildren, one sister, one brother, one half brother, and a host of friends and other relatives.

Burial was in the Mt. Nebo cemetery, at 11 o'clock, Thursday. Spigener Funeral Home were in charge.

Pallbearers were: Arthur Roseberry, M. L. Williams, Crawford Owens, J. D. Williams, O. Y. Sims and W. L. Henley.

He is also survived by two granddaughters—Myrline Smith and Pearl Roseberry.

CHILTON OIL MEN ADOPTED SEVEN-POINT TAX PROGRAM

A seven-point program setting forth principles of fair taxation of the state's petroleum industry and its motorist customers has been adopted by the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee, according to announcement by Secretary Earl M. Hearne, of Montgomery.

The committee's membership includes petroleum distributors, service station operators, and others identified with the industry, and the program is being submitted to the 67 county Petroleum Industries Committees all over the state for ratification, thus putting the man-power of the whole organization behind the plan.

The seven points in the program are:

1. All gasoline and motor vehicle tax revenues should be used for highway purposes only, and the proposed constitutional amendment to accomplish that end should be adopted.

2. The state alone should tax gasoline through a uniform gasoline tax law, and a constitutional amendment prohibiting the taxing of this essential commodity by municipalities and counties should be adopted.

3. Present laws regulating motor truck operation should be modified to conform with the uniform law adopted by the American Association of State Highway Officials.

4. Distributors of petroleum and automotive products should enjoy equitable treatment through reduction of present discriminatory license fees.

5. Assistance should be rendered to state and federal authorities in detecting and eliminating gasoline tax evasion. The Committee pledges its active assistance and cooperation to the state and federal authorities in earnest endeavors to curtail gasoline tax evasion, and to prevent tax money paid by motorists from going into the pockets of racketeers.

6. To urge the repeal of the unfair and unjust federal gasoline and lubricating oil taxes. These levies, superimposed on state taxes, cost Alabama motorists more than $2,000,000 yearly, and increase state sales taxes on motor fuels and lubricants excessively.

7. To seek only fair and equitable treatment of the petroleum industry and its motorist customers.

The above seven-point program was ratified by the Chilton County Committee at its meeting last Friday night at the court house.

Officers for the Chilton County Committee elected for the coming year are:

Executive (Legislative) Committee: W. E. Huddleston, chairman, The Texas Co., Clanton; J. E. Easterling, secretary, Woco Service Station, Clanton; R. J. Sumner, 1st vice chairman, Wofford Oil Co., Clanton; Grover C. Bice, 2nd vice chairman, Bice Service Station, Jemison; John Howard, 3rd vice chairman, Howard Service Station, Verbena; R. R. Franklin, 4th vice chairman, Franklin Garage, Thorsby; W. L. Hampton, 5th vice chairman, Standard Oil Co., Maplesville; J. P. Lawrence, Standard Oil Co., Clanton; M. Z. Atchison, Shell Petroleum Corp., Clanton.

Publicity Committee: J. P. Lawrence, chairman, Standard Oil Co., Clanton; W. L. Sims, Gulf Refining Co., Clanton; D. A. Teel, Standard Service Station, Clanton.

Problems and Affairs Committee: M. Z. Atchison, chairman, Shell Petroleum Corp., Clanton; G. C. Powell, Wofford Oil Co., Clanton; E. S. Gore, Wofford Oil Co., Clanton.

STUDY CLUB TO MEET

Members of the Clanton Study Club will hold their first meeting Friday, September 3, in the home of Mrs. J. A. Hester.

The club has chosen as a topic of study, "Alabama". Her contributions to music, science, poetry, industry, and many other worth while things will furnish programs for a most interesting year's study.

The club opens wiith a musical symposium.

Narrator, Mrs. Barney Roberts.

Piano, Misses Jane Roberts and Thelma White.

Vocal solo, Mrs. L. C. Ross.

Prices farmers will receive for eggs this fall are expected to be about the same as they were last fall and are likely to be higher next spring than they were the first half of this year, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

CCC TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The tennis tournament at the CCC camp started Monday, August 30 and was to continue throughout the week. Doubles began Monday, and singles on Tuesday. Youth will be pitted against experience, and the winners will be champs of the CCC camp. The court at the camp is in good shape, and competition was expected to be fierce.

Players entered were: James H. Wood, Rasmond C. Sammons, Willie G. Teal, Mitchell Jones, William J. Gray, John R. Mobley, Hugh D. Carmichael, William C. Young, Henry T. Stanley, Willie Roe Tamplin, Bill Jones, Woodfin Smitherman, John R. Brown, Thomas A. Hayes, T. H. Walker, and Lt. Brown.

Lt. Brown, a newcomer, is expected to give some of the oldtimers plenty of trouble. James H. Wood and Rasmond Sammons have polished off their game and expect to be in rare form. Horton Walker and W. R. Tamplin are coveting the title too. Woodfin Smitherman can be exected to carry the title to Auburn if possible. All the other entries are real tennis players, and it is a toss-up for the championship of Co. 3481.

SINGING IN OLD BOOKS AT PATES CHAPEL SUNDAY

"Stumps Hill Johnnie" alias J. W. Hayes, asks The Union-Banner to remind the folks that he and the other brethren are planning on a big day at Pates Chapel next Sunday and Saturday before. The occasion, as announced before, is a singing in the old books.

Mr. Hayes and all the other sponsors of the occasion want a good attendance, and they will more than apt have it. Remember that everybody is invited.

"PLENTY IN THE NEXT COUNTY"

A tourist was driving south through Shelby County, and had stopped at several filling stations inquiring for a can of beer, only to receive the polite answer: "Sorry, but we do not carry beer—this is a dry county". Another inquiry brought about he same answer, with this addition: "But you can get all you want in the next county south of here. It is a dry county too, but you can get things to drink there any way."

All of which reminds us of the old adage: "Be careful, your sins will find you out."

ANOTHER NEW DEALER DESERTS

Of all the defections which the president has suffered as the result of his stubborn insistence on Supreme Court "reform", none will carry more weight than the announcement by Gov. Lehman of New York that he cannot support the Roosevelt program. Here is no lukewarm New Dealer who is deserting. On the contrary, the governor heretofore has been steadfast in his loyalty to the administration. He has been characterized by the president himself as "my good right arm". Time and again he has fought valiantly to persuade his own state to accept on faith legislation calculated to help the national government carry out its social and economic designs. Only last fall he put aside his personal preferences and yielded to the president's entreaties that he seek reelection as governor. In asking Sen. Wagner to vote against the court bill, Mr. Lehman voices the sentiments which are today in the mind of the great body of Americans. "Orderly and deliberate process of government," he says, "should not be sacrificed merely to meet an immediate situation". Enactment of the bill would not be "in the best interests of the country". If the measure had become law, there would have been created "a greatly dangerous precedent, which would be availed of by future less well intentioned administrations for the purpose of oppression or for the curtailment of the constitutional rights of our citizens".

These are harsh words, and it could not have been easy for Gov. Lehman to say them. But they are true words, and because of their source should convince even a headstrong executive that he is fighting a losing cause.—Boston Transcript.

The newly discovered drug that makes walking 14 per cent easier will be made useless in time, we hope, by one that makes it easier to find parking space.—South Bend Tribune.

ACTION AGAINST REDS

According to the Associated Press, Stephen J. Dunleavy, Sr., head of the Boston local of the International Association of Oil Field, Gas Well and Refinery Workers of America, a unit of the CIO, has signed with the Jenney Manufacturing Company an agreement which virtually calls for the ousting or discharge of any employe who may be a member of the CIO but is an active communist.

The announcement seems to disclose a very unique clause in a labor agreement and the first of its kind in the United States. Mr. Dunleavy is quoted as saying:

"There have been stories that communists and others with anti-American doctrines were injelting themselves into CIO affairs and that their influenle has been a harmful one to the movement.

"I believe this clause in the oil contract is unique among labor contracts and is the first real outward action taken by the CIO anywhere in the country in fighting communism within its ranks." He added that the clause in this agreement reads: ""If the employer shall desire to discharge an employe for any reason the employer and representative of the union may discharge such employe," and that the clause was designed to permit the discharge of any employe indulging in "anti-American activities".

This purported action on the part of the Boston union is of national interest for the reason that one of the chief criticisms of the CIO has been that is in part "communist led and directed". It has been claimed that a great many of the labor leaders interested in promoting CIO strikes have been either communists or men in sympathy with communist doctrine. The charges have been given added color because of the open sympathy expressed by communist leaders for the CIO.

So far as publicly known the purported clause in this agreement at Boston is the first one designed to curb communist activities in the CIO. If it is followed by similar agreements in other parts of the country it is sure to invoke the strenuous opposition of communist sympathizers.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

The nomination of Sen. Black of Alabama to become justice of the Supreme Court of the United States came as a distinct surprise to the people of America. Although it was from the first a foregone conclusion that the nomination would be confirmed by the senate, the opinion of a majority of the newspapers of the country was critical of the appointment. Criticism was based on two propositions: first, that Sen. Black's legal and judicial training was not sufficient to qualify him for the service required; and second, that he was not temperamentally fitted for the position.

There was much bitter debate in the senate although the opposition to Sen. Black's confirmation was hopelessly in the minority from the start. The appointment is now an established fact and Sen. Black is a member of the most important judicial tribunal in the world. It is to be hoped that he will confound his critics and build a record of which his friends can justly be proud.

Aside from all criticism, however—and it is now too late to deal with the justice or injustice of that—there are one or two facts which ought not be overlooked by the people of the United States. It has been charged that President Roosevelt appointed Justice Black because he felt that the latter would be temperamentally and intellectually favorable to the New Deal program. A great many people are fearful of the political and social consequences of parts of that program and for this reason have criticized the latest appointment to the Supreme Court.

This high tribunal is one of the bulwarks of our constitutional government. It has always been counted on to protect the innocent and the weak from the ruthless and the strong —to save the minority, when it should be saved, from the oppression of the majority. We must have no disposition to minimize these all-important functions of the Supreme Court. We should guard it carefully when it is assailed, as it was in the recent senate battle, and should realize that we are doing this not for the welfare of the court but for our own future salavation.

Yet at the same time it is to be remembered that the Supreme Court does not initiate legislation nor write it into law. It simply passes on the constitutionality or equity of cases which are brought before it. Congress is our legislative body and it plans and passes our laws, either by its own volition or by executive suggestion. It is therefore important, if we are to preserve our economic and political institutions, that we have a sound congress well grounded in the fundamentals of our traditions, strong enough to withstand temporary political influence and pressure. If we see to this important task then there will not be so much doubtful and ill-conceived legislation for the Supreme Court to pass on. After all, it is the duty of congress to enact good, sensible laws, and it is up to the people to choose the kind of congressmen who will do this very thing.

Forgetting our duty on election day, and then praying for the Supreme Court to save us is too much like trying to "let George do it." After all, this is a people's government and it is up to the sane and sensible people of the country to see that it remains a sound government. Don't forget this when the congressional elections come around next year.

The New Term

Students are getting ready to start the new school year. Some of the old faces will be missing, but there will be a flock of new ones to take their places. There will be new teachers also, but we will come to know them better when we meet them "in class".

Football

As most of you already know, we have a new football coach this year—new to us, but football it not new to him. Coach "Bull' Spicer is one of the best known and most successful coaches in the state, and we are looking forward to a great season under his care. Why shouldn't we have a great year? We have the material, we have the coach, and we have always had the spirit. Let's all come out for practice and show Coach Spicer he has something to work with.

Also, we want the people of Clanton and Chilton County to know that the Chilton "Tiger" is "on the prowl" this year, and ready to scratch it out with every opponent on the schedule, and would appreciate the whole-hearted backing of the people of the town. Come to see our first game here with Verbena High School on Friday, October 1. We believe you will want to see the old "Blue and Gold" in action all through the season.

Boys, get ready for the hard knocks that are coming your way during the practice session and the season we have in front of us. Chilton High has been a "warm-up" game for some of the high schools long enough. Let's let 'em know they've been through a battle this year.

Diversified Occupations

The Diversified Occupations class has its same teacher again this year, and are planning bigger things. A number of new students will be enrolled in this class this year.

Follow Us Every Week

Be sure to read our "C. C. H. S. Paragraphs" every week during the coming school year. You will be able to keep up with reports of athletic affairs of the school, announcements of games, plays, and anything special that may be on tap at any time. Keep up with us! We are looking forward to a great year, and want the support of all, promising you something to be proud of.

The farm popuation of Alabama in 1935 was 1,332,981, an increase of 45,797 over the census figures of 1930.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

The truth of the matter is that we had a really good Sunday school last Sunday. The absentees have our sympathy and hope that there will be no absentees next Sunday from any department. Realization of that wish may be improbable, but it really is not impossible, is it? How about it, member?

We want to mention the Men's Bible Class again in complimentary terms, because their class is going along nicely. Just keep up the good work, men, and you will have the rest of the classes sitting up and taking notice.

The Sunday school offering last Sunday went to the Orphanage. The amount of the offering, we are happy to be able to announce, was more than any fifth Sunday offering from our church to the orphanage in a long while. The Juniors together with their leader, Mrs. Gore, deserve honorable mention for the offering they brought.

Judge L. H. Reynolds was the guest teacher of the Wesley Fellowship Class last Sunday, giving a highly interesting, as well as a profitable, message to the young people of that class who heard him. The Wesley Fellowship Class has a number of interested members and an extremely interesting teacher. If you are a member of that class and are not attending regularly, or if you should be a member and are not, you are missing more than you realize by not hearing Mr. Omar Reynolds' discussion each Sunday.

At whatever age you are, there is a good place for you in our Sunday school and we shall be happy to have you come to our Sunday school. If you can't become a member, we welcome and enjoy visitors.

We are glad to have had Dr. Lawrence in the choir Sunday. We should be glad to have him help the choir each Sunday. Members of the choir, don't forget you have a job to do and a place in which you are needed. Don't fail the church.

We can only attempt to describe our joy when we saw the large congregation at the 11 o'clock service last Sunday. After hearing our pastor give his message, surely everyone who heard him could truly say, "I'm so glad I went to church", because that message was fraught with moving and inspiring power.

May everyone who heard the message last Sunday go out, spread the tidings, return next Sunday, and bring others that they may also receive a glorious blessing.

EX-SOLDIER BURIED AT MULLINS CEMETRY SUNDAY

Eugene F. Smitherman, age 41, died at the home of his father-in-law, Sidney Stephens, Cane Creek community, Saturday night, August 28th. Burial was Sunday afternoon at Mullins-Jones cemetery, Martin & Sons in charge. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Bass, Methodist pastor at Verbena.

Mr. Smitherman was an ex-soldier, and ex-service men served as pall bearers, as follows: Ruben Lowe, John Hancock, Gene Gore, Mancy Jones, Jessie Rutherford.

Surviving are: wife and mother, five brothers, one sister, three sons and one daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Armstrong of West Point, Ga., were here last week.

6,557,000 ALABAMA ACRES ARE UNDER NATIONAL PROGRAM

Auburn, Aug. 28. — The 127,000 Alabama farmers who made application for payment under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program diverted 987,000 acres from soil depleting uses and employed soil building practices on 1,747,477 acres, Walter L. Randolph, in charge of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration program in Alabama, says. The total crop land in Alabama covered by application for payment was 6,557,000 acres.

The payments which Alabama farmers will receive under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program will total approximately $10,190,801.69, a report just issued by the AAA shows. Of this amount, payments to farmers, excluding county expenses, through June 30 in this state, amounted to $10,097,843.53. Most of the remainder will be paid by the end of August, Mr. Randolph says.

The annual report of the AAA, recently released, showed that in the nine states of the Southern region, of which Alabama is one, the applications for payments covered about 69,775,000 acres of crop land.

Farmers in these states diverted pleting crops to soil conserving crops. about 10,915,000 acres from soil de- Total acreage on which soil conserving crops was seeded, or on which other soil building practices were carried out was 14,888,000 acres. Approximately 864,000 farmers in the region took part in the program.

For the country as a whole, payments to farmers, including county expenses, totaled $379,814,149 for the 1936 program. State office expenses for the fiscal year for all states totaled $11,076,304, while state and county expenses, prior to July 1, 1936, totaled $4,383,700. Expenses for administration in Washington, for the year through July 30, 1937, totaled $4,446,950.

Light, color, sound and fragrance intensities will be converted into electric impulses and synchronized for lighting effects at San Francisco's 1939 Exposition.

ALL KINDS OF COTTON GROWN BY BLOUNT COUNTY MAN

C. L. Spears, breeder for United Cotton Communities who has been in Blount Co. for quite a while, in conversation with the editor last week expressed high hopes for a crowning success in his fight to get the farmers of this section interested in the growing of long staple cotton. The premium for long staple cotton is well known and the organization of farmers signing up to plant nothing but long staple cotton in this county and surrounding counties is growing by leaps and bouds.

Mr. Spears has had on display this year a stalk of long staple cotton that held 156 bolls. This cotton was classed as Spears upland 1½-inch staple cotton. Many other stalks shown by Mr. Spears were also heavily loaded with bolls.

Perhaps the most interesting display Mr. Spears has is the different tints of cotton he produces. This cotton grows on the stalks in the color wanted. Various tints have been grown and in one acre on his farm on Straight Mountain, 12 miles from Oneonta, he has 12 distinct varieties of cotton in one patch. The varieties being the various tints and the different classes of long staple cotton that can be produced at a much larger profit on the land in this part of the state.

Several thousand farmers are now signed up to plant nothing but long staple cotton for the United Cotton Communities, which will handle it direct to the mill. Several men from the big mills of the east have already paid visits to Mr. Spears for the purpose of closing contracts to take the cotton as soon as baled.

Another of the "believe it or not" items in the line-up of Mr. Spears' cotton is what he calls "hot cotton". This cotton when tasted is hot as though sprinkled with pepper. If you want to know all the secrets of how to raise all of this "crazy" cotton you will have to ask Mr. Spears—he wouldn't tell us.—Southern Democrat.

CANE CREEK

The singing Sunday afternoon was good. The crowd was smaal, but the singing was really good.

Mr. Virgil Robinson acted as chairman. The first song was sung by W. L. Sanders; prayer by Rev. Lockhart. Directors were: Mr. Posey Clackler, Floyd Little, Prof. Emmett Wilson, Rev. M. Lockhart, W. L. Sanders, Virgil Robinson, and Miss Norma Jene Gillespie.

We were glad for the visitors to come. It seemed like it did years ago when we had real good singings. We are going to have another singing before long, and we invite all singers to come and help us out.

The B. Y. P. U. was rained out last Sunday night, but if nothing happens we will meet next Sunday night, at 7:15. We will have Sunday school at our regular hour—10 o'clock Sunday morning.

The public is cordially invited to our services.

TESTING SEED OATS WILL CONTROL SMUT

Auburn, Aug. 28. — Alabama farmers can control oat smut at a very small cost by treating the seed oats with formaldehyde solution.

"When seed oats are treated properly with formaldehyde solution practically all smut organisms are killed," says J. C. Lowery, agronomist of the Alabama Extension Service, in giving the following directions for treating oats:

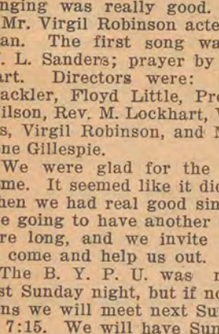
1. Buy a one-quart atomizer type sprayer from a drug store or hardware store.
2. Get from a drug store one pint of formaldehyde (40 per cent) solution for each 50 bushels of seed to be treated.
3. Pile oats to be treated on a clean floor, canvas, or in a tight wagon bed.
4. Pour formaldehyde from the bottle into the sprayer; fill the bottle with water and pour it into the sprayer.
5. While the oats are being shoveled from one pile to another, give one good squirt of the solution to each shovel full of oats as they are moved.
6. Round up the treated pile of oats and cover with bags which have been sprayed inside and out with the solution in order that the formaldehyde gas may be retained and penetrate the entire pile.
7. Leave the oats covered five hours, or over night.

ALUMINUM COMPANY WILL USE EMPLOYMENT SERVICE LABOR

Montgomery, Aug. 28. — The Aluminum Company of America, which will build a large plant on property of the state docks at Mobile and will employ several hundred workmen, will obtain all its employes except those in key positions through facilities of the Alabama State Employment Service, according to announcement received by the State Employment Service from Mobile.

"When the Aluminum Company is ready for the employment of its workers the Alabama State Employment Service will be prepared to submit to its personnel division the names and records of all persons who are available for these positions," commented J. G. Duncan, Jr., director of the state service. "Long before this company is ready to begin the operation of its Mobile plant the Alabama State Employment Service will have absorbed the local offices of the National Reemployment Service and will have representatives in touch with available labor in every county in Alabama. If the company were ready for business today our organization would be prepared to bring labor into contact with the proper agents of the company. It is highly pleasing to the service to know that such a large, outstanding employing unit as the Aluminum Company of America is convinced of the ability of the service to supply its needs."

RA FAMILIES PURCHASE 2,656 PRESSURE COOKERS



Auburn, Aug. 28. — Rural rehabilitation families in Alabama have this year purchased 2,656 pressure cookers for conserving foods for winter use, reports Julian Brown, state director, Resettlement Administration.

"These families have been busy for several weeks with the assistance of the home and farm supervisors and agents filling cans and jars with food for winter consumption," he says.

All Alabama rehabilitation families are being required to produce and conserve sufficient food and feed crops to meet the needs of the home and farm.

Lesson for September 5

GOD REQUIRES SOCIAL JUSTICE.

LESSON TEXT—Leviticus 19:1-18, 32-37.
GOLDEN TEXT—As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise. Luke 6:31.
PRIMARY TOPIC—At Harvest Time.
JUNIOR TOPIC—At Harvest Time.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Championing the Rights of Others.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—My Resonsibility for Social Justice.

Labor Day—in this year of our Lord 1937—looks out upon a world deeply divided in opinions of what is right and what is wrong in the relationship between capital and labor. Political and economic leaders are talking much of social justice, of a planned economy in which all shall have a full share of the products of labor. Surely, we would all agree that there should be only kindness and justice in all such dealings of man with man. But how to accomplish that result in a world of selfishness and sin, that indeed is the question.

Unfortunately, many of those in the church who have greatly stressed social relationships have forgotten that the true foundation for such teaching and living is the preaching of the gospel of redemption. In reaction to their impossible position, others who have faithfully preached the necessity of regeneration have forgotten to stress the need of the expression of regenerated life in the social relationships of man. We need God-given balance, with a proper reflection of gospel truth in honest and helpful living. God wants his people to show that they belong to him by

I. Providing for the Poor and Needy (vv. 9, 10, 14, 15).

When Jesus said, "Ye have the poor always with you" (Matt. 26:11), he referred to one of the responsibilities which thoughtful and considerate men have always gladly borne, but which has been a constant problem to both individuals and nations. We have dealt with it in our day on a broad and supposedly scientific basis, but those who are closest to it are quick to admit that we have even now an imperfect solution. In the days of Israel the poor were fed by the purposeful leaving of gleanings in the field—which the needy were free to gather as their own. Thus they had the joy of helping themselves even as they were being helped by others, and, in the final analysis, by God himself.

II. Guarding Another's Reputation (vv. 16-18).

Gossip is a destructive means of breaking down the good standing of another. It is a sin all too common in our day, even within the circle of God's own people. Talebearing and evil-speaking are a blight on our social and religious life. We should put them away.

Akin to this common and awful sin is the bearing of grudges and the seeking for revenge, neither of which serves any good purpose.

III. Honoring the Aged (v. 32).

Old - age pensions undoubtedly have their place in our complicated social life, but it is evident that they would be entirely unnecessary if men and women had in the fear of God honored "the hoary head" and "the face of the old man," even as God gave command to Israel.

IV. Loving the Stranger (vv. 33, 34).

The man who knows what it is to have been a stranger, and to meet with love and protecting care, should never forget to go and do likewise. Living, as many of us do, in great cities makes this somewhat of a problem, and yet one sometimes wonders whether the bustling city is not often kinder to the stranger than the little community, which makes him feel like an "outsider."

V. Being Honest in Business (vv. 11-13, 35, 36).

No stealing, no false swearing, no defrauding, no withholding of wages, for all these things dishonor or "profane the name of thy God."

A good motto to hang up behind the counter or over the desk in a business house is found in the words of verses 35 and 36. False bottoms, trick scales, short measure—oh, yes, they are against the city ordinance, and you will be fined if you are caught. But remember, they are also an abomination in the sight of the Lord.

The closing verse of our lesson reiterates that important truth. In carrying out the tenets of social justice we are not simply being humane and kind. We are observing the statutes and ordinances of the Eternal One, him who says, "I am Jehovah."

Being One in Faith

It is good to know that in whatever country we are found, and under whatever sky, we are, through faith in the divine Saviour, members in the same body, sheep in the same fold, children of one home.

Pay Up Our Debts

Debt comes under the eighth commandment. It hangs a millstone round the neck of the man or woman who incurs it. It corrodes honesty.

BOY SCOUTS TO STAGE BIG SHOW AT MONTGOMERY THIS WEEK END

Clanton Boy Scouts, scouters, and all others interested are invited to visit the mammoth Boy Scout merit badge show and hobby contest which will completely fill Montgomery's new National Guard Armory Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 2, 3, 4.

There will be 18 merit badge displays, many including action demonstration, by Troop 9 of Tallassee, and by all of Montgomery's troops, covering more than 4,000 square feet of floor space, will portray in a vivid manner the aims, ideals and activities of Boy Scouts of America, from the operation of the 45-foot sea scout ship with 20-foot masts and rigging, to signaling, camping, pioneering, woodworking, the actual finishing of kodak pictures, and so on to the elaborate display on electricity by Tallassee's Troop 9.

Scouts and scouters will be admitted free on presentation of their registration cards; others will pay only 10 cents each for admission fee.

This show is the result of a summer of preparation by the scouts, will be more elaborate in many ways than the annual show at Birmingham, and will be worth driving many miles to see. Several troops will manufacture souvenirs in their booths which will be distributed among the visitors. Hundreds of fascinating individual hobby exhibits add another interesting feature.

The Armory is located on Madison Avenue, close to Cramton Bowl, and will be open to the public Thursday night from 7 to 10; Friday from 3 to 6 and 7 to 10, and Saturday from 3 to 6 and 7 to 10. A cordial invitation is extended to scouts, scouters, and all interested, and special arrangements are being made to entertain out-of-town automobile and bus parties which include special scout conductors for sight-seeing trips.

BOARDS OF EDUCATION MUST SUSPEND SALARY SCHEDULE

Montgomery, Aug. 28. — According to a statement issued Friday afternoon by E. B. Norton, chairman of the Public Relations Committee of the A. E. A., the only method by which the schools will be able to run the minimum program term for 1937-1938 and 1938-1939 is for boards of education to suspend normal salary increases earned through increased training and experience of the teachers, to require teachers to handle larger classes, thus reducing the number of additional teachers to care for increased school attendance.

"State appropriations for the support of the Minimum Program," Mr. Norton said, "were based upon public school attendance in 1934-1935. Since that year, the average daily attendance in the public schools will have increased 8 per cent by 1937-1938. This means that without an increase in total school revenue, county and city boards of education must provide next year for an increase of 40,000 pupils in average daily attendance.

"In 1936-1937," he added, "provisions were made for increased attendance by reducing by approximately 17 per cent the amount collected in school budgets for capital outlay and other current expenses. In planning the apportionment of the Minimum Program fund for 1937-1938, however, the State Board of Education found it necessary to limit the amount allowed for increases in salaries of teachers to a 2 per cent increase over the amount allowed for such salaries in 1936-1937.

"Because of the limitation thus placed upon the budgeting of school expenditures," Mr. Norton pointed out, "county and city boards of education, with few exceptions, will be forced to curtail, if not suspend, the policy of granting an increase in salary proportionate to a teacher's advance in training and experience."

Mr. Norton was in Montgomery in attendance at the convention of High School Principals Association.

NEW SALEM

Last Sunday was time to call a pastor at this place, but on account of rainy weather only a few were present, so it was put off until next Sunday, September 5. We urge every member to be present, as this is important business. Sunday school at 9:30, conference at 10:30, preaching at 11:00 o'clock. Please be on time.

PILOT CLUB NEWS

The Clanton Pilot Club held its regular business meeting at the Methodist church last Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock with the following officers and members present: Sarah Mullins, vice president; Edith Thompson, secretary; Laura Little, treasurer; Mamie C. Smith, Sophia Mullins, Delilah Kelly Grant, Olive Welch.

Reports were made by the chairmen of various committees appointed for the Pilot convention to be held in October, at which time the Clanton Pilot Club will be host to all clubs in District No. 1. The clubs comprising this district are: Selma, Dothan, Mobile, Montgomery, and Clanton. Members from several other clubs, including Birmingham, Tuscaloosa, Atlanta, and Meridian, have asked permission to attend this convention.

The club expects this to be the best convention ever held by the Clanton Pilots.

A total of 11,454 loans, averaging $248 each, were made to individual rural rehabilitation families in Alabama, reports Julian Brown, state director. "In addition to loans to individuals, 90 cooperative loans were made to communities to enable individuals to avail themselves of much needed services they could not afford to purchase.

Assistant county agents fo the Alabama Extension Service and district and county home management supervisors of the Resettlement Administration spent the past week in Auburn studying the latest agricultural and home management information available.

4-H CALF CLUB BOYS MEET

The 4-H Calf Club boys met at the vocational agricultural building at the Chilton County High School Saturday, August 28, at 2:00 o'clock.

Plans for the local cattle show to be held September 18 were discussed by all members present. All members who have not had their calves registered were requested to do so by Mr. Ivey before the fair.

A new type of insurance was explained for those wanting to insure their stock before carrying it to Birmingham. Any club member interested should see Mr. Ivey or Mr. Joe Mims.

The Chilton County Calf Club will have much more competition at the state fair this year as more counties are entering.

Let's all take good care of our calves by keeping them blanketed, brushed and trained by the time of the fair.—A club member, Ned Dennis.

Economists of the United States Department of Agriculture expect cattle prices to continue near present high levels the remainder of this year.

The seasonal decline in hog prices this fall and early winter will be of about average proportions, predicts the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Bauxite, from which aluminum is made, is mined in only three Southern states—Aalabam, Georgia and Arkansas.

COTTON LEAF WORMS APPEAR IN ALABAMA

Auburn, Aug. 28. — W. A. Ruffin, entomologist of the Alabama Experiment Service, has issued a warning to North and Central Alabama farmers to be on the lookout for cotton leaf worms, commonly known as army worms.

The worms have already appeared in Lawrence and Covington Counties, says Mr. Ruffin, in advising that "it is too late for the worms to do much damage in South Alabama, but it is possible for them to do considerable damage in North and Central Alabama."

Mr. Ruffin warns farmers, especially in Northeast Alabama counties, to be on the lookout for the first appearance of the worms and to poison their cotton with 8 to 10 pounds of calcium arsenate per acre immediately after the worms are discovered.

Approximately 7,000 Alabama 4-H club boys and girls attended 4-H club camps throughout the state during the summer months. Some 3,000 club boys of 31 Alabama counties also made tours of the Muscle Shoals area from August 11 to August 28.

The value of Alabama's mineral products in 1935 was estimated at $31,772,000. In 1910 the value of these products that year was placed at $47,751,000.

EVERYBODY WILL PROFIT

IN THE

Union-Banner's Profit Sharing Circulation and Free Gift Campaign

AUTOMOBILE, CASH PRIZES, CASH COMMISSIONS, GIVEN AWAY F-R-E-E TO AMBITIOUS MEN, WOMEN, BOYS AND GIRLS, THROUGHOUT THE CIRCULATING TERRITORY OF THE UNION-BANNER. EVERYONE WHO ENTERS AND PARTICIPATES WILL PROFIT. COSTS NOTHING TO ENTER AND SHARE THESE AWARDS.

Everybody Wins --- Come In and Let Us Explain This Great Contest

Rules and Regulations of The Union-Banner's Campaign

1. Any reputable woman, man or child living in Chilton County or surrounding territory who is not a salaried employe or blood relation of any employe (this does not include correspondents) of The Union-Banner, is eligible to enter and compete for a prize. Nominations may be made at any time during the campaign. The management reserves the right to reject any and all nominations.

2. The winners of prizes will be decided by their accredited votes, said votes being represented by ballots issued on subscriptions, opportunity coupons, clipped from papers.

3. Candidates are not confined to their particular town or community in which to secure votes and subscriptions but may take orders anywhere in this section; or for that matter in the state or United States.

4. Cash must accompany all orders where votes are desired. There will be no exception to this rule. Candidates are allowed to collect renewals as well as entirely new subscriptions and votes will be issued on both.

5. Votes are free. It costs the subscriber nothing extra to vote for his favorite. Subscribers should ask for votes when paying their subscription. Votes cannot be purchased. Every cent accepted through the campaign department must represent subscriptions.

6. Votes are not transferable. Candidates cannot withdraw in favor of another candidate. Votes on such transferred subscriptions will be subject to disqualification at the discretion of the management.

7. Any collusion on the part of the candidates to nullify competition or any other combination or effort to detriment of candidate or this newspaper will not be tolerated. Any candidate entering into or taking part in such an agreement or effort, will forfeit all right to a prize or commission.

8. Any ballots issued on subscriptions may be held in reserve and voted at the discretion of the candidates or this newspaper. The printed coupons appearing in the paper must be voted on or before the expiration of the date thereon.

9. In the event of a tie for any one of the prizes a prize identical in value will be given each tying contestant.

10. In case of a typographical error it is understood that neither the publisher nor the campaign manager will be responsible except for the necessary corrections upon the same.

11. No statement, assertion, or promise, either written or verbal, made by any of the solicitors, agents, or candidates will be recognized by the publisher or campaign manager.

12. Every candidate is an authorized agent of The Union-Banner, and may collect subscription payments from the present as well as new subscribers.

13. Extension of subscriptions will receive votes according to vote schedule in effect when the first subscription was given, except that no extension votes will be given in the final period.

14. It is distinctly understood and agreed that candidates will be responsible for all money collected and that they will remit such amounts in full at frequent intervals or on demand to the campaign department.

15. There will be several big prizes awarded besides 20 per cent cash commission to all ACTIVE non-prize winners, but it is distinctly understood that in the event ANY candidate becomes INACTIVE, failing to make a semi-weekly cash report, he or she will, at the discretion of the management, become disqualified, and thereby forfeit all rights to a prize or commission.

16. To insure absolute fairness in awarding the prizes, the race will be brought to a close under a "sealed ballot box," and will be under the personal supervision of two or more of the judges. The last few days of the campaign, the box, locked and sealed, will repose in the vault of a local bank, where candidates and their friends will deposit their final collections and reserve votes. And not until the race has been declared closed will the seals be broken, the box unlocked, and the judges begin the final count. In this way no one, not even the campaign manager, can possibly know the voting strength of the respective candidates, which precludes any possibility of favoritism and insures fairness to the minutest degree.

17. The right is reserved to increase or add to the list of prizes.

18. The Union-Banner guarantees fair and impartial treatment to all candidates, but should any questions arise, the decision of the management shall be absolute and final.

19. 40,000 extra votes will be given on each new yearly subscription during the first period of the campaign; 30,000 during the second period; 20,000 during the third period; and 10,000 during the final period; 200,000 extra votes will be accredited to every candidate who turns in ten one-year subscriptions or their equivalent during the first week after candidate accepts nomination.

20. Campaign officially opens with the first published list of names and closes on October 23rd.

In accepting nominations candidates agree to abide by above conditions.

THE CAMPAIGN PLAN IN BRIEF

HOW TO BECOME A CANDIDATE

The first step in order to become a candidate and participate in this Profit Sharing Circulation and Free Gift Campaign is to clip the NOMINATION BLANK appearing in this announcement. Fill in your name or that of a friend whom you wish to nominate and bring or mail to the campaign department of The Union-Banner. This coupon entitles you or the person whom you wish to nominate to 10,000 FREE VOTES. These votes are given you as a starter and speeds you on your way to win. Only one of these coupons will be accepted from any one candidate.

Upon receipt of your nomination you will be supplied with the necessary working outfit, consisting of a receipt book and all other necessary supplies and information as will be helpful in making your campaign a complete success.

Let it be fully understood that this is not a beauty contest and will be conducted on a strictly competitive basis from start to finish.

EVERYONE HAS AN EQUAL CHANCE

Everyone, regardless of where they may reside, has an equal chance at all the prizes. There will be no handicap for one that will not exist for all. There are no required number of subscriptions that any candidate must secure to be eligible for any of the prizes. Should one find subscriptions hard to secure then he may rest assured that others will find them the same way. Then, too, double votes are allowed for all new subscriptions.

Read every word of this announcement carefully and then cut out the Nomination Blank, fill in your name or that of some friend or relative and bring or send to the campaign department of The Union-Banner today. If not convenient for you to call at the campaign department personally, write a card and a representative will gladly call at your home and explain just how easy you may go about winning the prize of your choice. This will not place you under any obligations—you are to be the sole judge.

DOES MONEY MEAN ANYTHING TO YOU?

The Union-Banner extends an invitation to the residents of Clanton and surrounding territory to enter and participate in the Mammoth Profit-Sharing Free Gift Campaign. This is entirely different from anything ever attempted in this vicinty before.

Just a few spare minutes a day is all that is necessary. It costs nothing to enter, and you are guaranteed a prize or cash commission.

ADVISORY BOARD

It is the sincere aim of this newspaper to conduct this campaign from start to finish in a fair, honorable and impartial manner to all concerned. Every precaution has been taken to safeguard the interests of all participants and absolute honesty in all dealings is assured. However, not all wisdom lies with any one man or institution, and for that reason an advisory board has been decided upon, whose functions shall be to decide any question of sufficient moment that might happen to arise during the competition and from which a committee shall be selected to act as judges and count the votes the last night of the campaign. The names will be supplied later.

HOW THE PRIZES WILL BE AWARDED

The Grand Extraordinary, the CHEVROLET COACH, valued at $730.00, or the cash cost equivalent will be awarded the candidate having the highest vote score over all.

The candidate having the second highest vote score will be awarded ..... $200.00 in Cash
The Third highest candidate will receive .... $100.00 in Cash
The Fourth highest candidate will receive .. $ 75.00 in Cash
The Fifth highest candidate will receive ... $ 50.00 in Cash

ALL OTHER CANDIDATES who have remained active according to the rules of the campaign, who fail to win one of the prizes will be paid a 20 per cent commission on each dollar they have turned in during the entire campaign. EVERYBODY WINS—THERE WILL BE NO LOSERS.

ENTERPRISE SINGING IS CALLED OFF

The singing at Enterprise, which was to be held on the first Sunday afternoon, has been called off, due to some all day singings nearby. Watch the papers for further announcements.—I. D. Huett, Chairman.

WHO HAS DOCUMENTS OLDER THAN THESE?

I noticed in The Union-Banner about Mr. Bryan's watch. I would like very much to have Mr. Bryan's watch, if his price is reasonable.

I have a letter from a civil war veteran 53 years old; a will 117 years old; a receipt 93 years old. If any one who reads this can produce letters or documents of any kind older than these, I would like very much to hear from them telling me just wat they have and the date written, conditions, Etc.—Oscar P. Mims, Pisgah, Alabama.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church, had the first lesson from the books, "Out of Africa," by Emory Ross, in the church parlor Monday afternoon. After a song and prayer, the introduction to the book was given by Mrs. Truett.

Mrs. Tom Searcy presented the geography of Africa. She made her talk more graphic by pointing out the topics on a map of Africa showing the countries who own Africa. This map was made by Miss Mary Newell. Mrs. Headley told of the life of Emory Ross; Mrs. Deloach had charge of the scrap book; the members are to bring each time pictures and articles about Africa and the negro cut from magazines and papers for this book. Mrs. Wilbanks has charge of the roll. In the discussion, it was brought out that Africa had taken on a civilization in 59 years that ordinarily takes a nation one thousands years to achieve. Opinion tests were checked by all the members. These were typed by Miss Roxie Polk. Mrs. L. J. Stewart read some scripture references about Ethiopia from the 8th chapter of Isaiah.

The next lesson will be at 3:30 in the church parlor September 13. If you haven't joined the class, will you come next time? Come, even if you can only visit.

Judges To Select Outstanding City

Progress Will Be Measured In Terms Of Beneficial Effect of Projects In League's Contest

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 31.—Cities that have attained the most beneficial civic improvements and services by wise and economical cooperation with the Federal Works Program will be chosen by a committee of Judges in Montgomery on September 11, Ed E. Reid, executive secretary of the Alabama League of Municipalities has announced.

The League is sponsoring the "City Progress" contest in which the outstanding town in each of three groups will be chosen, the judges giving full consideration to the population of the town and amount of relief labor available. They also consider the resourcefulness and good management displayed by officals of the towns in making the best use of the opportunities for civic improvement afforded by the Works Program. From the group winners will be chosen one city for the grand award for the State.

Nine cities and towns had entered the contest on August 30 and a number of others were expected to enter before the close of the contest on September 8th, Secretary Reid said.

VOLUME 45.—TEN PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1937 NUMBER 21

Extra Cash Prize Added In Union-Banner Contest

Extra $25.00 Will Be Given In Special Drive To Last Ten Days. Does Not Affect Any Other Prizes. Candidates Urged To Redouble Their Efforts

The Union-Banner offers an extra $25.00 in cash for ten days effort only. Think of it! In addition to the automobile and all other prizes first announced, The Union-Banner now offers an extra prize amount of $25 to be awarded the worker who secures the greatest number of years in subscriptions from Friday, September 10th, to Monday, September 20th, at 10 a. m.

This is absolutely extra and in addition to all the other prizes first announced, and subscriptions will apply in the regular way on all other prizes to be awarded at the close of the campaign.

Now is the time for you that are entered to get busy while subscriptions really have a double value. You who have been thinking of entering, now is the time. There is plenty of room in the list for anyone who means business These extra prizes will be awarded just as soon after the close as points can be checked and the winners determined.

Don't "kid yourself" with the idea that you are too big to make money, honorably and legitimately, during spare time. Some people like to feel that they are, but in reality are only fooling themselves. Some of the foremost men and women of the United States are, or have been newspeper men and women.

Car Going For Little

From present indications the Chevrolet Coach is going to be given away for less votes than are usually required when a sewing machine, a phonograph, a wrist watch, or a cheap diamond ring is given away.

This is the honest truth. Votes turned in so far would not justify one of the old-time piano, sewing machine, or ring campaigns.

The lack of interest manifested by candidates in general is not only regrettable; it is appalling. It is ridiculous. Yes, and it is serious.

In Sackcloth and Ashes

Sooner or later in this campaign, a candidate or candidates now entered or one or more who may yet enter, will get their stride and the drones are going to find themselves weeping in sackcloth and ashes by the roadside while the real live ones spin past in their big motor car—motor car won through consistent effort.

Wake Up, Get Busy

You candidates who are in. You have been nominated. Your friends have helped you. Some of you are willing to help yourselves. Others of you have yet to see the light. Wake up; start doing, accomplish, win.

"Everybody Wins"

Stop! Think! Act!

Decide now, throw your hat into the ring in The Union-Banner's "Everybody Wins" Free Gift Distribution, and make more for yourself in automobile and cash in the next few weeks than most men save in years.

Act today. Fill in your name on the line of the Nomination Coupon which appears on another page in today's Union-Banner. Mail it or bring it to Campaign Headquarters at The Union-Banner Office.

Resolve To Help Now

Do it today; now while you are firmly resolved to better your condition. Any man or woman can do amazing things if his or her heart is in the work. How much do you want to make? You need not answer this question. Answer these instead:

How many evenings are you willing to sacrifice? How much effort during spare moments are you willing to make? How sincere are you in your desire to get ahead in life?

Answer these questions honestly and you will KNOW how much you can make in The Union-Banner's Free Gift Distribution.

There is a new Chevrolet Coach, valued at $730 waiting for you, and hundreds of dollars in cash. You can make up to $90 a week for the next few weeks.

"Everybody wins" is the slogan for this effort. The lowest an active worker can make is 20 per cent cash commission. You positively can't fail.

Everyobdy who participates, profits. The workers profit because there is a car or cash prize for every active worker. The paper profits with its increased circulation because its power to do service to Clanton and Chilton county is so much greater.

A Tip For Candidates

There is one way to be assured of votes. That way is to get out after subscriptions. Subscriptions get votes—votes win. Just because someone has been working in a certain territory is no reason why you should not work there, too. No candidate can get all the subscriptions. The man or woman has never been born who can take anything and sell it to everybody. Perhaps you have more personality, more salesmanship ability. Everybody is a prospect and a present subscriber is always a prospect for a renewal.

Obey that impluse! Act now!

Campaign office will be open every evening until 6 o'clock.

Displays at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition will illustrate marketing methods used by western states in shipping 188,000 carloads of fruit a year, or 62 per cent of the total carloadings.

FUNERAL RITES FOR B. G. JOHNSON HELD

Beauregard G. Johnson, age 77, died at his home one and one-half miles east of Clanton last Friday morning at 10 o'clock, following an illness of nearly a month. Funeral services were at Walnut Creek Saturday, afternoon at 2 o'clock, services conducted by Rev. T. C. Cassady, assisted by Rev. J. W. Enfinger. Other ministers present were: Revs. G. G. Williams, M. Lockhart and J. J. DuBose. Spigener was in charge.

Pallbearers were: Leonard P. Easterling, Marion Easterling, Matthew Mims, Preston Easterling, Gerthie Johnson and Arthur Miner.

Surviving are his second wife, Mrs. Lonie Johnson; seven sons—W. J. Easterling, Sam Johnson, J. Matt, Lummie, J. Johnnie, Esaw, and Josie Johnson. There are five daughters—Mrs. G. F. M. Easterling, Mrs. George Mims, Mrs. Lee Gladden, Mrs. Ernest Adams and Miss Clara Mae Johnson. The deceased was the father of 22 children, ten of whom are living. There are 49 grand children and a number of great grand children.

B. G. Johnson was born in Walnut Creek community, and he spent almost his entire life there. He was first married to "Sis" Easterling, who died 33 years ago. The last time he married Lonie Bice, who survives him.

THE COUNTRY COMES LAST

President Roosevelt's new majority leader in the Senate, "Dear Alben" Barkley, celebated his triumph over Pat Harrison by making a formal statement to the newspaper reporters:

"My policy is to be representative of the administration, as well as of the Senate, in working out to the best of my ability the problems that face the Congress and the country."

The administration first, the Senate second, the Congress third, and the country last. Spoken like a true New Dealer.—New York Sun.

HEARD FROM L. J. COOPER

A card from Rev. L. J. Cooper, written from Morton, Miss., says that he is having a glorious meeting at that place; fine crowds and excellent responses. He had some trouble on the trip over there from Clanton, but nothing serious.

DR. MARCUS ILL

Dr. T. J. Marcus has been rather ill with a cold and complications during the past week. He is reported to be improving now, however.

WIDOW OF G. G. GRAY DIED

Mrs. Nannie Gray, age 60 years, died at the home in Friendship community Monday night, following an illness of three weeks. Funeral services were held at Bethany Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. S. D. Deloach officiating. Spigener was in charge.

Surviving is one son—Zebbie Gray, of Clanton; five daughters—Mrs. Lula Headley, Mrs. Maggie McKee, both of Clanton, Mrs. Bertha Summers of Montgomery, Mrs. Minnie Cobern of Thorsby, and Miss Ophelia Knight of Clanton. There are six step-children—three sons, N. A. Gray, Watson, and Walter; three daughters—Mrs. Henry Summerlin, Mrs. Willie Summerlin of Burnsville, and Miss Cora Gray of Columbus, Ga.

NEW SEED AND FEED STORE

Mr. S. A. Jones announces the opening of a new seed and feed store to be known as Jones Seed & Feed Co. This business is located in the Headley buildng, next to the ralroad.

Mr. Jones is an experienced seedsman and feedsman, having been employed by local seed and feed stores for the past four years. He wil carry a complete line of bulk garden and field seeds from T. W. Wood & Sons Seed Co., one of the oldest seed houses in the country. He feels that he knows the best seeds adapted to the climate and soils in this county. You will also find a full line of fresh feeds for all purposes. In about two weeks he will open a modern cream station.

Mr. Jones invites all his friends to come in to see him when in Clanton.

RATTLESNAKES IN CLANTON

Refuge community has the distinction of being the rattlesnake region of the county, but we have them right here in Clanton too. Mr. Jimmie Cox brought one to the Banner office Wednesday morning about four feet long which he killed at the bridge near Jno. M. Robinson's home south of town. The reptile had four rattles and was the second one about this size to be killed there during the past two weeks.

Children are always playing and prowling around down there in the woods, and are thus subjecting themselves to grave danger of being bitten by a rattler. At this season of the year exceptional care should be observed when one is walking through woods. Rattlesnakes are out and they seem to be plentiful this year.

Grand Jury Touches On Road Matters

(EDITORIAL)

The Grand Jury of Chilton County, in session at the courthouse last week, along with regular deliberations "took occasion to give some study to the local road law that now prevails in Chilton County." After a rather lengthy preamble, the Grand Jury continues that it "is deeply impressed with the fact that the Probate Judge and Commissioners of the county, who are directly answerable to the citizens of the county at the ballot box, should have full control and management of the making, maintenance, building and improvement of the public roads and bridges of the county; and further that if an engineer . . . . . is needed he should be answerable to the Probate Judge and Commissioners. . . . . The law, as it is now on the books . . . . . in our opinion, is unworkable."

The report of the Grand Jury continues: "The voters of the county should be on guard and take steps to elect as a representative to the legislature from Chilton County for the next session a person who will insure the people that this law will be repealed."

The Union-Banner recognizes the prestige and influence that is naturally attached to such an august body as the Grand Jury of Chilton County. Its report and recommendations certainly are weighty and necessarily must be far-reaching. And since this august body has opened the way by committing itself on a question which has come to be a more or less political one, this paper, if permitted to do so, would like to lend a little emphasis to this part of the report of the Grand Jury. We say hurrah for the Grand Jury and the fearless manner in which that body expresses itself about the road supervisor law of Chilton County. We figured from the start that, in the manner it was drawn up and the manner it was passed, it would be unworkable. It had the wrong conception and has worked out bad ever since. In the first place, it was passed over the wishes of the people of the county—that within itself was enough to make it unworkable, even if there were some fairly good features to it.

Now, about sending a man to the next legislature who will repeal that law. That is the point we were pleased to have the Grand Jury make (although we know they would have made it whether it pleased us or not). But we were glad they went that far any way; and The Union-Banner right at this juncture is going to go a little further down that road than the Grand Jury did. We are going to suggest someone whom the voters might choose to have the honor of repealing that unworkable road law.

Hon. Percy M. Pitts has served Chilton County as its representative for two terms already, and during his sojourn in Montgomery we do not remember of him passing any laws that were particularly objectionable to the people of Chilton County; but we believe he obstructed the passage of some laws that would have displeased the people of the county. We believe that Mr. Pitts again could be trusted to do the right things by the people of Chilton County in the Legislature of Alabama.

And there is other timber—very suitable timber—in the citizenship of Chilton County for this important job. Any time that the question of roads comes to one's mind, the natural drift is toward Judge L. H. Reynolds, a pioneer in this business. It was, we believe, way back in 1911, when a group of citizens of Alabama met in Birmingham at what they called a good roads convention, and at this, the first meeting of its kind to be held in the state, Judge L. H. Reynolds placed a motion before the body to bring into being a permanent organization for the furtherance of good roads in Alabama. The body was named the Alabama Good Roads Association, and Judge Reynolds was elected president of it. He served as its head until a State Department was formed and a Democrat was appointed to preside over it. Yes, Judge Reynolds pioneered good roads in Alabama, and he has been constantly at it ever since.

We imagine that Judge Reynolds would be in favor of repealing the present road law of Chilton County, and if sent to the legislature to represent Chilton County would "insure the people of the county that this law will be repealed." The Union-Banner has not heard him say much about it lately, but we imagine he would be in favor of putting the matter back in the hands of the Probate Judge and Commissioners of Chilton County. And certainly that is what a vast majority of the people of the county would have their representative do.

Let the citizens if Chilton County do a little serious thinking, with the Grand Jury, along these lines. Certainly "we are not progressing under this law" as the county should progress and as it would progress if all the forces were working in unison and most of the unnecessary friction were eliminated. Let us send a man down to the legislature who will do the thing up right.

NO OFFENSE MEANT

In last week's issue of The Union-Banner we carried an article quoting a Shelby County merchant to the effect that one could get all the beer he might want in Chilton County.

That was a true incident, but was not published with intention ot reflect on the force of Sheriff Hardy. Our sheriff has been very vigilant and active in the prosecution of liquor law violators, and if there are still bootleggers and illicit beer dispensers in Chilton County, it is no reflection on the sheriff, but rather on the loosely drawn liquor law under which we operate. The manner in which this law is drawn, and the loopholes it contains makes it just about impossible for a sheriff in any "dry" county to enforce our so-called "dry county" provisions in the law.

We make this note lest anyone be impressed by last week's article that the sheriff and his deputies have been considered negligent in their duties. Such is not the case, nor was such an impression intended.

MRS. WESSON DIED

Mrs. Sarah C. Wesson, age 76, died at the home on Clanton Route 4 last Sunday night. The funeral was held Monday at 2:30 at New Salem, and burial was in the cemetery there, Rev. Aaron Parker officiating. Spigener was in charge.

Surving are three sons—J. D., M. C., and H. C. Wesson. of Clanton Route 4; four daughters—Mrs. E. G. Bishop of Birmingham, Mrs. Ethel Burnett, Mrs. Matthew Berkley, and Miss Janie Wesson, all of Clanton Route 4.

AGED LADY DIED AT THORSBY

Mrs. Anne Martha Grothy, age 88, died Wednesday afternoon at her home in Thorsby. Burial was Sunday afternoon in Concordia cemetery, Thorsby, services having been held from the Swedish-Lutheran church. Martin and Sons were in charge; officiating were: Rev. E. W. Butler and Rev. Lawrence L. Stanley.

Pallbearers were: E. E. Hansen, J. L. Mixon, C. R. Foss, Vernon Carlson, Frank Nelson and James Nelson.

Surviving are three daughters—Miss Anna Werness, Miss Nell Werness and Mrs. Matilda Langville.

Mrs. Grothy was born in Norway. She first married a Mr. Werness; later she married Mr. H. H. Grothy, the latter having died 30 years ago.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION HERE 1st SUNDAY IN OCTOBER

Prof. W. M. Devaughn, president of the Chilton County Singing Convention, authorizes the announcement that the fall session of the convention will be held the first Sunday in October and Saturday night before. All singers of the county and adjoining counties are asked to bear the date in mind and make arrangements to attend.

Arrangements are being made to have some outstanding singers and quartets to attend this session. Those who attend are assured of an enjoyable time.

PRESIDING ELDER TO BE HERE

Rev. W. W. Andrews, presiding Elder of the Selma Disrtict, of Selma, will be in Clanton next Sunday and will preach at the Methodist church at 11 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to hear Rev. Andrews.

Site Has Been Selected For The County Fair Here Soon

Prospects Are Above Expectations For One Of The Best Events Of Its Kind In Central Alabama. Farmers Are Urged To Cooperate With Sponsors

The ball park lot across Maplesville Highway from the CCC camp has been selected as the site for the Bigger and Better Chilton County Fair to be held here beginning on Tuesday, September 28, and ending Saturday, October 2. A complete committee has been selected to assist the committee of the Kiwanis Club in charge of the fair arrangements, and every effort is being put forth to make the fair a real success from every viewpoint.

The site selected is easily accessible, there being plenty of parking space and plenty of room for all the tents, everything connected with the fair and the concessions. Word from Mr. Littlejohn, the manager of the fair, says that from his end of the line, everything points toward a most successful fair at Clanton. He is arranging for all the tents, and will have two car loads of paraphernalia here ready to be placed on the ground the first of the week.

There will be special days for special organizations of the county, such as school day, farmers day, live stock day, Etc. It has not been decided definitely what day will be devoted to different things, but it is supposed now that farmers day will be Friday and school day will be Saturday; however, definite announcement of this will be made next week.

The cooperation of the farmers of the county is respectfully solicited by the officials and committee in charge of the fair. This is a farmers' proposition, and the more cooperation that is received from the farmers the greater success it will be. Therefore, let us urge that the farmers of the county lend their aid to the Chilton County fair. We want to make it a lasting institution of lasting value; this can be done only by everybody pulling together to make the whole thing a glowing success. This can be done, and it must be done.

RAT ERADICATION CAMPAIGN

A rat eradication program for the city of Clanton will begin on next Monday, September 13th, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club in co-operation with city and county health departments. Everybody in the city is urged to help out in the campaign.

The rat poison will be furnished free, and the placing of the same in the right places to make it more effective will be done by the Club and the authorities. Anyone wishing information about it should confer with J. Mell Martin or the city authorities.

The school authorities of the city have agreed to help out in the campaign by letting the boys of the school aid in distributing the poison. The stuff to be used to poison the rats will not poison anything else, the authorities say.

NOT SAME CLARENCE SMITH

Last week in the report of highway patrolmen there appeared the name of Clarence Smith, picked up for public drunkenness. We wish to explain that this is not the Clarence N. Smith who lives out near Liberty Hill. The Union-Banner is glad to make this explanation.

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY DECLARES NEW DIVIDENDS

Birmingham, Aug. 31. — The Board of Directors of Alabama Power Company today declared the regular quarterly dividends on its preferred stock, payable October 1, 1937, on the $7 and $6 stock to stockholders of record September 15, 1937, and payable November 1, 1937, on the $5 stock to stockholders of record October 15, 1937.

These dividends will aggregate approximately $585,000 and dividend checks will be mailed on September 30, 1937, for the $7 and $6 stock, and on October 30, 1937, for the $5 stock.

HAPPY HITTERS WILL BE AT COURTHOUSE SEPT. 16TH

The Stamps-Baxter Happy Hitters will put on a concert at the courthouse, Thursday night, September 16th, at 8 o'clock. Admission will be 15 cents for children and 25 cents for adults.

CONSTITUTION COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED FOR CHILTON CO.

According to information received from the United States Constitution Sesquicentennial Commission at Washington, Postmistress Mildred S. Burnett of Stanton has appointed a local Constitution Committee to cooperate with the national commission on plans for observing the 150th anniversary of the formation of the United States Constitution, which will begin on Friday, September 17. This committee is made up of: W. F. Stone, principal of the Stanton Junior High School, and Miss Alma Schurter.

PATROLMEN'S REPORT

State Highway Patrolmen Wallace Waites and Earl Henley report the following arrests for the week beginning August 30, and ending September 5:

Will Morris, violating carrier law; fine and costs $11.50.

Ernest Sears, improper trip ticket; fine and costs $15.50.

Dale M. Price, no driver's license; bond.

Andrew Bright, reckless driving; fine and costs $30.50.

Odie Robinson, reckless driving; bond.

R. E. Miller, driving while intoxicated; bond.

J. J. Shockley, driving while intoxicated; bond.

Lewis C. Dodson, violating flag and flare law; bond.

Kenney Hambrick, driving while intoxicated; in jail.

Homer Melton, no driver's license; bond.

Patrolmen Henley and Waites wish to warn farmers who are hauling cotton at this season, or who for any other reason may be on the highway with wagons at night, regarding the rear light which the state law says all vehicles must carry. The patrolmen will enforce this rear light law, and warn all the farmers to carry a rear light on their wagons when on the roads at night.

SHERIFF'S REPORT

Dallas Dickerson, violating prohibition law; bond.

Clyde N. Welch, federal offense; in jail.

Leander Bohannon, driving while intoxicated; made bond.

Red Glass, alias James B. Glass, public drunkenness; made bond.

Bob (Robert) Easley, assault to murder; in jail.

Miss Helen Roberts returned to the University of Alabama this week after spending her vacation here with her mother, Mrs. Barney Roberts.

Mr. Paul Locklear spent Sunday in Albertville, Ala. He was accompanied home by Mrs. Locklear, who was the guest of friends and relatives in Albertville and Gadsden for several days.

CHILTON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL OPENED LAST MONDAY MORN.

The enrollment at the local high school for the second day was 350, which is about 20 more than enrolled the first month of last year. The total enrollment for last year was 362, and this number will doubtless be reached by the end of this week.

The superintendent and principal believe they have assembled a splendid teaching force for this year for the high school. The teachers, with their home address and subjects taught, are as follows:

Miss Martha Blackshear, physical education for girls, Headland, Ala.

Miss Virginia Cook, home economics, Roanoke, Ala.

Dewey L. Cox, history, Ensley, Ala.

B. E. Evans, directed occupations, Birmingham, Ala.

J. A. Hayes, shop and occupations, Thorsby, Ala.

J. H. Jackson, agriculture, Leroy, Ala.

Mrs. Sara Mullins, English and social studies, Clanton, Ala.

Miss Eaolian McRee, Junior High mathematics and science, Greenville, Ala.

Miss Louise Morton, library and English, Midway, Ala.

Mrs. Percy M. Pitts, piano, Clanton, Ala.

Mrs. Roberts, piano, Clanton, Ala.

J. T. Searcy, mathematics, Clanton, Ala.

Miss Nannie Simpson, English, Anniston, Ala.

F. H. Spicer, Junior mathematics and physical education for boys, football, Attalla, Ala.

Mr. J. B. Varnell, science, Clanton, Ala.

Miss Mary Love Ward, commercial arts, Auburn, Ala.

HIGH SCHOOL P.-T. A.

A special program of much importance to Chilton County is being sponsored by the high school P.-T. A., in the interest of the health and well being of the youth of our high school.

Dr. B. F. Austin, health authority and outstanding speaker, of Montgomery, will deliver an address at the Chilton County High School next Tuesday afternoon at 3:30, September 14. All patrons of the school are urged to be present. All interested in our young people are invited to be present.

This is the first meeting of the P.-T. A., and will be a good time for you to join. We need you and you need us. The duos are only 50 cents each year. If you do not wish to join, please come to this meeting. Dr. Kimmey, our county health officer, will give us some valuable information about our children, discovered in his work last year. It is very important that you attend this meeting.—Mrs. S. J. Ezell, program chairman.

TO TEACH VOICE IN CLANTON

Prof. Floy Devaughn is contemplating teaching voice in Clanton in the near future. If anyone is interested in having him teach one or more pupils, word may be left at The Union-Banner office.

Mr. Oscar Klinner and family have returned to Clanton, after having moved away from here for some months.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

How did you enjoy Sunday school last Sunday? You must have been there, because attendance, as a whole, was good. We are happy to be able to say that the Sunday school is growing in attendance as well as in spirit and interest. The Wesley Fellowship Class deserves honorable mention this week for their number in attendance last Sunday.

All of you who were at Sunday school last Sunday are invited to come back next Sunday and bring someone who might not otherwise enjoy the benefits of a Sunday school class; and if you were one of the unfortunate ones who did not get to Sunday school last Sunday, don't let it happen again. Be present—not absent.

We again urge you to bring your children, who should be in the children's department. It will really help your child, because however good the home training may be, when a child is deprived of the Sunday school and church training, he is being deprived of an influence that he deserves—an influence that he would always be conscious of—a training that would guide him aright in many important decisions of his later life. For your child's sake, bring him or her to Sunday school every Sunday possible, and also encourage your child to stay for the church services.

Choir, where were you last Sunday?

We appeal to you not to fail to fill your places next Sunday and contribute your part to the worship service at 11 o'clock.

We appreciate the audience of last Sunday at 11 o'clock. The number in attendance was good and our pastor preached as though inspired. Blessed were his hearers. The number in the audience of the night service was rather small, but what a wonderful message those who were there heard from our pastor!

Would that there were no vacant pews in our church ever. There are so many of us who need the messages being preached in our church. There are others who would rejoice with the blessings of these services. Let's all think of friends to invite and persuade to attend church next Sunday. Then we, our friends and our pastor will be happy because of our diligence in the work of the Lord. We miss a blessing when we miss a service at church.

LETTER FROM T. V. MIMS

Editor Union-Banner:

I would like to reply to a letter that was in your last week's paper.

I would like to inform the people of Chilton County that I am no deputy sheriff and haven't been for almost a year. And if I was, there are plenty of bootleggers and law violators in Chilton County that I could put my time to catching, rather than be criticizing someone else.

In fact, the money that was spent for the permanent did not come out of the sheriff's pocket or any of his men. Yours truly,—T. V. Mims, 4514½ Gary Ave., Fairfield, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Arant of Birmingham spent the week end with Mr. Arant's daughter, Mrs. Bill Murphy, at Lay Dam.

OUR RECENT "DO-NOTHING" CONGRESS

(AN EDITORIAL)

The session of Congress just adjourned will go down in history as the greatest do-nothing gathering of Solons in the last half century. Despite its overwhelming majorities, it did not enact one single piece of constructive legislation for the improvement of the national economic situation. Its one redeeming feature was the things it failed to do—the iniquitous Roosevelt proposals it failed to enact. It defeated the court-packing plot, and failed to enact the class legislation embodied in the wages-and-hours bill. From this negative course, we may derive some mite of comfort. At the same time, it failed entirely to live up to the glowing campaign promises of the party in power. Its ceaseless wrangling and bickering merely confirmed the established idea that the Democrats can always be depended upon to hang themselves, if given sufficient rope for that laudable purpose.

Two features of the session were outstanding. First, Mr. Roosevelt's loss of control over his own party. Second, the South's prospective loss of loot, as a result of the break between Southern members and the administration.

Mr. Roosevelt's loss of control was the result of that overweening ambition which has sent many a politician into the discard, from Julius Caesar to date. Congress met as he was entering upon his second term, with huge Democratic majorities in both houses, the Republican opposition reduced to a mere handful. It was a wonderful opportunity to put across some constructive legislation for the national welfare. Instead, Mr. Roosevelt hurled his abominable court-packing scheme into the teeth of Congress, and received the stinging rebuke he merited. The greater part of the session was given up to wrangling over this menacing proposal, which was sprung upon an astounded public without being previously aired in a campaign before the people. It was a proposal so nauseating that even hitherto submissive Democrats in large numbers deserted the party leader. Having once kicked over the traces, certain of these Democrats apparently decided that they might as well be hanged for a sheep as a lamb, and proceeded to rebel on other issues also. The wages-and-hours measure met with stalwart opposition from Southern Democrats in the Senate, and was stopped by them in the House. The session ended with the Roosevelt prestige at its lowest ebb, and prospects of it going still lower before his term is up.

The South undeniably faces the prospect of going on short rations as a result of the independent spirit of some of its representatives. Until this session, the Southern delegations in Congress had formed the shock troops of the administration. They were the boys who could always be depended upon to vote "right", to chloroform their consciences and "stand by the president." Now that the South has stopped delivering the votes on demand, there is evidence that the pay-off is going to be stopped, or at least slowed down. Witness the failure to do anything for the hard-beset cotton farmer, and the belated proposal to peg the price of cotton at 9 cents. Who knows, if Mr. Roosevelt's pet measures had fared better, but that the price of cotton might have been artificially boosted by government aid to, say 12 cents a pound. Five or six votes differently lined up on the court bill might have meant two or three cents difference in the price of the South's chief commodity. It is a sorry state of affairs when the prosperity of an entire section can be made dependable upon partisan issues, but it is the state of affairs that exists under the present cash-and-carry system of government inaugurated by the New Deal. It may dawn upon us finally that the New Deal's benevolent attitude of the past has been based not so much on love for the South as a mere commercial transaction, payment for a block of votes that hitherto could always be counted upon as in the bag.

The Republican minority in Congress conducted itself in a manner to reflect credit upon the party and justify confidence in its speedy recovery. It was the nucleus of Republican votes in the Senate around which the dissenting Democrats rallied to defeat the court bill. Republican opposition to the wages-and-hours bill was nearly as unanimous. At the same time, the Republican party took the lead in constructive legislation. It sponsored the Bacon-Vandenberg bill for return of relief administration to the states, with the federal government standing 75 per cent and the states 25 per cent of the cost. It renewed the fight, virtually abandoned by the Democrats, for abolition of child labor, when Sen. Vandenberg offered an amendment, unanimously approved by the Senate committee, and less radical than the pending proposal which has failed of ratification. Sen. Vandenberg also proposed amendments to the Labor Relations Act, to not only safeguard collective bargaining, but to protect both majority and minority labor groups, to define legal strikes and picketing, give employers the right of appeal to the National Labor Relations Board, and to give labor unions as well as employers a share of responsibility. Last, but not least, the Republicans hammered home the menace presented by sit-down strikes, and the condoning by governmental agencies of violations of the law by strikers. Republicans, through Sen. Bridges, forced Attorney General Cummings to start prosecution of men who interfered with the mails in strike areas.

The session ended with Democrats hurling angry threats and charges at one another; with the chairmen of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee calling for the political scalps of certain of their brethren who finally decided that they had been sent to Washington to represent their respective states, rather than the White House. It left behind it a thwarted, angry and vindictive executive, who, many observers believe, is planning a war of extermination against members of his own party who have dared to cross him. It ended with the Democratic party definitely and openly split asunder, and with the Republicans sitting pretty and facing a rosy prospect for the future.

We can, at least, thank God that it is no worse, and hope that at last we are getting our feet on the ground, and that the era of hysteria and hero-worship is ended. It is a hopeful sign when even misguided Democrats begin to realize that Santa Claus' whiskers can be a mask for dangerous designs, and that Santa comes to see only good little senators and representatives who vote exactly as he tells them to vote.

TVA APPROVES CONTRACTS WITH TWO TENNESSEE CITIES

Washington, Sept. 2. — The Tennessee Valley Authority today announced approval of power contracts with the cities of Trenton and Jackson, Tenn. This brings to a total of five the West Tennessee communities which have contracts providing for purchase of TVA energy for distribution over municipal systems.

Jackson, Tenn., has been purchasing power for the past year for municipal purposes, such as street lighting and water pumping, and the new contract provides for power for retail distribution. The city voted more than 2-to-1 last March to acquire a municipal distribution system.

The city of Trenton, with a population of 3,000, will be served over a 44,000-volt line from Jackson. This line will also serve rural areas near Trenton. The TVA now has a 110,000-volt line from Pickwick Landing to Jackson.

Three other West Tennessee cities, Milan, Somerville, and Bolivar, have been distributing energy from the Authority's river control dams for the past year, bringing about a considerable increase in the use of electricity by their citizens and stimulating the purchase of electric appliances.

All county agents and assistants in North Alabama will attend conferences at Gadsden, Decatur, and Jasper during the week of September 13 to work out a "balanced farm program emphasizing the importance of gradually developing livestock and poultry as a part of the farm income on farms practicing the rotation system or otherwise producing a surplus of grain, hay and pasture," announces J. T. High, supervisor, Alabama Extension Service.

A New School Year

School began Monday in a big way, with a number of new enrollments. Prof. Hicks states that there have been 342 students enrolled, and many more are expected.

Football

Football practice began Monday afternoon, with 23 out for practice the first day. Coach "Bull" Spicer gave the lads a stiff workout, then gathered them around him for a talk. He asked that the squad be pushed on up to at least 30 in number—more if possible. Coach Spicer stated that he had seldom seen better material on any high school team. He gave out his training rules, few and simple, asking that the boys cooperate with him, and telling them bluntly that they must observe them if they expected to play on his team. It looks like a big year in football for Chilton High.

The Faculty

There are a number of new teachers this year, with all of them specialized in their respective subjects. Superintendent Luther Little says that, as a whole, Chilton High has the best staff of teachers it has ever had.

Mariners from all over the world who sail through the Golden Gate in the future will need new charts of San Francisco Bay. An artificial island, approximately a mile square and rising 13 feet above sea level, has been completed by United States army engineers to be used as a site for the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

Colored pavements which will make women seem more beautiful and men appear more romantic in the reflected light will be constructed on the unique man-made island in San Francisco Bay which will be the site of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

An unexpected result has followed the creation of an artificial island in San Francisco Bay as a site for the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition. The new body of land has altered the currents in the bay so markedly that new maritime data must be issued for the use of pilots in bay waters.

THANKS FROM JOHNSON FAMILY

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks for the many acts of kindness and sympathy extended us during the illness and death of our husband and father, B. G. Johnson. May the Lord bless each and every one of you, is our ardent prayer.—Mrs. Lonie Johnson and the children of the late B. G. Johnson.

MT CARMEL

Well, it's cotton picking time again and everybody seems happy. We have had two weeks of rain, but the sun is shinning again now. So we put on our old straw hat's and cotton sack's and away we go.

We are really glad to report Mr. Tom Foshee is able to be up, after about 11 weeks of illness. It is reported that he visited his mother last Sunday. We hope he will continue to improve as he has for the past several dasy.

Mrs. Agnes Mims visited relatives in Tennessee the past week end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Scott and children, Mr. Vester Scott and Mrs. Melba Maddox and baby has, returned after spending a week in South Ala.

Several from here attended the sacred harp singing at Pates Chapel Sunday.

Bro. Mims filled his regular appointment Saturday night and Sunday. Conference was held Sunday and Bro. Malcolm Lockhart was elected as pastor for the ensuing year. The following S. S. officers and teachers were elected: Superintendent, Clyde Liveoak; Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. Silas Oden; Class No. 1, Sid Higgins; Class No. 2, Mrs. Dessie Foshee; Class No. 3, Harvey Liveoak; Class No. 4, Ira Watley; Class No. 5, Mrs. Rita Watley. Our Sunday School now has a roll of 78.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Cofer, of North Birmingham, and Mr. R. L. Leach, of Mars Hill, were the Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Leach.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Askins, of Thorsby, visited Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Davenport last Sunday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Vail and baby, are visiting her parents, Rev. and Mrs. M. W. Mims.

Miss Francis Mims left for Montevallo where she will attend college this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Oden were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Leach Sunday.

Our sympathy is extended to Mrs. R. E. Liveoak over the death of her father, Mr. Lum Waldrop, who died on last Sunday morning.

Mr. Leon Seymore and family, and others of Billingsley, spent last Sunday with J. D. Sanders and family.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Sewell attended the veteran's meeting at Clanton Sunday afternoon.

"We already have orders placed with us for about 2,500,000 pounds of winter legume seed," says A. N. Culver, secretary and manager of the Farmers Marketing and Exchange Association, Montgomery. "Our sales should easily run over 3,000,000 pounds," he concludes.

A good 1-horse planter for planting legume seed is now being manufactured and is available to farmers at very low costs, reports, E. G. Diseker, assistant agricultural engineer, Alabama Experiment Station. Mr. Diseker will be glad to furnish farmers information about the planter.

Miss Bettie Jean Dillon of Woodlawn spent the week end with Miss Willodean Stewart.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

FARMERS ADVISED KEEP COTTON SALES RECORDS

Auburn, Sept. 4. — Farmers should keep sales receipts on all cotton sold from the 1937 crop, advises P. O. Davis, direcor, Alabama Extension Service, in calling attention of Alabama farmers to the fact that receipts may be essential for obtaining the cotton price adjustment payment on this year's cotton crop.

"It is important that account sales, showing date, to whom sold, grade and staple, and price, be kept for all cotton sold of this crop," emphasizes R. J. Goode, State Commissioner of Agriculture. "The producers of all such cotton will be eligible to a price adjustment up to 12 cents per pound if they comply with the provisions of next year's control program," he says.

The Commodity Credit Corporation has made plans to lend producers of the 1937 crop 9 cents per pound on cotton classing 7|8-inch middling cotton or better, 8 cents on cotton classing 13|16-inch in staple and middling or better in grade, 7 3|4 per pound on cotton classing 7|8-inch as to staple but under middling as to grade. No loan will be made on 7|8-inch cotton or better in staple which is of a grade not deliverable on contract under the regulations of the New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges, and no loan will be made on 13|16-inch cotton under middling grade.

The loans will bear interest at the rate of 4 per cent and mature on July 31, 1938, and will be made on 65 per cent of the cotton grower's base production. To be eligible for loans cotton must be stored in warehouses approved by the Commodity Credit Corporation. The loans will be available as soon as the necessary arrangements can be completed, but not later than September 15.

A condition of each loan is that the producer - borrower agrees to participate in and comply with the 1938 adjustment program.

LIVESTOCK PRODUCTION IS INCREASING IN ALABAMA

Auburn, Sept. 4. — Livestock production is increasing in Alabama. "Interest is increasing particularly in the production and feeding of beef cattle," reports Dr. R. S. Sugg, extension livestock specialist, in giving figures showing 983,000 cattle in the state in 1936, with 695,000 in 1930, an increase of 41.4 per cent. He also gave figures showing 1,085,000 hogs in 1936, compared with 804,000 in 1930, and 7,905,000 chickens in 1936, compared with 6,486,000 six years earlier. Sheep, horses and mules showed decrease in the same period.

"Cash income from livestock and poultry in 1930 was $16,231,000 or 13.6 per cent of the total farm income, while in 1935 the cash income from livestock was $17,119,000 or 17.3 per cent of the total," says Dr. Sugg.

Farmers are increasing their livestock production through better zreeding stock, improved pastures and more careful handling, report county agents of the Alabama Extension Service. Higher livestock prices and lower prices for field crops, especially cotton, are causing farmers to devote more time and efforts to livestock.

11,000 TREES PLANTED IN 12 ALABAMA COUNTIES

Auburn, Sept. 4. — More than 11,000 trees were planted in 12 Alabama counties the past year on farms of 908 cooperators in soil conservation demonstration projects and CCC camp areas.

These plantings were made in Calhoun, Clay, Chilton, Tallapoosa, Pike, Lee, Butler, Hale, Marengo, Sumter, Pickens, and Chamebrs Counties, and will serve to demonstrate the value of reforestation in erosion control and proper land use.

A total of 9,432,605 pines, chiefly clash and loblolly, were planted on land too poor, too steep, or too severely eroded for cultivation or pasture. Of 1,709,492 hardwoods planted, 1,631,192 were black locust, according to Sam Morgan, project forester at Dadeville.

About half of the black locusts were planted on fairly good, but erodable land. They were fertilized and will be cultivated for one year for the purpose of producing a crop of fence posts in a minimum time, as well as to control erosion.

The remainder of the locusts were planted in soil material which had collected above brush dams built in gullies on areas that were to be retired to trees. The trees will thus replace the temporary dams when they give way, Morgan said.

FARMERS ADVISED TO NOT DUMP THEIR COTTON SEED

Auburn, Sept. 4. — P. O. Davis, director, Alabama Extension Service, spent several days the past week in Washington working with various government agencies in trying to work out a program so that farmers receive better prices for their cotton seed.

"The price of cotton seed is distressingly low, being about $20 per ton, or 1 cent per pound. At this price the seed will not pick and gin a bale of cotton," he said in emphasizing the importance that something be done.

Mr. Davis urges that farmers not dump their seed on the market. "Apparently, oil mills are being glutted with seed," he says.

FARM PRICES DOWN

Prices received by Alabama farmers as of August 15 show sharp declines for corn, cotton, cotton seed, hay and peanuts. This was partly offset by advances in hogs, veal calves, eggs and sweet potatoes, while beef cattle, sheep, lambs, butter and whole milk made no change.

During the month ending August 15, the price of cotton declined 1.8 cents per pound, cotton seed $8 per ton, corn 17 cents per bushel, peanuts $4 per ton, hile hogs advanced 80 cents per hundred weight, veal calves 20 cents per hundred weight, and eggs 2 cents per dozen.

MAKING HAY

Farmers who believe in "making hay while the sun shines" are finding that making hay on portions of their farms which are especially subject to erosion is also a good practice.

As a part of the Soil Conservation Service program in the area near Clanton, erosion resisting crops have been increased by 3,196 acres on farms of cooperators, according to James H. Wood.

The use of these close growing crops for strip cropping in cultivated fields, in vegetated waterways where surplus water from terraces is emptied, and on portions of the farm where clean tilled crops cannot safely be grown, is providing an additional supply of hay, which is badly needed on most of the farms.

Farmers are thus getting other benefits from the use of such crops, in addition to the primary purpose of controlling erosion, Mr. Wood pointed out. Where legumes are used in rotations, soil fertility is increased, which means increased yields of following crops.

Even land on which close growing crops can be safely grown should be given protection of close growing crops during the fall, winter and early spring through the use of winter cover crops. But in order to develop good growth and provide maximum protection over as long a period as possible, winter cover crops should be planted early, Mr. Wood said.

BUILDING TERRACES

Getting the wagon before the horse may be an unnatural procedure, but building the last part of a terrace system first has greatly reduced construction costs in the Soil Conservation Service area near Clanton, according to Henry T. Stanley, camp engineer.

In order to plan a terracing system properly, it is necessary to determine in advance how the surplus water from the terraces is to be disposed of, Mr. Stanley pointed out. When a meadow strip is to be used as a terrace outlet channel, it is often practical to build the meadow strip first and construct the terraces later.

Since there will be no large volume of water to take care of until after the terraces are built, the meadow strip can be seeded to a meadow strip mixture or sprigged to Bermuda grass instead of being sodded, and a good sod can be established before the terraces are built.

If it is not practical to construct the meadow strip first, the same thing can be accomplished by using diversion ditches on each side of the strip until the sod has become well established. This requires considerable additional labor, however, and is much less desirable than building the meadow strip first.

This is just one illustration of how planning a complete farming program in advance can increase the efficiency of methods used for erosion control, Mr. Stanley commented.

Bobby Alexander returning during the week end, after spending several weeks in Birmingham at a Boy Scout camp.

Lesson for September 12

A NATION NEEDS RELIGIOUS HOMES.

LESSON TEXT — Deuteronomy 6:4, 5; 11:18-25.
GOLDEN TEXT—Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it. Prov. 22:6.
PRIMARY TOPIC—At Our House.
JUNIOR TOPIC—At Our House.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Makes a Home Christian?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Influence of Christian Homes in a Nation's Life.

Home! The very word stirs our hearts and quickens the most precious of memories. Toward its comforting threshold turns the one who has borne the heat and the labor of the day. Within its portals are those who gladly give themselves in sacrificial service that it may indeed be a haven of rest and comfort.

The inroads of modern life and of our so-called civilization are doing much to break down home life. All too frequently home has become the place to which one goes when there is nowhere else to go; a place to sleep, and sometimes to eat; an address for mail; a telephone number.

Shall we then abandon the effort really to maintain a true home—one that is in touch with God, and therefore ready to serve man? No; for now as never before we need the influence of a home life empowered by the worship of the true God and guided by his Word. None of us, who are engaged in the determined effort to maintain such a home in the midst of the driving intensity of present day living, speaks too easily on this subject. We know the difficulties; we have heavy-heartedly tasted failure; but we also know the sweetness of victory. By God's grace we press on.

In his dealings with Israel God presents to us an example of what a godly home may be, and what it will accomplish for the community and for the nation. Such a home—

I. Worships the True God (vv. 4, 5). This is "the first and great commandment" of the law, according to our Lord Jesus. (Matt. 22:36,37.) It is an important part of the Scripture repeated twice daily by all orthodox Jews. In its context, in Deuteronomy 6, it is clearly associated with the home. It is there that he who is the "one Lord" is to be loved, which means far more than that he is vaguely recognized or distantly respected.

II. Honors God's Word (vv. 18, 19). Loving God and his Word is not a matter for theological speculation or for sanctimonious discussion in some dark cloister. Thank God the Christian faith is at its best in the ordinary affairs of life. It finds its proper place in the tender relationship of parent and child. Its teachings are pure, delightful, simple, and entirely appropriate to any occasion, whether one sits or rises, walks, or lies down. God's words are the words to be laid up in the heart and in the soul, to be taught to our children, to be the constant and normal subject of conversation.

III. Testifies to the Community (vv. 20, 21). We may not, as did the pious Jew, fasten a little container bearing God's word on our doorpost, but we may make the home itself and the life of its inhabitants an effective testimony for God before our neighbors. It is obvious that the home either speaks for or against God. A profession of faith in him, an outward reputation for adherence to religious principles which does not vitally touch our dealings with one another and with the community in which we live—these clearly testify not for God but against him.

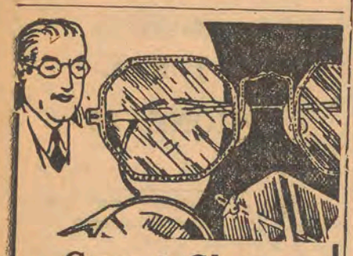
IV. Serves the Nation (vv. 22-25). God promised that if Israel diligently kept his commandments, loved him and walked in his ways, they would be a nation that would overcome and dispossess their enemies, and prosper in every good purpose.

Statesmen clearly see that the home is the unit of society. It was established upon the earth before the nation, in fact, before the church. No nation can ever really prosper without homes of the highest type.

But a house without God is not really a home, even though it stand in the midst of a garden. Neither the school teacher, nor the pastor of a church can take the place of a God-fearing father, and of a mother who not only knows God but who can tenderly lead the steps of trusting childhood in the paths of righteousness. Our lesson title is right: "A Nation Needs Religious Homes," or, better, "America Needs Christian Homes."

Faith that Overcometh

There is no more enviable condition than that of him who has made the pressure of adverse things the means of a deep faith.



A Divine Mission

Know that life is a divine mission, for which you have received and shall receive divine power.

A Mother's Love

No language can express the power and beauty and heroism and majesty of a mother's love.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

Someone, in speaking of a great naturalist, said, "He loves the garden but he has never met the gardener." There are millions of people who live in this world which God made, walk through God's forests, breathe God's air, listen to God's birds sing, revel in the beauty of the flowers God planted, and in the night time look into the sky and see millions of lights which God kindled, and yet never meet God. Thinking people certainly know there is a God. Wouldn't you think that everybody would want to know Him? It is possible for men to know Him. Jesus said, "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father". In Christ dwelt the fullness of the God-head bodily. Jesus was God manifest in the flesh. The man who knows Jesus knows God. "How can I know Him?" someone asks. "He that cometh unto Him must believe that he is the rewarder of them that diligently seek Him." Man cannot discover God. God reveals Himself to penitent, trusting men. Some who read these lines know from personal experience that there is a God. He is as real to them as parents, as real as their own lives. How wonderful it is that frail, stumbling mortal man can actually know the God who created this universe!

"By grace are ye saved through faith." That is what the Bible says. Any man who knows the mental processes of an unregenerated man knows that this idea of salvation did not begin in human brain. The unregenrated man, until he is brought under the convicting power of the Holy Spirit, will never admit that he cannot save himself. "I believe I will be saved because I have tried to treat my neighbor right and be honest and fair." That is what a man said to the writer one time. Poor man! If that is his only claim on salvation, he is hopelessly lost. "All our righteousness is as filthy rags". Kindness in dealing with a neighbor, honesty in business relationships, loyalty to family and home are commendable traits. What would this life be without these traits? However, the best act of the highest type natural man presented to God as a claim for salvation is an insult to God. God has gone on resord to the effect that man is a fallen creature, and that he can do nothing to save himself. God has also declared that there is no name given under heaven among men whereby we can be saved but by the name of Jesus. Therefore, the man who presents his own good deeds as a claim on God for salvation, says by this act, "God, you are untruthful. Your plan of salvation is unjust. I do not believe it. Here I am. Open the door and let me in." That attitude is an insult to God. The most hopeless of sinners is the man who thinks he can get to heaven without Christ and His atoning blood. The only man who is safe is the man who in simple faith accepts the atoning blood of Christ for salvation.

A recent survey shows that two-thirds of the area of Alabama is woodland, most of which is worth more if preserved for forest products than if put into cultivation.

According to the federal census of 1939, there were 99,240 persons in Alabama 65 years of age or over. Of this number 67,122 were white and 32,018 were negroes. Up to September 30, 1936, 35,142 had made application for old age assistance, and 10,062 had been approved by county Departments of Public Welfare.

There are 45 CCC camps in Alabama; 12 of these are located on soil erosion prevention projects, 11 on state park projects, one on a military reservation, and 10 on projects located in the Tennessee Valley Authority area.

DeKalb County paid more poll tax last year than any other county in the state except Jefferson and Montgomery. Jefferson paid $40,688, Montgomery $16,129, nad DeKalb $14,482. Mobile was fourth with $14,361. Bullock was at the foot of the list with a total of $1,045.

What's RIGHT With Alabama?

INCREDIBLE INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION

Twenty-five years ago Alabama was the land of cotton and but little else. But the past quarter-century has been witness to an incredible industrial expansion rarely equalled in the history of any state, in a like period.

This is not a mere "booster" claim. It is disclosed by the latest report of the Census of Manufactures, published by the U. S. Bureau of the Census, which shows that from 1909 to 1935—

Value of Alabama's manufactured products increased 2½ times
Purchases by Alabama plants have increased 2½ times
Payrolls have increased 2½ times

And what a variety of products manufactured in Alabama today compared to a mere quarter of a century ago—tires and trailers, steel and shirts, golf bags and baby food, trinkets and tools—a host of others growing every year more numerous!

Many things in Alabama have been RIGHT to bring all this about. Vast stores of natural resources to furnish raw materials. Efficient labor for incoming factories. Growing nearby markets to consume finished goods. Rail, water and highway transportation to bring them to the market. Power available at low cost to every section of Alabama.

We like to feel that our efforts to develop a statewide power system, and to interest industry in Alabama, have been helpful—that these, too, have been among the many RIGHT things in Alabama which have promoted progress.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our friends and neighbors for their help and sympathy during the recent illness and death of our dear husband and father, D. T. Smith. May God's richest blessings rest on each and every one who helped in any way, is our prayer.—The family.

The 400-acre man-made island in San Francisco Bay which will be the site of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition is to be given a series of baths. With a $1,500,000 horticultural program planned, Exposition officials must unsalt the sand of the island, which was reclaimed from the bottom of the bay, before trees, shrubs and flowers can be planted.

Hot dogs that visitors to the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition will eat, if stretched end to end, would reach from San Francisco, the Exposition city, to Yosemite National Park and back, according to Frederick Widleton, director of World's Fair concessions.

JUST FANCY THAT!

State Capitol News

With a new regime scheduled to take over the department of education, school authorities over the state are considering a warning that more local taxes would be necessary in many communities to carry through minimum programs of 7-month terms in elementary schools and 9-month terms in high schools in 1939-1940.

Women from over Alabama will assemble at Montgomery at the Country Club on Thursday, September 9, at a civic luncheon honoring U. S. Senator Dixie Graves, wife of Gov. Bibb Graves.

Gov. Bibb Graves remains optimistic over the cotton price outlook, predicting an eventual 12-cent per pound return to farmers, "even though there might be a little mud in the fibre."

The Alabama Rural Electrification Administration has opened quarters at Tray, from which will be directed construction of hundreds of miles of line bringing cheap power to Wiregrass counties. Gordon Persons, director of the state REA, said the new lines will serve an average of four families per mile of line.

Having apparently caught everyone by surprise but "the home folks", Tallulah Bankhead, internationally famous Alabama stage and screen actress, was honeymooning this week at Norwalk, Conn., with John Emery, Broadway stage and screen actor. They were quietly married at the home of her father, Speaker William B. Bankhead, at Jasper, on August 31, after a year's romance begun in Hollywood while both were making pictures.

Scores of state highway department employes in the higher salaried brackets had from $15 to $20 per month added to their pay checks this week.

Pitt Tyson Maner, private secretary to Gov. Bibb Graves, and president of the Young Democrats Clubs of America, was in Washington this week setting in motion the latter organization's national membership campaign.

Gov. Bibb Graves has let it be known that he is pressing department of commerce officials at Washington for approval of Mobile's application to be designated a free port of entry.

The list of candidates or prospective candidates for the short term senate nomination narrowed to four during the past week, Donald Comer, Birmingham industrialist, definitely withdrawing.

By appointment of Gov. Graves, R. Roy Albright, Mobile drug store magnate, is the new chairman of the Alabama Alcoholic Beverage Board. Mr. Albright succeeds W. O. Baldwin, who resigned to return to his post as vice president of the First National Bank of Montgomery.

Distribution of the gasoline tax collections made in August on July sales, will enrich the highway fund of each county by $9,017.74, it was announced by Henry S. Long, chairman of the state tax commission, Saturday. The total collection for the month was $1,219,739.41, compared with $1,067,046.86 for the same month last year. This figure set a new high for the gosoline tax department of the state tax commission.

The governor of Alabama, headed north, met the governor of Kentucky, headed south, midway the Birmingham highway last week, and after an exchange of greetings, each proceeded his respective way.

WARD ELECTED SECRETARY OF STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

John M. Ward, for the past five years Director of the Industrial Division of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce, was named Secretary of the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce September 2, to succeed Dr. H. G. Dowling, Acting Secretary, who returned to Tuscaloosa to resume his duties as Superintendent of the City Schools.

Benjamin Russell, President of the State Chamber of Commerce, was enthusiastic in commenting upon the good fortune of the organization in securing Mr. Ward, whose eight years of experience in organization work fits him admirably for his new post.

FOUR MORE BOYS WIN FULL COLLEGE COURSES

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 31. — Assurance of a college education with complete freedom from financial worry while attending any institution of higher learning they may select tonight was accorded to four more American boys by the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild.

They are the winners of the $5,000 university scholarships offered as national awards in the Guild's 1937 model car design and Napoleonic coach-building competitions: Teddy Mandel, 14 years old, of Detroit; Charles Bangert, Jr., 19, of London, O.; Orville G. Backey, 15, of Sheboygan, Wis.; and F. Sendek, 19, of Monessen, Pa.

Announcement of the award winners was made by William A. Fisher, president of the Guild and vice president of General Motors, at the seventh award dinner of the educational foundation, held in the auditorium of the block square office building that serves as the Detroit headquarters of the automotive concern.

Mandel and Bangert triumphed in the car competition when their original automobile models were adjudged the best of the hundreds entered by teen age boys throughout the country. The former, a contestant in the junior division, submitted a 2-tone model of novel design with the engine in front. Bangert, a participant in the senior division, placed his engine in the rear, stipulating that the semblance of a hood he retained was to house an air-conditioning unit.

THE PEOPLE OF ALABAMA

The citizenship of Alabama, 2,851,000 inhabitants of the best American type, is the greatest single asset of the state, according to H. G. Dowling, acting manager of the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce speaking before the Birmingham Kiwanis Club at its regular weekly luncheon at the Tutwiler Hotel, Tuesday.

Over 87 per cent of the people of Alabama were born within the state; 99.99 per cent are American born, and 98 per cent are of American parentage.

They are a kindred people, homogeneous, kindly disposed, earnest, and eager for opportunities. Inheriting from a sturdy English, Scotch and Irish ancestry qualities of integrity and industry they are easily trained in new processes, responding quickly to the appeal of American ideals. Unity of breeding gives Alabama tremendous advantage over sections where there is a considerable foreign element with its inevitable clashing of diverse inheritances.

Alabama has a large and desirable supply of potential industrial labor in its rural districts, capable and loyal people, ready and anxious for employment. The most serious drawback to our population's condition is that too large a percentage of Alabamians are rural and dependent upon agriculture alone for economic success. In Alabama 72 per cent of the citizenship is listed in census tables as "rural", that is, as living outside of incorporated cities and towns. In highly industrialized states the similar figure runs from 7 per cent to 30 per cent, the national average of rural people being 44 per cent. Farmers' incomes are best in the industrial states where a local market is at hand.

The Alabama State Chamber of Commerce by developing the state through the coordination of agriculture and industry hopes to provide a more satisfactory way of life for these people.

DAVID T. SMITH BURIED AT MT. NEBO AUGUST 25

David T. Smith, age 69, died at his home in Mt. Nebo community on August 24th. Funeral services were held at Mt. Nebo the following day, Rev. N. H. Culp officiating. Spigener directed.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Addie Smith; two daughters—Mrs. Richard Roseberry and Miss V. L. Smith; 3 sons, Leonard, Curtis and Willie; one brother in Tennessee; one sister.

The deceased left a very brilliant testimony of his passing and the life lived here. He died in faith; was a faithful father and a loyal neighbor. He lived in the vicinity of Mt. Nebo all his life, and all who knew him loved him.

The Redwood Empire Association joined with San Francisco's 1939 Exposition in sending an invitation to Australia for World's Fair participation, on a 2,000-year-old redwood plaque.

What Irvin S. Cobb Thinks about

Cures for Communism.

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—A certain rich man out here—rich but indulgent—got a letter from his heir, a sophomore at one of the big eastern colleges.

The lad announced he had been converted to communism and was contributing to the cause. So what about it?

Irvin S. Cobb

The old man wrote back:

"Son, you have a perfect right to follow the dictates of your conscience. But as a consistent communist you naturally would not continue to live on the ill-gotten gains of a wicked money-grabber. Today I am cutting off your somewhat generous allowance. You will also vacate the luxurious apartment you now occupy because I'm not paying the rent of same any longer. So go ahead, my boy, and commune freely—with my blessings! But from date that'll be about all from this end of the line."

Exactly four hours after the arrival by air mail of this ultimatum, the hard-hearted parent got back a rush telegram stating that the young man had been thinking things over and had decided not to take up the new doctrine.

The Art of Listening.

WE HAD a party at which there appeared what I may call the dumb poets—Sam Hoffenstein and Ogden Nash. At the studios where they're both turning out epics, there's a rule that neither shall burst forth into poetry while he's under contract—no thumbing of the harp, no sounding of the lute. Cinema's gain is creation's loss.

Maybe that explains why they made such good listeners the other night. And isn't a good listener a boon! I don't mind being interrupted, provided the interrupter chooses the right subject. Mute and rapt, I can harken for hours on hours if someone is talking about me, say, or even reading from my published works. But these two minnesingers only broke in to ask that the pickled shrimp be passed or gently to suggest that another little drink or two wouldn't do any harm.

Ogden Nash has attained the highest peak of distinction attainable for a writer. His chief imitator has an imitator who is bringing up his oldest boy to be an imitator.

Resurrecting Old Words.

WHEN a word gets fashionable —especially a new word which some wordsmith thought up right out of his head—it gets too doggone fashionable. The same applies to old words which have been disinterred from their forgotten tombs in the dictionary.

I seem to see grave robbers prowling through the unabridged, starting in at "aard-vark," which is an animal formerly common only to Africa but not frequently found in cross-word puzles; and working on through to "zythum," a very strong beer drunk by ancient tribes. I guess those old-timers imbibed copiously of the brew and then named it. It doesn't sound like the sort of word a dead sober party deliberately would make up.

Do you remember the run "intrigued" had? I never got so sick of a word in my ife. And then along came "provocative," and it turned out to be a pest. People went around just looking for a chance to work "provocative" into the conversation. The only way to lick 'em was to pretend to be deaf and dumb.

And now the reigning favorite is "allergic." Folks spout it everywhere, whether they know what it means or not. I don't mind saying I'm getting awfully allergic to "allergic." There must be many others like me.

* * *

Campaign Books.

LET us not cavil too much because high pressure salesmen, working on commission, have been unloading upon the faithful, at fancy prices, the gift book put out by Washington headquarters to pay off campaign debts. In fact, 15 cents' worth would cover practically all the cavil I personally have used up in this connection.

The result tends to prove the gratifying fact that, while more Democrats may not necessarily have learned how to read and write, obviously more of us have got money than formerly was the case when the Republicans were in power.

Besides, think of what the strain would have been upon the poor postman if the national committee had been stuck with all this bulk literature and congressmen had started franking copies out to their constituents with Uncle Sam paying the freight. To give you a further idea about this franking privilege, I may state that it was named for Frank, Jesse's brother—and you'll remember how careless those James boys were with the United States mails!

CENTRALIZED PURCHASING SAVES COUNTY TAX MONEY

Road Supervisor T. J. Arledge Cites Some Figures

Thirty or forty per cent of every tax dollar is spent for commodities, and centralized purchasing under non-political personnel is regarded as a definite means to conserve these expenditures. Statistics throughout the country prove that an average saving of 15 per cent is achieved through efficient operation of a central purchasing department. Purchasing materials and supplies under the road supervisor act shows at least 20 per cent saving, as will be shown in this article.

Centralized purchasing, the "sentry at the tax exit gate," has been installed in more than 200 cities, 16 counties, 36 states, and five provinces of Canada, figures furnished the Engineering News Record by the Municipal Finance Officers Association show. It is estimated that New York City, Cincinnati, and Milwaukee alone save about $10,000,000 a year through their centralized purchasing plan.

Dr. Russell Forbes, commissioner of purchases, New York City, defines centralized purchasing as "the delegation to one office of the authority to buy supplies, materials and equipment needed by all the operating branches of an organization." He also says: "The essential business of municipal purchasing consists of furnishing exactly the right product at the time it is needed, at the best price available."

"Buying the right product" is an art. It cannot be developed without quite a lot of experience in the line of practice for which the product is required to serve. The dentist knows what and where to buy his supplies; the jeweler the same; the banker likewise; and so on down the line. Every user of a product knows what to buy, what is best for the purpose required.

When the road supervisor took office the county was paying 55c to 70c per gallon for common motor oils; we are now paying 34c to 48c for the same and even better oils. We were formerly paying 16c to 26c per pound for tractor grease; today we are paying 6c to 11c for the same and even better, or at least getting a grease better suited for its uses. We were paying $22 to $27.50 per thousand feet of lumber, getting all sort of oak lumber, red oak, black oak, pin oak, etc., and today we are getting only white oak or post oak lumber for use in the bridges and drainage structures, at a cost of $18 to $22.50, all cut to true dimensions and lengths. The Commissioners Court is the purchasing authority of the county, and they are realizing the good to be derived from careful purchase and selection of materials and supplies and the prices we have to pay for such. A dollar saved is a dollar made, no matter whose dollar it is.—Thomas J. Arledge, Road Supervisor.

JEAN F. SMITHERMAN DIED

On August 28, 1937, the death angel came and carried away the spirit of Jean F. Smitherman. He was born January 4th, 1896. He was 41 years old. He had been in ill health since January. He went to the veteran's hospital at Tuscaloosa, April 24, and stayed there until June 29th; then was sent to Atlanta, Ga., for cancer treatment, but got no relief. He came home August 3rd. He knew from the first that there was no relief until Jesus said come. So he just waited until Jesus said come, then he raised his hands and said, "Jesus, Jesus, raise me high," and he knew everything. It was hard to give him up, but so sweet to realize that Jesus was so close.

Jean lived in Clanton and had a great host of friends. He was a World War veteran.

Jean leaves a wife, three boys—Cecil, Ray and Jeff; one girl, age 19 months, Bobby Jean; mother, five sisters, one brother and a host of friends to mourn his death, but our loss is Heaven's gain.

We want to thank the people for their help and we especially thank Dr. Lawrence and his nurse.—The Family.

Three construction and civil engineers of the Japanese government railways, T. Nobusawa, T. Hamachi, and K. Ishida, visited the site of San Francisco's 1939 Exposition on San Francisco Bay recently and marveled at the 400-acre man-made island and the construction obstacles that had been overcome.

Alabama's Department of Agriculture had a surplus fund of $273,000 on July 1. These funds, under the law, can be used only in the operation of this department.

BIRDETT REUNION

Mrs. W. J. Birdett was very happy to have all of her children with her last Sunday. They are: Grady Birdett, of Montgomery, Barney Birdett, of Verbena, Route 2, Mrs. Jewel Aaron of Montgomery, and Mrs. Ruby Edwards of Birmingham; also all of the grandchildren. And thank God for the lovely dinner and nice time we all enjoyed together.—A grandson, Preston Edwards.

FIRST COUNTY COUNCIL OF HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUBS HELD

The County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs met at the city hall on August 27, at 1:30 o'clock. The meeting was called to order by the county council president, Mrs. Anna Phalin. A song, "Alabama", followed by reading of minutes of last meeting by the secretary, Miss Lena Downs.

A report was given by the treasurer, Mrs. Charles Howard.

An interesting report was given by Mrs. C. K. Christiansen on her trip to Auburn to attend Farmers' Week, where she was a representative of the County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs of Chilton County.

Miss Grace, Chilton County Home Agent, made a talk on "Making the best of our opportunities."

An open discussion was held on the county and state fairs.

Mr. Clifford Manning talked on "How to arrange exhibits at the fair." All members voted for Mr. Manning to help them at the fair.

Volunteers who offered their services during the fair were as follows: Mrs. C. K. Christiansen, Clanton R 4; Mrs. F. M. Jones, Clanton R 2; Mrs. E. J. Driver, Clanton R 2; Mrs. J. D. Williams, Clanton R 3; Mrs. S. E. Jones, Clanton R 3; Mrs. J. M. Roper, Clanton R 3.

A move was made and seconded that the council club women help with the county fair at Clanton.

The club voted to appoint a Nominating Committee, and to accept their proposed list of county council officers. This committee was appointed as follows: Miss Lena Downs, Mrs. Horace Popwell, Mrs. W. B. Strock.

The club voted to have year books made for county council, and the following committee was appointed for same: Mrs. J. M. Roper, Clanton R 4; Mrs. T. J. Littlejohn, Clanton R 4; Mrs. Maggie Wilson, Clanton R 5.

The new county council officers nominated and accepted are as follows: Mrs. C. K. Christiansen, president, Clanton R 4; Mrs. J. D. Williams, 1st vice president, Clanton R 3; Mrs. J. D. Goddard, 2nd vice president, Thorsby; Mrs. J. M. Jones, secretary, Clanton R 2; Mrs. Olive Welch, treasurer, Clanton; Mrs. E. H. Freeman, Farm Bureau chairman, Verbena; Mrs. H. F. Virgin, Scholarship chairman, Calera R 1; Mrs. Stanley Kennedy, Citizenship chairman, Clanton R 1. Social committee: Mrs. Horace Popwell, Clanton; Mrs. Earle Thomas, Clanton; Miss Lena Downs, Clanton R 2; Mrs. Charley Cox, Clanton R 5; Mrs. Olive Welch, Clanton.

There being no other business, the meeting adjourned.

The Maharajah of Jodhpur will be asked to play his polo team against U. S. teams at San Francisco's 1939 World's Fair.

Rugby teams of Australia, New Zealand, Japan and Canada will be asked to meet American teams at San Francisco's 1939 World's Fair.

MANY THRILLS TO BE ON LIST AT BIRMINGHAM STATE FAIR

Birmingham, Aug. 28. — Five daredevils 40 feet in the air on a slender wire will thrill the crowds at the Alabama State Fair with stunts that almost take away the breath of the onlooker.

Manager P. T. Strieder of the fair association announces that he has completed arrangements to bring to Birmingham for the fair, September 27 to October 2, the world famous Five American Eagles.

Each day before the grandstand these five daring tight wire artists will give the same act that startled all Europe. They perform without ground nets. Their safety depends absolutely on their own skill in balancing their bodies. The comedian of the group time after time makes the audience gasp as he purposely misses his footing on the wire and seems about to fall. At one stage of the act, the comedian lies down on his back on the wire, and gets up again without assistance.

B-r-r-r-r! Wham! Bang! An airplane crashes into a house! Fire flares up! The house and airplane are burned so quickly it is difficult to realize what is happening.

But where is the man who was in the airplane? Oh, there he comes, unscratched, unhurt, unburned — it's "Bowser" Frakes, the daredevil aviator who makes a living by almost killing himself!

In fact, "Bowser" Frakes right now is under arrest, suit having been filed against him by the Department of Commerce for reckless flying and endangering his own life.

"Bowser" Frakes and his famous house-wrecking airplane act will be one of the thrilling feats of the fair. Fair crowds will actually see him drive an airplane at full speed into the burning wreck. He is regarded the burning wreck. Hee is regarded as the most daring and reckless stunt aviator alive today.

CHILTON COUNTY COUNCIL TO PUT ON COUNTY EXHIBIT AT STATE FAIR IN BIRMINGHAM

The County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs of Chilton County are to represent the county in Birmingham September 27 to October 2. They are anxious to put on a creditable exhibit, and are asking the farmers and their wives to assist them by saving any of the following articles for them. Any and all of the articles will please have the names of the owners on them, with their address. The ladies will appreciate it very much for those who can bring the articles to the office of the home demonstration agent to please do so, but for those who cannot bring them please write Miss Meta E. Grace, Clanton, Ala., and they will be sent for.

Now is the time to save the articles and to win the ladies need your help. Won't you help them? Any of the following articles, or as many as you have, will be appreciated.

All articles not used for the Birmingham fair will be used in Chilton County for the local fair which will be held at the same time.

DR. J. A. KELLER IS SELECTED TO HEAD FLORENCE COLLEGE

State Superintendent of Education Is Named After Resignation Of Dr. H. J. Willingham

Montgomery, Sept. 2. — Alabama's Board of Education Thursday elected Dr. J. A. Keller president of Florence State Teachers College and adopted budgets for the education department and various institutions for the 1937-1938 school year.

Dr. Keller, state superintendent since 1935, will succeed the veteran Dr. Henry J. Willingham, who resigned, effective next June 1. Dr. Willingham will become president emeritus.

Keller told the board he would attend Columbia University Teachers College for a year under a general education board fellowship before taking up his new duties at Florence. He has not resigned as superintendent.

Vacancy in the office of superintendent will be filled by gubernatorial appointment, and A. H. Collins, present state welfare commissioner, has been rumored as a likely appointee. Another possibility mentioned was Dr. R. L. Johns, director of the education department's division of business administration.

SINGING AT MT. PLEASANT

There will be a singing at Mt. Pleasant schoolhouse next Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock. A special invitation is extended the singers of Liberty Hill and Jackson Chapel; all bring your new song books. The public and singers generally are invited.

REVIVAL AT ROCKY MOUNT

A revival will begin next Sunday at Rocky Mount church in the northern part of the county. During the following week there will be preaching every night by Rev. Steve Hughes. The public is cordially invited to attend.

MOTION PICTURE AT THE COURTHOUSE NEXT FRIDAY

A motion picture, prepared for the lay public and showing very clearly the nature and extent, causes and cure of venereal diseases in the United States, has been made available to the Chilton County Council of County workers by the State Health Department. This picture will be shown in the auditorium of the County Courthouse on Friday evening, September 10th, at eight o'clock, under the auspices of the Chilton County Council. The picture has been approved by the Chilton County Medical Association. It deals with a subject which has long been considered taboo, but which medical authorities feel should be brought more forcibly to the attention of the public, because of the increasingly serious nature of the great social problem envolved.

The Council, sponsoring the showing of this picture, was organized on September 28, 1936, and is composed of representatives of every public service agency in the county. The object of the council is to bring the various agencies into closer harmony and to discuss and attack together major problems of county-wide interest. The council has, from time to time, discussed such problems as the control of tuberculosis and the establishment of a sanatorium for the care of patients suffering from this dreaded disease.

As the United States Public Health Service is conducting a publicity campaign, this year, in an effort to stamp out venereal diseases, we feel that the sponsoring of this educational picture is timely, and we urge every public-spirited citizen of Chilton County to avail himself of this opportunity to become better informed about this grave problem, which is confronting the county and endangering the lives and happiness of its citizens. — Nolan Meroney, Council Chairman.

BIRMINGHAM COLLEGE TO OPEN EIGHTY-FIRST SESSION MONDAY

Birmingham, Ala. — Birmingham-Southern College is making preparations for the opening of its 81st session on Monday, September 13. Prospects are bright for one of the largest enrollments in the history of the institution. Many campus improvments have been made during the summer, and faculty members are now returning to the Hilltop for the fall semester.

A special program has been scheduled for new students, They will register on Monday, September 13, and a special period of instruction and orientation will be held on September 14 and 15. This period is designed to acquaint new students with their new environment and help them get adapted to college life. Class work will begin on Thursday, September 16.

DOCTOR URGES QUIET EVENING HOUR FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

Period of Complete Quiet After Dinner Beneficial for Entire Family

"One hour of complete quiet in the home after supper will accomplish as much towards helping a child to master his schoolwork as almost anything the family can no ," declared Dr. Robert A. Fraser, Chief Medical Director of the New York Life Insurance Company, in commenting on ways in which parents can assist their children at the beginning of a new school year.

"It is unreasonable," said Dr. Fraser, "to expect that a child can concentrate on his lessons in the midst of the ordinary distractions common to most homes. Not only are school grades likely to suffer, but the child's nervous and physical condition can be affected. Whether we realize it or not, the radio, laughter, conversation, singing, any and all of these constitute disturbances that are almost insurmountable for the average child when he has schoolwork to do."

Fathers and mothers should cooperate with the child, Dr. Fraser feels, and see to it that a quiet hour is strictly and regularly enforced. Let it begin about a half an hour after the evening meal.

RETAIL CREDIT SERVICE BRINGS LOWER PRICES, BETTER SERVICE

Statistics by the Department of Commerce show that 21 per cent of the failures among retailers are caused by bad debts. Facts such as these make every straight thinking person realize that bad debts must be reduced to a minimum if the business men are to prosper and be able to meet the strenuous competition of the present day chain cash store.

The business and professional men expect the Chilton County Retail Credit Service to be a deciding factor in helping to eliminate losses due to bad debts. And they expect this service to help them to continue to give the people of Chilton County low prices plus the convenience of charge accounts with home town merchants.

O. O. Hornsby, past president of the National Consumers Association says: "If the overhead costs of bad debts could be eliminated, merchants could not only sell cheaper than cash stores but they could give a decidedly superior quality and service as well."

All of which leads to the conclusion that the self interest of every citizen of Chilton County is affected by a good retail credit service. It is their privilege and duty to lend their moral support to the success of the Chilton County Retail Credit Service. When those who have not regarded their promises as they should bring the subject to your attention, you should be ready to express your belief in such a movement. If you can cause that person to pay, you are making a better citizen of him and you will be rewarded with better prices and service from the people who extend credit in this district.

JERSEY CALF CLUB SHOW

The local jersey calf club show will be held at McCain's barn, September 18th, on Saturday. There will be a good many 4-H club jersey calves brought in at this show, which promises to be as good or better than it was last year.

Any farmers who have some pure bred jerseys and would like to enter them in this show will leave their names and addresses with anyone in the County Agent's ofice so we will know the number of animals to provide space for in the barn. Do this not later than Saturday of this week. A price list and the classifications of the animals will be found in both papers next week. In the meantime, all who plan to enter animals in the show should keep them out of the sun, feed them some grain, brush them daily, and teach them to lead and stand so they will be easy to lead in the ring.

Don't get this date, September 18, confused. It is to be a week before the State Fair, which is September 27, in order that we may judge and pick out the best animals to be carried to the State Fair.—B. N. Ivey, Assistant County Agent in 4-H Club Work.

A VOICE FROM THE TOMB

One of our readers whose hobby is political history says that he has found much of considerable current interest in stories of the campaign of 1900. That year Mr. Bryan was again the outstanding possibility as a standard bearer. One formidable and potential rival for the Democratic nomination was Admiral George Dewey, whose magnificent victory at Manila Bay was still fresh in minds of the people.

Admiral Dewey had frowned on repeated suggestions that he be a candidate for president. Then he apparently, for the moment at least, weakened before the requests of many of his admirers. The naval hero was interviewed by the reporter of the New York World on the subject of the nomination for the presidency and is quoted as having stated that the presidency is the highest honor in the gift of the nation, and asked, "What citizen would refuse it?" Then came a statement from the Admiral which indicates how things have changed in a little more than a third of a century. Admiral Dewey told the World reporter:

"Since studying this subject I am convinced that the office of the president is not such a very difficult one to fill, his duties being mainly to execute the laws of congress."

Shades of Manila Bay! Wonder what the doughty old admiral would think if he were alive today. If George Dewey's ideas on the duties of the president and congress reflected the majority public opinion in his time, as they undoubtedly did, then how far have we traveled since then, and in what direction?

Following the president's visit to the lost colony of Roanoke it was rumored in Washington that the resettlement administration was going to restore the lost colony at $20,000 per unit.

Our most vivid recollection of a trip to the seashore is a heap of damp towels, sand on the floor, and mosquitoes droning outside the window.

BUSINESS HERE AND ABROAD

An optimistic note on the petroleum outlook in the United States was sounded recently by W. S. Farish, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, as he was about to set sail for Europe. Mr. Farish said that the oil prospect was the best in a decade and added that the prospects are for a very fair year.

This is very encouraging. The production, refinement and sale of petroleum products is one of our very biggest nidustries, and its future well being is essential to the prosperity of the country.

One part of Mr. Farish's statement however should not be overlooked. He declared that the consumption of oil products has shown about the same gain in Europe as in the United States. This may seem more than passing strange to those of us who get our information from political propaganda.

We were told repeatedly in the last campaign that the great gains in business were due to the policies of the New Deal and that this justified the unbalanced budgets and federal extravagances. It was necessary to keep on priming the pump, we were advised. And we took the advice. At least all of us did except Maine and Vermont.

Well, Judging by the recovery of the oil industry, the pump priming must have been so good that it worked not only from Maine to California but even back in the old country all the way from Lisbon to Moscow.

IT HAPPENED IN FRANCE

Illegal violence in labor disputes will not be tolerated, says the chief executive. Where? In the United States? Oh, no! In France.

"Everyone must understand that while the government intends to be completely impartial, it is impossible for the government to show any weaknesses toward violation of the law."

Who said that? Franklin D. Roosevelt, the President of the United States, who took an oath to see that the laws are enforced? No! Camille Chautemps, premier of France, whose oath was to the French Constitution.

Against whom were the French premier's words directed? The employers? No, for the employers this time were not accused by anyone of breaking the law.

But did a French politician, did a leader of France's famous radical-socialist party, head of France's new Popular Front government of left parties, dare, then, to uphold the idea of enforcing the law even against labor unions which had helped elect that popular front?

Yes, for the union strikers were breaking the law, and it is the sworn duty of the French government to see that the laws are enforced impartially.—Manchester Union.

THEN AND NOW

A few years ago the United States had so much trouble that some people were extremely pessimistic. The distress was caused by depression. The situation had a bright side; there was extraordinary sympathy and cooperation for relief of distressed people. Now the United States, recovering from the depression at least theoretically, has much trouble. The affliction now is class hatred capitalized, and in some cases, fomented by politicians. In sum, the United States may be more sorely afflicted now and the cure may be far more difficult.—South Bend Tribune.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

Now that congress has adjourned without accomplishing the program which had been mapped out for it in advance by the administration, there has been considerable discussion for the reasons for its failure to function. The blame for the failure of the official program is generally placed upon the Supreme Court bill, which threw the senate into a turmoil and resulted in one of the bitterest factional contests that has regaled the public since the days of the Bull Moose split among the Republicans.

Along with the charge that we have been having a "do nothing congress" has been one that the Republicans inside congress and out have been guilty of too much lassitude. It has been frequently complained that in the court fight the Republicans have been "dead", that they have lacked all organization, and the question has recently been asked, "What has become of the Republican party?" The criticisms are not entirely just. Nor are they founded on a clear knowledge of the facts.

By way of reply it may be suggested that the results speak for themselves. After the November election in 1936 the New Deal was sitting on top of the world. Now congress has just adjourned after some of the bitterest passages of arms in the senate and on the radio, that we have heard in a generation. The late era of good feeling seems to have ended and the Republicans may be permitted a quiet chuckle up their sleeves over the trend of events in the past few months.

Republican leaders have proceeded on the theory that the fight between Jeffersonian Democrats and New Dealers is a family quarrel and that it doesn't pay to interfere too much in a family squabble lest the warring factions get together and turn their fire on the outsiders. So the Republicans, while there was plenty they might have said in praise or support of the warring Democratic chieftains for their fight against the court plan, wisely held their fire, so that the cry of "playing the enemy's game" might not be used against the Democratic leaders of the anti-court fight by their brethren who were seeking to line up sentiment for the court as a matter of party expediency. There was much criticism of the court plan by Republicans like Senators Borah and Johnson, but these statesmen, because of their traditional independent attitude, could not be accused of playing politics.

The Republicans inside the Senate, therefore, were resting rather than sleeping, and they knew exactly what they were doing. In the House, too, despite paucity of their numbers, the Republican leaders were able to "make medicine" on more than one occasion. The charges against the sale of the Democratic national convention book to corporations which has received publicity and caused discussion all over the country is a case in point.

It is true that Republican leaders generally are not talking about a candidate or an organization for 1940. They have a sound reason in that they realize that if the party is to have a chance in 1940 it must first make gains in the congressional contests next year. In this fight the election of a House of Representatives, not presidential politics, will loom first in importance. To head its important congressional campaign committee the G. O. P. has Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, a man well grounded in politics as former secretary and then chairman of the Massachusetts State Republican Committee. He is a member also of the Executive Committee and a man of real experience in public affairs. And he has the assistance of some really able Republicans in the House who have survived the vicissitudes of fortune. The committee is fortunate too in having for its secretary Earle C. Venable, a sound man of wide political experience who is popular both with the politicians and the newspaper men.

Despite the fact that they have been ominously quiet during the past few months the Republican strategists know exactly what they are doing and they will be on hand next year. So far this year their line of conduct, judging from results, doesn't seem to have been so unhappy.

SOMEBODY HAS TO PAY

Passage of the new housing bill, authorizing $500,000,000 in federal loans for slum clearance, was predicted by all reports received from Washington during this week. An amendment wisely made by the House put a limit of $5,000 on the amount which may be spent for each residential unit built with financial aid from the government. This outlay for construction, over and above the cost of land purchase, should be enough to provide decent dwellings for citizens who cannot pay normal charges for monthly rent.

Nevertheless, such constructive work will impose a greater charge upon present taxpayers than is yet realized. For example, few citizens are now aware that the big housing project just completed by the WPA in the Williamsburg section of New York will pay no municipal taxes whatsoever. In numerous cases of like nature, including new homes now being built in South Boston and in Cambridge, the federal government offers only a trivial portion of the cost which the municipality must pay for schools, police and fire protection and other services rendered to occupants.

Under these conditions, it seems strange that the new federal housing act finds many friends even among those citizens customarily devoted to the cause of economy in every local expenditure. The cry for "slum clearance" gains broad support, no matter how large may be the bill for expenses both current and permanent. Such a battle appears extravagant, more costly than ever can be justified by results.—Boston Transcript.

SPLIT DEMOCRACY

Tongues should be thrust firmly in cheek during these current discussions of restored Democratic harmony following the Supreme Court fight in the senate. Vice President Garner can rush back to Washington from Texas and talk harmony until his mild blue eyes close in slumber. Democratic correspondents in the capital can write of harmony until the keys fall off their typewriters, but the judicious are not deceived.

The plain fact is that the Democratic party is split—split as between conservatives and radicals; split, more particularly, as between North and South. Healing that split will be a question, not of days, but of weeks, months, even years.—Providence Journal.

REVOLT IN THE SOUTH

The South finally is breaking away from the New Deal. Southern Democrats played an important part in the defeat of the court packing bill. Right on the heels of that significant stand comes the battle over the Black-Connery bill to extend federal control over wages and hours in industry. In this fight the standard of revolt was raised by Senators Smith of South Carolina and Harrison of Mississippi.

Politically, the Southern Democrats are in a hard case. Where are they to go? Since abrogation of the two-thirds rule, they have lost their veto power in Democratic conventions. They are in revolt against the New Deal, but they are practically captives of a name. They are Democrats by tradition—a tradition almost impossible to break.

In congress, however, there is available an alliance between these Democrats of the Jefferson school and the Republican minority. That seems to be in the making. It hardly will be able to stop the Black-Connery bill, but it is capable of defeating some of the other New Deal measures as it did the court bill. The bloc of Southern Democrats will be a force to be reckoned with in the days to come.—Minneapolis Journal.

FACTS FROM THE RECORD

Written By F. G. STEPHENS Publisher of The Southern Democrat, Oneonta

POLL TAXES

Strange as it may seem, Alabama was collecting more poll taxes in 1869 than it is now collecting. During that year it collected $315,000. During the poll tax year ending February 1, 1937, it collected $241,208.

This was about the normal amount usually collected. During the past 20 years the annual poll tax collections have varied from $140,873 in 1917 to $417,645 in 1934. This was the highest point reached during the 20-year period and is probably an all-time high. The second highest point reached was in 1926. It will be recalled that in both of these years hot campaigns were being conducted for governor of the state, and an unusual number of county officials were to be elected.

The lowest point reached in poll tax collections since 1917 was in 1933 when the receipts amounted to only $142,747.

In 1936, which was an election year, the receipts amounted to $309,678. The preceding year they were $210,014.

Going back to 1931, when the woods were being shelled by candidates for governor, the total receipts amounted to $283,304. The following year the receipts dropped to $160,236.

The largest number to pay poll tax in any one year was in 1923 when the total number reached 139,377.

Prior to the adoption of the present Constitution in 1901, all male persons between the ages of 21 and 45 were required to pay a poll tax each year. The 1901 Constitution eliminated the compulsory requirement but made the payment of poll tax a prerequisite to voting. When this was adopted most of the negroes ceased to pay poll tax.

When the Woman Suffrage amendment was adopted in 1920 this made the women between the ages of 21 and 45 subject to poll tax the same as men. They are now required to pay poll tax if they vote.

Under the Constitution, and a decision of the Supreme Court, all poll taxes must be paid on or before February 1st to entitle the person to vote in any election held prior to February 1st of the following year. For example: A person who did not pay all poll taxes due by him on or before February 1st, 1937, cannot pay up after the poll tax books are opened October 1st, 1937, and participate in any election held prior to February 1st, 1938. He must have paid his poll tax not later than February 1, 1937, to be eligible to vote in any election being held this year or during the month of January next year.

According to the last federal census there are now 591,189 white people in Alabama within the poll tax age of 21 to 45. Some 50,000 of these are World War veterans and are not subject to the payment of poll tax. If all the remainder should pay, the state would receive $811,800 instead of $241,208. All of this goes for education. If all the white people subject to poll tax should pay, it would add to the school funds more than a half million dollars annually. Another half million would be added if all the negroes in the poll tax age were paying.

REEMPLOYMENT SERVICE

Montgomery, Sept. 6. — Alabama's State Employment Service, and the National Reemployment Service in cooperation maintained their weekly record of placing 1,000 persons in jobs during the week ending August 28, statistics released today by J. G. Duncan, Jr., showed.

Employment was found for 1,020 persons during the week, compared with 985 during the preceding week. Of the total placements, 793 were in private jobs, while 227 were given assignments on public works projects.

The Alabama State Employment Service, operating in 11 counties, accounted for the placement of 159 in private jobs and 62 in public jobs during the week, compared with 212 in private jobs and 52 in public jobs the preceding week. The National Reemployment Service, operating in 56 counties, which will be consolidated with the State Employment Service before the beginning of 1938, placed 634 in private jobs and 165 in public works jobs last week, compared with 608 in private jobs and 113 in public jobs the preceding week.

Although 1,020 were given jobs, the files of the combined services showed an increase in applications of 818 during the week. The active file at the close of the week contained 73,726 applications compared with 72,908 the preceding week. New applications for the week totaled 962, compared with 912 the preceding week.

IN MEMORY

On August 24, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Connell and carried away their dear beloved baby, Joan. There was a vacant place in heaven that no one else could fill.

Little Joan had a smile for everyone she saw. She is in a home where there are no more sorrows nor pain. She is asleep in Jesus.

Joan leaves to mourn her loss: her parents, and one brother, Moses.

In an effort to increase interest in cows, hens, and hogs, 4-H club boys and girls in Montgomery, Autauga, Elmore, Lowndes, Lee, Russell and Etowah Counties were awarded a large number of purebred gilts, and will be given some calves and chickens later. The animals were awarded winners in a "Cow-Sow-Hen" contest.

CONCERT AT SHILOH NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

There will be a musical concert at Shiloh on next Friday night, September 10. We are expecting several good quartets to be with us. This is expected to be one of the best musical concerts ever held at this place.

All singers and lovers of music are cordially invited to attend. There will be no admission charge made, but a free will offering will be taken. Everybody come out and let's make this the best singing of the season.—Audie Brown.

Stately lines of palm trees will be a decorative note at the 1939 World's Fair on San Francisco Bay.

Hogs can be produced in southeast Alabama for as low as 3 cents a pound according to J. P. Wilson, manager of the Wiregrass Sub-Experiment Station at Headland, Ala. He is producing them at this cost.

Three submarine cables will provide electricity for the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition on its Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

Several attended Sunday School Sunday. We had a very short Sunday School on account of our electing a pastor for the next coming year. Rev. L. D. Nunnally was elected. Saturday night and Sunday is our regular preaching dates, and we invite everybody to attend; a singing at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. Lawrence Smith and family of Birmingham, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Blow and family.

Miss Mary Smiht is spending some time with Misses Alta and Hazel Blow.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Barnett of Birmingham, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Martin.

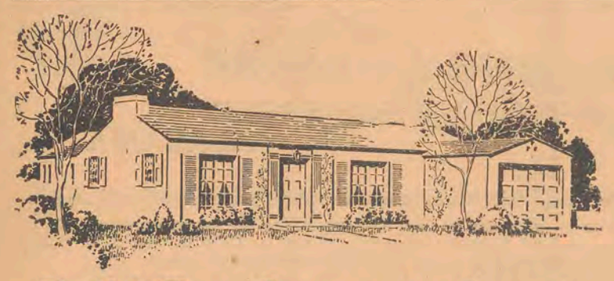
Miss Odell Ellison spent Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Flossie Kirklin.

Remember preaching and Sunday School next Saturday night and Sunday. Everybody is cordially invited.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation toward our friends and relatives for their love and kindness shown us, as well as the material help given during the illness and death of our dear baby, whom we loved so much. May the richest blessings of God abide with each one of you, is our prayer.—Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Connell.

Miss Helen Moore left Monday for Birmingham to enter Howard College.



BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

On Sunday, September 5, a group gathered and dined with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Maddox and family to celebrate Mr. Maddox's birthday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Collins, Mrs. Wilbur Collins and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Collins, Amos Deason, Orville Collins, Clinton Deason, Misses Eula and Jewel Deason. A bountiful dinner was enjoyed by all. Dinner was sent to Mr. Maddox's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Maddox, and Mrs. Maddox's mother, Mrs. P. A. Deason, who could not be present. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Huett were guests in the afternoon and took supper with Mr. and Mrs. Maddox. We hope to meet again next year.—Miss Eula Deason.

Build Termites out of your new home with CONCRETE

The U. S Department of Agriculture says that termite damage in small homes may run into hundreds of dollars. But there is nothing in a firesafe concrete house that termites can destroy. From foundation to chimney cap it is immune to insect boring.

Of course, you can have concrete! The first cost of this quality construction is surprisingly low and it saves on insurance, saves on depreciation, saves on upkeep charges.

Build with concrete from the ground up. Concrete suits any style—Spanish, Ranch House, Colonial, Modern. Choose your own color and finish. And be sure to have concrete floors. They're quiet and firesafe, and they take any kind of covering—wood, carpet, linoleum, terrazzo, or simply colored and waxed.

Remember, concrete homes are warm in winter, cool in summer, and they endure for generations of happy, carefree living

HOW TO GET A CONCRETE HOME

1. Phone or write a nearby concrete products man or concrete contractor for the names of architects and builders experienced in concrete.

2. Select an architect familiar with concrete construction and tell him you want concrete walls and floors and a firesafe roof.

3. Have your plans figured by builders experienced in concrete construction. Let nothing shake your determination to obtain the best value for your home building dollar in today's market . . . A FIRESAFE CONCRETE HOME.

MORE AND BETTER APPLES!

A member of the force of The Union-Banner had occasion to be around Fort Payne, DeKalb County, last Sunday, and while there visited the famous and widely known Fugazzi Brothers orchards, near that city. To say that he was astonished is putting it mildly.

The great orchard is atop the mountain near Fort Payne, and covers acres and acres. On the left side of the road, as one reaches the mountain top, may be seen hundreds and hundreds of peach trees. These, of course, held no fruit at this season, but the sight of so many trees was interesting within itself.

The real sight was on the right side of the road—the apple side. As one looks across that great expanse of apple trees, he gathers the impression that here, surely, are enough apples to keep all the doctors on vacation, if that old "apple a day" saying is true. Big apples, little apples, red apples, green apples, eating apples, cooking apples—any kind you might desire. Almost as far as your eye can see, the tree lines run, checked off accurately, and loaded down with the ripe and luscious fruit. It seems there might be literally hundreds of thousands of bushels there, yet unpicked.

As we entered the sorting room and warehouse, box upon box was to be seen stacked up ready to be sorted and boxed or crated. An attendant, Mr. Clyde Webster, a very accommodating young man, patiently answered all our questions, and as we prepared to leave, very graciously presented us with a fine basket of "Delicious" apples, ripe and rosy. When we returned home, we were curious to see down in the basket, and counting them, found an exact 13 dozen—156 apples. There were two dozen about the size of what we generally pay 40c to 50c a dozen for; seven dozen were about what we pay 35c or 40c for; three and a half dozen were about 25c apples, and we found six small ones, about two inches in diameter.

It seems that our several truckers who haul fruits and produce from different places might do well to contact Fugazzi Brothers at Fort Payne. The fruit is first class, the prices are reasonable, and it is not so far up there. We have shown some of ours about town, and have heard nothing but praise for them. Gee, but they're good. Yum! Yum!

HEALTH DEPARTMENT NOTES

Montgomery, Sept. 6. — "Drainage projects planned in the interest of malaria control should not be started until it is reasonably certain that they can be carried through to completion," said Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer, today, in discussing the malaria situation in Alabama. "Many projects of this kind make a brilliant start and are launched with great fervor by health enthusiasts and community leaders, only to die from lack of support, mainly financial, at or near the half way point. Such projects, of course, are worse than failures in that they not only involve expenditures of public or private funds without realizing anything like a proper return on the investment, but also do definite harm to the cause of better sanitation. In no instance, therefore, should a drainage project be undertaken until the amount required to see it through is in hand."

Dr. Baker also pointed out the importance of proper manitenance of a drainage over a period of years after being dug.

"The cost of maintenance is comparatively small," he said, "but, unless that is attended to and all ditches kept open, the good effects of the investment in the original project will progressively decrease as time goes on."

MOTORISTS BEING TAXED BEYOND ABILITY TO PAY

Continuing studies of special additional taxes imposed upon motor vehicle ownership and use already have revealed that motorists are being taxed as if wealthy, and motor vehicles are being taxed as if luxuries, according to J. B. Kelley, vice chairman of the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee. Mr. Kelley said that automobile clubs and other organizations should be given a vote of public thanks for their work in promoting reasonable taxation and proper use of public funds.

"State legislatures and the federal congress have been piling tax after tax on the motorist without considering his ability to pay," said Mr. Kelley. "Something like 27 different automotive taxes are now imposed, making the motor vehicle the most heavily taxed property in this country today.

"Yet results of continuing studies of these taxes, while incomplete, already have revealed that the typical motorist is a worker earning $20 to $30 a week, and forced to work two weeks a year to earn the money to pay automotive taxes, the bulk of which are quadruplicating federal, city, county and state levies on gasoline. The typical motorist lives in suburban low rent areas, provides his own transportation, and uses his car chiefly in driving between home and job. He is not a man of affluence any way you look at it.

"The typical motor vehicle, far from being a luxury, is a necessity to the owner. The average car is a small, used vehicle, manufactured five or more years ago, and worth only about $212. Yet it is taxed about one-third of its value every year!

"It looks as if those who impose such taxes will have to revise their ideas if they intend to leave any money in the pockets of the motorists. They can improve the situation by making tax reasonable, spending economically for planned and needed roads, and avoiding the highway spending sprees which have created heavy expenses and high taxes in so many states.

"Automotive clubs and other organizations, studying the automotive tax problem, should be given a vote of thanks by the public. Out of their work of promoting reasonable taxation and proper use of public funds for highways we can afford should come the greater good—government at a cost we can afford.

ANTI-SALES TAX PLANS

Montgomery, Sept. 6. — Plans for taking a vigorous stand on candidates in the 1938 primaries will be discussed at a meeting of state directors of the Consumers Taxpayers Association of Alabama at 10 a.m., September 15, in Montgomery.

The Association formerly functioned as the Consumers Anti-Sales Tax Association during the recent sessions of the legislature and led the fight against tax increases under the direction of Jeff P. Beeland, Greenville chairman.

After the enactment of the sales tax, the organization met and formed into a permanent organization for carrying on the anti-sales tax fight in future elections and legislatures, and the advocacy of honest, constructive economy in government by the elimination of waste.

The organization is keeping a close record of legislators who have taken jobs on the state payroll as well as other officials or prospective candidates who have in any way, through the employment of their relatives or the use of parole patronage, obligated themselves to others, than those who elected them.

Vigorous campaigns are expected to be launched by the association against such officials seeking election next year. Into this category will come members of the present state administration who offer before the electorate.

"Keeping the record alive and before the people" is the aim and intent of the association as given by its officers.

The executive session of the association's 100 directors from all of the 67 counties will consume a morning session at 10 o'clock, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the Whitley Hotel.

IN MEMORY OF B. G. JOHNSON

On September 3, Mr. B. G. Johnson closed his eyes in endless sleep. For many days this much loved one's life hung in the balance. All was done that loved ones could, but God had his mansion ready, and called him to the "Beautiful Isle Of Somewhere."

A golden link in the family has been broken; a vacant place which can never be filled.

Weep not, loved ones; we can meet him. Though all around on every hand, are things we cannot understand, this thought should comfort everyone—it is God's way; His will be done.

Mr. Johnson was 77 years of age, and was a loyal member of the church for 60 years.

He leaves a host of relatives to mourn his loss, being the father of 22 children.

Funeral services were at Walnut Creek, with Rev. T. C. Cassady officiating, assisted by Rev. J. W. Enfinger and Rev. G. G. Williams; Spigener in charge. Beautiful floral offerings attested the great esteem in which he was held.—A friend.

Football At Chilton County High School

(By The Man In The Moon)

Yours truly went out Monday afternoon to watch the "coming out" party of this year's edition of the Gold and Blue football team at Chilton County High School, and to observe the start of Coach F. H. "Bull" Spicer, the new and efficient coach at C. C. H. S. Get used to that name "Bull", bewe ring the curtain down on this football season on Thanksgiving Day.

Shades of Lex S. Owens, of Vic Heard, of Pegues, and of Bruner floated across that practice field Monday afternoon as Spicer put his 23 candidates through the stiffest first day work-out these eyes have ever beheld. If any of the Tiger squad this year have harbored an idea that they were in for a year of floating gently through a session of honey ponds and flitter trees, with a game a week spliced in to stir up excitement, these dreams must have been rudely interrupted that first day. Judging from the first day, those who would make the Tiger team this year are in for a tough afternoon every day this season. I doubt if the boys will be able to tell much difference between practice sessions and regular games—Spicer drills his team, and you can depend on that as the truth.

Following are the boys who reported to the first call Monday: Mat Ware, Ray Miller, Wendell Bean, J. W. Johnson, Ted Reynolds, Earl Melton, Buster Popwell, Carl McDowell, Morris Taylor, Lester Jones, Joe Maddox, Harold Lawrence, James Jones, Morris Mims, J. L. Littlejohn, Morris Johnson, Clive Aldridge, Morris Thornton, Durward Williamson, Alex Arnold, Buel Locklear, Guy Alred, and Harvey Armstrong. Coach Spicer has called for at least seven more candidates, and no doubt they will be forthcoming.

The first day saw the new coach giving his charges fundamental instruction in charging, tackling, shifting, and backfield spinning—a bit tough for a first day menu, maybe, but a system that will find the team ready for tough going when the kick-off whistle sounds a little later on.

After the work-out, Spicer called all the fellows over in one bunch and gave them a general set of training rules, stressing the point that while he is working with and for them and for a good football team, he is also expecting them to meet him half way by strictly observing all training rules. Going further than that, Spicer made it plain that he would brook no infraction of his training rules.

Coach Spicer is being assisted by Dewey Cox, who had charge of the men who are coming out for line positions. But Coach Spicer said that no man was slated for any certain position, and that he would place them where they fit best.

Local fans may rest assured that the crop of material at Chilton High is good this year, and we may look forward to some real good games. The boys are being taught the game from the ground up, the fundamentals that a man must know before he can fill his position correctly and do all that is expected of him. To these eyes it appears that Coaches Spicer and Cox know their stuff and have the situation well in hand, that the material is good, and that the boys are responsive, willing and eager to learn. All this bespeaks a great gridiron year for Chilton.

Come out to see the practice any afternoon, but keep your ideas to yourself—Coach Spicer knows what he is doing, and no doubt will ask for any help he may want in his coaching duties. Just come out and observe his system, and then when the day for a game rolls around, come out and see that too—the results of his rigorous and painstaking training. Unless I miss my guess badly, you will be agreeably surprised.

ARMY WANTS 500 DOUGHBOYS FOR SERVICE IN PANAMA

Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Mosely, commanding the Fourth Corps Area, states that he has just received another call from the War Department for 500 more Southern boys for service in the infantry in Panama.

On August 27, 1937, 515 Southern boys were embarked on a transport at Charleston, S. C., destined for Panama for service in practically all of the arms and services. The 500 young men enlisting in the present campaign will probably sail from Charleston on September 27, 1937. Upon arrival in Panama they will be assigned to either Ft. Davis or Ft. Clayton, the two posts in the Panama Canal Zone garrisoned with infantry troops.

The 14th Infantry, commanded by Col. John L. Jenkins of West Virginia, is tationed on the Atlantic side of the isthmus at Ft. Davis. On the Pacific side the 33rd Infantry under the command of Col. Charles F. Severson, a native of Illinois, is located at Ft. Clayton.

An enlistment in the regular army today offers many attractive advantages for the young man undecided as to his future. Schools and shops are maintained where the wide awake soldier may learn a variety of trades to help him later in life, such as radio operator and engineer, auto mechanic and technician, clerk, stenographer, etc. The soldier is taught self reliance, initiative, necessity of maintaining a sound and healthful body, and many other things which assist him in attaining success in his chosen work and helping him to be a good citizen.

Early application will insure selection while vacancies exist. Those interested are urged to write the nearest of the following army posts and recruiting stations, securing the necessary blank forms and information before leaving their homes: army posts at Ft. McClellan, Anniston, Ala., and Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala.; or recruiting stations at Birmingham or Montgomery. All army recruiting stations are located in the post offices in their respective cities.

FEDERAL AID WILDLIFE MEASURE IS PASSED

With the Federal Government putting up three dollars to every dollar supplied by the states, Alabama and other commonwealths are expected to achieve progress in wildlife restoration and conservation during the coming years. The Pittman-Robertson Federal-Aid-To-Wildlife bill, passed unanimously by the U. S. Senate and House in August, provides that approximately $2,760,000 collected annually by the Federal Government as an excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition, shall be divided among the states for wildlife work. No new taxes are involved, as this excise tax has been collected since 1932 and used for general purposes.

It is estimated that Alabama's share of the division will be approximately $40,000 annually, provided of course that this State complies with provisions of the act which is similar to the Federal aid highway law.

CANE CREEK

Our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. were very well attended last Sunday. Some were absent; we are looking for you next Sunday.

Next Saturday and Sunday are our regular preaching days. We urge all our members to be present, for we have some business to attend to, getting church officers for the new year.

On the fourth Sunday afternoon we will have our singing; this will be regular from now on. Remember singers, and come.

Rev. Tommie Billingsley will preach for us the third Sunday at 11 o'clock.

ROBINSON SPRINGS

Rev. Martin Pruitt from Maynard's Chapel will be at this place to preach for us next Sunday, September 12.—A member.

REFUGE

We are glad to be able to still report a lively Sunday school.

There is just one more meeting day in this associational year. We hope that every member will look forward to rounding up our letter in a business way.

The Bible tells us that "we are not even our own; we are bought with a price." If we would give more to the Lord's cause, attend church more regularly and pray more, things would be more pleasant.

Again the Lord said, "First seek ye the kingdom of God and all these things shall be added unto you." The Bible proves that when people, whether as individuals or nations, leave God out of their business they, have always hit the rocks, and we, in America, will be no exception, if we forget God.

There will be singing here Thursday night. Everybody invited.

The New aerogene WAVE..

COOL . . . LIGHT . . . SAFE . . . COMFORTABLE

It's impossible to over-heat your scalp or your hair during an Aerogene wave. And it "takes a load off your shoulders" . . . for no heavy metal heaters are used to bow down your head.

An entirely new modern principle is used in giving this wave. After the light little Aerogene Sachets are folded on your hair, a toy-train current (only 4 volts) flows through them. A minimum amount of waving heat is created. Your hair will be actually softer and in better condition after an Aerogene . . . and the wave definitely lasts longer.

OIL IN LOUISIANA

The Union-Banner has just received a letter from one of our subscribers, O. B. Popwell, of Bernice, La., in which he renewed his subscription, and also sent us a clipping regarding the oil field in his section of the country. Regarding the field discussed in the clipping, Mr. Popwell adds:

"You will find clipping about our new oil field. I live 15 miles northeast of this field, and it looks like it is coming this way."

The clipping follows:

Field Eight Months Old This Week—Limits Not Defined

The 87th producing well was brought in Thursday in the Lisbon Field, with the completion of two heavy producers on the north and northeast section of the field. Hanbury's Vaughn C-1, sec. 25 21-5 was completed at 5,270 feet, with an initial production of 86 barrels per hour. Sell's Pet. Co.'s W. Jones No. 2, sec. 31 21-4 came in without swabbing, making 80 barrels throuch 3|4-inch chocke. Total depth, 5,320 feet. Lyons and Neely's H. W. Patton Estate No. 1, sec. 6 20-4 was completed last Tuesday, and gauged 48 barrels per hour through ½-inch choke.

The Lisbon field is 8 months old this week, and this week shows the highest drilling peak yet reached, with 35 rigs at work. The field has not yet been defined definitely in any direction. The heaviest ol saturated formaton contiinues on the east and northeast section of the field, however the shallower pay on the horizon on the northwest and west is producing plenty of oil.

In addition to the 35 rigs running, 15 permits have been issued for locations already made, and, without any doubt, a few days will see at least 40 rigs at work.

The new September allocation for the field, set by the Department of Conservation, is 13,200 barrels, on the basis of 83 wells. However, with new wells coming in every day or two, the September production should run at least 15,000 barrels daily.

A lease of some interest to Bernice readers was filed for record at Homer last Tuesday; 60 acres in the NE¼ of Sec. 28-21-4, W. B. Rives land, was bought by Interstate Production Corp., for a consideration of $6,000 cash and $4,000 in oil, with a 1-24 overriding royalty. This property is about 1½ miles from the bridge over Middle Fork, and looks favorable for early drilling in this section.

Special ANNOUNCEMENT

Extra! Additional 10 Day Offer Extra!

$25.00 IN CASH

Ten Day Period Only Beginning Friday, Sept. 10th
Closing Monday, September 20th at 12 A. M.

Ten Days of Golden Opportunity

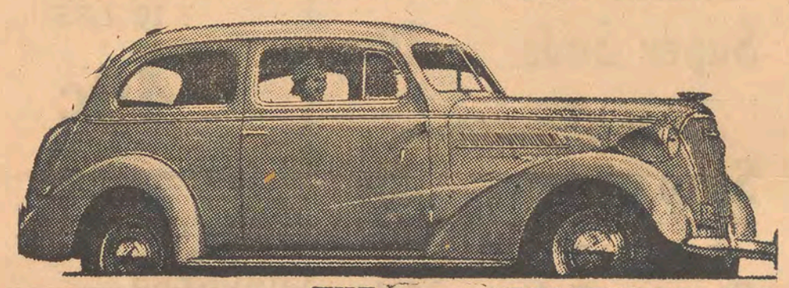
OBEY THAT IMPULSE! ACT NOW! TODAY!

HOW THE EXTRA $25.00 WILL BE AWARDED

$25.00 in Cash will be awarded to the candidate turning in the greatest number of years in subscriptions to The Union-Banner from 8:00 A. M., Friday, September 10, to 12:00 A. M., noon, Monday, September 20.

HOW MANY POINTS ARE GIVEN

A 1-year subscription, new or old, will count 1 point; 2 years, 2 points; 3 years, 3 points; 4 years, 4 points; 5 years, 5 points. Every subscription turned in on the above offer also applies on the big motor car, cash awards, and the 20 per cent commission to be awarded October 23, 1937.



DOES MONEY MEAN ANYTHING TO YOU?

This offer is EXTRA and separate from the big prize list first announced and will be awarded immediately after the close, or as soon thereafter as points can be checked on all business turned in, but the number of points will not be announced until the close of the campaign, October 23. Subscriptions turned in during the special offer really have a double prize value. Everyone starts on an equal basis. Only subscriptions turned in during the 10-day offer will count toward winning the extra prize of $25.00. Any candidate entered or prospective, can earn an extra prize of $25.00 these next few days. This is another opportunity staring you in the face. Will you grasp it?

New workers have the same, or even better chance of winning as those now entered. All start on even terms. If you have been thinking of entering this campaign, DO SO NOW. Never again will you have such a two-fold opportunity of making real money, just for your spare time.

Prospective and entered candidates be sure that you understand this wonderful opportunity. Don't hesitate to call the campaign manager if you want information of any kind. You owe it to yourself to investigate and win one of these prizes. Remember, every subscription on this added offer applies in votes, in the regular way, on the Grand Capital Prizes and cash commissions, to active non-prize winners, to be awarded October 23. Do you want to make money? If so, here is your chance. Can you, in justice to yourself, afford to let a Golden Opportunity like this pass? Wake up. Get busy. Stay busy and win.

NOTICE TO ALL APPLICANTS FOR CCC ENROLLMENT

On Saturday, September 11, a representative from the Alabama State Employment office will be in Clanton, so that applicants for CCC enrollment may register for employment through this service. Every boy who wishes to enroll in CCC camp should register with this office, so that private employment may be available to him at the expiration of his enrollment period, or in the event he is not accepted for enrollment. About 90 boys have filed applications for CCC enrollment with the Chilton County Department of Public Welfare. It is very unlikely that Chilton County will be able to enroll so large a quota of boys, and we urge every boy who has applied to come to the DPW office on next Saturday between 8 o'clock a.m., and 5 o'clock p.m., for registration with the Reemployment Service.—Nolan Meroney, director, Chilton County Department of Public Welfare.

SEPTEMBER 15 IS FINAL DATE FOR APPLICATIONS

Auburn, Sept. 4. — Wednesday, September 15, has been designated as the final date for Alabama farmers to file applications for payments under the 1936 agricultural conservation program, announces Walter L. Randolph, administrative officer in charge of AAA program in Alabama.

The final date was set by the State Agricultural Conservation Committee, composed of J. Litt Edwards, chairman, Selma; L. S. Fluker, Livingston; W. B. Crawley, Banks; and J. B. McClure, Florence, and has been approved by the Southern Division, AAA, at Washington.

Farmers who have not already made application for payment under the AAA program should do so before September 15, advises Mr. Randolph. The application should be filed with the county agent.

FOREST FIRE FATALITIES RARE IN ALABAMA

Montgomery, Sept. 6. — Death in the flames that sometimes overtake the firemen of city fire departments in combating structure fires is seldom the lot of forest fire fighters, according to Col. Page S. Bunner, Alabama State Forester. In a structure fire there are many things that firemen cannot know when they enter a burning building. The strength of different parts of the building, the degree to which structural members are already burned, the exact location of the most active parts of the fire, and other pertinent factors are not always discernable to the eye, especially when all parts of the building are filled with heavy smoke. Under such circumstances, it is not strange that firemen are sometimes trapped by the flames or caught by falling walls. In the open air, however, with a forest fire davancing through the woods, there is little that cannot be detected by direct observation, states Col. Bunker. Forest fires develop and spread according to well known natural laws, and adequate foresight usually precludes the possibility of fatalities among the workers.

Grand Jury Convened Here All Last Week

Returned 36 True Bills During Week's Session; Enter Recommendation In County Road Squabble

The Grand Jury of Chilton County was called into session last week by Judge Arthur Glover.

After making the usual consideration of cases, and the usual inspections, the Grand Jury drew up recommendations regarding the local road muddle.

The full text of the report of this Grand Jury is as follows:

State of Alabama, Chilton County.
To. Hon. Arthur Glover, as Judge of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama:

We, the Grand Jury empanneled for the July term of the Circuit Court, after receiving your Honor's able and instructive charge, entered upon our investigation of the matters that came before us as Grand Jurors, and herewith submit the following report:

During our investigation we have considered 53 cases and have examined 122 witnesses, and are returning herewith 36 true bills.

We have examined the fee book of the Probate Judge and find it neatly kept and correct insofar as we were able to ascertain. We have examined the bonds of the various county officials and find that they are ample for the protection of the public and on our examination of the Sheriff's account with the state for feeding prisoners we find it being kept in accordance with the law. On our examination of the office of the County Superintendent of Education we find that his books, records and papers are being kept neatly and in accordance with the law insofar as we were able to ascertain.

The Grand Jury learned from the County Superintendent of Education that the Grammar schools of the county are scheduled to run seven months and that the high schools of the county are scheduled to run nine months. We feel that the citizenship of the county should take pride in the fact that the schools of the county are scheduled to operate for seven and nine months for the approaching school session.

We have made a personal inspection of the county jail and believe it to be sufficiently safe for the keeping of the prisoners, and find that the prisoners confined therein are being well fed and cared for, with reasonable comfort.

The Grand Jury took occasion to give some study to the local law that now prevails in Chilton County, which provides for the control, making, maintenance and improvement of the public roads and bridges of Chilton County, Alabama. This law, passed at the extra session of the 1936 legislature, created the office of Road Supervisor, and provided that the Road Supervisor be appointed by the Governor, and is to hold office under this appointment until the first Monday in February of 1939; that for the new term of office for the Road Supervisor, beginning the first Monday in February, 1939, it shall be filled by appointment of the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Alabama. The Grand Jury, after much thought and consideration, is deeply impressed with the fact that the Probate Judge and the Commissioners of the county, who are directly answerable to the citizenship of the county at the ballot box, should have full control and management of the making, maintenance, building and improvement of the public roads and bridges of Chilton County, and further that if an engineer or technically trained person is needed that he should be answerable to the Probate Judge and Commissioners who in turn are answerable to the people at the ballot box. The Commissioners Court and Probate Judge are intrusted with the spending and appropriation of the public funds of the county and we feel that their judgment should prevail as to how and where this money should be spent and that should they care to have the advice of a trained engineer or Road Supervisor that they should be free to do so, and he should be answerable to them. The law as it is now on the books, that is, the law passed at the extra session of the 1936 legislature creating the Road Supervisor for Chilton County, in our opinion is unworkable, and in our opinion the voters of the county should be on guard and take steps to elect as a representative to the legislature from Chilton County for the next session a person who will insure the people that this law will be repealed. We feel that the county at present is not progressing under this law as the county would progress if the Commissioners of the county andthe Probate Judge of the county had complete charge of the roads of the county, and this Grand Jury wishes to go on record as unanimously recommending that the local act for Chilton County creating a Road Supervisor be repealed.

The Grand Jury wishes to express its appreciation to Sheriff J. R. Hardy and his deputies, and to our bailiff, Mr. G. N. Easterling, for the many courtesies shown us during the week, and the efficient manner in which each of these officers discharged their duties in getting for us the necessary witnesses that we needed.

We wish to thank your Honor for the very able charge given us when we were first empanneled, and for the thorough and efficient manner in which you outlined our duties as Grand Jurors.

We, having complied to the best of our ability, with your Honor's charge, respectfully ask that we now be dismissed until such time as your Honor may see fit and think proper to have us again convene.

This, the 3rd day of September, 1937.
E. SPAN JONES, Foreman.

SACRED HARPS CONVENTION

The fall session of the Chilton County sacred harp singing convention will be held at New Harmony church, Lomax, the third Sunday in this month, September 19th.

Singers and lovers of Sacred music make your plan to attend this convention. Singers throughout the county and adjoining counties have a special invitation to come.

Bring your sacred harp song books and spend the day with us at New Harmony.—Myrtle Jackson, Secretary.

CLANTON CCC CAMP TO LOSE 65 MEN ON OCTOBER 1st

Because of new service restrictions approximately 65 men who are enrolled at the local camp will have to leave the CCC camp on or before October 1, 1937. This list includes almost all of the skilled workers, mechanics, truck drivers, clerks, leaders, sub-leaders, and otherwise seasoned men.

Employers who are in need of any of these men are urged to get in touch with the officials of the camp for further information in regard to these men's ability. Inasmuch as these young men are more or less isolated at work, they have little or no opportunity to look for jobs, and because of the large number who must go it is felt that an employer in need of help will have an unusual opportunity to find the type of employe he wants in this group.

If you would like to interview one or more of these men we will appreciate your letting us know, indicating the type desired or the work that will be required of him, so that we may select and eliminate. Employers may be assured that these men will not be sent unless we feel that they will reasably qualify for the place, and be dependable. Our intimate acquaintance with these young men makes it possible to discriminate rather accurately. Any employer who may be in need of any one or more of these men please get in touch with the Educational Director or Commanding Officer of the camp.

Special Cash Prize Of $25.00 To Be Awarded In Campaign

Voting Schedule Will Be Changed Next Week; The Big Flying Start Offer Is Still Effective

In two and one-half more days some worker in The Union-Banner's "Profit-Sharing" Circulation Drive will be rewarded for their work this week, in proportion to their effort. Someone will receive $25 in cash.

In eight days, seven working days, the biggest voting schedule of The Union-Banner's "Everybody Profits" campaign will become history. The big vote will be gone before you know it. These days—between now and 6 p.m., Saturday, September 25—can see you cinch the gift of your choice if you will take advantage of your opportunity. Never again will subscriptions count so much. A lead at the start of the second period will be harder to overcome by your competitors. The other fellow will find that it takes more subscriptions to go the same distance.

With the last days of the big votes rapidly approaching, the more aggressive candidates can well afford to devote every moment possible to the work of gathering subscriptions while the big votes are still in effect.

New Entry Could Win

Today an absolutely new worker can enter this campaign and with a few subscriptions sprint up and gain a clear lead over everyone now entered. IT CAN BE DONE!

Any candidate now entered can do the same thing. There is no handicap. All are on even terms. Determination backed by action is the governing factor.

For example, all the first period votes are still in effect; 10,000 votes with the nomination; 100,000 votes with every five yearly subscriptions or their equivalent turned in during the first day a candidate accepts entry; 200,000 votes with the first week opportunity coupon; and then 100,000 club votes with every $10 turned in during the campaign. Free vote coupons are still good for 100 votes each.

A "club" may be of any denomination you work out, just so it totals $10. Ten 1-year subscriptions would total 100,000, and if new they would total 200,000 votes. Then if it was a new candidate who had not done anything, there is 10,000 votes on the nomination; two of the first day entry coupons which would be 200,000; the first week opportunity coupon for 200,000, and the 100,000 club votes for the $10, making a total of 710,000 votes, "club" and bonus, all included.

A long term subscription will do wonders for any candidate's vote score. There are some folks who have been taking The Union-Banner for thirty years, and will continue taking it as long as they live. Others expect to read it for years to come. A very few long term subscriptions turned in now may be the very ones needed to "cinch" the prize of your choice.

Now is the big time to do the big things. Now is the time to get in the race and stay there. Now is the time to make every minute count. Remember that 240,000 regular votes are allowed this period on a 5-year subscription, also 40,000 extra votes for each new year. Then too, there is the "club" vote on these subscriptions which is very material. Do a little figuring for yourself.

Time To Get Busy

The time for work is here. Will you work from now on to September 25? Will you "cinch" the gift you want? Your friends will probably do more for you than any other like days in the campaign—providing you are up and doing.

Every day finds the close of the big period drawing nearer. Soon it will be a matter of hours. September 25 will be here before you know it. Do not let it find you without a substantial vote to your credit. If you have not yet started the ball rolling in a real way, it is time to start today. The opportunity for new candidates who mean business is here in a big way. If you want one of the prizes start today to accomplish your objective. If there is any size to you whatever, you have no handicap. It is up to you. It is time now to get in and win the gift of your choice. THINK! ACT! DO! WIN!

Who says opportunity is not here? It is knocking at your door with both fists. Will you grasp it; or will you be one of those who sit back sympathizing with themselves and howling "calamity" or that "opportunity never comes my way?"

WAKE UP! GET BUSY AND PROFIT!

Campaign headquarters open each evening until 6 o'clock.

KIWANIS CLUB WILL OBSERVE CONSTITUTION PERIOD

In line with the national observance of the Constitution of the United States beginning this month and lasting for several months, the Kiwanis Club of Clanton will observe the period by devoting its weekly meeting this Thursday night to the U. S. Constitution. The program will be in charge of Hon. Percy M. Pitts. All members are urged to attend this meeting Thursday night.

JUDGE RUTHERFORD ON RADIO

Judge Rutherford will speak over the radio, WAPI, Sunday, September 19, at 11 a. m. He will speak from the State fair grounds in Ohio. Subject will be: "Is there to be Found a Place of Safety?"

N. W. SINGING CTNVENTION AT JEMISON SEPTEMBER 26

The Northwest Singing Convention of Chilton County will convene in its third annual session at Jemison High School building the fourth Sunday in this month. Prof. P. B. Shaw, Prof. W. M. Devaughn, B. L. Cofer and son, the Southernaires and several other prominent singers and quartets will be present. The public is cordially invited.

BIG COTTON SHOT A BLANK

Mr. J. H. Littlefield of Union Grove brought to The Banner office last Friday a stalk of cotton seven and a half feet high. The stalk had only two good bolls on it; some few other faulty ones had been punctured by weevils. The cotton came from the farm of Jesse Collum; it is reported that he has one and a quarter acres of this cotton averaging this size, and the whole patch will not make one hundred pounds of seed cotton.

HENRY FISHER DIED

Henry Fisher, age 94, died at his home in southwest Chilton Tuesday, following a long illness. Funeral services were held Friday at Antioch church with Rev. Nat Stillwell officiating. Spigener directing.

Surviving are three sons—Joe, Arch and Jim Fisher, all of Maplesville; one Daughter, Mrs. Liddie Roebuck, of Selma.

WANEN-MANNING WEDDING

Mr. Oliver Manning was married to Miss Gladys Wanen on September 2nd at 2:30 o'clock, at Dunn, N. C. The bride is a teacher in the Dunn Jr. High School,, her home town. Mr. Manning is a teacher at the Sr. High school of the same place. He is the the son of Mrs. D. O. Manning, a graduate from Isabella and Auburn.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION HERE 1st SUNDAY IN OCTOBER

Prof. W. M. Devaughn, president of the Chilton County Singing Convention, authorizes the announcement that the fall session of the convention will be held the first Sunday in October and Saturday night before. All singers of the county and adjoining counties are asked to bear the date in mind and make arrangements to attend.

Arrangements are being made to have some outstanding singers and quartets to attend this session. Those who attend are assured of an enjoyable time.

Two New Traffic Lights To Be Installed Soon

The city of Clanton is this week installing two new traffic lights on two of its busiest corners. One will be at the courthouse corner and the other at the Hayes corner or at Burdett filling station.

These are a needed improvement to the city and the traffic facilities of the same; we are pleased that the officials have seen fit to add these new traffic lights. The city will now have four lights—three of which will be on the highway and two of which will be on the Second Avenue,—if you can figure out how that makes four in all.

CAMP TO RUN FOR AUDITOR

Physician-Inspector For State Prisons Is First In State Races

Jasper, Ala., Sept. 13.—Dr. H. G. Camp, Physician-Inspector of State Prisons, announced yesterday he has definitely decided to enter the race for State Auditor in the Democratic primaries next Summer. He is the first officially to declare himself as a candidate for a State office in the next administration.

Born on a farm in Talladega County, Dr. Camp walked 10 miles a day to attend the nearest public school—five miles there and five miles back. Completing his public school course he took the required examination and at the age of 16 was granted a teacher's certificate. A short time later he began teaching, and as a teacher over a period of eight years worked his way through college.

WITH IDEAL BEAUTY SHOPPE

Mrs. Pearl (True) Headley is now with the Ideal Beauty Shoppe. Mrs. Headley is an experienced operator and is a Marinello graduate. She comes to the Ideal after having been instructed in a beauty school in Clanton for some months. She invites her friends and customers to call around to see her.

The V. O. Stamps quartet will be on WSM Nashville, Tenn., every Friday morning, at 6:30 a. m.

DR. J. P. CRUMPTON PRACTICING DENTISTRY AGAIN

Dr. J. P. Crumpton wishes to announce that he has now bought the dental equipment of Dr. Brock, located over the Mullins & Sons store, and invites his old patients, as well as new ones, to call on him there when in need of his services.

CHAMPION COTTON PICKER

So far as we have been able to find out, the champion cotton pickers of this section are Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Stroud and son of near Gresston, on the farm of Mr. Navie Williamson. These three people picked, hauled to the gin and had ginned, a bale of cotton in one day. Mr. Stroud picked 395 pounds, his wife 466 pounds, while the son picked 455 pounds of cotton, had it weighed by Mr. Will Thompson, carried it to Ragan Brothers gin at Gresston, where it weighed 476 pounds when ginned. This is picking cotton with a vim, and we doubt seriously whether this record has been broken in this or any other county, this season.—Dodge County (Ga.) Advertiser.

PRATTVILLE CITIZEN DROWNS IN RIVER NEAR ROME, GEORGIA

Rome, Ga., Sept. 10. — The body of a white man identified as that of M. C. Borders, 30-year-old sign painter, formerly of Prattville, Ala., was found in the Etowah River today.

Wilson Heath, Borders' employer, made the identification.

Borders had been missing several days. Deputy Sheriff B. O. Payne said a negro discovered the body. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental drowning.

The painter is survived by his widow of Prattvile.

NOTICE TO FARMERS

To my farmer friends:

I am trying to develop a better herd of registered Guernsey cattle.

I have recently paid a high price for a good Guernsey bull to serve my herd and not for public use.

My herd is free of infectious disease, and I want to keep it free.

Please do not bring cows to my place for bull service.—R. M. Foshee, R 4, Clanton.

Man Killed In Truck Accident Saturday

Tossed From Rear, Landed in Front of Truck and Run Over. Died Instantly

Funeral services for Roy Smith, age 30, were held at Canaan church near Bessemer Monday at 2 o'clock, services conducted by Revs. Cox and Hawton, both of Bessemer. Martin and Sons were in charge.

The young man was killed instantly about 4:15 Saturday afternoon about three miles north of Maplesville on the Jemison road. Roy Smith and Odis Smitherman were riding on the rear of an empty lumber truck driven by a negro, Frank Penn. The truck belonged to Middlebrooks Lumber Co., for whom Smith worked. Reports say that the truck ran over a sunken bridge; when the rear of the truck came from the sink and mounted the level of the road, Smith was thrown clear of the truck and landed in front of it and was run over. He died instantly.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Audrey Perryman Smith, and one small son.

STREET GRAVELING IN CLANTON

For some time the process of graveling Lay Dam road has been going on by county road officials. That has come into Clanton, and the city is co-operating with the county in graveling some streets. The extension of Lay Dam road into first street will be graveled all the way from the corporate limits north to Second Ave., south at the high school. There it will turn east and go out the Parrish road across Goose Pond swamp. Negoiations are under way between the city and county to gravel the Kincheon road and Hinkle road into Second Avenue and probably a part of Second into the central part of the city. These are some much needed improvements.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS TO MEET

The Homemakers S. S. Class of Clanton Baptist church will meet in regular monthly session at the home of Mrs. Horsley White Friday afternoon, at three o'clock. All members are requested to attend.

BOY BORN SEPTEMBER NINTH

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Ruben E. Wyatt on last Thursday, September 9, a 9½-pound baby boy. They have named him Bobby Carl.

AGED MAN CAN STILL PICK COTTON REPORTS SHOW

Age is no curb to activity, at least not to Uncle Steeley Jones. He is over 90 years old and is reported to have picked 164 pounds of cotton one day last week. Then A. B. Driver, age 67, comes along with an unusual record, too; he said he picked 343 pounds in one day. Mr. Driver lives on Clanton Route 2. Everybody knows Uncle Steeley Jones.

MRS. SUSAN WAGONER DIED

Funeral services for Mrs. Susan Wagoner were held at her home on Clanton, Route 1, Friday, with Rev. W. S. Cox officiating. Burial was in Robinson cemetery, Spigener directing. Mrs. Wagoner, age 82, the widow of Sam Wagoner, died at her home Clanton Route 1, Thursday at 12:15 p. m. Her husband died three years ago.

Surviving are two sons—L. W. and M. Wagoner of Bessemer; four daughters—Mrs. John Dutton, Clanton Route 5, Mrs. O. H. Walton, Bessemer, Mrs. Dora White, Bessemer, and Mrs. Mollie Jones, Clanton.

Attractions Outlined For Each Day At Chilton County Fair

Wednesday Is School Day; The Prizes Will Be Awarded Friday, Farmers' Day; Saturday Is Everybody's Day

Arrangements for the Chilton county fair is fast taking on concrete form. Definite arrangements have been made for the attractions for the different days.

All exhibits must be in by 4 p. m., Tuesday. On Tuesday night all ladies will be admitted free. This will be the initial and grand opening of all the attractions.

Wednesday will be school day, and as stated before, special privileges will be accorded all school children, whether their schools have already opened or not. Bus drivers and teachers also will enjoy special privileges on Wednesday and Wednesday night.

On Thursday the big event will be the judging of exhibits. Blue ribbons will be placed on the winning exhibits and displays. On Thursday night comes the wedding when a prominent couple will be united in matrimony. All arrangements have been made for this event. Ten dollars in cash will be given the couple, as well as the license, ring, and a shower by the merchants of the county.

The most important day of all will be Friday—farmers day. Of course, all the days will be for the farmers of the county, but they have been given Friday especially to call their own day. The prizes will be awarded on farmers day. At noon Friday, pass out checks will be issued to anyone wishing to leave the fair ground and return later without having to pay again. It is hoped that the farmers will take full advantage of all the privileges accorded them Friday, and make a real sucess of that day.

Saturday is everybody's day, when everybody with the whole family is expected to be on hand. Everybody will be in Clanton Saturday and Saturday night for the closing day and night of the bigger and better Chilton County fair.

The free acts will be at 2:00 p.m., Friday, and will consist of Latham's dog, pony and monkey show. A special concession will be Texas Jack and Jean Lee, rapid pistol shots; this is an educational and historical attraction. There are thirty or more other concessions.

The whole outfit will be under the supervision of Littlejohn Exposition Shows, an organization old in the conduct of county fairs and similar attractions. Mr. Littlejohn announces that three season passes will be issued with each community exhibit placed in the exhibit tent.

And in speaking of exhibits—prospects are that there will be a large array of them, and they will be fine, attractively arranged and commanding of the attention of all spectators. You are going to be agreeably surprised at the exhibits that will be at this fair; and you will be enlightened about some of the products of Chilton County.

The ball park lot across Maplesville Highway from the CCC camp has been selected as the site for the Bigger and Better Chilton County Fair to be held here beginning on Tuesday, September 28, and ending Saturday, October 2. A complete committee has been selected to assist the committee of the Kiwanis Club in charge of the fair arrangements, and every effort is being put forth to make the fair a real success from every viewpoint.

The site selected is easily accessible, there being plenty of parking space and plenty of room for all the tents, everything connected with the fair and the concessions. Word from Mr. Littlejohn, the manager of the fair, says that from his end of the line, everything points toward a most successful fair at Clanton. He is arranging for all the tents, and will have two car loads of paraphernalia here ready to be placed on the ground the first of the week.

The cooperation of the farmers of the county is respectfully solicited by the officials and committee in charge of the fair. This is a farmers' proposition, and the more cooperation that is received from the farmers the greater success it will be. Therefore, let us urge that the farmers of the county lend their aid to the Chilton County fair. We want to make it a lasting institution of lasting value; this can be done only by everybody pulling together to make the whole thing a glowing success. This can be done, and it must be done.

NOTICE TO OFFICERS OF THE CHILTON COUNTY ASSOC'N

To all pastors, church clerks, and chairmen of committees to report at the 1937 annual session of the Chilton County Association:

May we urge you to be making all necessary arrangements for a full and complete session of our body, which is soon to meet with Shiloh church, located about 8 miles southwest of Clanton, on Route 3.

We wish to call to the attention of the churches the all-importance of filling every item possible on your associational letter, also doing it plainly, completely and accurately, but putting all amounts and numbers under their proper headings, that we may have the correct information by whcih to have our minutes printed, thereby giving all churches full and complete credit for the things worked for by them during the year.

Pastors, will you please urge all your churches to pay at least some on the Cooperative Program? May we all pray that we may have a great meeting, to our good, and especially that the Master's name will be very greatly honored in our meeting together.—G. G. Williams, Moderator; S. J. M. Webb, Clerk.

SINGING DATE AT MAYNARD'S CHAPEL CHANGED

The singing at Maynard's Chapel has been changed from the 1st Sunday to the 3rd Sunday evening. We are expecting a quartet from Birmingham next Sunday, and everybody is welcome. All good singers are invited.

NOT THIS R. E. MILLER

Editor of The Union-Banner:

Will you please give me a small space in your paper? I noticed in last week's Highway Patrolmen's report that they had caught R. E. Miller driving while intoxicated. I wish to explain that that was not the R. E. Miller, of Coopers, Ala.—R. E. Miller, Verbena, Ala., R 2.

CHILTON COTTON REPORT

Census report shows that there were 245 bales of cotton ginned in Chilton County from the crop of 1937, prior to September 1, as compared with 1,500 bales ginned to September 1, crop of 1936.—V. C. McKee, special agent.

JUST FROM SHOULTS

For the sake of the roads of West Beat 7, appoint me (Uncle Remus) to work the road or fire the boss we have at the present time. Here's hoping I get a job.—Uncle Remus.

"Happy Hitters At The Courthouse Thursday

The Stamps-Baxter Happy Hitters will put on a concert at the courthouse, Thursday night, September 16th, at 8 o'clock. Admission will be 15 cents for children and 25 cents for adults.

BOUGHT OUT THE BISHOP SERVICE STATION

Mr. O. P. Klinner has bought out the Bishop-Klinner Service Station, on the highway above Clanton Motors. He will have full charge of the place in the future. The station will be known as Klinner Service Station, and will continue to dispense Sinclair gasoline and oils.

Mr. Klinner announces that he is engaged in remodeling and renovating the station. He is an experienced station man, having operated the Woco Pep station opposite Taylor Wholesale for a number of years. He will be glad to have his friends call to see him at his new place.

RELIGIOUS LITERATURE

Please let me announce through your paper, the new work I am entering in connection with my ministry.

The work is selling and distributing Bibles, books gospel tracts, and all kinds religious literature.

I have been very much interested in this sort of enterprise in our county, as well as in our towns and villages. There is a real need among our people for some Christian person to advise with them the kind of literature the young people should have placed before them in developing their minds and spiritual lives.

I am not merely interested in the sale of the books and the profit derived therefrom; am far more interested in rendering the highest type of service in character building.

On Saturdays you will find me located at Kemp Dry Goods Co., in Clanton, and on various routes other days of the week.

This, in no way, will interfere with my ministry, or any of my duties as a minister, but will lend strength and increase my opportunity for service.

Come in and see what I have, and I shall be very glad to serve you.—Rev. G. G. Williams.

NEW BUSINESS FOR CLANTON

Clanton, in the near future, is to launch a new business, namely the Clanton Hatchery. Mr. J. J. Freeman is the proprietor, and the location will be in the rear of Western Tire & Supply Co.

A fine brand new incubator has already been installed, and is said to be one of the best incubators on the market. It is a "Jamesway" and is electric and automatic in every respect; it is 3,000 capacity.

Mr. Freeman says that he will hatch and sell every chick from blood tested flocks, and will guarantee them to be free from disease when hatched. He invites his friends to come and inspect the fine new equipment.

Making the grade

GROWING children with an abundance of energy usually do make the grade . . . and with ease.

Every thoughtful mother recognizes this fact . . . mothers know too that children need help to build and maintain blood strength.

Particularly is this true with those who have suffered some illness or who look pale . . . tire easily . . . are underweight . . . or have lost their zest for food.

S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed to build-up children's health through the red-blood-cells, thus putting them in better condition to enjoy the food they eat and to regain lost weight . . . all which make for greater strength and vitality.

Help your child to "make the grade" by starting him or her on a course of S.S.S. Tonic now. There is no substitute for this time-tested remedy and no ethical druggist will suggest something "just as good."

CONSERVATION BRIEFS

Despite the fact that the season is rapidly drawing to a close there are 17 counties in the State that have failed to submit stream and lake surveys for fish restocking purposes.

President Signs Bill

President Roosevelt has placed his signature over the Federal aid wildlife restoration measure passed in August by Congress, and Alabama next year is expected to receive approximately $40,000 under terms of the bill. The Federal Government will put up three dollars for every dollar supplied by the State. Alabama's 1936 apportionment, if the law had been in effect, would have been $41,693, which is $23,707 on the basis of 51,998 square miles area, and $17,985 for its 77,388 hunting licenses. The Federal money will come from an excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition which has been in effect since 1932.

Quinn To Knoxville

Commissioner I. T. Juinn, of the Department of Conservation, was in Knoxville, Tenn., the first of the week (September 13) conferring with John Blandford Jr., TVA general manager, on wildlife restoration projects for the Tennessee valley area. The project Elk River fish hatchery was one of the topics discussed.

Colored lights playing on fountains will deceive the eyes as to the height of the fountains at San Fransico's 1939 Exposition.

ALL DAY SINGING NEAR LAWLEY

There will be an all day singing at Tabernacle M. E. church, four miles west of Lawley, Bibb County, on the third Sunday, September 19. This is an annual singing, and we are extending this special invitation to all Chilton County singers.—J. P. Edwards.

SAFER HEADLIGHTS IS OBJECT OF NEW PROGRAM OF AUTO INDUSTRY

New York, Sept. 11th.—To minimize headlight glare in the eyes of 40,000,000 drivers and all pedestrians, the Automobile Association announced here today that its member companies are undertaking a comprehensive program to encourage proper use and maintenance of headlamps. This new program will supplement the extensive activities in the general field of highway safety which the industry is supporting through the Automobile Safety Foundation.

In announcing the program, Alvin Macauley, President of the Association and of the Packard Motor Car Company, revealed that the automobile companies are mobilizing the support and collaboration of the industry's thousands of dealers and service stations.

MARS HILL

Our Sunday school seems to be improving, and the attendance is getting better every Sunday.

Next third Sunday afternoon is our regular singing evening. Everybody is invited to attend. We are expecting singers from other communities to be with us. So everybody come and help make it one of the best we have every had. We have got the material and let's use it.

Stop! Look! Listen! What? An ice cream supper will be at this place Saturday night, September 18. There will be two cakes, one for the ugliest man and one for the prettiest girl. Other little eats will also be served. We will have music to entertain the crowd. The proceeds will go for a payment on the piano.

The little infant of Mr. and Mrs. Euel Langston was laid to rest in this community Saturday about ten o'clock. Our deepest sympathy goes out to the parents. "Weep not, dear parents for our loss is Heaven's gain."

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Leach entertained a number of friends at their home Saturday night. Those who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. Luther Cofer, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Gothard, Mr. Earl Chasteen, Mr. George Smith, Mr. Euel Smith, Dewey Terry, Lonnie Smith, Nettie Mae Johnson and Leafie Smith.

Mrs. Maggie Smith had as her guests Sunday Mrs. Sudie Smith and son, Ferylee, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Leach, Mrs. Minnie Scott and daughter, Mrs. A. J. Smith and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Gothard spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Luther Cofer.

Miss Nettie Mae Johnson Spent Saturday night with Miss Hazel Leach.

Mr. Onley Smith and family are visiting relatives in Texas this week.

Mr. T. V. Mims, of Birmingham, spent the week end at home.

Mr. Junior Wright spent Saturday night with Mr. Ernest Abbott.

Entering an upright silo while it is being filled, or shortly after, is dangerous business because of the possible presence of suffocating gases.

The winter effect of a Bermuda grass lawn can be decidedly improved by planting Italian rye grass in the Bermuda sod at the rate of one pound of seed for each 100 square feet.

Plans are being made for the 1938 fat stock show and sale to be held in Montgomery on March 30 and 31.

Lesson for September 19

CHOICES AND THEIR CONSEQUENCES IN A NATION'S LIFE

LESSON TEXT—Deuteronomy 11:8-12, 26-32.
GOLDEN TEXT—Choose you this day whom ye will serve.—Joshua 24:15.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Our Country.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Choosing Sides.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Importance of Our Choices.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—My Part in Making Up the Nation's Mind.

Nations as well as individuals are responsible before God for the manner in which they live. They enjoy the blessings of right living and suffer the penalty of wrong moral choices. While it is true that national leaders may not always reflect the true character of the people, it is generally true that there is a sort of national character which over a longer period of time accurately represents the moral condition of the people as a whole.

Many earnest men and women believe that the United States of America stands today at the crossroads of national moral decision. There has been an unquestionable decadence of true religion, of home life, of social purity, and a growth of moral indifference and outright wickedness which causes men who think to cry out for a revival of old-fashioned spiritual and moral standards ere it be too late. The most effective, and in fact the only really effective way to bring that about, is a revival within the church of Christ, and a resultant renewal of its service in winning men to Jesus Christ as their Saviour and Lord. A 24-page booklet "Lessons in Soul-Winning," by Dr. Will H. Houghton, will be sent by the writer without charge to those requesting it. If possible enclose a 3 cent stamp.

I. Right Choices Result in Blessing (vv. 8, 9).

Making the right choice is in fact a simple matter, for it means only obedience to God's commandments. God is the author of the moral law. He alone can and does determine what is right and wrong. Man need not determine, nor is he equipped to decide that question. He can and must relate the details of his life to the law of God. How important it is then that he properly understand that law, and what folly it is to neglect the study of God's Word, where the commandments of God are made known unto men.

Choosing God's way means for both men and the nations which they make up (for my country is in the final analysis myself, and other individuals like me) the assurance of God's blessing and prosperity.

II. God Encourages Right Choices (vv. 10-12).

Our God is the great and untiring "giver of every good and perfect gift." We need but to lift up our eyes and look at His handiwork, or stir up our memories to recall his goodness, and we know that he and all his blessed works encourage us to do right—to live right.

But, alas, all too often God's choicest gifts are perverted and are used to bring the very opposite result. The most beautiful lakes and naturally delightful surroundings are used for resorts and clubs which all too often lead men to moral destruction. Parents almost fear that their daughters may be too attractive, for the world, the flesh, and the devil are constantly out "scouting" for beautiful women whose very God-given beauty may be used to glorify sin and lead others into disobedience to God.

III. Right and Wrong Are Fundamental and Eternal (vv. 26-32).

It needs to be repeated over and over again in these callous and indifferent days that there is laid down in the very constitution of the entire universe a moral distinction between right and wrong. Right is always right, and wrong is definitely and eternally wrong. There is no moral twilight zone, where things are neither white nor black, but a neutral gray.

Note that the difference between right and wrong was to be the same "on the other side of the Jordan." Time and place have no power to change moral law. What was right or wrong for your great-grandfather is right or wrong for you. What was right in your home on the farm is right in the city where you now live, or vice-versa. The passing of the years or a change of residence does not alter that law of God.

May God help the people of our nation, and all the countries of the earth, to remember that it is still true that "righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people" (Prov. 14:34).

Mr. and Mrs. Weaver Wilson, of Montevallo, visited here last Sunday.

State Capitol News

Montgomery, Ala.—Judge Walter B. Jones, sitting in the chancery division of Montgomery circuit court promised an early decision on proposed sale of the Alabama Public Utilities Company, operators of an extensive telephone system in Alabama. The company which has headquarters in Jackson, Miss., has been in receivership for a number of years.

Mrs. Bibb Graves, wife of the governor and junior United States senator from Alabama addressed a capacity audience of more than 400 at a luncheon in her honor here September 9. The luncheon, for women only, was sponsored as a civic event by Montgomery club women. Mrs. Gustave Mertins presided.

W. M. Brunson, special counsel for the general public before the Alabama Public Service Commission said today his office is receiving humerous complaints that utilities operating in the state are charging excessive rates and providing inadequate service. The complaints, Mr. Brunson said, are against water, light, gas and telephone companies.

The lame, the halt, and even the partially blind among Kilby prison's population, are being pressed into action to harvest this year's bumper cotton crop. With the capitol closed Labor Day, scores of trusties who serve as janitors and handy-men about Goat Hill were called on to do their bit with results that pleased prison officials.

Governor Bibb Graves has let it be known that it will possibly be three weeks before he appoints a successor to Dr. A. H. Collins as welfare commissioner. Dr. Collins, by appointment of the governor, becomes superintendent of education October 1, succeeding Dr. J. A. Keller, who on next June 1, becomes president of Florence State Teachers College.

Governor Graves, accompanied by his wife, U. S. Senator Dixie Graves, this week was on an eastern tour which will keep him away from his office until September 25.

Congressman Joe Starnes, during a visit to the capitol last week, definitely eliminated himself as a prospective candidate for the short term U. S. senate seat now held by Mrs. Dixie Graves, wife of the governor. Mrs. Graves was appointed by Governor Graves upon the elevation of Senator Hugo Black to the U. S. Supreme Court bench.

Governor Bibb Graves has expressed himself as well pleased with Alabama's road building program and announced that it would be pressed forward to a succesful conclusion.

Capitol officials and employees were saddened last week by reports of the death of W. S. Boswell, father of Representative E. C. Boswell, an administration leader in the lower house.

Arthur Oilver, Elmore county farmer, died in Kilby prison's electric chair last Friday morning for the murder of his wife, Vidie, after his mercy pleas to the pardon board and Governor Graves had been rejected. Oliver was calm throughout, contending in a last statement from the death chair that in beating his wife to death he was too drunk to be responsible for his action.

Annual session of the Alabama Conference, M. E. Church, South, has been shifted this year from Montgomery to Marianna, Fla. Opening date of the conference, November 18, was unchanged. The shift was made necessary by construction delays on the next First Methodist Church here which was to be host this year to the conference.

AUNT SARAH KELLY DIED

Aunt Sarah Kelly, good old colored mammy, wife of George Kelly, died at their home in Rucker quarters, Frog Level, last Friday night. Aunt Sarah had been partially paralyzed for a year or more. She was about 65 years old, the mother of a number of sons and daughters. Burial was Sunday in old Salem cemetery, adjoining Clanton white cemetery. Goldstucker directed.

The funeral was not held on account of the absence of the pastor, R. C. Mixon, who is taking his vacation. When he returns the funeral will be held at Union Baptist church, probably the second Sunday in October.

A Central Housing Bureau will be established by San Francisco hotels to take care of the millions of visitors expected during the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

What's RIGHT with ALABAMA

FOREST MANAGEMENT TO INSURE PERPETUAL TIMBER SUPPLY

RIGHT with Alabama is the policy of selective cutting of timber now in effect with major lumber and paper interests in Alabama. In lumbering under this system, trees that will still make considerable additional growth are left. Planting of young trees in cut-over lands that do not respond to natural re-seeding is also being done. In cutting for paper pulp, progress has been made in the adoption of specifications which require that cutting be done in such manner that natural re-seeding and preparation of pulpwood timberlands will result.

RIGHT, too, is the progress being made in the naval stores industry where each year fewer trees of sapling and pole size are chipped for sap. They will make additional growth and be available for other commercial use after having been worked for turpentine, or will be productive of gum for many more years than if chipped at too early an age.

RIGHT is the great advancement made in forest fire protection. Prior to the beginning of the educational and supervisory work of the Commission of Forestry of the State of Alabama in 1924, approximately 40 per cent of Alabama woodlands were burned over every year. In recent years this has been reduced to about 8 per cent, and in territory under supervision, only about 4½ per cent is burned annually. Further progress may be expected, with such organizations as the Alabama and General Wild Life Federation, and County Councils of Sportsmen, including in their activities instruction in the prevention of forest fires.

With such progressive thinking, the fears expressed that within 10 to 20 years most of the commercial timber in the South would be gone, do not hold true for Alabama! Our State can look forward to a new timber crop, due to the recuperative powers of the cut-over forest lands and the soil and climatic conditions exceptionally favorable to forest growth, which, if properly managed, will support the present forest industries and many new units perpetually.

CONSTRUCTIVE WORK DONE BY POWER COMPANY

It is a matter of more than passing import that the Alabama Power Company has set out 2,000,000 pine seedlings on its lands* in this state, and this is said to be only a beginning. This policy is the more significant, in view of the fact that newsprint can now be successfully made from pine trees, which grow so abundantly in this section.

We are just now awaking to the real value there is in our Southern pines. Our pine forests have suffered a severe drain during the years by naval stores operators and in being so freely used in supplying the demand for lumber. Now a new and very promising field is opening before us for the use of our most common tree. We have been careless and wasteful of this important natural resource. It is high time we were setting about in an intelligent way, individually and collectively, to conserve and develop this rare asset which Nature has bestowed upon us people in the favored Southland. —Roanoke Leader.

*Alabama Power Company has since established a nursery with a capacity of 1½ million tree seedlings annually.

Power Company To Abandon Sheffield Electric Service

Expiration of Franchise and TVA Cited as Causes

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Alabama Power Company on September 10 filed with the Alabama Public Service Commission a petition for the abandonment of electric service in the City of Sheffield and surrounding territory, on or about November 1.

The petition recites that the franchise to the company to engage in the business of an electric utility in Sheffield expired in October, 1932, but that the company has continued up to the present time to supply the electric requirements of the city and its inhabitants under an indeterminate franchise.

The desire to abandon service is brought about by the refusal of the City of Sheffield to purchase the Alabama Power Company distribution system—which in May, 1936, was offered at a price of $180,000, payment to be made with the city's 4% revenue bonds, secured by a mortgage on the distribution system—and the city's decision to build a duplicate system at a cost of $295,000. The City of Sheffield in March, 1937, issued and sold $295,000 of bonds, bearing 4½% interest, and is now constructing an electric distribution system and incidental works and facilities.

According to the petition the action of the city will result in the destruction of the company's system in and around Sheffield valued at more than $200,000. Salvage value after removal will be only $70,000, with a net loss of $130,000 resulting.

Commenting on the petition, T. W. Martin, President of Alabama Power Company, stated:

"As the company has no franchise in Sheffield, its lines become worthless as the city goes ahead with its construction. All of the company's customers will soon be served by the city and the entire system of the company will have to be taken down and junked. This is a wanton destruction of property and is an incident of the policies of the TVA.

"At the time we offered to sell our property to the City of Sheffield our franchise had expired. The system was, and now is, modern and efficient and has sufficient capacity to supply the requirements of the City of Sheffield for a long future period, and the price at which the system was offered was greatly less than its reasonable market value. If the City of Sheffield is going into the electric light and power business on a business-like basis, it is difficult to understand its refusal to buy our system at the reasonable price and terms offered, and its decision to build instead a system no better costing $115,000 more than our system in good operating condition would have cost it, and at a 12% higher interest rate than we offered on the deferred payments."

WEST CHILTON

Beautiful sunshine again after so much rain. Mr. T. J. Hubbard has been real sick, but at this writing he is very little improved. All his children and nearly all his grandchildren visited him in his illness.

Several of our people attended the singing convention at Pates Chapel last Sunday. They report a real good convention—well attended, a strong class, a goodly number of directors, with visible spirituality in the service. It starts off the new year hopefully. The presiding officials and the accomplished secretary are people of sterling worth, well qualified to fill their positions in sacred song.

Now, some things we see in The Union-Banner. First, it is loved by it's readers, indeed, it's name is a household word. It has a hold on the people unparrelled in Chilton County. Second, it has all the local happenings, with occasional letters from far away places, and letters of travel, Etc. Third, those who want agriculture, can read the County Agent's page. Fourth, those inclined to religion can turn to the Sunday school lesson and Bob Jones, besides the many short paragraphs on religious lines. Fifth, all the ministers can get a hearing in it. Sixth, teachers, doctors, farmers' union, merchants, singings, cemetery workings, and many other notices too numerous to mention, are all read in The Union-Banner. Seventh, it's political assertions are both reasonable and sane. We don't think The Union-Banner is excelled by any local journal. "Long may it wave."

A gentlemen from Nebraska accompanied by two ladies have been stationed for several days at John S. Waldrop's store, giving lectures by Judge Rutherford on the phonograph about three times a week. Attendance is reported good.

Politically we are in a pickle. How funny we are. When we are doing well, we will not let well enough be. But grumble we will until everything is torn up, then we have to go back and do all over again. We were doing well a few years ago, now where are we? But it looks like we are beginning to wake up again. How we need the economy of a Calvin Coolidge; how our people are longing for our county to be restored to it's former place of peace and prosperity; just one way, vote together.

Among the great number visiting Mr. Hubbard last Sunday were S. J. Reynolds, V. L. Hubbard, Judge and Mrs. L. H. Reynolds, Carl McCarty, B. F. Rasberry Sr. Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Dennis, L. G. Posey, Wm. Rasberry, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Martin, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Veazey, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Nix Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Lowery, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hayes and others.

Machine Politics!

Road Supervisor Arledge Sees Need For New Leaders

An intimate, dispassionate study of "machine" or "selected group" control of our local municipal and county governmental administration will easily convince the normal layman as well as our local politicians that political "machines" can be controlled and eventually displaced by responsible political organizations.

Chilton County, one of the most wealthy, and should be one of the most progressive counties in the State of Alabama, can overcome the condition of "group control" by a selected few by devising more democratic means of financing political campaigns, organizing for voluntary precinct work, and insisting upon service from government as opposed to favors from politicians.

Regarding the present method of financing, as long as parties rely upon contributions from business men seeking special favors, from criminal elements seeking protection aginst interference on the part of law-enforcing authorities, and office holders who regard their loyalty to the party above that to the county, cynicism regarding the electoral process will be widespread.

The power of money in American politics could be regulated to a much greater extent than it is at the present. Many of the states have inadequate corrupt practice acts. I do not know whether Alabama has a law regulating the use of money in elections, but if not we should have such a law. We should also have a law forcing editorial writers to give the facts instead of rumors or partisan leanings, showing fear of telling the truth in any given situation or condition, so that the reading public could depend upon comments or statements contained in such editorials.

If democracy (and I don't mean Democrats or Republicans which are only branch or group names of a democratic country) is to survive in troublesome times like the present, it will have to have a firmer foundation than the cohesvie power of public plunder, based on the old system: "You scratch my back and I will scratch yours."

The depression which cut public revenue and made citizens more watchful, did not reduce the power of the ruling political "machine" or "selected group". This was due to an unfavorable press situation, a lack of leadership, and the character of the party divisions at the beginning of the depression. But the present situation has great promise in the possibility of controlling the next set-up if we select new leaders and a new attitude toward public service. We cannot overemphasize the importance of the citizen attitudes; the citizens must demand service from their elected officials, not apathy in office—a beautiful figure to look at—who cares only for what money he might get out of his office.

Chilton County is about equally divided between Democrats and Republicans, and after being the group in power for some 25 years the Republicans lost out during the Democratic landslide, and the Democrats gained full control of both the county and state.

The Democrats have had the most wonderful opportunity in the history of Chilton County to show some progressive administration, to prove that things could be done in a progressive manner. Have we done it? "By their fruits ye shall know them."

The Road Supervisor law is a highly progressive move! Take it word for word and see for yourself! It only stipulates and provides for a manager experienced in the practice of such activities. It leaves the financial control in the hands of the Commissioners Court! It places the sole authority of buying for the county in the hands of the Commissioners Court! It places the responsibility of selection of materials and supplies on the Supervisor, because he should be more educated by actual experience in the needs and quality of such materials than the officers of the Court; he was supposed to meet such a qualification in his appointment; he should be fully trained and experienced in the practice of road building, maintenance, road machinery, and equipment; he should be fully qualified to employ competent labor and helpers to meet the requirements of the work in hand. If he is not qualified in this then he is not qualified to hold the office as such supervisor.

The law is very definitely a progressive effort for a progressive county, but it will not function as a political football by an imaginary "machine" control.

Better governmental administration with "service to the public" should be the motto of all progressive thinkers, and every effort should be directed to this end.—Thomas J. Arledge, Supervisor. (paid adv.)

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR JOHN BAKER HELD LAST SUNDAY

A surprise birthday party and family reunion was held last Sunday honoring Mr. John Baker on his 76th birthday anniversary, which was well attended by members of his family and close friends.

Mr. Baker knew nothing of the elaborate plans that had been made for the occasion until he returned from church about noon, to find the place covered with people — his children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren and close relatives and friends.

A long table was arranged on the lawn in front of the house, where his visitors placed the baskets of food they had brought, including a number of beautiful birthday cakes. As the crowd gathered about for the lunch, Rev. J. W. Enfinger spoke a few words in commendation of Mr. Baker, his life and works, after which prayer was offered by Mrs. Minnie P. Mims, niece of the honoree. After this, Mr. Baker spoke a few words of gratitude to the attendants on this occasion, and expressed his joy at having all of his family about him once again.

Pictures were made of the whole assembly, one of Mr. Baker, one of Mr. and Mrs. Baker, another of them with their children, another including all the "in-laws" and another of all the grandchildren present. There are seven children living, all of whom were present; they were: Jesse and Reese Baker, Mrs. Bill Coggins, Mrs. J. Mat Johnson, Mrs. Johnnie Johnson, Mrs. Weaver Wilson, and Mrs. J. H. Johnson. One daughter, Mrs. W. J. Rhodes, died a few months ago. There are a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren, nearly all of whom were present.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Reese Baker, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mat Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Coggins, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Weaver Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Irving P. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Mims, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Duke, Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Enfinger, Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Mims, Mr. and Mrs. Girthie Easterling, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Mims, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Mims, and many others whose names we cannot remember, including the families of all those named.

A number of presents were given to Mr. Baker, which he appreciated very much. He was dressed in a new suit (one of the presents) and looked very spry and active, despite his 76 years. He seemed overjoyed on this occasion, and many times was moved to tears because of the thoughtfulness of those present. Late in the afternoon a few musical numbers were enjoyed, after which the crowd returned home, wishing for Mr. Baker many more happy birthdays.

He has been an active member of the Methodist church for about 60 years, and has always been a valuable citizen, taking an active part in the affairs of his community and county. He is the only living son of John "Grandpap" Baker, generally known as "the father of the Republican party of Chilton County" in that at one time he cast the lone Republican vote in the county. John Baker, Jr., last Sunday's honoree, was born the same day as Mr. B. G. Johnson, who died only a few days ago.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Each member of every department of our Sunday school should be—and we trust, is—quite happy because of the increase, not only in attendance, but also in membership of practically every department last Sunday. Did you know that the increase averaged about 25 per cent? And did you also know that we could stand an increase of 50 per cent in our attendance and membership? Would we like to have that increase? Let's prove that we would like for that to happen by working this week among our friends and have that 50 per cent increase by next Sunday. We can have it, and we should.

You men of the Bible Class are realizing a nice growth. You have a wonderful opportunity for great growth. Just an invitation here and a word there and a little encouragement another time would be easy for you and a fine thing for your class. How about it, men? We are depending on you to make your class a big one.

If we knew just the word for it, we would use it and let the choir know how very much they meant to us in the church hour last Sunday. Your singing, choir, filled our hearts with that joy of the soul which, it seems, only the singing of grand old hymns can create. You deserve our appreciation and we give it, while pleading for the same each church service. Please, choir, we need you everyone every time.

The attendance at both the 11:00 and 7:30 services was good. Those who attended know how extremely good was the sermon Dr. Andrews preached at the 11:00 o'clock hour, and the sermon preached by Dr. Truett at 7:30. The ones who did not attend really cannot realize what they missed.

Any way, when we attend we receive a mighty blessing which we miss when we do not attend. Is it our desire to miss any blessing? Then let us be at Sunday school next Sunday morning at 9:45; stay for the 11:00 o'clock service, and then return to church at 7:30 Sunday night.

C. C. H. S. Colors Are "Orange and Blue"

(By The Man in the Moon)

Sometime, somewhere down the line, since the founding of the Chilton County High School in 1915, the colors of the school have been almost entirely changed. All the other traditions of the institution have been kept, I believe, although many of them may have been forgotten.

The writer was one of that group who attended "Old Chilton" on that memorable January morning when the school first opened its doors to the youth of this section, and how well do I remember the day. Prof. C. C. Slaton (now deceased) was principal, although I have forgotten the names of most of the other teachers.

The next session (the first full one) was really and truly its beginning. That was when Prof. H. Clifford McDonald came to Chilton High as its principal. Prof. McDonald, too, has already passed to the great beyond, but let me add, in memoriam, that no finer gentleman or better school teacher ever graced any school's halls.

The next year saw the coming of Lex S. Owens, an Auburn product, and the first football coach Chilton High ever had, who coached our first "Tiger" team, although it was not known by that name until later in that year. And that brings me around to what I set out to discuss—the changing of the colors of the school.

That fall of 1917 saw Coach Owens take over as green a bunch of material as ever donned the moleskins; very few of them had ever seen a football, and none had ever played a game; I doubt if any of them had ever seen a game. What a spot to drop a coach in! Yet that team began building football history. This team carried Sheldon Fitts, Reuben and Willis Lowe, Horace Popwell, Frank Palmer, Earl Pinckard, Johnnie Burnett, Clyde Williams, Tom Curlee, and others. No one, however, knew anything about school spirit. There was no school song, no motto, no colors—no nothing! Remember, this school was young compared with like schools of the state.

Coach Owens realized that his team needed the moral support of the school body, and he took things in hand to bring it to pass. A school mass meeting was called in the auditorium. School cheers were selected, to be practiced. A school song was adopted —Yale's "Boola Boola", except that "C. C. H. S." was substituted for the "Boola Boola", and fitted admirably; how I remember how we made the welkin ring from time to time, and especially every Friday morning, when the weekly pep meeting was held just before a game. That song happened to be No. 18 in our school song book, "101 Best Songs". Well, the word got around to the other schools in some way, and in some quarters for many years Chilton High was called "Old No. 18."

A name for the athletic teams was next in order. Mr. Owens, being an Auburn grad, couldn't see anything wrong with adopting Auburn's title, "Tigers", after his Alma Mater, and so it went, and well do I remember the many times I have thrilled to that deep-throated "Tiger" growl, or "Hold 'em Tiger", or "Touchdown Tiger", or "War Eagle" as it swelled from the throats of hundreds of Chilton High's loyals in years since.

When the question of school colors came up, Coach Owens again suggested those of Auburn—the "Orange and Blue"—and the adoption was so made. There was even one of the school's cheers that repeated that "Orange and Blue" phrase several times. It must be realized that these days saw the beginning of Chilton's history — and history is never changed. "ORANGE AND BLUE" are the colors of Chilton County High School, and have been so from that first start!

During the last year or two I have been hearing the school's colors given as "Blue and Gold". I would like to know when these colors were changed, who changed them, and by what authority. But I am not the only one—there are hundreds of old grads of Chilton High who would like to know about this change. They know it makes no difference, exactly, except in sentiment. Those boys and girls—now men and women—pulled, cheered, worked and fought for "the Orange and Blue of old Chilton High". This change, in a manner, makes some kind of feeling of loneliness creep over one of us when we hear it—almost sacrilege. We would like for Chilton High to retain her original colors!

We would as soon the name of the school, itself, be changed, as its colors. We feel that we should have some voice in this matter, although we have long since left the school—some of us even have children attending there now. The "Orange and Blue" is as much a part of the memory of our school days at Chilton High as are our schoolmates or teachers or our athletic idols, and any other of the many traditions we cherish so fondly. Somehow there is a sympathetic cord that still binds all of us to the old school. We rejoice with the present student body, and pull with them in battle, fight with them in spirit in every contest of any kind, and look the world in the face, unashamed, with them, as game losers in defeat. We are with them—always —in battle, in victory, in defeat. We are still a part of Chilton High—still a part of the "Orange and Blue", and those school colors are as indelibly engraved in our minds for all time to come as any other part of our school life.

Several of the older Chilton High graduates have mentioned this affair to me, and I am joined by the collective student body of all the years, in spirit, in requesting that the present school officials allow this school's colors to be reinstated—and remain—"The Orange and Blue"—NOT "Blue and Gold". The hundreds—even thousands—of students who spent a precious part of their lives there, if they could possibly be gathered together in one body, would, we believe, even DEMAND that no change be made. We would like to see the present school officials bring the matter before the present school body. Let them consider themselves a part of that great body of boys and girls who have preceded them in the years since 1917. Let them sense the tradition and sentiment of all these years, that they may understand the manner in which these traditions have mellowed in the minds and hearts of the "old grads". Let them become a part of and feel the hallowed background that is theirs as students of Chilton County High School, perpetuated for them by those who have gone before them. Let them help us to bring back to OUR school one of its original cornerstones, which has someway, somehow, been removed. Allow them to bring back "The Orange and Blue"—to remain such forever!

We who seem most interested are not able to find out who made the change, when it was made, or for what occasion. It seems that, like David, it "just grew". But it is a false standard—something alien to us who saw the beginning of the grand old school, and helped to write its first history. I remember that dreary October morning in 1917 as clearly as I do yesterday, when we all met and picked the team name, yells, school song, etc. I wouln't forget them if I lived to be a thousand years old. And there are many others like me, and hundreds and hundreds who have come along since and had that old school spirit and tradition ground into their very hearts and blood and bone—it is a part of us—a very important part.

It may seem a small thing to some, but to us it means much. We ask that school officials take up the matter and do something about it. And if they want any information regarding those first old days, there are plenty of us who can give it, and will be glad to do so; further, they may refer to the school annuals that were published for a few years—they will bear out our contentions and prove our statements. We don't want to run the school, but we would at least like to see it remain the same school, with all its old sacred traditions intact.

Therefore, whether or not anything is done about it, don't be shocked some afternoon this fall if you hear someone yell "War Eagle!" or "Eat 'Em Up, Tiger", or something like that, and then ring in with something about the "dear old Orange and Blue". And may those who have so forgotten themselves as to change our school's colors have the decency to hang their heads in shame that they have had the audacity to so desecrate the memory of their school—and OUR school.

This is the sentiment of the old grads—those to whom Chilton High will forever remain "The Orange and Blue", no matter if someone may forget again, and change our colors to lavender and old lace.

SACRED HARPS CONVENTION

The fall session of the Chilton County sacred harp singing convention will be held at New Harmony church, Lomax, the third Sunday in this month, September 19th.

Singers and lovers of Sacred music make your plan to attend this convention. Singers throughout the county and adjoining counties have a special invitation to come.

Bring your sacred harp song books and spend the day with us at New Harmony.—Myrtle Jackson, Secretary.

TROY TEACHERS COLLEGE

Troy, Ala., Sept. 13. — C. B. Smith, president of the State Teachers College, Troy, has announced plans for the opening of the college on Monday, September 13, at which time a large registration is expected.

All freshman students are expected to be present at a general meeting to be held at 9 a.m., Monday. Instructions will be given them by Mrs. Graul, new social director; Miss Boyce Garrett, Dean of Women; and Auxford Sartain, Dean of Men.

Freshman registration will begin at 10 a.m., Monday, and is expected to be completed not later than 10 a.m., on Tuesday morning. At that time Miss Charlotte Smith, librarian, will give instructions in the use of the library at a meeting to be held in Kilby auditorum.

Examinations for admission to college will be given at 8:30 Tuesday morning to those freshmen who are not graduates of accredited high schools.

Registration of upper classmen will begin Tuesday morning.

Classes will begin immediately after the first general assembly, to be held at 8 a.m., Wednesday, President Smith presiding.

An orientation program for newcomers will be held during the early part of the week, including a picnic for freshmen at 6 p.m,. Monday, at the college pool in Rose Park; an "All-College" Party Tuesday evening at 7:30 at Kilby Hall, and a church reception Wednesday evening. The churches of the community will entertain and extend an invitation to the students, inviting them to attend services at the church of their choice.

Alabama had 127 cows the past month that were classified as "quality" cows because of their producing over 800 pounds of milk or 40 pounds of butter fat during the month.

Colors will be so blended at San Francisco's 1939 Exposition that visitors will not get tired from glare of buildings and walks but will be refreshed and mildly excited.

COTTON AND COTTON SEED RECOMMENDATIONS MADE

Auburn, Sept. 13. — Forty Alabama cotton growers and agricultural workers met in Auburn, Wednesday, September 8, and made a number of recommendations to President Roosevelt and the Surplus Commodity Corporation about the handling of the present crop of cotton and cotton seed.

They recommended that "the proposed cotton price adjustment payment be paid to farmers who cooperate in the 1938 program on the actual total production in 1937 on 65 per cent of their base acreage; that we believe sufficient money is available to make the payment on such basis; that if enough money is not available to make the payment on such basis that congress be asked to provide such additional funds as will be needed."

They requested that the loan basis for 1937 cotton crop be changed so that the 9-cent loan would be available to low middling cotton, 13|16-inch staple and better.

They endorsed a tariff on jute adequate for the protection of cotton growers but advised a general downward revision of the tariff system. They endorsed the sale of cotton on net weight basis to encourage the use of cotton wrapping.

They endorsed legislation by congress to improve the marketing of cotton seed and protect growers.

They asked the president to make maximum adjustment of tariff or excise tax on coconut and other vegetable oils for the protection of cotton ceed.

They advised farmers and others to exchange cotton seed for meal and to increase home consumption of cotton seed meal by feeding it to work animals and other livestock.

STATE AND COUNTY FARM MEETING BEING PLANNED

Auburn, Sept. 13. — Plans are being made for a statewide meeting of farmers, county agents, and other agricultural workers, to be held in October to discuss proposed national farm legislation with a view to reaching composite recommendations by and for Alabama farmers to be presented to congressmen and senators.

County-wide meetings are being held throughout the state prior to the state meeting to give farmers of every county an opportunity to study the proposed farm bills and to select delegates to the statewide meeting.

Plans for the statewide meeting are being made by P. O. Davis, director, Alabama Extension Service, and R. J. Goode, State Commissioner of Agriculture, while plans for the county meetings are being made by county agents and local farm leaders.

About two dozen Alabama cotton growers meeting in Auburn, Wednesday, September 8, unanimously requested President Roosevelt to call a special session of congress this fall to enact a national farm program in which all farmers of the nation will be placed on the same basis. They insisted that this program should be formulated in such a way that Alabama farmers can carry out a well-balanced and diversified farm program by combining other crops and livestock with cotton.

They also favored a compulsory acreage control program.

CLANTON PILOT CLUB

A most enjoyable time was spent by the Clanton Pilot Club last Wednesday when they met for a weiner roast at Jones Tourist Camp at 5:30 o'clock. Weiners and marshallows were roasted by the bonfire and hot dogs "with all the trimmings" were made and enjoyed with cold drinks. Those enjoying this outing were: Mamie Smith, Irene Smitherman, Sophia Jones, Marvin Durbin, Ruth Sessions, Gertie Fiquette, Nolan Meroney, Bertha Dennis, Howard Maddox, Lona Thompson, Sarah Colley, Delilah Grant, Frances Moore, Olive Welch.

The members of the club enjoyed mixing and talking with the members of Luther Little's Sunday school class and their guests, who were also having a barbecue chicken supper at the camp at the same time. Their cake was delicious.

At 4 o'clock last Saturday afternoon the International President, Martha Aldridge, and Emily Pointer, of Selma, Ala., met with members of the Clanton Club to formulate plans for the coming convention. "Convention" is a frequent topic at present. We bid each and every member of the crew of Clanton Pilots to help set the sails for this wonderful program which is being arranged.

PROSPERITY IS DEPENDENT UPON CLOSE COOPERATION

Auburn, Sept. 13.—There is no prosperity where one group profits at the expense of another," says J. L. Perry, president of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, in pointing out the interdependence of agriculture and industry.

"If Agriculture and industry are to prosper, they must work together and utilize the fruits of their research labors for their mutual interests," he declares.

In expressing appreciation for the "help and cooperation" that industry receives from agriculture, Mr. Perry states that this is being manifest by the "splendid work carried on by the Alabama Polytechnic Institute and the Alabama Extension Service." Industry, he continues, desires to be equally cooperative and helpful and is making every effort in this direction.

GEORGIA FARMERS UNITING TO "DEMAND OUR RIGHTS"

Macon County Group To Send Representative Group to Washington

Oglethorpe, Ga., Aug. 30. — A local meeting today disclosed that Georgia farmers are organizing to "demand our rights" with authority from state and national legislative bodies.

A group of Macon County farmers meeting in the courthouse voted to start a local chapter of the United Georgia Farmers, and they elected tall, gray haired W. M. Parker "permanent chairman." Membership is open only to "dirt farmers."

Outlining the purpose of the organization, Mr. Parker said annual dues of $4 will be assessed on each member, and $2 of the sum will be sent to headquarters "to pay for a legislative representative, a lobbyist, or whatever you want to call him, to go to Washington and Atlanta and protect our interests and demand our rights." The other will be used by the local chapter for operating and organizing expenses.

Units In 30 Counties

Local members said the movement started two months ago in Cartersville and now has chapters in 30 Georgia counties. They said R. L. Stiles, of Cartersville, the organizer, is president.

Mr. Parker said that only by organizing and presenting "demands, not requests", to representatives can the farmer "get what is due him, just as the industrial workers, the World War veterans, and big industry have."

He suggested that about 16 cents per pound is a "fair price for cotton on parity with other commodities." He said an organized group of all cotton farmers "could demand and take" from the federal government a "bonus" representing the difference between the market price of cotton at the date of sale, and 16 cents.

Only such an organization, he said, will ever enable farmers to secure federal and state consideration necessary to place their economic status on a parity with that of industrial workers.

"How do you think John L. Lewis gets the power he has?" Mr. Parker asked. "By organization. And we can get the same power."—Dodge County (Ga.) Advertiser.

CENTRAL ALABAMA HOSPITAL HOST TO MEDICAL SOCIETY

The Central Alabaa Hospital was host to the Chilton County Medical Society on Tuesday, September 7th. Following a delightful luncheon served by the nurses of the hospital staff, the doctors held their regular monthly meeting.

hTe problem of syphillis control was discussed briefly by Dr. Smith of the Statt Health Department, after which there was a general discussion by members of the society. It was decided that the Counyt Medical Society would sponsor a clinic for the treatment of syphillis among those unable to pay their familiy physician for this service. The patients treated in the clinic will be only those referred by their family physician, and the clinic will be conducted by members of the County Medical Society.

Dr. W. L. Parrish, County Rabies Inspector, reported that he had vaccinated 4,250 dog against rabies during the recent rounds he had made through the County for htis purpose. The County Board of Health strongly urged Dr. Parrish to continue the strict enforcement of the Rabies law, especially as it applied to those persons who deliberately refused to have their dogs vaccinated. Dr. Parrish assured the members of whose duty it is to see see that the rabies law is enforced, that he would do everything possible toward having all dogs vaccinated.

Dr. C. P. Hayes, of Elba, Ala., a vice president of the State Medical Society, was a guest of the County Medical Society and read an interesting paper on Typhus fever. After a discussion of hte paper by members of the society Dr. Hayes discussed the possibility of having a meeting of the Southeastern Division of the State Medical Society in Chilton County. The Society voted to invite the members of the division over which Dr. Hayes presides to such a meeting to be held at Mitchell Dam on October 1th.

Clanton Study Club Meets—

On Friday, September 3, members of the Clanton Study Club held their first meeting at the home of Mrs. J. A. Hester. Fall flowers were used to decorate the spacious living room.

The Club's new president, Mrs. Joe Mullins, accepted the honor of being elected president, in her own charming manner. Roll call was answered with current events, each member having been assigned a subject for the year.

The program for the afternoon was on "Musical Symposium in Alabama." Mrs. Barney Roberts gave a most interesting talk on Alabma's musicians, their lives and compositions. Piano solos by Alabama composers were given by Misses Jane Roberts, Ruth Gowan and Thelma White. The Club members were delighted to have Mrs. Henry Stanley sing "Baby Smiles", by an Alabama composer. At a late hour refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Husley.

The following members and guests were present: Mesdames J. E. Gowan, J. P. Hayes, J. W. Hayes, Grady Heflin, M. F. Jones, J. M. Kimmey, J. Watts Moore, Joe Mullins, J. R. Mullins, Omar Reynolds, Barney Roberts, J. M. Vanderveer, Horton Walker, Horsley White, Henry Stanley, Hulsey; Misses Jane Roberts, Thelma White, Ruth Gowan.

Mr. and Mrs. Winston Stewart of Rockford were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George McCain Thursday night.

Mrs. Bob Williamson (Louise Orr) of Guin, Ala., spent several days here last week as the guest of her mother, Mrs. M. R. Orr.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Broadhead and son, Hal, of Montgomery, spent Sunday here with Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Hayes and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Broadhead. Mrs. Broadhead and Hal remained in Clanton until Tuesday, and Mr. Broadhead returned to Montgomery Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. Craig were recent visitors in Troy.

Miss Mary Courtney Jones, who will resume her studies at Webster College on September 15, left last Thursday to spend Freshman Week with a classmate, Miss Marion Ware, of St. Louis. Miss Ware and Miss Jones will assist the Junior and Senior officers with the welcoming of freshmen. Social activities of the week include the faculty freshman reception, a formal dinner honoring new students, a tea dance, and several informal social functions.

Miss Jane Roberts left this week for Gadsden, where she will resume her work as public school music instructor in the city schools.

Miss Kittye Clyde Austin of Montgomery visited friends and relatives here Friday.

Dr. J. P. Hayes and Mrs. James Wade were visitors in Birmingham Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. John McSwean and little son, John, spent the week end in Brantley and Glenwood with relatives and friends.

Mr. Sam Grubbs spent the week end in Clayton with his parents.

Miss Ruth Sessions, Mrs. Ed Glasscock, and Miss Margaret Floyd motored to Birmingham Thursday afternoon. Miss Sessions attended the wedding of Miss Margaret Croker in Hollywood.

Mrs. Bowen Jones left Thursday for Atlanta, where she will be the guest of her daughter for several weeks. Mrs. Jones has rented her home to Dr. and Mrs. John Kimmey for the winter, and will spend the winter with her children, who live in Atlanta, Birmingham and Clanton.

Dr. and Mrs. P. T. Hinkle of Kilby, Ala., were the guests of friends here Sunday.

Mrs. Cecil Todd and little daughter, Cecile, left Wednesday for Birmingham, where they will reside, after spending the summer here with Mrs. Todd's mother.

Mr. C. P. Rutherford, of Montgomery, visited in Clanton Tuesday.

INTERESTING NOTE FROM TEXAS

Pine Mills, Tex., Sept. 3, 1937.
Editor Union-Banner:

Just thought I would write to your paper again. It has been about 40 years since I wrote. Maybe someone back there in old Chilton County would like to hear from me.

I was born in Coosa County. My father moved to Chilton County when I was a small boy. He bought land from old Parson Mullins, near Mt. Zion church. We lived there until about 1884 or 1885. He swapped places with Mr. Joe Kicker down near the line of Autauga County. We moved through Clanton on an ox wagon. We lived there until January, 1893; father died down there, and was buried at Chestnut Creek church.

Mother and I came to Texas with my brother, Dr. R. O. Connell; there are only two of us living, my oldest brother and I. I married a Texas girl in 1896; we have five children, who are scattered from Louisiana to California; my youngest son is in the U. S. army, stationed in the Phillipine Islands.

I think I will come back to Alabama this fall. If I do, I want to shake hands with you all. Crops are pretty good here in Wood County, but the price is not so good.

Well, I will ring off. If this should miss the waste basket, and any of my old friends see it, would be glad to hear from you.—J. R. Connell, R 1, Mineola, Texas.

INOCULATION

Farmers who have found that inoculating hogs and livestock against certain diseases is a profitable course to follow, are finding that inoculation of legumes with bacteria that promote healthy growth is also a profitable practice, according to James H. Wood, of the Soil Conservation Service area near Clanton.

Although lespedeza and most of the other summer legumes used for erosion control do not require inoculation for successful growth, due to the fact that the soil in this section is already inoculated with bacteria of these groups, crimson clover, vetch, and most of the winter legumes do require inoculation, Mr. Wood said.

Where a good growth of the same crop has been previously made on the land, inoculation probably will not be necessary for growing the crop again, as the soil has been inoculated by the previous growth. Soil from such inoculated areas can be used to aid in inoculating seed of the same crop to be planted on other locations.

Since effective control of erosion by winter legumes depends on getting a good growth that will provide a dense cover for the land, proper inoculation often determines the success or failure of the crop as far as erosion control is concerned, Mr. Wood said.

County agent J. W. Fant will be glad to advise farmers on the kind of commercial inoculant to buy and the proper method of inoculating their winter legumes, Mr. Wood added.

Mr. J. W. Prentice Murphy of Birmingham was in Clanton the first of this week, and said that he and his family would move back here within the next few weeks. "Pat" says there is no place like Clanton, and we are glad he feels that way about it; we are glad for him and his fine family to come back home.

Miss Helen Diefenderfer has accepted a position as teacher in the Glennville, Ga., schools, leaving Clanton last Friday morning.

COUNTY COUNCIL WANTS SAMPLES FOR STATE FAIR

The Chilton County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs wants samples of your products for county exhibit at the State Fair in Birmingham, September 27, and October 2.

Never before has Chilton County been so active in both local and state fairs at the same time. The exhibit being collected for the Home Demonstration County Council for the state fair is coming along nicely.

Since the county exhibits represents Chilton County there is no limit where nor who supplies samples within the county for this exhibit, so won't you please help these ladies to make a creditable showing September 27. To do this we must have your best samples of your very best products. We want crops of economic importance; money crops, soil building, feed and food for the family. Products that have not been located so far and are badly needed are hay, grain and forage; 10 varieties of standard bales of hay is badly needed. Loose grains as oats, wheat, rye, barley, soy beans, velvet beans, and upland rice, chuffas, peanuts, both on the stalk and on the bunch, also of corn of as many varieties as possible, both on the ear and on the stalk. Extra ears of the same on the cobb and shelled varieties. The shelled varieties must amount to at least ½ bushel of each variety.

Fresh fruit and vegetables needed to be located art at least one peck of each variety. Irish and sweet potatoes, pumpkins, melons and syrup are needed in this group. Sugar cane and syrup is badly needed. four pints of each variety of syrup and not less than six stalks of each variety of cane must be had to meet the requirements of the exhibit rules. What varieties have you? Is it good? Can we count on you to help us?

Miscellaneous: Cured meats, ham and middlings, poultry products, as many varieties of eggs as possible, dairy products.

Nuts to consist of not less than five varieties of five pounds of each variety: pecans, walnuts, hickory nuts, chinquapins, chestnuts, and varieties of pecans any that you have.

All products not used in the state fair will be used in the local fair exhibit which the council is cooperating with. A special committee has been appointed for the council to work with the local fair to be held in Clanton at the same time. The success of both exhibits will be entirely up to the people of the county. The public is able to determine what is being produced by the farmers and conserved by the farmer's wives. New ideas are learned through the fairs and often times an exchange of seeds, and plants are obtained in this way. Let's each and every individual look over your products back home and send a list immediately to the Home Demonstration Agent's office of what you have that could be used. If possible collect the samples according to these rules and either loan, sell or give to these exhibits so that we may place Chilton county in a favorable manner. May we count on you?

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

On last Sunday, September 12th, a number of relatives and friends met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Bolton to celebrate the birthdays of Misses Nancy Bolton and Lizer Jane Ellison. Aunt "Nance" as she is better known, was 70 years old September 11th; Lizer Jane was 34 years old September 12th. There were 225 present. Among them were a host of relatives and friends from Mt. Zion.

About 11 o'clock Bro. T. W. Davis rendered a good sermon on homecoming, and Jesus has gone to prepare a place for us. After this we spread a bountiful dinner in the yard. Aunt Nancy received 27 gifts and $4 in cash. Lizer Jane received 25 gifts and $1.42 in cash. All seem to enjoy the day wonderfully. We hope for them many many happy birthdays.

County agent J. W. Fant, Roy Roper, and L. E. Diefenderfer went to Birmingham Monday in the interest of the strawberry growers.

PLEASANT HILL

Last Saturday night and Sunday was our regular preaching and singing services. We enjoyed the wonderful messages from our pastor, Rev. L. D. Nunnley. We are glad to say that nearly all of the members of Sunday school was present. We hope they will continue to come.

Preaching services will be changed next month from the second Sunday to the third Sunday and Sunday night.

Last Sunday night, Rev. Canie Lowery brought us a wonderful message.

Sunday afternoon we enjoyed all of the singers being with us. Those with us were: Oak Grove, Union Grove, Cane Creek, Mineral Springs, Mt. Zion and Center Hill. We hope they will all be with next second Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Twilly and family, of Ga., were visiting here this week.

Miss Lillian Mims and Miss Jessie Cleckler were the Sunday dinner guests of Misses Daisy and Lizie Martin.

Miss Dorothy Cleckler and Miss Gussie Fae Davis were the Sunday dinner guests of Miss Alta Blow.

Mr. and Mrs. Jadie Sammons, of Mineral Springs, spent the week end with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sammons.

Mrs. J. R. Cost spent a few days last week with her daughter, Mrs. Virgie Robinson, of Collins Chapel.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

On last Sunday, September 12, a birthday dinner was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Maddox, of New Salem community, in honor of Mr. Maddox's 61st birthday.

All the children were present, consisting of: Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hayes and family, of Selma; Mr. and Mrs. K. O. Bean and family, of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Maddox and family, of Birmingham; Mr. Grady Maddox, of New Salem community; Mr. Howard and Eason Maddox.

Other relatives and friends that called during the day were: Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Stevens and son, Howard, of Lay Dam; Mr. and Mrs. Forest Oaks, Mrs. Florence Maddox, all of Pelham; Mr. and Mrs. German Bean and family, Mr. Edgar Huett, Mr. Ames Deason, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Maddox, and family.

A bountiful dinner with plenty of ice cream, was served at the noon hour.

Mr. Maddox received some nice and useful gifts.

Although he is on the bed of affliction he seemed to enjoy the coming together of his friends and loved ones.

At a late hour the sadness begun, when friends departed for their respective homes, and Mr. Maddox was carried to a Birmingham Hospital. We wish for him a speedy recovery, to enjoy many, many more birthdays. We miss his presence and cheerful smiles.—The Children.

IN MEMORY

On Monday afternoon at 10 o'clock, the death angel came and wafted away to the realms of eternity, the spirit of our dear mother, Nannie Gray. She was born and reared in Chambers county. She joined the church when a young girl, and was a faithful member there until she came to this county, 40 years ago. She then joined the church at Bethany church, where she was a member until her death. Before her marriage she was Nannie Nix, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nix. She married William Lee Knight. Unto that union was born five daughters, the first one went back to Jesus when 18 months old. Her husband departed this life November 20, 1903. In 1906, she married G. G. Gray, unto that union was born one daughter and one son. She lived a beautiful Christian life since childhood. Her life was always fit for anyone to follow.

Everything was done for her that could be done, but Jesus said, "Come," and with a smile she went to meet Him. It is hard to have to give her up, still, we are willing for God's will to be done because we know our loss is Heaven's gain. We can truly say her work on earth is done, her life crown has been won, and she is now at rest with Him above.

She leaves to morn her death, five daughters—Mrs. Lula Headley, Mrs. Maggie McKee, of Clanton; Mrs. Bertha Summers, of Montgomery; Miss Ophlia Knight, of Clanton; Mrs. Minnie Cobern, of Thorsby; one son, Zebbie Gray, of Clanton; nine grandchildren, three great grandchildren, two sisters, Mrs. Sallie Hammonds, of Clanton; Mrs. Anna Sims, of Lanett, Ala., one daughter, Maggie McKee, and a host of friends.

PLEASANT GROVE

The Rev. J. C. Miller, of Birmingham, will preach at Pleasant Grove Baptist church, four miles west of Jemison, next Saturday night and Sunday. Members are urged to attend, and visitors are cordially invited.

Women polo players will start elimination polo contests in San Francisco to lead up to tournament matches at San Francisco's 1939 Exposition.

UNFORTUNATE ERROR

Friends and relatives of some hundreds of peasants shot in a Soviet execution rampage five years ago will find cold comfort in the announcement now made by the chief prosecutor of the U. S. S. R. He has discovered that the executions were a mistake deliberately ordered by "Trotzkyist enemies" in an effort to discredit Soviet justice.

The naive announcement will hardly reassure the mind of the world in general with regard to the benevolence of communist government. It is tantamount to an admission that justice can be very easily rigged in Russia. Five years ago all seemed relatively bright and happy in the U. S. S. R., the more so because unhappy bourgeois countries were writhing in the throes of a capitalist depression. Yet, even under those auspicious circumstances, "dirty traitors" were "misapplying the law" in a way that "sentenced people to death for missing stalks of grain in the cutting". An objective conclusion is that something is wrong about laws which can be so easily employed to execute the innocent.

And, inevitably, it will be asked whether Soviet justice is today any improvement. During the past year hundreds of citizens, including high-ranking army officers and important government officials, have been executed in Russia. What certainty is there that five years from now it will not likewise be discovered that they also were shot by mistake on orders from persons later to be conveniently designated as "enemies of the people"?—Washington (D. C.) Post.

UNCONTROLLED BRAIN TRUST

The 20th Century Fund's Committee on government credit, which began its study three years ago, has just issued the recommendation that "nothing except dire emergency" should be permitted to stand in the way of a balanced national budget by next year.

And immediately the national budget has been balanced, continues the committee, the government should attempt to reduce the national debt at the rate of $1,000,000,000 annually.

To make possible this correction of the budget and subsequent reduction of the debt, the committee recommends reasonable new taxes —to be imposed by the present congress if that congress can possibly get around to it.

But, of course, the findings of this particular brain trust will have no influence with the Roosevelt administration. The administration chooses its brain trusts to suit its own purposes.—Portland Oregonian.

POTATO KULTUR

Gov. Earle's New Deal Pennsylvania legislature has passed a law requiring the farmer who sells potatoes to put them in packages and mark the containers to show the grade of the tubers, the cubic contents of the container, and the address of the person or association under whose authority it was packed. The tags or labels on packages of 50 pounds or more must be at least 5¼ by 2⅝ inches in size and the type showing grade must not be less than ¼-inch high. The professors forgot to make the farmers state the number of eyes in each potato, but doubtless they will think of this in the next session.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

Despite any carping criticism there may have been during his lifetime coming from individuals inspired by motives which were political or inspired by economical envy, it may be said in all truth that the United States lost an outstanding figure and a grand old man in the recent death of Andrew W. Mellon, who served with honor and distinction as Secretary of the United States Treasury under the presidency of Warren Harding, Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover.

Mr. Mellon had been called with some justice the greatest Secretary of the Treasury the United States had had since the days of Alexander Hamilton. The measure of his character and ability can be found in his business success. He built an industrial and financial empire, but no matter how great his economic achievements grew they never became unsafe through topheaviness. He was sane, careful and constructive in all of his dealings.

One of Mr. Mellon's outstanding characteristics was his inherent modesty, a quality which won for him the friendship and affection of all who knew him. So modest was he in fact that comparatively few Americans, outside the realms of big business and finance, knew of him when he was made a member of the cabinet by President Harding. At this time Mr. Mellon was 66 years of age and one of the wealthiest men in the world. Despite the fact that he had arrived at a time when most men begin to think about retiring to private life, Mr. Mellon enjoyed his duties in Washington and said, "this is a brand new experience."

Mr. Mellon tackled the problems of his new position with a will and determination to render real service to his country, and he did render such service. Under his administration as Secretary of the Treasury the public debt of the nation steadily and rapidly shrank along with a reduction in federal taxes. As Sen. Hiram Johnson said, on learning of his death:

"He was a kindly, unassuming gentleman. He was an efficient Secretary of the Treasury, with a perfect passion for wanting to reduce the national debt, and during his term of office he did so."

As Secretary of the Treasury Mr. Mellon on more than one occasion called attention to the dangers of inflation ,of which the boom on the stock markets of the country was a symptom. Unfortunately the country paid no attention to these warnings. When the collapse came some partisan efforts were made to belittle Mr. Mellon because of this misfortune which affected not only the United States but every civilized nation on the globe. Later some attempts were made to cite him as a "tax dodger" but an investigation proved the charges to be groundless, inspired for the most part by political bias.

Mr. Mellon was one of the greatest art collectors in the world. In January, 1937, he offered his collection as the nucleus of a national art collection by the nation, to be located at Washington. The offer was accepted by the government. It is estimated that the collection is worth at least $20,000,000.

Despite political criticism, Mr. Mellon will go down in history as one of the most unassuming, yet one of the greatest and most capable public officials which this country has known in its century and a half of national existence.

WHITE HOUSE CONTACT MEN

The pending bill to create six executive assistants to the president brings into the open a practice carried on, in one way or another, since the first administration of George Washington. Since it would appear undignified for a president to buttonhole congressmen in capitol corridors or to lobby for pet bills in committee rooms, he necessarily must have contact men to do such work for him.

While the bill may give opposition spokesmen occasion for a few sharp remarks, it merely gives recognition to what is now being done indirectly. At present, the president has to go through the formality of finding each contact man a post in some department where the work is nominal but the pay good; his real work is in being a spokesman and lobbyist for the president. Contact men are as essential in government as in business. But lobbyists are required to register, and we must suppose there will be no exceptions by favoritism.—Dallas Morning News.

EXPERIMENTS THAT FAIL

Soon after the World War, Pertinax, the foreign editor of the Echo de Paris, introduced the new London correspondent of that newspaper to a distinguished London editor. The young man remarked he regretted he had not given more attention to history; it would be useful to him as an international correspondent.

"Young man," replied the great editor, "you ignorance of history is an advantage. The world has entered a new era. The past is no longer a guide. A knowledge of history would only mislead you."

But within a few years the new era had blown up and nations again were following their traditional habits. It was impossible to report current events intelligently without recourse to the historical background.

Four years ago we entered the new economic era of the New Deal. For a time all the older books on economics went into the discard. Now in the light of events we find we must fish them out, dust them off, and pay attention to their teachings.—Kansas City Star.

WISHFUL THINKING

Is Jim Farley doing a little wishful thinking when he brands as the "veriest moonshine" the view that an incurable rift has developed in the Democratic party?

Perhaps he can work miracles, but history is against him. There is a growing rift in the party and it goes deep. It goes deep because the administration now is definitely determined to centralize government and put into effect its costly system of "planned economy". Many prominent members of the party are convinced of the dangers of it and are saying so—out loud.—Syracuse Post-Standard.

It looks as if a large proportion of the Americans would be on strike so much that work and vacation would have to run concurrently as sentences sometimes do.—Charleston News and Courier.

Diversified Occupation

The Diversified Occupation Class is starting off as school starts off. Mr. Evans states that he has worked out efficent plans for the school the year around. Many people don't know what is meant by the Diversified Occupation class. This is a class teaching high school students about actual occupations in life, and when taking this course they get 3 hours of actual experience on the job, and also one and one-half hours of related work.

This course is practically new, being at the school only one year before this one. Many things were accomplished and we are looking forward to a much better term this year.

Football

Boy, is practice tough? I should say it is. Ask a member of the team what they think of practice. Most of them say, "Gosh, I'm so sore I can hardly walk." Coach "Bull" Spicer has the boys looking like professionals now, judging from how they were last Monday; to my surprise they abide by the rules. Come down October 1st and see the Blue and Gold take the pig skin down the field, they will be able to keep the old ball rolling along.

Locals

Mr. Hicks made an announcement in chapel concerning the freshmen; he is now receiving splendid cooperation.

New Janitor

The C. C. H. S. has a new janitor this year. If nothing happens we will make a pretty fair janitor out of him.

There are eight new members in the Diversified Occupation class this year.

Mr. J. T. Searcy, assistant Principal, has charge of the building during the noon hour. Every one is asked to co-operate with him in keeping the building free of paper at this time.

The largest crop of cotton ever produced in this country was in 1927 when the total reached 19,206,000 bales. Only one time during the present century has the production fell below 10,000,000 bales. That was in 1935, when the official count was $9,470,000 bales.

There were about 15 cotton dryers in Alabama in May, this year, and cotton ginners have installed a number of others to be used in ginning this year's cotton crop, reports J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist.

Alabama farmers have approximately 7,800 tractors now, compared with slightly over 1,000 in 1920.
